

THE LOWELL LEDGER

FIFTY-FOURTH YEAR

LOWELL, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JAN. 23, 1947

NUMBER 38

The annual meeting of the Community Council will be held in the downstairs room of the City Hall on Friday, Feb. 7, at 7:30 p. m. E. G. Schaefer, president of the Community Council, urges that all organizations be represented 100%, as new officers will be elected for the coming year.

Rep. Shafer (R) of Michigan offered "potato bread" as a means of using the potato surplus. By mixing four pounds of potato flour in every 100 pounds of wheat flour, he said, "upward of 100,000,000 bushels of potatoes" would be consumed annually in making bread, rolls and other bakery products. "That would wipe out the surplus," he said in a statement in the Congressional Record.

While returning home from jury duty in Grand Rapids last Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Ernest Roth narrowly escaped serious injury when the car in which she was riding was struck in the rear by another car. The impact forced open a door on her car and she was thrown to the pavement. Mrs. Roth has been having severe headaches although X-rays revealed no concussion or fracture.

Sheriff Hugh M. Blacklock announces the appointment of Lewis Houghton of Alto as Deputy Sheriff. His duty will be that of turnkey at the county jail. He is a son of Supervisor Frank L. Houghton of Lowell township.

Mrs. Anna Mae Roth, who has been an instructor in a private school in India for the past year or more, underwent surgery at Christian Hospital, Vellore, India, last week, according to a letter received Monday by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Roth, R. 2, Lowell. Her many Lowell friends hope to hear of her speedy recovery.

Jobs, jests, jabs and jibes just by Jeff: Police judge civilization by the crowd they run with. No man has a wife who is a 'silent' partner. About the only way to keep a good cook is to marry her, only that doesn't always hold. A Ledger reader says that wanting little here below is purely optional. They have a perfume for men called "Mountain Mist" and up to this time we thought it was fermenting corn rather than perfume. To many a Lowell man, when you say "Speaker of the House," he thinks you mean his wife. According to reports several local men appear to be qualifying for membership in the AA.

Glendon Swarthout Former Lowell Boy Writes First Play

Glendon Swarthout, formerly of Lowell, has written his first play, "O'Daniel," which is scheduled to open February 9, at the Princess Theatre in New York City.

Swarthout collaborated with John Savacool, of Summit, N. J., on the outline for the play which serving with the Third Infantry Division in Europe. Upon their return they worked the outline into the play and a novel.

"O'Daniel" is the story of a veteran dictator, Swarthout relates, "a man returning from war with wrong ideas and a gift of gab. He makes himself the head of a corrupt veterans' organization and from there attempts to subjugate the whole nation."

Glendon graduated from Lowell high school, class of 1935, and did advertising and newspaper work for some time. He worked at the Willow Run bomber plant prior to going in the Army. He is now an English instructor at the University of Michigan, and the author of a novel, "Willow Run."

New Sweet Water By End of Week

Local Citizens Happy Over Prospects of Ample Supply in Future

Good water! After ten years of salt-tainted water, Lowell will be given fresh, sweet water, from new wells west of town this week, when final approval is given by the State Health Department.

"Water from the new wells will be flowing through the mains by the end of the week and improvement in the water is expected within 24 hours," W. A. Roth, chairman of the Light & Water committee, told council members on Monday evening.

On Saturday of last week municipal employees finished connecting up one of the new wells which will be able to furnish enough water for the village during the winter months. Monday, equipment from the Grand Rapids Water department was brought to Lowell and used to chlorinate water in the new pipeline. This chlorinated water was left standing in the mains for 24 hours and after flushing the mains with water, a sample was taken and sent to State Health Department laboratories for a final OK. When this approval is received, the water from the new wells will be allowed to flow into the mains.

Bond Issue Covers Cost

Village Engineer, Albert Roth, who surveyed the water well addition to the village in 1945 and test wells were drilled at that time, told members of the council that the cost estimate made a year ago is going to cover the cost of the new wells in spite of generally higher prices. The $46,000 bond issue will cover the cost of the new wells and mains but other costs of trying to seal off oil exploration holes was paid from general funds.

Whatever the cost, residents of Lowell, who have been using village water, will be very happy to be able to draw pure, sweet-tasting water from the village mains. The cost to Lowell in dollars would run into the many thousands if plumbing and heating damage were figured.

Stars to Play Here in Basketball Game To Benefit Athletes

Wednesday, February 5, has been set aside for an athletic benefit basketball game, to be played at the Lowell High School gymnasium. The coaches of the seven Grand Valley schools have indicated their willingness to form a team made up of the coaches and team teachers of the schools, to play a team made up of former Lowell high school stars. All proceeds will go to help Lowell High school athletes pay for injuries received in athletics.

Coach Chris Burch points out that so far this year the bills for these injuries have been about $200 more than the amount collected from the Michigan High School Athletic Benefit plan. This has been a most unusual year, in this respect, and an effort is being made to raise money to help the boys pay for their share of the expense.

The Grand Valley coaches group will be made up of former college stars, and a good brand of ball is in store for local fans, even though these boys have never played together before. The Lowell alumni have practiced a few times together and will no doubt give the coaches a good game.

Housewives might not be able to find it but the politicians still manage to have enough soft soap to hand out to the public.

Two Men Badly Hurt In Smashup on M-21

William Ward, 37, of R2, Lowell, suffered a broken nose and other injuries and his brother-in-law, Ben Randall, 60, of R3, Ionia, had a compound fracture of the right leg and body and head injuries, in an automobile accident on M-21, west of Ionia, Saturday night.

Ward was taken to Memorial hospital, Ionia, and Randall was taken to Blodgett hospital, Grand Rapids.

Ward told officers he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming auto and ran into a stalled car for which the owner, Russell Wheaton of Lowell, had gone for aid.

Underground Cable To Improve Service In the Rural Areas

A new type of underground telephone cable to help serve rural subscribers in Michigan Bell Telephone Company territory is now being installed in some sections of the state.

Theodore H. Dawson, head of the company's rural program, said the cable, which is buried deep in the earth by a special plow, would materially aid efforts to provide telephones by the end of this year to the 11,000 families on the waiting list in rural areas.

"Our goal this year is the same as it was for 1946—to provide service for 20,000 new subscribers now living in rural areas," Dawson said. Michigan Bell went "over the top" last year by installing 4,000 more telephones than it originally set its sights for.

Michigan Bell plans to put up over 9,000 miles of telephone wire this year to serve those on the waiting list and in so far as possible continue its program of reducing the number of parties per line to eight or fewer.

During the past year, the number of parties on 2,850 rural lines was reduced to eight or fewer. Dawson said that Michigan Bell now serves 107,000 rural subscribers, double the number served in 1941.

The new type underground cable now being installed for the first time in Michigan was developed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories especially for rural construction. It is lightning proof and withstands other severe weather conditions.

The life of the cable is increased by use of two types of synthetic rubber insulation and a mesh of woven steel wires.

State's Death Rate Shows Big Decline In Past 25 Years

This month marks the 25th anniversary of one of Michigan's greatest public health advances: the free distribution of biologic products. It was in January, 1922, that the Michigan Department of Health began offering to physicians free biologic products—vaccines, toxoids, antitoxins and serums—for the prevention and treatment of various diseases.

The first products distributed were to fight diphtheria. Michigan in 1920 had one of the highest diphtheria death rates in the world. . . . 25 per 100,000 population. The late Dr. C. C. Young, then director of the health department laboratories, promised Governor Grosvenor that this death rate could be cut in half within ten years if the laboratories were enabled to furnish to physicians, free of charge, the biologic products to prevent and treat diphtheria. The 1921 Legislature passed the bill and distribution began in January 1922.

Dr. Young's promise to Governor Grosvenor has been more than fulfilled. Michigan's diphtheria death rate in 1945 was .85.

During the last fiscal year the Michigan Department of Health Laboratories manufactured 2,561,297 doses of biologic products which were distributed to physicians. These included products for the prevention of diphtheria, smallpox, whooping cough, typhoid and tetanus.

Michigan was one of the first states to furnish physicians with these products without charge. Dr. Young reasoned that "known specifics for the prevention and treatment of diseases should be distributed free to the people by the state as the men who have accomplished the development of these specifics gave them to the world without profit."

In 1920 communicable diseases accounted for 34.5 of every 100 deaths in Michigan. In 1945 that percentage was down to 3.7. Biologic products have contributed greatly to this drop.

Family of Eight Driven From Home By Midnight Fire

House and Contents Go Up In Flames; Family Saves Only Nightclothes

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Laux and their five children, ranging in age from three months to twelve years, barely escaped with their lives in a fire which destroyed their home and all its contents last Monday night shortly after midnight. The house stood on the winding road just east of the Cliff Hall property.

A strong wind was blowing at the time causing the house to burn with such rapidity that the occupants were forced to leave with only their nightclothes. Mr. and Mrs. Laux and the baby were sleeping on the first floor and escaped through the front of the house, and immediately placed a ladder to a second-story window which enabled the four children and the brother-in-law to reach the ground without being injured.

Contributions Desperately Needed

Mr. Laux states that the fire started in the kitchen. The fire department responded quickly to the alarm but was unable to save the property due to the fact that the flames had already gained such headway. Only a small amount of insurance was carried.

The St. Mary's Altar Society is sponsoring a drive for clothing, furniture, dishes, cooking utensils and bedding. There are two boys, Edward, Jr., 12, and John, 6, and three girls, Lucille, 10, Joan, 5 and Margaret, three months. The children all wear clothing a size or two larger than their age. Mrs. Laux wears size 18 or 20 clothing.

All donations may be left at the Low-Denny home, 504 E. Main st., Lowell. The parents and three of the children are being cared for at the Ann Taggart home, nearby neighbors, and two of the girls are with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Johnson.

What Would You Do Mr. Taxpayer, If You Were Governor and Faced A Deficit of 100 Million Dollars?

By Gene Allman, Secy.-Manager Michigan Press Association

"The state now pays 55 per cent of its total fiscal tax revenues back to the cities, counties, towns and school districts of the state in varying forms of state aid. The payment of such a large share of state-collected revenue back to localities cannot continue to grow and I do not believe it should."

The above quotation has a ring of familiarity. Harry F. Kelly said it, in substance, while governor of Michigan. His row with big cities grew out of a determination not to divert additional state funds to municipalities.

Governor Kim Sigler recently declared that "many townships, villages and cities will receive (state aid) money without any relationship to their needs." He referred, of course, to the sales tax diversion amendment whereby 76 per cent of the tax revenue will be diverted from the state treasury to local governments.

Familiar as is the above quotation, it was not uttered by Kelly or Sigler. It is taken from the inaugural message which Governor Thomas E. Dewey, governor of New York, delivered to the New York state legislature on January 8, 1947.

And here's another significant fact: "While New York state was paying 55 per cent of its total fiscal tax revenues back to home governments, Michigan was paying 59 per cent PRIOR to the 1946 November election. With adoption of the 1946 sales tax diversion amendment, the aggregate of state-aided funds will be raised to 71 per cent."

All of which prompts a rhetorical question: If Governor Dewey thinks that the return of 55 per cent of state tax revenue represents the maximum, what would he say if the state of New York were called upon to divert 71 per cent leaving only 29 per cent available for legislative appropriations? (The latter percentage is taken from estimates made by State Treasurer D. Hale Braka.)

Governor Dewey does not dispute the need of adequate state aid for public schools. Listen to this: "Obviously, a substantial amount of state aid is necessary so that equal educational opportunities may be provided to the children of poor districts as well as to those with larger assessed valuations. It is also necessary to make possible in the less wealthy communities, the health and social welfare services which should be equally available to all our people and without which the whole people would suffer."

Governor Dewey points out the "fundamental truth" that when a unit of government spends money that has not been raised locally through taxes, the "inevitable" result is "irresponsibility and waste."

Rotary Governor Here

Prettie, Governor of the 151st District of Rotary International, which includes 56 of the Rotary Clubs in Western Michigan and the Rotary Club of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario. He was recently relieved from active duty in the United States army with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

Communism Hit By Legion Chief

"There is no room in America for any other 'ism' except Americanism," says Paul H. Griffith, national commander of the American Legion.

"In World War II we defeated, we hope, for all time, nazism and fascism. But today a third 'ism' which is spreading over the world, and I refer to communism, is just as great a threat to our American way of life as those other two."

Commander Griffith hit out strongly against communism in an address before the 8th Annual Americanism banquet, sponsored at Flint, Mich., by the Flint American Legion Americanism committee. The banquet honored Martin E. Buckner, Flint World War II veteran, who was elected last October as a national vice commander of the Legion.

Griffith challenged his fellow Legionnaires, and the citizens of America in general, to "knock down the ugly head of communism wherever it shows itself." Every group and segment of the population of this country—religious, educational, labor and governmental—is being infiltrated by communists, he declared. "We must find them and root them out, for no foreign contempt, dominated or financed philosophy or 'ism' can be allowed to thrive and grow in this nation of ours."

Eight-Point Buck Killed on Highway

An eight-point buck was so badly injured on the Vergennes highway, two miles west of Fox's Corners, last Thursday night, that it died of its injuries.

The deer ran in front of a car driven by Howard Rittenger, after which it disappeared in the darkness. The animal was found dead the next morning by Fred Fusa.

Deputy Frank L. Stephens was notified and the buck, weighing about 180 lbs. dressed, was turned over to the conservation department for distribution.

Egg Grading School Will Outline New Federal Standards

Michigan poultrymen, processors and distributors will have an opportunity to acquaint themselves with methods of grading and marketing quality eggs this month.

An egg grading school will be held in Lansing, January 27, 28 and 29. The school is sponsored jointly by the Federal-State Egg Grading Service, Michigan State College, and the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

The purpose of the school is threefold, according to J. M. Moore, extension poultryman at MSC. First, the school will try to actually train interested persons in federal-state egg grading work. Second, they will discuss the methods to produce and handle eggs so that they reach the consumer in best condition. Third, the revised U. S. Standards and Grades will be presented to the poultrymen. These new grades became effective December 1, 1946.

Details of Program

Monday, Jan. 27, will be devoted to problems relating to production and marketing distribution of eggs. Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 28 and 29, will be occupied in the actual candling and grading of eggs according to the new standards.

Because of the heavy enrollment of students at MSC, some of the meetings will be held in Lansing. However, the candling and grading work will be done at the college. Moore urges all persons interested in the school to attend. Those expecting to attend should notify J. M. Moore, poultry department, MSC, East Lansing, as soon as possible.

Kent Farm Bureau Membership Drive

Goal Is 250 New Members In '47; Farmers Urged To Join Movement

Farmers of Kent county will attend a roll call school of instruction on January 27, at the Grand Rapids township hall. The meeting will be held at one o'clock.

Ben Hennick, of Lansing, director of Junior Farm Bureau, will address approximately 125 Kent county farmers on "Farming—A Family Enterprise," and discuss with the roll call workers the need for American farmers thinking, planning, and acting collectively through a state organization.

President Seymour Heesche says, "Kent County Farm Bureau's goal is 1,261 members for 1947. Our present membership is 1,031. I think we can do it because we have a lot of Kent County farmers, who believe enough in the Farm Bureau movement and will give voluntarily a few days of their time to put our annual roll call drive over the top."

Township Chairmen

Mr. Heesche, of Lowell township, and Charles Roberts, of Sparta township, are roll call managers, assisted by the following township chairmen: Art Harbinger, Walker; Arlie Houk, Sparta; Harold Buttrick, Cascade; R. A. Wittenbach, Lowell; Charles Timpon, Bowne; Frank VandenHemp, Tyrone; Gerrit J. Hulzinga, Gaines; Barney Kolenbrander, Algoma; J. P. Ewing, Byron; Ed. Mueller, Vergennes; Ira M. Dean, Grand Rapids; Frank C. Perkins, Grand Rapids township; John E. Coasterhouse, Paris; Ralph Sherk, Caledonia; Wm. Zimmerman, Solon; Douglas Jenks, Gratton; Nelson Richardson, Plainfield; Ed. Parmeter, Courtland; Herchel Haradine, Alpine; A. Bolt, Ada.

In addition to the present membership of 1,031 Farm Bureau members, Kent county is proud of having 16 community discussion groups and two Junior Farm Bureau organizations. Part of the program for the coming year is to increase membership in both the family discussion groups and the young people's activities.

A new and interesting division of the program is the newly organized Michigan Farm Bureau Women's Activities. Heretofore, women were considered part of the family membership and, usually did not participate too actively, but beginning with last year, the chairmen of the Michigan Farm Bureau Women's program automatically becomes a member of the board of directors of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Mrs. Arvil Heilman, Publicity Chairman.

February 1 Deadline Date, Warns McCabe

John McCabe, Chairman of the Kent County AAA Committee, states, "February 1, 1947 is the final day farmers may file a performance report under the 1946 program. This deadline date has been established by the production and marketing administration. No payment will be made for any practice carried out on a farm unless a performance report is signed for the farm on or before February 1, 1947. If you find it inconvenient to call at the Kent County AAA office, you may communicate by telephone or letter."

Club Women Hear FBI Investigator

The January meeting of the Lowell Women's Club was held on Wednesday, Jan. 15, in the home of Mrs. John Lalley. The speaker for this occasion was Robert Lalley, who has been associated with the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the past five years.

This group was inaugurated in 1908 and is not controlled by any political party. The FBI is merely an investigative agency of the federal government, and is divided into four branches, viz.: Alcohol tax unit, Narcotics unit, Intelligence bureau, and last but not least, the Secret Service bureau.

"We are at present in a post-war crime wave, but the blame is not to be placed at the door of the returned war veteran," said Mr. Lalley. "Although murders have increased 2 1/2 percent and robberies 3.8 percent it is not entirely the fault of our returned soldiers. With the aid of local officers and government help crime is gradually being reduced."

A large group of eager listeners was in attendance and this proved to be one of the most interesting programs held this year.

Tea was served by the following committee, Mrs. M. B. McPherson, Mrs. J. E. Bannan, Mrs. J. M. Townsend and Mrs. Martin Houseman.

Use of Surgery In Pulmonary TB

Surgical treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis is not intended to replace the tested methods of bed rest in a sanatorium or hospital. However, among patients who need more than bed rest, especially those in whom lung cavities have developed, additional rest and relaxation must be given the lungs by surgical means.

The diseased lung is given a better chance to heal when its work of breathing is diminished and its diseased areas are partly or completely collapsed.

Odds and Ends Here and There

Pithy Points Picked Up and Patty Put by Peripatetic Pencil Pusher

All seeds in the hands of dealers, carried over from last year, if offered for sale, must be tested by the Department of Agriculture if it has not been tested within the last nine months, in order to comply with the present seed law.

Vouchers to return to the counties and cities of the state the $50,301.86 collected in motor vehicle weight taxes during the fourth quarter of 1946 have been prepared by the State Highway Department. Kent County will receive $23,889.82.

More than 50,000 GI loans totaling $2,862,000,000 have to date been approved for World War II veterans, 478,000 of them for the purchase of homes, 44,000 for businesses and 18,000 for farms.

There are more than 100,000 GI babies on the campuses of American colleges today. This estimate was made by Miss Emma C. Puschner, national child welfare director of The American Legion.

The sale of $271,177,000 in U. S. Savings Bonds during 1946 proves that the people of Michigan learned the value of thrift and savings from the experience gained during the war years. Since the inception of the Savings Bond Program in May, 1941, the people of Michigan have invested $2,855,385,208 in U. S. Savings Bonds of which they still hold 73.98%.

Divorces in Michigan for 1946 are estimated to have been approximately 24,000, or a little over 30 1/2 percent as many as the 73,817 marriages. Editor W. H. Berkey of the Caspoggio Vigilant says: "With better than three out of ten marriages going wrong our people need to be thinking seriously about what is the cause and what may be the cure for this national evil. It has been clearly demonstrated that broken homes are responsible for much of our child delinquency and if three-tenths of our homes are to be broken up by the divorce route we are facing a very large crop of potential juveniles."

Chester L. Poulton, 63, was found dead in the garage at his home in Harrison Tuesday noon, by his son, Richard, who went to call him for lunch. He was making some minor repairs on the car and had the garage doors closed with the motor running.

From Republican-News, St. Johns: "We've always thought that the confiscatory tax rates applied pretty largely to the country's huge fortunes, to movie stars, and so on, until we heard of a Hillsdale manufacturer whose personal income tax this year amounted to 84 per cent of his earnings. The fellow's still a young man, but he's getting out of business—don't know as we can blame him. Taxes are a necessary evil and you can't escape them. But when they're designed in such a way that they destroy a man's incentive to work and produce there's something wrong with our system."

Eight were the rural-line neighbors Of selfish telephone Twee. She lacked good telephone mumsers Though proud of her family tree.

She kidded their calls and snorted: "Are you going to talk ALL DAY?" Yet Penelope's calls were long-winded - "But I pay for the privilege," she'd say.

Penelope's calls were in series That lasted from nine until nine. She'd forget to hang up the receiver And tie up the whole rural line. Good rural-line neighbors are thoughtful For it's better to share, they agree; - Then all of them get better service - When they need it the line is left free.

What Would You Do Mr. Taxpayer?

Governor Dewey says that the New York Conference of Mayors came to much the same conclusion when the conference recommended, in a recent report, that the financial needs of the cities and villages be enlarged by granting them "adequate powers to levy other substantial taxes in addition to the real estate tax. The time is long past when there is any need for each city and each village requiring additional taxing powers or revenue to appeal to the state."

Feeling that the financial solution of local governments should be found in their own taxing power, not in additional diversion of state funds, Governor Dewey appears to be on the same logical ground as the mayors of cities and villages. In that respect the New York situation is uniquely different from Michigan.

Michigan taxpayers who look with suspicion upon the accumulation of surplus funds in the state treasury will be interested to learn that New York's post-war reserve fund is $217,000,000, exclusive of the current surplus for this fiscal year. John D. Morrison, former auditor general of Michigan, reported to Michigan taxpayers in a statement published state-wide in newspapers last October that surpluses reserved since June 30 totaled a little more than $200,000,000 and that the accumulated surplus (not expended by the legislature) was $21,552,000.

The numerical difference between New York and Michigan post-war funds is more than four to one.

It is the open and avowed policy of Governor Dewey that state funds should be accumulated for post-war construction and that such construction should be postponed during a period of inflation and prosperity. Here is his recommendation: "It should be a cardinal principle of governmental fiscal policies that large scale spending for public improvements ought not to be undertaken at the peak of an inflationary period but should rather be reserved so as to be available at a time when such expenditures could have a healthy and stimulating effect upon employment."

"By pursuing such a course government policy can achieve two purposes: it can help to be a stabilizing rather than a disrupting influence in the economy and it can make sure that the people get their money's worth for the dollars they have paid in taxes."

Governor Dewey warned legislators that "surpluses can quickly turn to deficits" and that the $217,000,000 post-war reserve fund should be INCREASED further by approximately $100,000,000 from the current year's surplus. In a pleading for an increase of the state's reserve fund, Dewey declares: "Our state is in the strongest financial position in its history. Our job is to keep it strong."

From the above quotations it seems obvious that Governor Dewey has been confronted with pretty much the same demands for state funds as was Governor Harry F. Kally in 1941 and 1942—the same years when Dewey was governor of New York. It is also apparent that Dewey, like Kally, would have opposed vigorously any additional diversion of state funds which in New York now is at the 55 per cent point.

We wonder what Governor Dewey would recommend to the legislature if he was faced, as in Governor Sigler in Michigan today, with the prospect of a $100,000,000 deficit in the state treasury at the end of the coming fiscal year. (Such is the forecast made last week by Michigan's new budget director.) Or to put on the shoe where it really pinches, what would YOU do, Mr. Taxpayer, if YOU were governor?
