FIT AND PERFORMANCE

Chevrolet owners do right by their cars and trucks when they insist on having none but genuine Chevrolet parts for repairs and replacements... because these are parts built to the same exact specifications and of the same high-quality materials as the original production parts. All the advantages of vast quantity production—high quality at lowered costs, constant testing and vigilant inspection—that make Chevrolet vehicles the leaders in their fields, are shared by individual parts sold for replacements.

processes—and does. For one example, consider the exhaust valves—produced by the extrusion process, of chrome-nickel-silicon steel, with sents and stems ground in accurate alignment. These extruded valves are distinguished for their toughness and superior heat-dissipating ability.
