The following paragraph is from a history presumed to have been written about the year 3,000 A. D., and has to do with life in the U. S. during the present period:

"During the first half of the 20th century a vehicle called an automobile was much in vogue. Nearly every family had one and because they could be driven as fast as 90 to 75 miles per hour the people became speed crazy and reckless in their driving, with the result that as many as forty thousand persons per year were killed in accidents along the highways and countless other thousands were crippled and permanently injured. It made much business for the undertakers and doctors. The more they killed, the faster they drove until life was exceedingly unsafe on the highways. Driving while intoxicated was made a misdemeanor, yet drunk driving accounted for a large part of the accidents."

FOOTBALL VALUES

Football is a grand old game. Millions of people are thrilled by the beginning of the new season. Great numbers of boys and young men are eager for the chance to play, and are competing for positions on their college, school, or community team.

Football is often called a rough game, but it has a very prominent place among the college and school activities. It has an important part in the development of those who play it. It helps young men develop powers of quick thinking and fast action. There is no chance for hesitation in the swift moving picture on that gridiron.

The player has to act instantaneously or he misses his chance. His judgment is trained to make instant decisions, and to see a situation with amazing speed.

The game teaches splendid lessons of obedience to rules. Failure to play the game as it should be played brings too many penalties. Players who have this training are becoming citizens who obey the rules the community makes for daily life.

Youth has a vast amount of surplus energy. It needs chances to work off that pent up power. Football, with its intense activity, furnishes a normal outlet for emotion and energy. A lot of steam is worked off without doing anyone a particle of harm.

The game has fine lessons of team play. The players have to work together as a unit. They are likely to develop into men who will cooperate excellently with their fellow citizens, and work together to accomplish desirable results. So the country greets the return of football with a cheer. It will bring the stadiums and grandstands as ever, and present the same scene of unbounded enthusiasm.

IMPORTANCE OF STUDY

Most of the modern boys and girls realize that education is necessary. Some may become so absorbed in their games and sports and pleasures, that there is a temptation to devote too little attention to their study. If there are any who neglect their school work, it is a help to such ones if the parents keep telling them how important it is for them to do well in school, and make the best of these fleeting and passing opportunities.

The years of school soon pass. They are very precious and vital to the future of the youngsters. If there are any children who are careless and indifferent about their school work, they miss something of high and permanent value in their lives. The people can feel thankful that nearly all the modern youngsters are ambitious, and disposed to take advantage of these opportunities.

Michigan Will Have Own Kenny Institute For Treating Polio

Within the year, Michigan will have its own Sister Kenny Institute, it was announced today by William G. Baxter, executive administrator for the Kenny Foundation, who has just returned from Minneapolis after a conference with Sister Elizabeth Kenny and officers of the Institute's board. The proposed Michigan institute will be staffed by fully-trained Kenny personnel and will offer all the therapeutic treatments now being given polio victims at the home institute, Baxter said. Of further import is the statement that, with the exception of some 10 to 15% to be budgeted to the Minneapolis Institute for expansion and maintenance, all monies collected in Michigan during the current drive will remain within the state rather than just the 60% allocated in the two previous drives, Baxter stated. This, he added, will make the Third Annual Appeal of the Foundation fully a Michigan activity. Contributions may be mailed to the Foundation's State Offices at 626 Washington Boulevard Edg., Detroit 26, Michigan.

Lowell Women's Club Opens Fall Meetings Hears Fine Address

The Lowell Women's Club opened its fall meeting, Wednesday, September 17, at Fallsburg Park with a carry-in lunch, twenty-five being present.

Miss Margaret B. Harris, assistant State Home Demonstration Agent of M. S. C. gave a very interesting talk on "How Do You Measure Up" as a character, citizen, and to your own idea of value of self. It is well she said to take stock of one's self and if you are not securing the cooperation of fellow workers or do not get along with friends and associates, take measure of yourself—just what am I contributing and bringing better results. It is believed all who listened sort of began to take stock of themselves.

During the hot weeks in August Mrs. Royden Warner, president of the club, was approached to see if the members would put on the Rotary luncheons. She consented with the thought in mind, could we make a sum to add to the School Building fund. Every member was welcomed gladly responded and when the proceeds were all counted the club had over $100.

Albert Johnson U. S. Army Veteran Buried Here Monday

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Roth's chapel for Albert Johnson, 61, who passed away Saturday, Sept. 20, Rev. Norman G. Woon was the officiating minister and interment was in Oakwood cemetery.

Albert Johnson, son of Milo and Christina Johnson, was born Aug. 4, 1886 in Boston township and spent most of his lifetime in or near Lowell.

He served as private in the army enlisting at Columbus, Ohio, on January 20, 1906. He was stationed in the Philippines during the Boxer Rebellion and received an honorable discharge February 16, 1912.

In May 1934 he was married to Edna Timney of Eddling. Although he had been in ill health for the past two years, he had been able to be up and around the house until just recently.

He is survived by his widow, one stepson, Ernest Timney of Grand Rapids; three brothers, Carl of Grand Rapids, Manley and Edwin of Lowell and three sisters, Mrs. Walter Peckham of Kahlotus, Wash., Mrs. Dora Venn of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Anna-Sibillaki of Lowell.

Jim jerked the wheel to go alongside the tracks and the P. M. Steamliner whizzed by before he could stop the car.

Modern Hiawathas Soon Enter Forests Seek Bucks, Does

Where the redskin once stole silently through the woods in search of game, Michigan's rapidly growing tribe of modern-day bow hunters will soon take over.

On October 1 a state-wide bow and arrow season opens for the taking of bucks only. In Allegan county deer of either sex may be taken as in the past few years.

On October 11 the number of bowmen seeking their deer will be swelled as a new law recently enacted goes into effect. This will permit the taking of one deer of either sex in 17 of Michigan's counties.

A record number of more than 9,000 bow-and-arrow hunters is expected to try its luck this fall, according to Arnold O. Haugen, professor of wildlife management in Michigan State college and president of the Michigan Archers' association.

Haugen, a veteran bow-and-arrow hunter himself—he was the first in Michigan to get his deer last year—has some rather timely tips for this quickly growing band of bowmen. Spend much more time standing and sitting in concealing cover, than walking around in the main tip on stalking the deer. Let your deer come to within 90 yards of you before shooting. He adds, and do not chase your deer as soon as you've hit it.

As for equipment, Haugen suggests that the hunter get a good supply of real sharp arrows and a bow with a pull of at least 40 pounds. And the equipment isn't given to give you best results unless you practice shooting a little daily.

Above all, the wildlife specialist says, have a good time and continue always to be a good sportsman.

A & P Announce Great 88th Anniversary Sale

Michigan To Have New Labor Law, Effective in Two Weeks Aim to Protect Public Welfare

Two weeks from this coming Saturday (Sept. 27), Michigan's new labor law will go into effect. All labor unions and employees will be affected, as the law imposes new obligations with respect to strikes and picketing. It seeks to prevent industrial strife by requiring the use of mediation. Strikes may be called only after the state conducts an election of employees. A strike is legal only if it is authorized by a majority of the employees involved, not a majority of those voting.

Furthermore, the new law seeks to outlaw strikes by employees of public government, public utilities and hospitals, and to settle such disputes by arbitration.

Here's how the new law will work, beginning October 11. Suppose the workers of the Smithville Manufacturing Company, a fictitious firm as far as we know, have a dispute with their employer. The workers, or their bargaining representative, file notice of intent to strike with the state labor mediation board at Lansing.

The state board sends a mediator to Smithville. He tries to settle the dispute by getting both sides together.

If these negotiations fail, the state board is required by law to conduct a special election to determine whether a majority of the workers of this firm favor the proposed work stoppage.

The most recent offer of management must be printed on the strike ballot. Cost of the election—printed ballots, etc.—is to be paid by the two disputing parties, employees and the management, either equally or upon some other basis agreed upon. The State of Michigan does not foot the bill.

Suppose two unions are in a row over who has the right to represent the workers. Such a dispute also goes to mediation. If mediation fails, then a special election must be called by the state board. Expense of this election is to be borne equally by the two disputing unions.

Only until the unions' dispute is settled by the workers, can a legal strike be called.

Contrary to popular belief, Michigan has not had an effective picketing law up to now. It is going to have one. The law makes it unlawful for anyone to "hinder or prevent by mass picketing, threats, intimidation, force or coercion of any kind the pursuit of any lawful work or employment." That's a mouthful.

Also: The law makes it unlawful for anyone to "obstruct or interfere with free and uninterrupted use of public roads, streets, highways, railways, airports or other ways of travel or conveyance."

Enforcement of the law is up to all enforcement agencies in the following order: City police, county sheriff's department, Michigan State Police, Michigan National Guard and United States Army, State Police or the National Guard intervene only by order of the Governor upon receipt of an appeal from a mayor or sheriff. The U. S. Army intervenes only upon order of the President upon receipt of an appeal from the Governor.

The new law is the result of a public's protest against industrial strikes that affect the general public welfare. It will be interesting to see whether the law succeeds in its purpose.

C. H. Runciman Co. Buys Clarksville Elevator Plans to Enlarge Same

C. H. Runciman Company announced this week that they have purchased the Clarksville elevator from Orley Bechtel and Andrew Wilton. The elevator will be managed by Orley Bechtel, one of the former owners, and will continue to offer general elevator service, custom grinding and a complete line of lumber and building material.

The Runciman Company plans to enlarge the Clarksville elevator and at some future date move the feed mill from Freepoot to Clarksville.

Car Lands in Ditch Couple Badly Hurt

Mr. and Mrs. John Arehart were both rendered unconscious when their car landed in a ditch on Jackson street near the upper bridge last Monday night about 8:30. The accident being attributed to a wheel of their car locking.

Mrs. Arehart was taken in a Roth ambulance to St. Mary's hospital where it was found that she received lacerations about the head requiring stitches and was otherwise badly bruised and shaken up. Mr. Arehart was also bruised and shaken up but it was not necessary to take him to the hospital.

After treatment in the hospital Mrs. Arehart was brought to the home of her son, William, where she will stay while recuperating from her injuries.

Interesting Feature For All Football Fans Now Running Weekly

Football fans will be able to read nationally known "Dick Dunkel" College Football averages in the Ledger for the next nine weeks through the courtesy of McMahon & Reynolds.

Mr. Dunkel has been picking the probable winners since 1929 with uncanny accuracy and his past record is so good that he is recognized throughout the country. Lowell fans starting next week will be able to get the picture of each week's probable football winners through the nation in McMahon & Reynolds advertisement on the back of the Ledger.

Along with the "Dick Dunkel" averages McMahon & Reynolds are also conducting a "Weekly Football Quiz" giving the winners of each week's contest a necktie. See back page for further information.

"If Lowell is too good at picking the winner," says Bruce McKeon, "it's sure going to be hard on our necktie stock!"

IMPORTANT ADVISE FOR ALL SPORTSMEN

Sportsmen buying their 1947 hunting licenses should insist on getting both parts of the game law digest, for it costs no more to get it all, the conservation department says.

The digest proper, containing the substance of basic laws on hunting, is an eight-page folder. The digest supplement, containing this year's season dates and bag limits, is a four page folder. Equipped with both folders, the hunter has all the facts he needs to know about the law; failure to pick up either will not excuse ignorance of any special provisions.

There will be musical numbers by mixed quartets, choirs and solos, also prayers, and a main sermon by Douglas Wingeler of the Methodist church.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend this service. Come and bring a friend, read the display adv. on page seven for full details.

Wyoming Park Here This Friday Night in Conference Game

The Lowell Red Arrows lost a football game to Ionia last Friday night at Recreation Park, but gained the respect of a multitude of fans when they held the heavier opponents to 13 points.

Ionia scored in the opening quarter on a 53-yard drive, with Wolfert crashing over from the one yard line. In the second quarter Lowell took the ball in the shadow of their own goal post and staged an offensive deep into Blue and White territory. Score at the half, Ionia 8, Lowell 0.

On the second play of the 3rd quarter Rash on a break away play, ran 89 yards for Ionia's second touchdown. Wilder converted to end the evening's scoring.

During the last half Lowell was twice within Ionia's 10-yard strip, and at one time within a foot of touchdown soil, but failed to punch it over.

Several Red Arrow players showed good possibilities, however, it is too early in the season to pick individual stars. Coach Burch is attempting to weld together a team unit rather than build up individual players.

Wyoming Park, boasting a 20-6 win over Kelloggville, will come to Recreation Park, Friday night, at 7:30 p. m. This is a Grand Valley conference game and both teams are anxious to notch up a victory in the suburban arena.

Notice, Football Fans

It would relieve traffic congestion on Main street after a football game if local fans would park their cars on the 4-H club fairgrounds. Arrangements have been made so fans may enter the football field from the west side.

Flat River Included Game Cover Planting

Planting of 150,000 trees and shrubs for wildlife food and cover on 10 southern Michigan state game areas is now in full swing. The conservation department's game division reports. The planting is being done under the Pittman-Robertson wildlife restoration program.

Stock being set out consists of 50,000 pines, 50,000 broad-leaved trees and shrubs, and 50,000 rose multiflora. Plantings are being made on Flat River, Barry County, Grand Saginaw, Oak Grove, Goumneek, DeFord, Vassar, Tuscola, Fort Huron and Lapeer state game areas.

Whooping Cough In Michigan Continues 300 Cases in Week

Whooping cough continues to increase in Michigan. The Michigan Department of Health received reports of 300 new cases last week. This was the largest week's total of the year. Cases have been averaging about 200 to 250 per week during the summer.

Whooping cough is preventable. The Department recommends immunization against the disease at six months of age followed by a booster or stimulating dose at the time the child enters school.

The disease is most serious in very young infants and in young children. Of the 33 deaths from whooping cough during the first five months of this year, more than half were of infants under six months of age, and the remainder were of children under five years of age.

Any child over six months of age who has not been protected against whooping cough should be immunized now, the Department advised. Any child who entered school without having his booster shot, should have the stimulating dose at once.

Lifetime Crucifix

A new type of crucifix recently placed on the market is said to be so durable and so easily adjustable that it can be telescoped into a diameter of 1/2 inch and expanded to 6 inches. It is made of aluminum tubing, the crucifix is lighter than conventional wooden crucifixes and can be telescoped so that any height from 3 1/2 to more than 6 feet can be obtained. First Methodist Church

C. E. Pollock, Minister
"Every member at church Sunday morning" is the plan for next Sunday. The Sunday School at 10 o'clock begins the active "Crucifixion" Sunday School year. The worship hour at 11 o'clock is devoted to the study of the Bible. Every member and visitor of the church is urged to attend. The newly decorated church interior will be open to the public from 10:30 to 11:30 a. m. on Sept. 28. While the young people will have charge of the service, every one young or old, is invited to attend. Each Thursday evening there will be a midweek service at 7:30. The 3rd M's will meet Thursday evening, Oct. 2, at the church dining room for their monthly meeting. The speaker for the occasion will be the Rev. William H. Hanning from First Methodist Church, Lansing.

Uncle Sam Says

This is a good story and it's about you, pop. The chapter I am reading is entitled "Security." It tells about your Payroll Savings, the easy, automatic way you are building up a comfortable nestegg for the future of yourself and your family. Best part of all, pop, is the fact that millions of my alices and nephews have the same important place in this story of a happy future as yourself. They, too, are buying United States Savings Bonds regularly.

The bride was attired in a white wool street-length gown with wine accessories. She wore a glamella corsage. Miss Flora Myers, sister of the bride, was her only attendant, wearing a grey wool dress with plum accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom was attended by Lawrence Armstrong.

The bride's mother wore a sheer black and white crepe, with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The groom's mother was dressed in a black gown with fuchsia and black accessories with a corsage of white carnations. A breakfast was served in the private dining room at the Lena Lou at twelve noon. The highlight of the breakfast was the three-tier white wedding cake, cut and served by the bride and groom. Twenty-three guests were present. The happy couple were the recipients of many lovely gifts. They left on a short honeymoon trip, and in the near future will reside in Lowell.

AUNT HET

By Robert Quillen

"I'm glad Ruth's folks got a preschool nurse. You can pick at a professional nurse all day and she won't tell you what is goin' on."

"Tint so on insurance cause Rittenger Insurance Service tells you about your coverage in a policy without even asking."

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Merrill, who had planned to entertain with a family dinner Sunday at their cabin, entertained at the home of her mother, Mrs. Dora Fletcher, on account of the heavy rain.

Saturday afternoon a group of old time friends and neighbors of Mrs. Bert Morrison gathered at her home to remind her of her approaching birthday. The afternoon was spent in reviewing bygone days and later, a delicious picnic supper was enjoyed.

Mrs. F. A. Gould and Mrs. V. E. Ashley were joint hostesses to the Goufus Club which was entertained last week Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Gould. Cards furnished the afternoon's entertainment and a dainty luncheon was served.

The Three M's Fellowship of the Methodist Church spent Sunday evening in Saranac where they attended a meeting of the sub-district Young Adult Fellowship. All members of the group reported an enjoyable and exceptionally inspirational meeting.

Veterans in needs of surgery of the nervous system now are sent to 41 specially equipped and staffed hospitals centers operated by the VA or under contract to it.
