YOUR WASHINGTON REVIEW

Should P. Ford Jr.

The Washington heat this summer has been as constant as my working schedule. In other words, the office routine, along with the torrid heat, has been pretty much the same. Saturdays are devoted to answering all correspondence not previously handled. Mondays through Fridays here's the schedule: 8:15 to 9:45, read and discuss the morning mail with my staff plus the answering of as many letters as possible. Ten to noon, committee hearings. A quick lunch followed by some time on the floor of the House finding out some answers to the legislation the House is considering. At 2 in the afternoon back in committee to hear testimony from more witnesses. The Committee usually adjourns about 5:30. If the House has not closed up shop for the day, then back on the floor till the legislative business is completed. From the House chamber to my office to sign the mail and then head for home with a brief case filled with local newspapers and reading material pertaining to legislation. Usually stop at the Army-Navy Country Club for a quick swim before the evening meal with Betty and Mike.

Ensign George was a graduate from Lowell High School in 1947, and was an outstanding football player in the team that won the Grand Valley championship in 1945. ## Rotarians Hear Hadley Schaefer In Military Talk

The Lowell Rotary Club dipped into the fast moving modern generation for its speaker Aug. 8 at Hadley Schaefer presented the group with a brief discourse on military schools.

Schaefer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schaefer of Lowell, based the talk on the observations and conclusions he has gathered from 12 years' experience in three military academies. He is a 1951 graduate of Castle Heights Military Academy in Lebanon, Tennessee.

The young speaker opened with a brief discussion of the West Point cheating scandal and what influence the Army school has exercised over the nation's various military schools. He stated that the majority of these institutions has patterned their curriculum after West Point's, specifically naming the honor system as one of the most widely adopted items. He further noted that expulsion for cheating is the practice of many high school level academies and not confined primarily to The Point.

The daily schedule at military schools was selected by Schaefer as the most advantageous factor offered the students. To impress this fact upon the gathering he presented the schedule employed by his Alma Mater, emphasizing the scholastic, military and athletic programs. He stated that one of the prime aims of a military school is to teach a student how to study and thus better prepare him to meet the challenge in college work.

The ROTC program was another point Schaefer stressed, noting its advantages in accordance with the present world situation.

Extensive extra-curricular work was mentioned as one of the valuable assets of military schools, particularly naming the projects in journalism and social work.

Independence, loyalty and maturity were selected by the speaker as the three most important characteristics gained from military school training.

In closing Schaefer related the story of a former classmate's experience at Castle Heights and how certain traits and characteristics were developed.

Bruce Walter served as program chairman for Rotary and presented the speaker to the meeting.

Kent Ag. Topics Notes from Kent County Extension

Agriculture Considerable activity is in evidence in the preparations for the Kent County 4-H Club Fair to be held in Lowell August 21-24. One of the new features of the Fair this year is the better hay contest which is open to 4H and F.F.A. as well as the open classes. There have been a number of questions coming to this office concerning how much hay or silage to bring for an entry. A three-inch slice from a bale is sufficient for long hay. There ought to be at least a half bushel of chopped hay or grass silage in those entries. From the amount of grass silage and hay put up this year there should be plenty of competition. Farm crops specialists from Michigan State College will judge the entries.

Horsemanship contests have always interested many people who like to see the teams perform. There will be two days of pulling instead of the one day originally planned. Lightweights will pull on Thursday and the heavyweights on Friday of the fair.

A very worthwhile project which is now currently underway through the churches in Kent County is the Christian Rural Overseas Program. It is designed to help the needy people of foreign countries, particularly in Europe and Asia. The C.R.O.P. contributions of grain will be dedicated in a special service at the fair. They are interested in wheat primarily so why not put an sack in the back of your car when you come to the fair.

Lloyd Oogswell, district forester, reports a number of cases of pine sawfly infestation in Kent County. He reports that they work in clusters on the new year's growth. You can hear them eating. Control measures consist of spraying with 3 lbs. of 50% wettable D.D.T. per 100 gallons or regular lead arsenate spray. Spray just the infested trees and check again in two or three days.

Fall Wheat Crop 24,379-Acre Goal For Kent Farms

A production goal of 24,379 acres of wheat for harvest in 1952 was announced for Kent county today by John McCabe, chairman of the county Agricultural Mobilization Committee.

McCabe also announced that the 1952 goal for barley is 400 acres; and rye 1000 acres.

McCabe explains that these goals have been set up to help the farmers of Kent county in doing their part in the defense effort. Although no individual farm goals will be established, the county goal will serve as a guide to farmers in seeding their fall crops.

The 1952 goals are based on the need for all food, feed, fiber and oil crops and on the need for maintaining the land for future production.

Highland Hill Dairy and Lowell Creamery Formed

Highland Hill Dairy and Lowell Creamery formed a merger recently and Newton Grimwood is now associated with the dairy on the hill. The newly formed organization is functioning successfully and new equipment has been added which makes the work of pasteurizing and homogenizing done more easily, quickly, and in top sanitary conditions.

Industrial expansion is evident in this dairy business where an average of 1000 quarts of milk and chocolate milk are distributed daily in Lowell and surrounding territory. There are three delivery trucks in service at this time.

C. F. Biggs, a former Lowell man received his subscription to the Ledger last week to help him keep in touch with the doings of Lowell and the home folk.

In his letter he states: "I was home during the week of the Showboat and enjoyed the show very much. I did not realize that Lowell and the surrounding community was such a beautiful place until I moved away some seventeen years ago. I now live in Shreveport, La. and try to make it back to the home town about once a year to visit my folks."

We agree with you, Charlie, Lowell is a beautiful spot.—Ed.

The Alto Merchants Ball was a very fine affair. The "Come As You Are" hymn sung at the Bowne Center church Sunday was a huge success and the church was filled with friendly spirited people who seemed cheerier because of their gladness and overall. As presided, the ladies sang with music, led by Rev. Lutz; however when he sings with his family, he doesn't lead, he follows, and that would be without Mrs. Keith Powers who willingly played accompaniments to the many fine special numbers.
