Farmer, Road Man Improves Home In Spare Time

Hubert Shimmel, owner of the farm shown in last week's Ledger Photo - Farm Quiz and his son Thomas, six years old, were in the office Friday and identified the picture of their farm. Thomas said he knew the minute he saw the plcture that it was their farm home. It is located on 36th St., on R-1, Ada, and is 21/2 miles southeast of Mr. Shimmel has spent all his life on a farm, living and working on this place known as the Chauncey Patterson place seven years before going into service in World War II, and eight years ago purchased the 80-acre farm and began dairy farmbuilding up a nice Holstein herd. Last fall he sold his herd of cattle and will do general farming. For good measure Mr. Shimmel works for the Kent County Road Commission and has found some long hours and hard going this win-Christmas Day he was on the his dog, Susie, a Cocker Spaniel. Mrs. Shimmel is also employed in Grand Rapids and Grandma Shimmel, who lives on a nearby farm looks after Tommy during her absence from home. The buildings on the farm are adequate and are undergoing some improvements. The 8-room house has been completely remodeled and modernized recently by having installed a heating plant, modern kitchen, bath room, running water being supplied with electric pump, The barn is 36x72 ft with cement stave silo. A new tool shed of steel construction 20x60 ft. was erected last fall and was not completed at the time the picture was taken. There are also two brooder houses, granary and pole-type corn crib. The old log house shown in the picture is being torn down to make way for a better building. The flock of chickens at the present time numbers 300 and the Shimmels plan to add many more this

Why should the homemaker walk miles carrying the small supplies needed for baking, cleaning or sewing when a table on wheels can do it all in one easy trip? That's what Miss Olevia C. Meyer, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State College asked. So she designed a handy table that can be put to dozens of uses. The table, shown above in use in the home management practice home at Michigan State College, can be made from plans available in MSC Extension Folder F 163, "Utility Table." The folder is available without charge from county extension offices or from the Bulletin Office, Department of Information Services, Michigan State College, East Lansing. Homemakers can see the table in the Home Economics building during Farmers' Week, January 28 to February 1, on the MSC campus.

Bill Lassman Scores a Hit!

Not long ago we received this letter from Mr. Theodore I. Cooper, of the Marsh Engineering "I wish to take the liberty of complimenting the Michigan Bell Telephone Company on the courteous, efficient and co-operative people they have in their employ. I desire to bring particular attention to Bill Lassman, who today was installing telephone service in our building. He has made several suggestions to us regarding our service, arranging of telephones and efficiency, and I know he has gone beyond his expected duties in being most helpful to us. One thing that pleased me greatly was that he carried a little brush and immediately swept up any dirt due to his work when drilling through our cement blocks and wood. He was most cautious about not causing any damage to anything. It gives me great pleasure to write a letter such as this for any man who has the interest in his work above and beyond his ordinary duties."
