

Council Backs Change To City; 100% Vote To Support Committee

The village council congratulated the Civic Planning Committee consisting of Frank McMahon, George Dey, sr., Bruce Walter, Albert Hermans, Earl Evans, Elmer Schaefer, and Gurney Hahn, and pledged their 100% cooperation to the committee in a resolution at the meeting Monday night.

The committee was appointed on March 18th of this year, to investigate the advantages of Lowell becoming a city. The report of the committee was made to the council on June 3 and in accepting the report the council asked the committee to continue with their work and set up the area to come into the new city and to take all steps necessary for an election as soon as possible.

The action of the council showing their approval of the committee's work points the way for every group in the village to take a stand in this most important vote to be held in February.

Committee Acts

Members of the committee met during the past three months discussing the boundaries and at a meeting last week set a tentative date for holding the election, Monday, February 3. Petitions must be circulated and submitted to the Kent County Board of Supervisors and approved at their December session in order to stage the election on this date.

The various members of the committee are now compiling reports listing the advantages from this action. Preliminary reports have uncovered no disadvantages to the citizens of the area, the committee reported. The character of the community will not be changed and the savings to the community in duplication of services, increased revenue from state allocations may bring about savings up to $20,000 a year.

Annexed Areas Aroused

Many citizens in areas now outside the village limits to be incorporated into the new city if approved by the voters in February fear that becoming part of a city will change their rural nature and greatly increase their taxes. The committee points out that if they will investigate the plan it may be that many of their fears will prove groundless.

Members of the committee reporting on taxation say that the increase in taxes for the average resident now outside would be less than $20.00 a year, some might even save by being part of the city. A savings would come from lower insurance rates, free services being paid for, increased property values, the committee stated.

In any event the decision will be made by democratic process of a vote of the people.

Rotary Hears Talk By Paul Eichorn

"Any worthwhile endeavor will be more worthwhile if its feet stand on the rock of fair dealing, honesty, sincerity and good will towards all men." With these words, Paul Eichorn, president of radio station WGRD in Grand Rapids and WTRU in Muskegon, addressed the Lowell Rotary Club, October 30. In his speech, he discussed common sense, philosophy, ethics and loyalty.

He stressed that ideals to him were more important than ideas and that they should always come from a sincere desire to help someone else. It's good to take time to think because decisions should be good for yourself as well as the other person.

Income can be a lot more than just money. It is the "love and affection of one's family, the trust and respect of friends and the satisfaction of knowing that one has done his best." Mr. Eichorn said he never picked a winner by the figures on the scoreboard but by the one who does his "level best" in any game.

People should worry less about competition and spend more time thinking about perfecting their own business, he thinks. Then the other person will have to "worry about us as his competitor."

Loyalty, in his opinion, is the most important of all. The prejudices, jealousy and fears can be forgiven in one simple act of loyalty. In ending his talk, he said, "To me, loyalty means honesty, trust, forbearance, understanding, selflessness, and all the other good things that make life worth living."

The prizes awarded by the Leonard Refining Co., amounted to $4,000. The first was $500; the second prize of $400 was given to an amateur who had taken his picture with a small box type camera costing less than $2. Third, $300; 4th, $200, and 5th, $100. There were 200 prizes of $10 each given and many others of smaller values. Mr. Avery states that thousands of pictures entered at the contest came from all over Michigan and several other states.

New residents of Lowell, Mr. and Mrs. Tobias Bol, who moved here from Chicago, are now living at 804 Vergennes road. Their daughter, Mrs. Viola Michels, is also staying with them.

Mrs. Michels is employed at the Shamrock Rest Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Packer who have been living at 406 N. Monroe, have purchased the Geraldine Simons home at 506 Avery and are moving to their new location with their son, Mark, who is one-year-old. Mrs. Packer is the former June Pauwe and graduated from Lowell High School in the class of 1952. Mr. Packer graduated from Lowell High in 1951, and from Michigan State University in June of this year, as a veterinarian.

Mr. Packer is presently working in the Cascade Hospital for Animals.

Last Conference Game Friday at Rockford

After absorbing a 16-13 defeat at the hands of the Lee Rebels last week, the cellar-dwelling Arrows will attempt to move out of last place this Friday night when they battle the Rockford Rams at Rockford at 7:30. A win would move the Arrows out of the cellar and maybe as high as fifth place if Wyoming dumps Lee. Last year Leonard Fase led the Arrows to a 46-12 victory over the Rams who should be out for revenge.

The victorious Rebels put a clamp on the Arrows' ground game last Friday, forcing the Lowell machine to move through the air. Early in the first quarter Lowell fumbled on its own 27 and Lee recovered. It took the visitors 7 plays to score, moving in from the one-yard line. The kick for the point was good.

In the second quarter the Arrows moved from their own 29 and, after a Stormzand to Wisman pass put the ball on the one, Stan Wingeier bulldozed in for the score. The run for the point was good.

The first time they got their hands on the ball in the second half, the Arrows scored. A Stormzand to Connors pass picked up 35 yards and moved the ball to the eleven. After a short gain by Miller, Stormzand flipped a pass to Wisman to put the Arrows in the lead. Stan Wingeier bucked the point after touchdown.

The visitors came right back with a "TD" of their own, moving 12 yards in eight plays and crashing over from the one. The extra point kick was good and the Rebels had a point lead.

Late in the final period, Stormzand was nailed in the end zone as he was attempting to pass, and the Rebels picked up two points for a safety.

Tonight (Thursday) at 7:00 the Lowell second team will battle the Rockford seconds at the Lowell field.

Lowell FFA Active Group Since 1929, Has 27 Members

The Lowell High School chapter of the Future Farmers of America is an active group which has done much to better our community.

The F. F. A. club originated nationally in 1928 and Lowell started a chapter in 1929. The purpose of the organization is to develop the leadership qualities of its members and to teach new and better techniques of farming and landscaping.

The boys with their adviser, Carl Hagen, put this training to good use in the community. Recently they took a large tract of wasteland and reforested it. Also, they manage the city's forest and do a great deal of landscaping around the school.

One of the most important services the boys perform is their "special demand" work. Whenever anyone needs a helping hand, the FFA boys are there. They have done such things as prune a vineyard or load a few thousand turkeys to help some man who was behind in his work. Then too, the club has been working to help the Lion's Club raise money for the swimming pool fund.

F. F. A. Boys Travel

The F. F. A. boys seem to get in quite a bit of traveling to get. Every year they attend Farmer's Day in Lansing and every other year they go to the International Livestock Show in Chicago. Also, they take many field trips during the year.

Of course, the club isn't all work and no play. During the last ten years the boys have made eight camping trips across the Straits just to swim, fish and go sight-seeing. A few years ago, they went all the way to Yellowstone National Park on a camping excursion and on the way home stopped in Omaha, Nebraska, to visit the largest livestock market in the world.

Lowell is very proud that her F. F. A. club is so enthusiastic and active. Until this year, Lowell had the highest nationally ranking F. F. A. member in Kent County since the club began.

The chapter also has several high ranking members who attend the state convention of F. F. A. members each year.

This year there are 27 members in the club who recently elected these officers: President, Truman Stahl; Vice-President, Roger Kropf; Treasurer, Tom Kaufman; Secretary, Noel Smith; Reporter, Fred Wissman; Sentinel, Don DeGood; Parliamentarian, Paul Bieri; and Chaplain, Myrl Suddarth.

All the boys are very loyal to their club and whether they're working for some worthy cause or just having a good time, they always enjoy themselves. As one boy said, "When you have a bunch of swell guys together, you just can't help but have a lot of fun."

Lozy TB Problem; Watch For Symptoms

Tuberculosis can take on different personalities. One type moves insidiously in the early stages...

Tuesday ended the archery season, and we must confess failure. Last week end we saw a deer go into a hill, we could not find him...

Suppose you're clipping along one of these out-dated roads at the maximum allowed speed...

Several weeks ago, we heard a faint official in the national program organization suggest church services on Thursday evening instead of the conventional Sunday...

That same road holds numerous other dangerous situations. Tuberculosis is discovered.

Buck Shot

by Norman Gotshall, Jr.

All archers should be interested in the lecture we overheard, a doe giving her fawn. Said she "Don't run away from the archer, stick around, have some fun. First, stomp at them—they think this is cute, and it makes them nervous. Then make believe you're eating and suddenly look up—this terrifies them, and they are afraid to move. Then, stand broad side at 20 paces, and just as the archer draws, step behind a bush for 15 seconds. Finally, snort, wave your tail and go about your business. Pay no attention to the shivering, huddled, jabbering, wide-eyed thing convulsed upon the ground.

Most of us are inclined to be lulled into a false sense of safety by the wealth of safety devices built into our new, modern expressways. Hugs, reflective signs point out directions, warnings and information visible for great distances.

ANOTHER ABSTRAH!

Jack Benny, wit, raconteur, and comedian of note, was recently asked to add another talent to his routine—that of becoming the dancing partner of lovely Ginger Rogers. When the dance routine was first described to him, Jack raised his hand to his head and moaned. "You want me to lift Ginger Rogers? I get tired from breathing all day."

Desi Arnaz, who has garnered the reputation of being TV's ablest and richest producer, denies the latter allegation. "I paid my income tax and I'm broke again. I got maybe $5 to call my own." An associate said, "I believe it. Lucy has the stocks and annuities but all this character has is holes in his pocket. Oh, yeah—he's got one other thing. He knows how to make TV films that keep earning money."

Alfalfa Seed Crop Light in Michigan

Alfalfa seed production, both in Michigan and nationally, were lower this year with the state's harvest being the smallest since records were begun in 1925 according to the federal-state crop reporting service of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Growers intending to sow alfalfa seed during the winter months, and in order to get the best value it is essential to read the label which under law must state the freedom of the seed from weeds and its ability to germinate.

Estimates give Michigan a 202,000-pound alfalfa seed crop, about 10 per cent below the previous year's small crop. This year's yield is so small that it is only slightly more than an eighth of the average production for the last 10 years. The national crop is 7 per cent below that of 1956.

Methodist Church to Hear 'Waymarks on Volta Road' Professor Horace J. Shaw of East Lansing will speak at the Alto and Bowse Center Methodist churches on Sunday, Nov. 10.

W. S. C. S. TO MEET WEDNESDAY EVENING Alto Methodist W. S. C. S. White Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Venita Wheeler on Wednesday evening, Nov. 13.

Professor Shaw contends that vodka has become the symbol of the liquor industry. He cites facts to substantiate his claim that with a 1.50 per cent increase in the consumption of vodka in the United States during the past five years the Communist enemies of our nation have done by filtration what they were unable to do by infiltration.

Citing the 30 per cent increase in alcoholism in the United States in the last eight years, Professor Shaw points to the statement of Dr. E. M. Jellinek, Narcotics Division, United Nations Organization that the "death rate, crime rate and accident rate in a given community vary according to the average alcohol consumption; and when alcoholism decreases, so do death, crime and accident rates; and relaxation of restrictions on alcohol is followed by a rise in commitment to asylums, hospitalizations and delinquency."

For their Saturday night meeting the youth of the church will have a "Brain-storming Session" on the topic "Suggestions for our Youth Program." "Brainstorming" is a technique developed in industry and secular education for the gathering of ideas.

METHODIST CHURCH NEWS Alto and Bowse Center Plans are being made for a special Thanksgiving service to be held at the Alto and Bowse Center Methodist Churches and will be held at the Bowse Center Methodist Church.

The Official Board of the Alto Church will meet this coming Sunday afternoon, November 10, in the church office.

The Alto MYF held a Fall Harvest and Halloween party last Saturday night in the church basement. Rev. and Mrs. Edwards who miss their regular Tuesday evening meetings while they are in school were able to attend and enjoyed being with the group again. A fine evening of fellowship and folk games was enjoyed by all.

The Bowse Center Young Adults will meet this Saturday night at the home of Shirley and Jim Peterson; they are planning a special treat for the group—some movies and light refreshments. The main feature of the evening's program.

Professor Shaw contends that vodka has become the symbol of the liquor industry. He cites facts to substantiate his claim that with a 1.50 per cent increase in the consumption of vodka in the United States during the past five years the Communist enemies of our nation have done by filtration what they were unable to do by infiltration.

Citing the 30 per cent increase in alcoholism in the United States in the last eight years, Professor Shaw points to the statement of Dr. E. M. Jellinek, Narcotics Division, United Nations Organization that the "death rate, crime rate and accident rate in a given community vary according to the average alcohol consumption; and when alcoholism decreases, so do death, crime and accident rates; and relaxation of restrictions on alcohol is followed by a rise in commitment to asylums, hospitalizations and delinquency."

For their Saturday night meeting the youth of the church will have a "Brain-storming Session" on the topic "Suggestions for our Youth Program." "Brainstorming" is a technique developed in industry and secular education for the gathering of ideas.

Michigan Honey in Abundant Supply

With Michigan supplies this year amounting to more than last year's, there is good news for honey lovers whether they enjoy this delicacy with hot biscuits or as a spread for pancakes or bread.

Figures of a month ago, the latest available, indicate stocks of honey for sale in producers' hands amounted to 4,037,000 pounds in Michigan. This is 48 per cent above last year's figures for the same date when the crop was the lowest in 10 years.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture's co-operative crop reporting service indicates total production for 1957 at 9,612,000 pounds. This total production figure is 52 per cent above last year's small crop and about 12 per cent above the average for the years from 1949 to 1956.

Dick Craig, who was injured in a hunting accident last week Sunday was released from the Ionia Hospital this week Sunday. He will have to return to the hospital some day this week to have the stitches removed. His right hand is giving him some trouble.

Mastering Math Can Encourage Mental Hygiene

Did you ever have to stay after school to make up work in arithmetic?

If you did, you're just one of many who probably found that subject dull—and frustrating, says H. Glenn Ludlow, director of The University of Michigan Bureau of Appointments and Occupational Information.

Fortunately, today's teachers are becoming sensitive to the tremendous importance of considering emotional, social, and personal development of children as well as intellectual growth, Ludlow says. "Children don't park their little personalities outside our classroom doors when they venture in to learn the 100 basic addition combinations and how to divide fractions," he says.

What can arithmetic do for the child's important human needs? Plenty for his sense of security, according to Ludlow. "There's a strong link between arithmetic and mental hygiene. The logical structure of arithmetic gives the learner something to latch on to.

"Given certain axioms and postulates, there is only one answer to a problem—true yesterday, today, and forever. This assurance can be significant in providing some security in the almost overwhelming environment of boys and girls," says Ludlow.

Wildlife Ups and Downs

Scientific studies by game biologists indicate small game populations move in cycles, varying from abundance to scarcity and back over a period of years. Huffed grouse populations in Michigan, for example, moved from a low point in 1945 to a high in 1951, back to low in 1955 and are on the upswing now.

Start Polio Shots Now For Spring Protection

Although most public health interest is now centered in Asian flu, the state health department reminded Michigan residents today that polio shots should be started now to afford maximum protection next spring and summer.

The three-shot polio immunization series requires seven months to complete for maximum protection. If the first shot is taken on November 1, the second one can follow on December 1 and the third on June 1.

"Polio shots can be received at the same time a person is vaccinated against Asian flu," stated Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner. "The two vaccines do not conflict in any way when one is given in one arm and the other in the other arm."

Dr. Heustis credited polio vaccine with reducing paralytic polio in Michigan so far this year to less than a third of last year's level. Through September of 1956 there were 251 paralytic polio cases in the state and during the same period this year there were 75 cases. "With plenty of polio vaccine on hand," Dr. Heustis concluded, "everyone in Michigan should take advantage of the opportunity to protect himself against paralytic polio. The protection will be needed most next summer, and the greatest protection will be developed if the series of three shots is started now."

Guard Against Rabbit Fever

Hunters and outdoorsmen were urged by the Michigan Department of Health today to be on guard against tularemia, or "rabbit fever."

Although no cases of human tularemia were reported in Michigan this year through October 25, experience in previous years has shown that most cases of human tularemia occur after the hunting season opens.

This year the small game season opened on October 1 in northern Michigan and on October 21 in southern part of the state.

Most human cases of tularemia develop when a person touches or eats a diseased wild rabbit. However, the disease also can be spread to man by muskrats, beavers, deer flies, wood ticks and blood-sucking insects.

Entry into the human body is made through a scratch or some other break in the skin. Human cases also have developed after the tularemia micro-organism entered through the person's eye.

Tularemia in humans causes chills, fever and general prostration with about five per cent of the cases resulting in death. Most cases can be treated successfully with antibiotics so that recovery is complete within three weeks.

The state health department said most human tularemia can be prevented if hunters, and other persons will:

- 1—Avoid shooting slow-moving rabbits; they may be ill with tularemia.
- 2—Avoid exposure of the bites and body fluids of blood-sucking ticks and flies.
- 3—Wear rubber gloves while skinning and dressing wild game, especially rabbits. Carcasses found to have white spots on the liver and spleen should be burned.
- 4—Cook all game thoroughly before eating. Freezing, even for long periods, will not destroy the

Set a Date, Then Retire, Expert Says

Psychologically, it's probably better to fix a date for individual retirement rather than let work taper off slowly over a period of years, a University of Michigan expert on aging believes.

When this is done, individuals and companies can plan ahead for retirement and "when the day comes, it's over and done," says Wilma T. Donahue, chairman of the U-M Division of Gerontology in the Institute for Human Adjustment.

"Like any other unpleasant situation—if it's going to be unpleasant—it's a good thing to get it over with and start something new. Otherwise, if work is gradually tapered off, a person may feel—often rightly—that he's no longer a full-fledged worker, but is just being tolerated.

"Also, it helps to receive a full paycheck up to the day of retirement," she points out.

How can individuals and companies plan ahead for retirement? "Preparation for retirement can, and does, take place at different times in the work life of a person," says Mrs. Donahue.

"Financial preparation has to begin very early, so the worker can accumulate enough reserve in his pension fund to insure a reasonable income on retirement.

"At middle age, 45 to 55, employers and workers can participate in a broad educational program giving a broad understanding of society and the phenomenon of aging. Material for such a program is already available in the 'Aging in the Modern World' series, developed here with a grant from the Fund for Adult Education.

"Finally, when retirement is very near, an intense program can inform employees about specific problems they may soon encounter and ways in which these may be met. Quite often, retired workers themselves can make a valuable contribution to such a program."

Michigan's Mackinac Straits bridge is the costliest span ever built. Not counting the highway approaches, the span cost $100,000,000.

Use Judgment With Tractors on Roads

Keep your tractor under control, practice courtesy and use mature judgment when handling the tractor on public roads, urges Richard Pfister, extension farm safety specialist on the department of agricultural engineering at Michigan State University.

Last year 11 Michigan people were killed while driving tractors on highways. Pfister also urges motorists to be on the alert for machinery coming out farm driveways during the busy farm work seasons.

Use vegetables, gourds, leaves and Indian corn for fall centerpieces. For a touch of green add an evergreen sprig.

Public Demand Gives Schools More Power

Do you believe the schools are conspiring to take on more power? "Many people think the schools are stepping into areas of authority that should properly be the business of the home or other organizations," says G. Max Wingo, professor of education at The University of Michigan.

"However, in this country it's practically traditional that whenever we have a serious problem the first thing that pops into the heads of the American people is, 'This is an educational problem.' The trend seems to be definitely in the direction of the schools' taking a widening responsibility in certain aspects of services which historically they haven't had," says the educator.

"The schools have gone into such public areas as health services and instruction, a safety instruction and practices, conservation of natural resources and the extension of various services of transportation, food services, supervision during the noon hour, and recreation and leisure time activities," he says.

He points out that the school has gradually, and often reluctantly, taken these services in response to the country's basic needs. "The health program, for instance, probably received its initial impetus during World War One when the draft uncovered widespread physical unfitness."

Professor Wingo states, "There's no way the trend can be reversed because these things have come about as the result of basic changes in the social patterns of this country.

"The changes definitely are not the result of power tactics on the part of the schools and they can't be attributed to the 'break-down' of the family.

"What's really happened is that the school has assumed a wider responsibility because it is the only institution, so far, that can possibly offer such services."

Why? "Because the school has most of the children most of the time. It's that simple," he says. What role is the school going to play in racial tolerance? Professor Wingo says, "I believe the school will have to assume responsibility for this, and it won't be done by moralizing about it. It will have to be done by running the life of the school so that tolerance is a day-by-day experience of each child. Social and cultural activities will have to be organized so that children live tolerance rather than just hear about it."

State Police Will Use Jeeps in Woods

The Michigan State Police will experiment in the use of Jeeps in rescue and other missions on the backwoods roads of the northern part of the state.

Three are being placed in service this week at the Wakefield, L'Anse and Newberry posts, deep in the heart of the forest regions of the upper peninsula.

Patrol cars undergo considerable abuse and damage on the woods roads and sometimes are unable to traverse them, especially in heavy snow. It is believed the rugged Jeep, built for hard usage, will help solve the problem of rescuing lost hunters, answering emergency calls and performing other missions in the woods areas.

The four-wheeled drive vehicles are enclosed. They are painted State Police Blue with the shield on the sides. Because of low hanging branches of trees and bushes they do not have a red flasher light mounted on the top, but carry a portable light with a magnetic base which can be placed on the top when there is need.

If the experiment is successful, a few other northern posts will be similarly equipped.

An easy way to flour chicken or meat is to put the pieces in a bag containing seasoned flour, and shake.

All-new '58 DODGE Power Giants

4-WAY LEADERS OF THE LOW-PRICED 3!

Here—for you to drive now—are the first trucks ever built that lead the low-priced three all four ways!

Styling, power, payload, economy—Dodge for '58 is definitely way out front.

New economy-engineered V-8's and Sixes give super performance, more miles per gallon (on regular gas). New Full-Traction Drive makes "getting stuck" in mud, snow or sand almost impossible.

Check the 4-way leader before you buy—and get your Dodge dealer's special 40th-anniversary deal!

Drive a DODGE Power Giant today!

1 FIRST IN STYLING!

All-new design! Sleek, yet rugged. Deluxe chrome grille and trim... modern twin headlights for safer night driving... sweeping, future-inspired lines... sparkling new colors and two-tone combinations.

2 FIRST IN POWER!

New Super-Torque '58 Power Giant V-8's deliver whopping 204 to 234 horsepower. Extra power cuts trip time, lets you pass more safely, reduces engine strain, assures long engine life.

3 FIRST IN PAYLOAD!

Advanced Dodge construction is extra strong, but without an ounce of load-robbing excess "fat". Lets you haul as much as 1/4 more, thus cut down on trips, on time, on gas, on tire wear.

4 FIRST IN ECONOMY!

Most advanced of all short-stroke V-8 truck engines. Exclusive Power-Dome combustion puts extra miles into every gallon, ends power-stealing carbon deposits, slashes maintenance costs.
