The Lowell Bakery, 214 E. Main, has been closed since Monday in order to redecorate. Business will be resumed as usual this week Friday. The proprietors, Novitsky & Jeluso, are serving the community well with their fine quality baked goods.

Sides lower rates. If you are 65 or older, you get an extra exemption, the same as though you had another dependent. Thus, a man and wife, both over 65, would have a total of four exemptions. Their tax would be the same as a younger man and wife with two minor children—who would also have four exemptions.

THE TANK THE TANK TONE WAS MALL

on Monday and Tuesday Than on Friday and Saturday?

Why should a Monday shopper pay more than a Saturday shopper? Why should you be penalized on Tuesday for the shopping you do on Friday? Why should identical items cost you more the early part of the week than they do the latter part? We agree with you . . . it just doesn't make sense. We believe that every shopper is entitled to the best possible food values EVERY day. So we never juggle prices at A&P... never mark a few things down once or twice a week and make up for it by marking other things up the rest of the week. Instead, we keep ALL prices as low as we can ALL the time. Result? ANY day is a good day to shop and save at A&P. Try it and see!
