DIRT ON OUR HANDS

Mrs. Lance H. Adams, of Detroit, Mich., informs the Ledger that she is trying to compile a family genealogy and wants to find out about her great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wm. Fero, who bought land in Ada and Vergennes Townships in 1848. She wants to know where they came from, nationally, etc.

Mrs. Adams also wants information regarding her grandmother, Ann Cafford Montague Fero and James DeWitt Fero, a bachelor, who may have been buried in Bailey cemetery.

If any reader is able to help please write to Mrs. Lance H. Adams, 1503 Harding Ave., Detroit 14, Mich.

Spring will arrive at 5:49 p. m. on March 30.

One police officer (it could have been Lawrence Armstrong) remarked in disgust, when arguing with a woman about a ticket, "You women have the funniest excuses for parking too long. Why just yesterday a woman claimed she was trying on a grille and she couldn't get it unspooled, so consequently her car was parked over-time!"

Late in August the oriole hides in the woods and sheds his feathers and grows new ones. Then he migrates over Mexico, Central America and the Panama Canal, finally reaching South America. But he'll be back—come spring!

Careless handling of cigarettes and matches causes one-third of all fires in the United States each year, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reports.

Jacks, fests, jobs, and fibes just by Jeff: Mammals are classified as man and the lower animals, we sometimes wonder. . . . A friend says there is nothing as empty as the man who is full. . . . They say it takes ten years to make a woman five years older. . . . According to a father, the stork would find out the size of a fellow's over-draft before he pays a visit to his house. . . . We aren't surprised by anything any more, not even if women started swearing two petticoats.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Avery attended the February meeting of the Michigan Association of Western Horse Clubs in Lansing last Saturday evening. Keith, who is president of the organization, started the ball rolling for the 1949 State Championship Horse Show.

Betty Lou Franks, a graduate of Lowell high school, class of '47, left Friday morning on the El Capitán for Los Angeles, Calif., where she has been transferred by the Harvard Mutual Ins. Co. of Grand Rapids where she has been employed for the past year and a half. Betty was presented with gifts and several dinners were given in her honor by her office associates before her departure.

Eather M. Fahrni, branch manager for the secretary of state's office had a hectic time of it last Saturday and Monday issuing license plates in order to get under the wire for the deadline date, February 28. During the two days mentioned Mrs. Fahrni issued a total of 795 plates, leaving only a few persons who failed to get in before the deadline.

Cast of Characters Announced for the Senior Class Play

The cast for the Lowell high school senior comedy, "Susie the Siren," has been chosen. The play will be presented Thursday and Friday, March 24 and 25, in the Lowell high school auditorium.

Susan Krum, R. F. D. Lowell, will play the leading role of Susie, the temperamental but charming sixteen-year-old girl who is forever dramatizing. Her desires for the fatal siren power over men lead everyone about at a breath-taking pace.

Gardner Collins, Moseley, will play the role of Jim, a good looking, clean-cut football captain. His only weakness is Susie and her desires for charm.

The supporting cast of females are Colleen Yetter, Lowell, as Mrs. Reynolds, Susie's mother; Janet Kleinfach, Lowell, as Midge, her faithful friend; Barbara Washburn, Lowell, as Gusie, the pig-tailed bubbly wonder who adores Agnes; Pat Frolund, Lowell, as Agnes, the noisy, athletic type cheerleader; Betty Smith, Lowell, as Beverly, a pleasant, sweet member of the high school band; Nona White, R. F. D. Lowell, as Nona, the charming little flirt who is the majorette of the band; Dorothy Foss, Ada, as Mrs. Comstock, an impressive, dignified woman of sixty-five; and Connie Smith, Alto, as Miss Oakley, a tall, angular school teacher.

The male supporting cast consists of Richard Place, South Lowell, as Mr. Reynolds, the busy school principal; Wayne Busk, Cascade, as Pety, the young imp who adores Jim and Jim tells tall tales; Darwin Nallat, Ada, as Billip, a cheerful and self-confident follower of Jim; Walter Wyke, Lowell, as Jumbo, a belligerent young giant who makes a pass at Susie; Pat O'Neill, Lowell, as Mr. Foley, the indignant Harris-town principal; and John Timpeon, South Lowell, as Dugan, the slow-witted police officer.

Cub Scouts Celebrate Scouting Anniversary

The 50th anniversary of scouting was celebrated Friday at a dinner meeting at the Lowell city hall of Cub scouts and their parents. The program, put on for the 125 scouts and parents, was staged by the boys themselves, showing their progress.

Polk's dinner with many contributions of food from Lowell business places including a decorated birthday cake by Lowell Bakery made it a most enjoyable evening.

Barbershop Singing At Cannonsburg Hall Tuesday, March 15

Lowell Barbershoppers' Chapter 336 will present a program at the Cannonsburg Community hall on Tuesday, March 15, for the school board of that district which is holding a district meeting of that area at that time.

By mistake the name of the Lowell Miscellaneous Four, consisting of O. Sterken, G. Yetter, A. Sterick and W. Reynhout, was not mentioned as taking part in the program at the district meeting held at the Lowell city hall. This quartet is one of the most recent additions to the Lowell Chapter.

The regular meeting of Lowell Barbershoppers will be held Thursday, March 17, in Moore annex above the Lowell Creamery, at 8 o'clock. Many activities are being planned for the near future. All men from Lowell and vicinity are invited to attend.

Housewives Warned Against New Racket: Proposed Corporation Tax Harmful to All Michigan Factories

Latest racket by bell-pushing salesmen in Michigan: Salesmen pose as interviewers "taking a poll." Housewife is led to believe that if she will "mail in her vote" on her favorite radio program (with a dollar each week), she will receive whatever the salesman is selling. Of course, she is asked to sign a contract which may trick her into buying something which in some cases runs over $150.

Another "painless" tax solution for Michigan's financial mess is now suggested by former Lt. Governor Vernon J. Brown. Brown would abolish the retail sales tax and adopt, as its substitute, a one per cent levy on the gross value of all manufactured products to be paid by consumers. Opines Brown: "Michigan will have all the money it needs for itself and enough for cities and school districts. Most of it will be paid by consumers who live in some other state and its counties all over the world."

Inflation note: county supervisors are to get $3 a day, instead of $2, in a bill approved by the House of Representatives at Lansing and likely to be OK'd by the Senate.

Governor Williams plans to appoint eight study commissions to investigate such state problems as higher education, state services and expenditures, aid to local governments, state and local structures, youth guidance, legislative reapportionment and medical services.

Several veteran Lansing observers report growing opposition among legislators to Governor Williams' proposed four per cent tax on corporation profits. Here is the reasoning: Michigan leads all states today in per capita income from manufacturing. It ranks fifth in number of wage earners. Why invite Michigan industry to decentralize or migrate to other states when such action would only reduce employment and curtail industrial wages at home?

The Michigan dairy industry, which has opposed sale of oleo colored to resemble butter, has a valuation of $157,128,000 on Michigan's 989,000 milk cows which produced 2,650,000,000 quarts of milk in 1947. Production per cow was 2,979 quarts, a new record. Dairy farmers' income totaled $208 millions.

Records of campaign contributions and expenditures should be kept on file for a minimum of six years, so recommends Circuit Judge Herman H. Dehake, Harrisville. Dehake served as a one-man grand juror in Maomb county to investigate Macomb gambling alliances. He said testimony showed payment of money to public officials and that campaign records were missing.

Michigan municipalities received $2,750,000 last year from liquor license fees for the sole use of liquor law enforcement. The enforcement staff of the state liquor control commission was cut recently in a move to force municipalities to assume responsibility for law enforcement, as intended by law.

It's hard to believe that electric rates of the Consumers Power Company have not been increased in 27 years. But such is the record. This utility has applied for permission to increase revenues $6,000,000 annually through a monthly boost, 30 to 75 cents, for small to large households.

Official Caucus Call For Lowell Township

George Story, club president, presided, Jay Boelens was chairman and Robert Hahn acted as toastmaster. Frank Mayo, of Grand Rapids, was the speaker of the evening.

All ladies present were presented with gardenia corsages and three ladies, Mrs. Ray Avery, Mrs. Chas. Houseman and Miss June Rose won prizes for recognizing hidden voices over the microphone. Carl Mapes had charge of the public address system.

Next on the program, a quartette of local men, Walter Gunner, Bruce Walter, Bruce McMahon and Byrne McMahon, rendered the selection, "Schmitzbank," accappella while George Story held posters which helped illustrate the song.

Man, by nature, a rural creature, is kin to the soil in spite of the pull of city and urban type living.

The pavement may have been his path from birth, but instinct towards the dirt road can't be denied. There is within us a deep respect for things that grow, that are cultivated and harvested. Growing things successfully gives man great satisfaction with himself. To plant a seed and find it developing into flower, fruit, vegetable, is soul enriching.

No matter the size of the city you will find parks, find trees and flowers. Many city dwellers find space for gardens. Neighborhood gardening is popular where families band together to lease property for cultivating their gardens. Ruralites do planting on a large scale and by acres. This means mighty hard work. Man expends energy whether he has a "green thumb" or not.

The man city-bound gets great pleasure in reading the seed catalogue. It is a sight to behold. Custom changes, styles alter, booms and busts in finance come and go, but the packet of seeds that brings forth leaves, roots, food, stays with us year in and out. We each are given the power, through a beneficent Force, to have this gift called "growing." Let us in Lowell, use it.

EXCELLENT ADVICE

Robert Kazmayer, who is one of the most popular and stimulating lecturers on foreign and domestic affairs, recently gave this excellent advice in one of his talks:

"War talk, mounting tensions, crises, these will return. You may as well get use to them, take them in stride, they're going to be with you for a long time. Better learn to live with them. These years demand of the intelligent citizen that he do everything in his power to strengthen moral and spiritual fibre of his nation, to sustain its economy and direct its course.

"Having done that, you may as well relax, enjoy the days of your years, make life as pleasant as possible for yourself and those around you. Take the longer look, keep the over-all picture in mind. There's no percentage in waiting for happier days. They will not come in your lifetime and mine. "If you keep eyes glued to headlines, ears to radio, jump at every alarm, you will not successfully plan and conduct a business; you'll join the ranks of the one-ten who are already mental cases."

This isn't the first world crisis and it won't be the last. The "war of nerves" is producing too many victims in the United States. The best medicine for survival lies in calmness and strength and a determination to stand by our principles.

BUYERS MARKET IS BACK

According to a survey, many retail stores are increasing their promotional efforts this year. That simply means that still more effort will be devoted to seeking the good will and patronage of the buying public.

In all but a few fields, the buyers' market is back and shortages are a thing of the past. The "easy money" spending spree has lost most of its momentum, and people want full value for what they spend. This has led to more aggressive competition among stores of all sizes and types, and to an even greater realization on the part of merchants that their future depends on how well consumers are served.

A situation such as this can exist only in a free market, where no one has a monopoly on the business, where anyone can go into retail trade as he chooses, and where every consumer is free to take his trade where he will. The results are seen on every hand—in voluntary reductions in profits by retailers, in better physical equipment in stores, in higher standards of service and courtesy, in the wide range of stocks that await the shoppers' selection.

Here too is one of the best arguments against such devices as rationing, allocations and price controls. These restrictions are inherently injurious to competition. Everyone must sell at the same price, and everyone must carry about the same goods. A static economy results. And the consumer is one of the big losers.

Snow Com. Farm Bureau

The Snow Community Farm Bureau held their February meeting at the Hall on Friday, Feb. 23, with a good attendance. Group singing was led by Mrs. Edith Brown.

The chairman, Menno Baker, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Pearl Hasche, the reception leader, put on a playlet "Legal Phases of Home Management" which was read by Mrs. Ann Campau and Menno Baker.

A group of our men plan on taking a tour of the Farm Bureau Services, in Lansing and also to see the legislature in session. A discussion on schools was led by Lester Antonides.

A banquet will be held in March at the Sunny Acres Hall. To conclude the meeting a delightful lunch was served by Mrs. Edna Bloomer.

The new minister, whose memory for names was poor, was introduced to Mrs. Hammock. He tried to fix her name in his mind by "hyming it with stomach. Upon meeting her again the next day, he was all set:

"How do you do, Mrs. Kelly."

Statewide 4-H Week Aim Better Living

Michigan's largest rural youth program, the 4-H Clubs, will observe National 4-H Club Week March 5 to 13 with a goal of adding more members to the roll which now includes 53,830 boys and girls 10 to 21 years.

During the past year membership increased about eight per cent and A. G. Kettunen, state 4-H Club leader at Michigan State College, hopes for a similar increase in 1949.

The 4-H Club program is carried on in all 83 counties in Michigan through the Cooperative Extension Service at MSC. More than 7,000 local leaders in communities throughout the state make up the contacts with the youth through the county extension offices in each county. These local leaders volunteer their time and service to guide members in their project work.

Michigan's 4-H Club members completed 88 per cent of the projects undertaken during 1948. For many years, this state has stood near the top in the United States for project completions. One member may carry more than one project at the same time.

Themes for 1949

"Better Living for a Better World" is the 1949 theme of the 4-H Club program. The word stresses development of talents, choosing a way of earning a living, producing food for the home and market, creating better homes, conservation of natural resources, building good health, sharing responsibilities for community improvement and joining friends for work, fun and fellowship.

Michigan has 5,361 clubs. In the nation more than 20,000 clubs include nearly 2,000,000 boys and girls.

Lodge Campaign Very Gratifying

Although the Camp Vining 4-H Lodge campaign is only just getting under way, the response is very gratifying. It is a pleasure to find that the active workers in the campaign are not only 4-H leaders, but many others of the most prominent people of Kent County.

This campaign is contacting so many people in the county in the interest of our girls and boys that we are sure it will result in a fine expansion of Kent County's 4-H program.

Do Not Waste Valuable Time Treating TB

North, south, east or west—which is the best climate for the treatment of tuberculosis? This is a question frequently asked. But the fact is, climate is not an essential factor in the treatment of tuberculosis. The important thing is bed rest under medical supervision, according to J. Vincent Sherwood, M. D., Medical Director of Sunshine Sanatorium and a member of the medical committee of the Kent County Tuberculosis Society.

Once it was believed that the first consideration in the treatment of tuberculosis was climate. There was divided opinion on whether a dry, warm atmosphere, mountain air or the pine-tree country was best. Since we now know that tuberculosis patients can be cured in any climate, it is not necessary for the patient to travel great distances for his treatment. On the contrary, almost any tuberculosis patient can receive excellent care in a tuberculosis hospital in his own state, and often in the very county in which he lives.

Many people have wasted valuable time by postponing hospital care until they could travel hundreds of miles for tuberculosis treatment, putting a severe handicap, as well as financial strain on themselves. Treatment in a sanatorium near the patients home, has many advantages. In his own state the patient may be eligible for treatment in a sanatorium which is tax-supported and where care will be least expensive for him.

The tuberculosis patient must realize that his recovery may require many months of treatment. Complete mental relaxation is an important part of his cure, and constant worry over financial matters may delay the effectiveness of his treatment. All tuberculosis workers know that mental rest and relaxation are easier for the patient when he is comparatively close to his family and friends so that they can visit and encourage him.

Merriman Farm Bureau

The Merriman Community Farm Bureau met Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Antof Winger.

The business meeting was held and a discussion on schools, after which interesting slides were shown by Anton Winger Jr., of his navy life in Honolulu.

A very pretty and delicious lunch was served by the host and hostess.

Life Begins at Forty If You Eat Right Food

We're living longer these days and adding years to our life but those added years mean little if we can't enjoy them. To enjoy them we have to be in good health.

How to maintain good health in later years is the current study of the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State College. Lois Jackson reports that the department has set up a program to study the everyday diets of healthy older women.

By observing what those older women eat and how nutrition is related to their health, researchers can help advise others what they need to eat to stay healthy.

How much is enough? How much of various nutrients do older people need? Studies at Michigan State college and elsewhere indicate that older people need nearly as much protein as younger people. Their calcium needs are at least as high as those of younger adults.

Not only is the right kind of food vital to our welfare but it may even help slow up aging processes. Older persons can contribute a lot to the community in which they live from their fund of knowledge and experience. But they must be mentally alert and physically active to do so. This can be done in an older person's life depends upon his health and that in turn upon his food habits.

Many years of study on all age groups will be required to complete the answer to the question of how much is enough. In the meantime enough information about nutrition is available to help you watch those food habits and enjoy your later years a great deal more.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

Tanda Group

The Tanda Camp Fire group has used a part of the money earned through the sale of metal sponges to send a new CARE package to Europe. The package contains over 28 varieties of vegetable seeds, totaling over 3 pounds, and it cost $4.00. It has been sent to the Andre Baquier family of Agen, France, to whom the group earlier sent a CARE food package.

Walnut Seeds Available

Stratified walnut seeds to insure continuing crops of walnut throughout the state are available from Michigan State College, according to Ira Bull, MSC forester.

Both World Wars required large amounts of walnut gunstocks. Cabinet making also takes a large quantity of wood. A continuing planting program, plus the harvesting of mature trees, is needed to maintain our supply.

Timberland owners who wish to plant walnuts are advised by the forester to place their orders now. Blanks may be obtained from county agricultural agents or by writing to the Forestry Department, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

Planting can be started as soon as the frost leaves the ground. Complete instructions will accompany each shipment. "Growing Walnuts for Profit," a publication prepared by the American Walnut Manufacturers association, is also available free by writing to the MSC forestry department, East Lansing.

Smelt Dipping to Be Revived About Apr. 1

Crystal Lake village, host to thousands of smelt dippers in previous years, plans to formally revive the sport complete with public dipping. The run is expected about April 1 and will continue nightly for two weeks.

Crystal Lake is considered the original home of the smelt in Michigan. Cold Creek in Beulah was the site of the first smelt run in 1922. During the mid-thirties the smelt migrated in sufficient numbers from Crystal Lake to Lake Michigan to start runs in other streams of western Michigan.

Once the annual run starts, the smelt push their way up Cold Creek for the length of two city blocks. Dippers rush into the shallow stream on signal and scoop up the tiny silvery fish in buckets or in any other manner they can contrive.

Beginning this Friday, March 4, Scottie's Sweet Shop will be open every day except Thursday. c44

Pike Jumps Up, Grabs Ice Fisherman's Finger

The moral of this story is to be careful where you bait your hook.

The pike in Pratts lake, Gladwin county, are either exceptionally hungry or aggressive. Fishing for pike here, Elmer Sinaru of Gladwin was doing fine until he caught a five-pounder. "I had the fish out on the ice and was rebaiting my hook when the pike jumped up from the ice, grabbed my index finger and refused to let go," he said.

Sinaru finally managed to release a lacerated finger which he exhibited rather proudly to conservation department supervisor H. L. Treat.

Valve-in-Head—and Fireball too!

It seems that valve-in-head engine design is becoming quite the thing, now that gasolines are stepping up in octane rating and higher compression ratios begin to be worth while.

Well, that's dandy as far as Buick is concerned.

For more than forty-five years, Buick engineers have been working with, developing and learning all about valve-in-head engine design.

So quite some time ago Buick applied a principle, possible only in valve-in-head design, which still remains a Buick exclusive.

It is Fireball design—and it's an interesting engineering story.

It comes from a specially shaped piston, designed to roll each fuel charge into a compact, whirling, ball-shaped mass. It goes a step beyond high-compression ratios, because it means better mixing of fuel—and so better burning.

Result: More good from each fuel drop, more pep, more power, more pep, more power. More of that happy, satisfying feel of power and zip that give Buick its good name as a performer.

So remember, as more and more cars climb on the valve-in-head bandwagon, that Buick is still calling the tune. Still ahead in knowledge and experience and development of a principle that has always been recognized for its greater basic efficiency.

With self-setting valve lifters adding new quiet and washing out deposit matter, Buick's new engine design is an engine design as in other ways.

Come satisfy yourself on that score—and get a firm order in either with or without a car to trade.
