For more than a century, Michigan farmers have "cleared the way" to make farming operations safer and safer. Dave G. Stetson, farm safety specialist at Michigan State College, thinks it's a good idea that every farmer should be given a hand in clearing the way.

It's The Crowd That Makes A Good Farm Auction

The success of your farm sale depends on having a large crowd present . . . a crowd which wants to buy the things you have to sell. And there is just one way to get such a crowd. That is to let the farmers of this territory know you are having a sale and enumerating the things you have to sell.

You can do that job by using The Lowell Ledger's farm sale service . . . the only means by which you can get the story of your sale before the vast majority of farmers living in this territory.

The Lowell Ledger Farm Sale Service

- OFFERS YOU THESE OUTSTANDING FEATURES:
- A large advertisement in The Ledger, which will be read by the farm people of this territory. Through The Ledger, you take the news of your farm sale directly into the homes of your prospective crowd, where they can examine it carefully.
  - An ample supply of attractive bills, printed on brightly colored paper, to cover additional territory.
  - A liberal news story on the front page of The Ledger the issue prior to the sale, calling special attention to your advertisement.
  - Help in preparing your farm sale advertisement. Simply make up your list and bring it in. We'll do the rest.

Remember This!

When you hold a farm sale, you are offering several thousand dollars worth of merchandise for sale. It will pay you to advertise your sale thoroughly and completely. If you live within 20 miles of Lowell, you can best do that job through The Lowell Ledger, which now has the largest subscription list in its history . . . over 6,000 readers every week.

LEDGER ENTRIES

WHAT PRICE SPRING
Swallows arrive at Caplett's spring returns to Lowell. Spring goes first to a lady's head and do to have some surplus this year in the way of Easter bonnets!

Spring stands for gardens and gardens mean spring. So many kinds of plants are being carried. Carrots, green onions, strawberries. Think nothing of perching an imitation carrot crosswise on the hat top, group roses with a foliage of artificial long-stemmed onion tops.

The past has given us hat trimmings of cherries and grape clusters, so a male ought to be able to look at a cloche decorated with apples, peaches or oranges, without flinching. There is a picture hat with brim covered with greenery like waterfalls, a smaller number with a festoon of string beans and radishes round the crown.

We can get used to these sales and orchard toppers, but will never get used to the price. As some other men vote, so do we, for the austerity hat of rugged burlap, available in many colors, and selling at hat bars for $5-8.

4-H MOVES FORWARD
After their National Week celebration, club begins new program for the year, busy with plans for raising the quality of their production animals, furthering homelike programs, adding to the many lines of fruitful endeavor covered by 4-H clubs.

Through the two million members of young boys and girls, many parents have been influenced in farming methods. In this community we have seen the quality of livestock improve through the club training. We congratulate the leaders, the adults who are so helpful in the work, the youths who can proudly point to their accomplishments. May their new programs add further to their ever increasing popularity and good works.

CARE FOR OUR OWN
When a freeze wiped out crops in an Arizona area, about one hundred little children in a farm labor camp near Phoenix, were starving to death. Families were unable to buy food and some of the little ones hadn't been fed in over a week.

This in America, the land of plenty, the land that is helping feed hungry children all over the world! The Phoenix case made the front page but many cities can find children going to school without breakfast due to poverty in the home. It is more difficult to check such conditions in cities than in the small town, but why should any child in this country be hungry?

The fault may lie with the parents with local public health authorities, but it certainly is not the fault of the children. Do we have such conditions existing around Lowell?

Maple Syrup Essence
May Mean New Flavor
Whenever you see something especially fine produced you may be sure someone has gotten right out and worked for that production.

We are thinking in terms of maple syrup. If no one had huddled up and gone out in the blustery March winds and tapped the maples there would be no fine quality maple syrup or American flapjacks and waffles.

The work of gathering is labor in the rough but it is fun, too. The crew of laborers is congenial. The boiling-down process takes endless time and the fire must keep the heat even and steady. This requires the know-how and when the attendant has to sit by the hour just waiting for the consistency of the syrup he has time to do a lot of thinking.

Through experience the maple syrup manufacturer in his woodshed laboratory has learned that slow evaporation loses much of the priceless flavor and that the temperature must be kept up and yet not scorch the product.

Chemists believe these volatile flavors which pass off in steam may be captured and made into maple essence which could be returned to the syrup for finer or more intense flavor, and are working on this project.

Vermont and New York State annually tap about 6,000,000 trees to provide about three-fourths of the maple syrup and sugar produced in the United States.

Michigan, you know, produces more maple syrup than Vermont. Eaton county alone has 270,000 maple trees for sap production and the village of Yonkersville stages a maple syrup exhibit annually.

These ingenious robots used by the Navy and Harvard University to work out in a flash mathematical problems that would take a mathematician a year to work out—just why aren't they available to the taxpayers so they can work out their tax returns?

Mildred Joy Glasgow
Bride of Wm. Seelman
In a very pretty wedding ceremony at the Burton Heights Baptist Church Sunday evening, March 26, 1950, Mildred Joy Glasgow became the bride of William Seelman both of Grand Rapids. Before an altar decorated with beautiful flowers and lighted candelabra Rev. Clarence Lawton officiated using the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, J. William Whiteside, soloist, sang "Always" and "Because" and at the closing of the ceremony, sang "The Lord's Prayer". The bride wore an ensemble of sheer white chiffon, floor length and with sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. Instead of a veil she wore a dainty lace cap, trimmed with rosebuds and orange blossoms and lace mitta. The cap is an heirloom having belonged to her great grandmother Glasgow. She carried an arm bouquet of white calla lilies, snap dragons, hydrangeas and roses.

Her bridesmaid was her cousin, Mrs. Louise Hogan Wikle, who wore a very pretty gown of pale pink crinkle organza floor length and with sweetheart neckline and short sleeves and carried an arm bouquet of pink tulips and snapdragons.

Virginia Walters was flower girl and was gowned in white organza over pink satin and carried a basket of rose petals. Ringbearer was Leigh Arthur Urckert. Henry Seelman, brother of the groom, was best man. Organist was Mrs. Coral Hartwell. Ushers were Frank Clark and Earl Rhodes. Master and Mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Christensen.

Following the ceremony about 135 attended the reception at the Glasgow home which was decorated with pots of white calla lilies and other flowers. The lilies were sent by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Hanford of California. A huge bride's cake was cut by the bride and groom and served with ice cream and sandwiches.

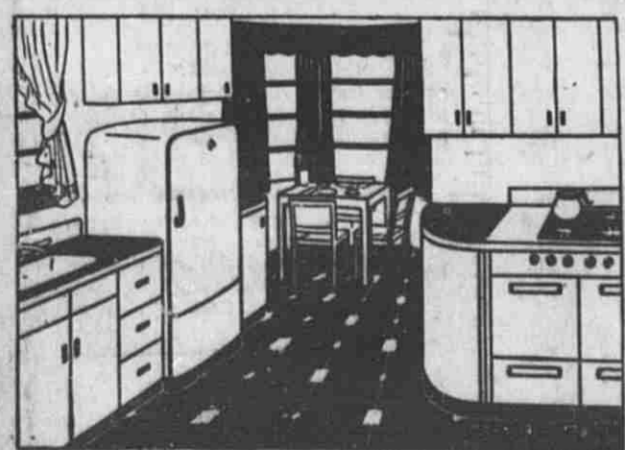

The happy couple received a large number of useful and beautiful gifts and left the first of the week on an short honeymoon trip South. They will reside at the Glasgow home. Their host of friends will wish them abundance of happiness and long happy wedded life.

Easter, 1950

"Now in the place where he was crucified there was a garden." Before a scientific age, it was natural for the early people to accept flowers as a symbol of the resurrection. As they knew it, a plant that lies buried during the cold months was dead. Then some unknown force caused that seed to germinate, the bulb to sprout, and then came the miracle of the flower. Through science we have learned of plant germination. We know the seed is still alive, but its flowering still remains a miracle. We behold beauty in the garden, the beauty of faith in life, in resurrection, in immortality. The plant withers but the winter's ground is not barren. Nothing more radiant is there as it bursts its bounds and blooms again. Such is the life and passing, the body that remains behind as the spirit blooms.

"Peace be unto you. And when he had so said, he showed unto them his hands and his side. Then were the disciples glad, when they saw the Lord." Peace is to transplant fear, the fear of today, the fear of tomorrow. We have real fears, of insecurity, of war, of the hereafter. If we had the peace of mind and of soul, so would we too, as the disciples, be glad, for we would see the Lord. A broken world needs the assurance of peace, mourning souls without hope, need this comfort. The light of day, the darkness of night, must conquer fear through peace.

"I am the Resurrection and the Life." This is to believe that from a tomb from a garden, came the conquest of resurrection, the triumph of the Risen Christ, the promise of eternal life. Easter is a day of rejoicing, a time of banishing dire thought of death, of the unknown. It is a time to acknowledge His ways, His doctrine as divine, which is the Christian's faith. But, for the betterment of all people, all nationalities, Christianity must be a living, not a dying.

"Because I live ye shall live also." That which is the goodness of heart does not perish. Good overcomes evil, banishes fear, conquers cowardice, drives out devils of hate and malice. Easter is the mountain of hope that overlooks the plateaus of conflict and strife. To attain the mountain top, is a positive achievement. It's call appeals to man's conscience. Man's life is but a small part of his time, the greatest is his part in eternity. Let him stand on the mountain in his lifetime, see beyond the mists and devote his days to carrying out the pronouncements of his Lord of healing the ill, doubts, despairs, injustices, imperfections that beset the plateau. May this Easter give the long look, revive the immortal truths, that we may go into our gardens in peace, as we see the resurrection.
