FREEDOM AND YOUTH

In talking to youngsters about the heritage of freedom which belongs to every American, the idea can be emphasized that they have been given a very great blessing in the form of free opportunity. It is a benefit that is denied to the people of many lands. In those countries people are not free to express their own thoughts, to discuss questions of public policy, or to criticize their government when it goes wrong. The American people with their inherited love of liberty, would chafe severely under such restrictions.

American freedom gives young people a chance to develop their own powers, and to unite with their fellows in measures of public improvement and efforts to remove existing evils.

Under the stimulus of these free institutions, the ambition of the people has been stimulated, and their energy has produced a degree of welfare and comfort that far exceeds that of the old world.

THE SMILING TOWN

Smiles are said to be an important factor in business and social life. The salesman who greets people in a smiling manner, seems to welcome them. People like him and enjoy doing business with him, and are likely to look for him when they come again. In social life, people who greet friends and acquaintances with a smiling manner makes many warm friendships.

YOUTH WILL BE SERVED

Children mean business to many kinds of industry. Not including movies, sale of bubble gum and comic books, we spend $2 billion a year, supplying needs and wants of children under the teen-ages. Sales of clothing runs about four times above the 1938 level.

TRAINING IN PUNCTUALITY

One of the benefits that children get from school life is the training they get in punctuality. It would be harmful to the work and discipline of a school if many children were constantly late and tardy. So emphasis is placed on the necessity that they should be prompt in getting to their work, and be ready for the regular program at the appointed time.

The Moose however dealt the Hot Points out of first place taking 3 straight and first place. First place seems like something "too hot to handle". Look out, Moose, you're on the spot. Only eight states in the United States rank higher than Michigan in electrification of farmsteads, a federal survey reaching Michigan State college revealed this week.

Only eight percent of Michigan's farms are not electrified. Connecticut, with only 15 percent un electrified, leads the nation. North Dakota, with 84.5 percent shows the least improvement.

Only 14,029 Michigan farms are not equipped with electricity. Many new lines being installed by private and public utilities along with RRA agencies will cut the number below 10,000 within the next year.

Ridgway, the first World War II deceased member of the Army from Lowell to be returned from overseas for final burial, will arrive in Lowell in the next few weeks, accompanied by a uniformed Army escort from the Chicago Distribution Center of the American Graves Registration Division.

Michigan Bell Co. Explains Stand Declares Costs Increasing Faster Than Income New Area Service

Hearing on the application of the Michigan Bell Telephone company for a $10,400,000 general rate increase has begun before the Public Service Commission at Lansing.

In support of its plea for its first rate increase in 21 years, the company has presented direct testimony regarding steadily rising costs which have increased more rapidly than revenues and forced Michigan Bell's rate of return to the lowest point since the depression.

Karl F. Oehler, General Solicitor for the company, stressed in his opening statement the importance of the good-service objective in regulatory matters.

"Good service," he said, "is much more important to the telephone user than a few extra cents he might have to pay to get it. Michigan Bell wants no rates that are unreasonable."

Objecting to a proposal by the Commission staff for separation and audit and appraisal studies at the expense of the company, Oehler contended the statute does not require the company to underwrite the costs of such studies by outside experts.

He also pointed out that regulatory authorities in some 20 states had granted rate increases following hearings without directing such studies to be made.

Although not a part of the record, Thomas G. Long, General Counsel for the company, recalled that the last audit and appraisal of the company's books and properties by outside experts cost $300,000 and took four years to complete.

Offers Extended Area Service
While proposing an increase in virtually every type of service that it offers and in each of its 232 exchanges, Michigan Bell is offering a new plan of extended-area service that would permit telephone users in most communities to call nearby exchanges "with the same community of interest" without paying long-distance charges.

In addition to the extended-area plan, the company's chief proposals outline a call for clearing of rate inequities as between communities of comparable telephone development, reclassification of outstate exchanges into eight groups and creating of district exchanges at Grand Rapids and Pontiac.

Godwin Defeats Lowell East to Play Here Friday

After holding the Godwin Wolverines for a quarter, the Red Arrow defense crumpled to allow Lowell to march to a 40 to 0 win last Thursday night at Grand Rapids.

During the first half Lowell was never in Godwin territory. Their only scoring opportunity came on the last play of the game when Gardner was downed on the one yard line after a pass interception.

This week Friday, East Grand Rapids will invade Lowell for the last home game of the season. A Lowell victory would balance the books for the Lowell lads.

Whitneyville Area
Mourning of Delbert Blood, 92

By Whitneyville Correspondent

Delbert C. Blood, who was born at Cassaua Lake on October 27, 1839. His father, who was a carpenter and built many of the old houses in this section, died at Whitneyville on August 2, 1914.

Mr. Blood was married to Mary McGrover August 4, 1875, and she preceded him in death on August 23, 1922.

Mr. Blood was familiarly known as "Uncle Dell" to folks for miles around. No one has been more keenly interested in the community than he, and probably none has given the number of years of service to this community as he. For years he served on the Whitneyville school board; he has known the history of the Whitneyville cemetery from its beginning, and until very recent years had charge of it. The land for the Whitneyville church was given from him, which at that time belonged to his mother, and he was instrumental in the building of the church and most of the years has been a trustee of the church. He lived here with his wife until his death, which occurred Oct. 24, and had he lived until October 27, he would have reached his 93rd birthday.

After the death of his wife in 1922, he lived alone with his nephew, Arthur Sears and wife lived with him until 1928, when Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wagner came to live with him and make a home for him. Since that time Mr. and Mrs. Wagner have been his constant companions, and he has been comforted with the care and love that they have shown him to the end. Burial was in the Whitneyville cemetery at 2:30 p. m. Monday, Oct. 30, at the home of J. G. Ballard officiating clergyman.

Parcels for Overseas Should Be Mailed Now

The post office department reminds relatives and friends of those in the armed services or in civilian jobs overseas, they must have their Christmas parcels in the mail by November 15, if they expect to get delivery by the holiday.

Packages should be of the sturdiest material, weighing not over 70 pounds and not over 100 inches in length and girth combined. We understand that food and clothes are available in ample quantities for our relatives and friends serving overseas. We also know that insecticides, inflammable materials, are not acceptable in the mail, and in some areas as Germany, France and Austria, cigarets can't be sent.

Write legibly, have the correct address (preferably on the wrapper rather than on gummed labels). Do it NOW!

Greater Consumption Of Apple Juice Seen As Aid to Producers

The old saying "an apple a day" still goes, but Mrs. Housewife is buying more of them in the form of apple juice today. And in doing so, she is solving one of the growers' problems.

According to Dr. Roy E. Marshall of the Department of Horticulture at Michigan State college, the quantity of apple juice packed in Michigan has jumped from 70,000 to 800,000 cases a year since 1937. And the orchardist is finding an outlet for those apples that are too small or lack sufficient color for sale on the fresh fruit market, although their quality is good.

The increased consumption of apple juice is caused in part by the use of a process called flash pasteurization which eliminates the "cooked" flavor resulting from old-time methods of processing. And of course the housewife likes to add to the variety of her fruit juice supply. The 48-ounce can seems to be most popular with both the processor and the consumer.

The horticulturist reports that there has been some discussion as to the merits of fortifying apple juice with ascorbic acid, (vitamin C). This helps the juice to retain its color during storage and provides higher nutritive value. Some consumers, however, do not like the more tart flavor given to the juice.

WEAVER-MORRIS

The altar of Park Congregational church, Grand Rapids, lighted with candelabra and decorated with white chrysanthemums formed the background for the wedding of Dorothy Alice Morris and Orson M. The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a gown of transparent chiffon velvet, styled with a fitted bodice, with a yoke of marquisette trimmed with seed pearls. The bouffant skirt, caught up with velvet roses in front, ended in a full circular train.

Her finger tip veil of French tulle was held in place by a coronet of white ostrich feathers and a band of white chiffon velvet. She carried a white Bible covered with white roses. She wore a strand of pearls, a gifts from the groom.

She wore a gown of wheat colored moire with a high neckline, a fitted bodice trimmed with a row of tiny buttons extending to the waist, a full skirt and matching mitts. Her headdress a coronet of wheat colored feathers and satin ribbons. Her bouquet was a cascade of bronze chrysanthemums.

Miss Clinton and Mrs. Hartner's gowns were rose colored and they carried bouquets of rose chrysanthemums. Mrs. Ayres' gown was aqua colored and her bouquet was also rose chrysanthemums.

The flower girl was little Miss Anita Murphy, a cousin of the bride. Assisting the bridegroom as best man was B. J. Ayres, brother-in-law of the groom and Robert Weaver, brother of the groom and John Phelps, both of Lowell and Walter C. Afton, Jr., of Ada, were ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nellist of Grand Rapids were Master and Mistress of ceremonies and Mrs. Nellist wore a gown of aqua crepe with accessories of brown and a corsage of pink chrysanthemums. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Morris chose a gown of Forrest green crepe with matching sequins and brown and green accessories. Her corsage was of bronze chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Weaver selected for her son's wedding a gown of purple crepe with matching sequins and black accessories. Her corsage was two toned pink chrysanthemums. Following the wedding a reception was held in the church parlors for the more than two hundred guests and assisting in serving were Miss Betta Mae Reeves of Chicago, Ill., Miss Eleanor Houran and Miss Marjorie Spaulding of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Pauline Verecké of Ada.

Following the reception the newly-weds left for a two weeks wedding trip to Florida and they will make their home in Ada. For traveling the bride selected a gray wool suit with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.
