

THE LOWELL LEDGER

FIFTY-SIXTH YEAR

LOWELL, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MARCH 17, 1949

NUMBER 46

The Lowell Drivers License Bureau, located in the city hall, will be closed this Friday, March 18, due to the absence of the officers. Deputy Frank L. Stephens and village marshal Lawrence Armstrong are planning to attend the State Traffic Conference in Rockford on that day.

K. K. Vining was in town Wednesday after spending a couple of months in Texas. Keats, who was accompanied by Mrs. Vining, brought back with him a fine coat of tan. He speaks enthusiastically of the Lone Star State and its people.

At the last council meeting Charles Young presented a plan for a new addition to the village of Lowell, north of Main street near the west village limits. If approved by the council and surveyed there will be about 50 lots for homes and a few good building sites for industrial purposes along the railroad right-of-way. The council turned the plan over to the village attorney for study.

Spring will arrive officially this year on Sunday, March 20, at 5:49 p. m. That hour marks the vernal equinox, the point at which the sun's center in crossing the equator coincides with the equinoctial points.

Bankers wanted this week of a flood of counterfeit $10 and $20 bills that may come into Kent county from Flint. The counterfeiters are of good quality and many merchants in Flint have taken them.

You can tell the phony bills this way:

On the back of the $10 bills, look at the lower right corner. Just above the large figure "10" is a little number. If the number is 1201, the bill may be counterfeit. If the number is 1201, look at the front of the bill. In the lower right corner on the front, if you find one of these numbers, the bill is counterfeit: L-108, L-480, G-110, G-418, K-480, H-418, J-480.

On the back of the $20 bills, look at the lower right corner. If counterfeit the number will be 480. Then look at the front of the bill. If you find one of these numbers, the bill is counterfeit: G-110, I-110, J-110, H-110, L-108, K-108.

The Selma (Ala.) Times Journal in promoting subscriptions, recently carried this tale of woe about a paper borrower and his family:

"A man, too stingy to subscribe to his hometown paper, sent his little boy to borrow a copy from his neighbor. In haste, the boy ran over a stand of beans and, in 10 minutes, he looked like a warty summer squash. His father ran to his assistance and falling to notice the barbed wire fence, ran onto that ruining a $9 pair of pants.

"The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence, got in the corn field and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the commotion his wife ran out, upset a four-gallon churn of cream into a basket of little chickens, drowning the entire batch. In her haste, she dropped a $35 set of false teeth.

The baby, being left alone, crawled through the cream into the parlor, ruining a brand new $50 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter eloped with the hired man, the dog broke up 11 setting hens and the calves got out and chewed the tails off four fine shirts on the clothes line.

"Moral: Don't borrow your neighbor's paper. It's too risky."

Forest and woods fires annually destroy enough timber in the United States to make 5,700,000 tons of newspaper.

Several Pupils Sick With German Measles

Dr. J. D. Brook, county health officer, informed the Ledger on Tuesday that there are a number of cases of German measles among Lowell school children.

Dr. Brook advises that parents should check their children before sending them to school and if signs of rash are found, call the family physician. At least one of the teachers is reported ill with the disease.

One case of scarlet fever has also been reported.

Upper Bridge Closed For Next Five Weeks

The Kent County road commission has closed the east upper bridge over the Grand River this week for five weeks while a new floor is being installed over the bridge.

The upper bridge had a white oak floor which was placed in 1935 and made noise enough to be heard all over town on a clear summer night. This type of floor has a life of about 15 years while the new floor will be of much better lasting quality.

Now being installed will be three inch creosote-treated yellow pine plank which will be covered with a one inch wearing surface of asphalt plank. This type bridge is much quieter and of sounder construction. When the floor is being installed the steel work will be painted, the cost of this work being estimated at $8,000.

While this work is underway the detour will be over the M-91, or the lower bridge, which just had a new floor of the same type installed by the State highway department.

One of the arguments being used against Governor Williams' proposal to levy a four per cent corporate income tax is that it will drive Michigan industry out of the state. The Department of Economic Development is now preparing a study which may have an important bearing on this question. Data furnished by power companies is being used to determine why industries have come to the state and left it since 1939.

Spring Election Drawing Near Republicans, Democrats Anxious

A possible end to the steady increases in Michigan sales tax collections may be indicated by a report from the state revenue department. For the first time since the end of the war a slump has been noted. February collections on January business show a 1.4 per cent drop from the corresponding period a year ago. Cigarette tax collections, however, are up 3 per cent.

A proposal to give cities the right to levy excise taxes is again before the Senate. Introduced by Senators Bates and Schuch, the bill would permit cities to levy excise taxes up to 20 per cent of their assessed valuations. There would be an amendment to require a vote of the people before a tax could be levied. Bates says that he wants to give cities a new source of revenue "so that they won't have to come begging to the legislature for handouts". Opponents contend that cities could levy excise taxes under present laws simply by amending their charters.

In two and a half weeks the spring election will be held. Although there was much talk in the legislature, it was finally decided not to submit any proposals for amending the constitution. The people will choose a superintendent of public instruction, state highway commissioner, two supreme court justices, two regents of the University of Michigan, two members of the board of agriculture and a member of the state board of education plus various county, township and school board officials. The election is considered important by Republicans and Democrats because both the superintendent of public instruction and the highway commissioner automatically become members of the Administrative Board that helps run the state when the legislature is not in session.

Local governments may not get the public notice given the state and nation when their taxes go up, but collectively they were no sluggards last year. The State Board of Assessors reports that county, municipal, school and other local Michigan taxes rose 15.78 per cent over 1947. Levies totaled $284.3 million or $39 million over the previous year. Average tax rate was $29.15 per $1,000 property valuation, an increase of 6.48 per cent.

The Hoover Commission (technically known as the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government) says that reorganization of federal agricultural practices could save the country as much as $52 million. One suggestion is that the Agricultural Department take greater advantage of the established and effective State organizations "to avoid duplication of national and State effort at local levels."

In another report, the Hoover Commission suggested that Uncle Sam's record keeping system be modernized. They found, for example, that federal records at present occupy 18,600,000 cubic feet of space—the equivalent of six Pentagon buildings. Citing another example of federal waste, the Commission points out that fully half of the three million purchases of Camp Vining Fund $75. This is the same amount voted by the Lowell Rotary club to this worthy cause.

Even Students Care Are You Interested?

The Government class of Lowell high school is attempting to stimulate the interest of the people to vote in the spring election on Monday, April 4.

A committee of the class found in an interview with Esther M. Fahrni, township clerk, that only 198 people from Lowell township out of 1,435 who had registered, took part in the 1947 spring election. This year, out of the 1700 qualified to register, 1500 have done so.

The day prior to the election the class will conduct a house to house campaign asking questions regarding the spring election as to the candidates and their qualifications. It is hoped that by these interviews more people will take an interest in the 1949 spring election.

DeTray School Pupils Show Resourcefulness

The boys and girls of DeTray school, Gaines 5, and their teacher, Mrs. Marie Cole, believe in going after what they want.

Since they do not have a radio in the school building, the 13 pupils and Mrs. Cole crowd into her car on the last Thursday of every month at 10:45 a. m. to hear Miss Betty Lautner, Kent County Bookmobile Librarian, tell her stories on WGRD.

Many of the schools in the county tune in on this program which is designed especially for them. So far the DeTray group is the only one reported to have overcome the obstacle of the lack of a radio.

YOUR WASHINGTON REVIEW

Last week while the Senate debated the merits of "cloture" and the House worried the question of rent control, Thomas C. Williams of Buffalo, New York, stood fifty yards from the Senate gallery, raised a gun to his head and shot himself. He killed himself out of desperation over affairs of the nation. How great can the concern of an individual become over affairs of the state? This tragedy is a measure of the sincerity of Americans where their government is concerned. No-one could take lightly this unfortunate occurrence. On the other hand, as serious as world affairs may be today, we must keep our wits about us and not become unbalanced in our perspective. Our Republic has weathered harder times than these; we will ride them out again.

Speaking of frustrations and the slow process of the Democratic system, we should not let ourselves become impatient over the delays in the present session of Congress. The filibuster in the Senate may be the cause of annoyance on the part of the public, but occasional tie-ups of this sort are likewise our protection against hasty and ill-considered legislation. No good law was ever conceived without discussion, analysis, and debate. Applying rules to political conduct is not that easy.

In plain language what does the filibuster represent? What is the real issue at stake, and why is the time being consumed by the Senate? Here's what it seems to boil down to. The question is on the use of the filibuster itself. Limiting the filibuster without depriving minorities of their right to be heard is a delicate matter.

The Senate, just as in the House, governs itself by a set of rules. These rules are the product of years of precedent and the experience of generations in self-government. Now, according to Rule 22 adopted some years ago, debate can be limited by a 2/3 vote of the Senate and the exercise of this procedure is called "cloture." This is just a technical word for stopping discussion when most of the Senators feel that enough has been said on the subject.

However, under the rule there has been this debatable point: can "cloture" be applied at any time, or only after an issue has been actually brought to the floor of the Senate? Bringing an issue to the floor of the Senate requires a vote in itself. As the matter now stands, a filibuster can be started to prevent an issue (such as civil rights) (Continued on back page)

New Plymouth Features Beauty, Performance, Safety and Comfort

Brilliant new styling is combined with outstanding riding comfort, improved roominess, and exciting mechanical improvements in the new line of Plymouth automobiles.

Completely redesigned, the new Plymouth has a longer wheelbase, but less front and rear overhang for easier parking and garaging. While the silhouette has been lowered and the wheelbase increased, there is more head and leg room and seats are wider. Typical of Plymouth's many refinements is the ignition-starter combination, with which a turn of the key starts the engine.

The new Plymouths are sleek in appearance. New rear-end styling gives a graceful balance with horizontal grille lines which emphasize the broadness of the front-end.

Body lines are nevertheless separate and detachable, thus avoiding sheet metal panels so costly to repair or replace.

The new Plymouth line includes deluxe and deluxe types on a 118-inch wheelbase, one inch longer than last year's. Special deluxe models are four-door sedan, club coupe, convertible club coupe and station wagon. In the deluxe group are the four-door sedan and the club coupe. In addition, Plymouth will build three deluxe models on a 111-inch wheelbase, a two-door sedan, a three-passenger coupe, and a new body type, the Suburban.

The 97-horsepower engine has improved performance and efficiency with a new design cylinder head which increases compression ratio to 7 to 1. A new chrome plate compression piston ring reduces cylinder wear and provides greater protection during the break-in period. There are improved oil rings for greater oil economy, while newly-designed intake manifold idles quicker, smoother engine warm-up and produces faster throttle response.

Body styling which produces greater passenger room without encroaching on trunk space also increases visibility. V-type windshield has 37 percent more area and provides excellent vision without distortion. Windshield wipers clear 61.5 percent greater area and the rear window is 25.4 percent larger.

THE MEANING OF MUTUALITY

The Equitable is a MUTUAL institution... And this means that Equitable is its policyholders...

The only way to share in the protection afforded by Equitable is by being an Equitable policyholder...

You can't buy stock in Equitable; there are no Equitable stockholders, no Equitable bondholders...

There are no outside interests to share the proceeds of the policyholders' dollar, for in every way the Equitable is a cooperative organization, owned by and existing for its policyholders...

Millions of people who want family security have joined together mutually in Equitable in the sound belief that the type of solid security they need is to be found only in cooperation with others...

The desire for security through cooperation has thus created mutual insurance—dependable financial protection through voluntary association. This is mutuality.

legislation) from coming to the floor, and consequently a vote may never be reached on the issue.

When our own Senator Vandenberg was President pro-tem of the Senate this very situation arose. Vandenberg ruled that "motion" could not be applied to a "motion to consider."—in other words, discussion could not be cut off under Rule 22 until the issue had actually reached the floor. His reasoning has been that the present rule clearly makes this the case. Right or wrong, the rule should not be altered without an actual amendment. Vice-President Barclay, however, ruled the reverse. Next, the Senate voted on Vice-President Barclay's ruling but by a vote of 46 to 41 upheld Senator Vandenberg's stand. Therefore, there is no way of stopping the filibuster at this time even though Senator Vandenberg himself favors an amendment which will prohibit future filibusters of this kind.

All this may seem extremely complicated and unnecessarily technical. The importance of the question, however, is a matter of utmost sincerity with Senator Vandenberg. To sum it up, in Mr. Vandenberg's own words: "I continue to believe that the rules of the Senate are as important to equity and order in the Senate as is the constitution to the life of the Republic, and that those rules should never be changed except by the Senate itself in the direct fashion prescribed by the rules themselves."

I am inclined to agree with the Senator that expedience except in times of extreme emergency should not be used as a measure of the law. In our fairness of mind, we can hardly say that an extreme emergency exists at this time. Even though I favor enactment of sound civil rights legislation, the war is over in fact if not in treaty form. We are entitled to our Democratic protections and they should not be lightly brushed aside.

Mrs. Howard C. Thurtell was hostess this week to the Monday Book Club. Mrs. Tom Anderson reviewed "The Good Family" by McKinley Kantor.

The Ex Libris Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Bernard Kropf. Mrs. Jack Thorne reviewed "Bright Leaf" by Foster Fitzsimmons.
