Ada News

Mrs. Hatlie B. Fitch
Ada Library Notes
Mrs. Grace Whaley, librarian, spent Monday in Lansing, when she visited the State Library. The group also visited the Capitol building and had lunch at the Old Hotel. This trip was made possible through Kent County library funds.

Our Ada librarian will also attend the Vocational Workshop held at Clear Lake near Hastings from August 25 to 29. Clear Lake camp is a fine place for classes, recreation and outdoor sports.

Patrons are People, Color and Comfort in the Library. The Librarian as a Citizen, Matching Books to Boys and Girls and Telling Parents About Children's Books are topics to be studied at this workshop. Sponsors are the State Board of Libraries and State Board of Control for Vocational Education.

At these workshops our librarians will find old friends and make new ones, she will see what other librarians are doing to make their library an effective community center.

The township supervisor through the township board is paying Mrs. Whaley expenses to the Clear Lake camp. This trip will prove to be an inspiration for the good of Ada's circulating library.

Exempt Grange Notes
Seventy members of the Egypt Grange attended the annual picnic on Sunday at Pullsburg Park. A bounteous potluck dinner was much enjoyed at noon and the members returned home with a much better appetite than when they left.

At the last meeting of the Grange the program in charge was Mrs. Olive Ritter, Knapp Lampson and Bernard Roeder proved to be most interesting.

At the next meeting the program will be in charge of Mrs. Lampson, Bob Anderson, Fats Puling and Mary McCann.

Merivie, Friday Evening
Nearly 300 attended the moving picture show given on the 8th Merivie lot on Main street last Friday evening. These movies are sponsored by the merchants and postmaster of Ada for the benefit of a second free store which is being built on Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Weather permitting, seats will be provided. Everyone is invited to attend.

Phillips 66 is selectively blended for high-level performance all year around!

Why Michigan Bell must ask for a Rate Increase

There has not been an increase in telephone rates in 21 years. From 1926 until 1937, our rates went down substantially. Except for even further reductions in local rates in a number of exchanges and decreases in toll rates, those 1937 rates are still in effect—despite the fact that the cost of almost everything . . . wages, taxes, supplies . . . has been going up.

For example, post-war wage adjustments alone have boosted our costs nearly $11,000,000 a year, including settlements reached during the recent strike.

Actually, all our costs put together have gone up much faster than our income.

In the ten years since 1937, income has gone up 141%, costs have gone up 193% and our return on investment has dropped more than a third.

It's just simple arithmetic that 1937 rates won't work in 1947.

We've tried to make both ends meet without increasing rates. We've held off as long as possible. But now, we've got to ask for an increase—because it is absolutely necessary to protect our customers' service.

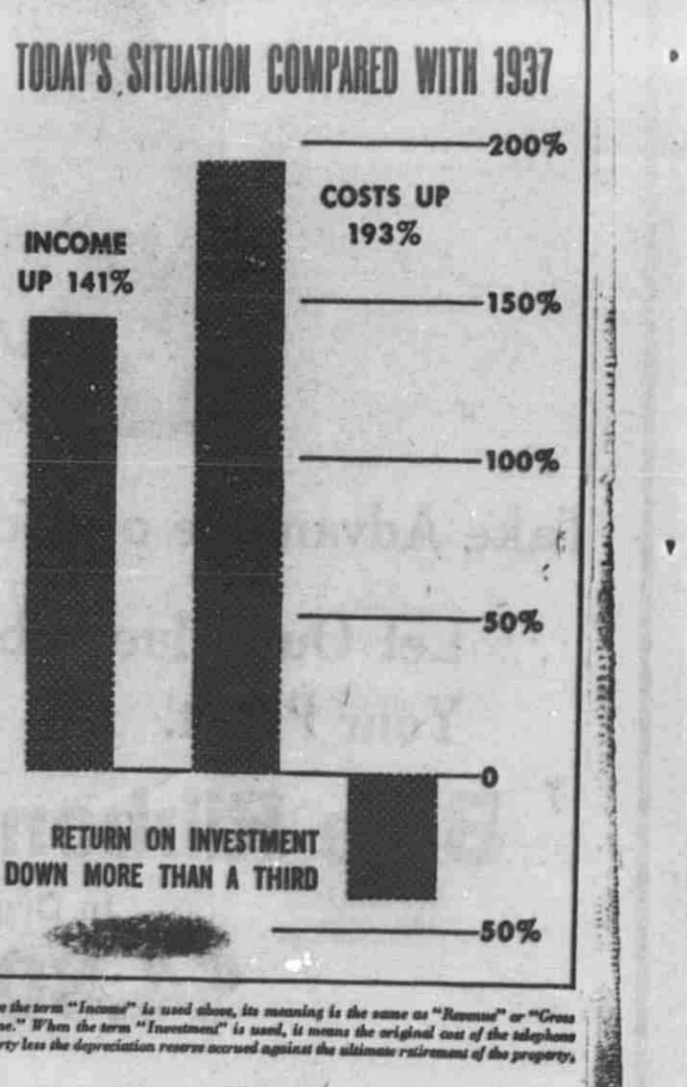

It will take a lot of money from investors to give more service and better quality service from here on. Investors will put up the money only if they are assured a fair return, which we cannot provide under our present rates.

So the future quality of Michigan's telephone service depends on raising rates enough to assure the financial stability of your telephone company.

That's why we're going to ask the Michigan Public Service Commission* for a public hearing to review our proposed new schedule of rates. During the week of August 3, we'll publish details of the rate body established by State law and appointed by the Governor to stipulate rate raises.

proposed rates throughout Michigan Bell territory. After that, we'll file the petition with the Public Service Commission.

Telephone service will still be a bargain at the proposed rates. We'd rather not be asking for an increase. But that's the only way we can assure our customers the kind of service they want. For 1937 rates won't work in 1947.

DO YOUR CROPS LOOK GOOD?

Now is a good time to look over your crops to see if they are doing well. If they are not getting enough plant food, many of them will show hunger signs. Potash starvation is easily identified. Corn leaves lacking potash, for instance, will show yellow streaking and scorched edges, while alfalfa and clover leaves will have white spots around the outside. Consult your agricultural adviser and learn to read hunger signs. Write us for free information and literature.

80 of Every 100 Who Get Lockjaw Die Says Health Commissioner

You don't have to step on a rusty nail or be burned by gun powder to get lockjaw. A prick with the cottage ice pick, or a scraped knee from a fall in the village street can do the job just as well. Even a shiny nail may be guilty of injecting the germs.

Farm and rural injuries are the major sources of tetanus infection in Michigan today. Accidents with barbed wire, pitchforks, corn shredders, falling boards, moving belts and similar equipment are contributors to their share of the cases.

The tetanus bacillus commonly live in the bowels of horses, and possibly other farm animals. They are found wherever manure is found and are carried on dust by the wind. It does no harm to eat the germs. They cause disease only when they are gotten into a wound which is then closed from air.

"Fortunately, not many people, even among horse handlers, get lockjaw, but 80 out of every 100 who get it, die of the illness. Such deaths are incurable, according to Dr. William DeKleins, State Health Commissioner.

The Michigan Department of Health Laboratories make a tetanus toxoid, two monthly shots of which, followed by yearly booster shots, will immune against lockjaw. A person who has not had this immunization, may be given tetanus anti-toxin at the time of his injury to prevent lockjaw. The Department makes the anti-toxin also, and either the toxoid or the anti-toxin may be administered by any physician.

Children living or vacationing on a farm, farm workers, all people who customarily handle horses, and those people in industries where they are apt to receive puncture or scraping wounds should have the toxoid immunization followed by booster shots once a year.

"Toxoid shots are a 'must' for farm children whose bare feet and brown hands receive many scratches, cuts and blisters which go unnoticed in the ordinary course of events," Dr. DeKleins said.

Mapes Com. Farm Bureau

The Mapes Community Farm Bureau met at the Mapes school house last Friday evening. There were 11 members present. Due to the absence of the chairman, the assistant chairman, S. M. Rowland, took charge.

The discussion leader was also absent so Marvin Huver led the very lively discussion. A very nice potluck lunch was served.

The next meeting will be held at the Mapes schoolhouse August 8 with Mr. and Mrs. Huver as host and hostess. Refreshments of ice cream and cake will be served.—Claude Schmidt, reporter.
