Record Number of Students — 1,300 Expected at Lowell Schools Tuesday

The largest number of pupils in the history of Lowell Schools, due largely to the annexation of districts, will enroll on Tuesday, September 2. It is expected that more than thirteen hundred boys and girls will enter at that time, compared to 1,100 last year. However, the high school membership will show a decline because freshmen and sophomores from the Forest Hills area will not be attending. Everything will be ready to greet the happy youngsters. Additional furniture has been purchased, rooms and hallways have been given new colors, and changes have been made in the courses of study. Replacements have been made in the faculty due to resignations and several additional teachers have been hired by the Board of Education. All in all the new school year is expected to be bigger and better than ever.

Need For Radio System Here Pointed Out by Storm Last Week

Lowell's need for a two-way radio system now available for municipalities for fire, police and in our case the Light and Power department as well, was pointed out in the windstorm emergency last Wednesday. All telephone lines in the Parnell, Murray Lake area were out and line crews working had no way to communicate. The problem of communication was solved for this emergency when Jake VanPutten of Murray Lake, one of the residents effected by the windstorm called in help from his fellow members of the Grand Rapids Radio Club. These members brought out their portable two-way radios and stationed them with the crews, and at the municipal plant office and were a great help in getting the power back on in the area.

The following other members of the radio club assisted in the emergency: Eugene Cox, Byron Center; Richard J. Miller, and Morris McMurray, Grand Rapids; and Robert Chandler of Rockford.

To Speak on Alcoholism At Alton Bible Church

Larry Gannon, former country club chef and alcoholic, who is now a minister of the gospel and a missionary candidate for France will give his testimony entitled, "How to become an alcoholic in three easy steps," on August 29, at Alton Bible Church, at 8 p. m.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gannon are graduates of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, California.

Mr. Gannon's approach is positive, educational and meant particularly to challenge young people. His message has been heard before a wide variety of groups including church, civic and educational groups.

"Alcoholism is the third greatest disease in the U. S. today and there are more than 7 million chronic alcoholics in the country," Gannon says.

There is real help for the alcoholic, he claims, but only after he admits that he has a drinking problem and that he is powerless over alcohol. The failure to make this admission quite often stems from the idea that alcoholics are skid row bums, but such is not the case, for anyone to whom drinking has become a problem is an alcoholic.

Gannon says, "The country of France to which we are going, is purported to have the highest rate of alcoholism in the world."

Appoint Co-Chairman of Democratic Fund Drive

Librarian Reports To Committee

Report of Librarian to Lowell Library Committee, August 1958

Lest Lowell Branch of Kent County Library be ignored by all but its users, we would like to report the following statistics. These figures are the only way we have of measuring the services offered and used during the last two years. For this report we are comparing the first 6 months of 1957 with the same months of 1958.

Adult fiction, 1957—2,739, 1958—3,091; Adult non-fiction, 1957—1,073, 1958—1,393; Total adult books for 1957, 3,812, as compared with 4,484 for 1958, an increase of 5 1/2 per cent.

This increase is the result of both supply and demand. The supply of new books for adults has steadily grown and as this fact has been publicized, new adult patrons have registered to use the books.

In the juvenile division the increase is even more marked.

Juvenile fiction, 1957—1,414, 1958—1,818; Juvenile non-fiction, 1957—812, 1958—1,732; Total juvenile 2,226, 1958—3,544, as compared with 2,226 for 1957. All materials: books, magazines, pamphlets, etc. loaned from January to June, in 1957 were 7,580. In 1958, 9,949 were released, an increase of 31.2 per cent.

In these days of Sputnik and Moon-rockets on TV and in the news, of course alert youngsters read science books if they're available. Teachers come to the library to supplement the books available in their schools, and when they find a good selection of juvenile non-fiction, they come again and again. These are two reasons for the practically doubled use of juvenile non-fiction books.

An increase of over 100 per cent in the use of easy books is the direct result of the two Story Hours a week the Library has had since January, 1958. When children from three to twelve years of age are introduced to books at a Library Story Hour they naturally return with their families for more books during regular Library hours.

Another innovation enthusiastically received but not affecting the January to June statistics, has been the Summer Reading Club. Eighty-seven boys and girls joined the club and forty-six completed the ten books necessary to entitle them to attend the Reading Club Party, August 20.

The people of Lowell and the surrounding rural area have shown by their patronage their approval of their pleasantly decorated and well-stocked Library. Every attempt will be made to be worthy of that approval by anticipating their reading needs and meeting them in the months to come.

Mrs. Hugh VanderVeen, Librarian.

Chosen for Circuit Court Jury Duty

He will also relate a few of his own personal experiences.

Mr. T. spoke at a recent meeting of the Lowell Lions Club, and has talked extensively throughout the middlewest before church groups.

The public is invited to attend and hear his message on alcoholism—now the fourth largest health problem in the United States.

Letter To The Editor

"Loss of Library Too Big a Price"

Dear Editor:

Hidden in the back pages of the daily newspapers during the past week is the story of the closing of the Kent County Library System effective as of January 1, 1959. Few residents of the county realize what this means. There will be no more public library operation in Lowell, Ada or Alto. There will be no bookmobiles operating in the county.

This is part of the price for our refusal of the one and one-half mill levy a few weeks ago. It's too big a price. The county board of supervisors trying to fit all of the requests of the various agencies into their budget had to cut somewhere. They made a disastrous choice when they cut out completely the county library appropriation.

This is a time when we demand the best scientific and intellectual talent to face our national and international crisis. No expense is too great (we say) to increase our supply of scientists, mathematicians, and experts in foreign languages. We expect the public library system to encourage our children to enter these fields. But the school system through high school is primarily concerned with a minimum of education for all and only secondarily can it direct its time and money to the gifted child.

Only in books made available to our children can we dream great things. In the pages of books our children can come in close touch with the finest minds of this and other past time. There are books in our libraries that if read by our children can set goals for their education and lives that if realized would give us the new world we would have. Books, lots of books, are indispensable if we would find and encourage our gifted children.

Mrs. VanderVeen has made excellent progress in stimulating our children to use the library. The village and township of Lowell have wisely invested in the remodeling of our library building. All of this suddenly is thrown away by a desperate action on the part of the supervisors after a foolish action by the citizens of Kent County. It is with deep chagrin that I as a school board member must realize that it was the arguments of an attorney representing the school boards in the allocation hearings that may have persuaded the supervisors to act as they did. For the county school boards to minimize the importance of the county library system is an example of shortsightedness that may never be equalled.

How many miles of blacktopping roads is a good library system worth? A year's delay in the schools would be less hazardous to our children than a loss of the library system. Only one possible action could save our libraries. Each supervisor must call his supervisor and secondarily can it direct its time and money to the gifted child.

Only in books made available to our children can we dream great things. In the pages of books our children can come in close touch with the finest minds of this and other past time. There are books in our libraries that if read by our children

Take Your Time—Come Back Alive

Trying to stretch a holiday beyond its limits can be fatal, warned Gerald W. Shipman, Executive Secretary, State Safety Commission.

He pointed out that highway hazards, target of the summer-long "Slow Down and Live" safety drive in the U. S. and Canada, all-too-frequently are caused by drivers whose impatience to get their chosen holiday spot or failure to give themselves adequate time to get back to the job cause them to take chances on the road.

Such long holiday week ends as the Labor Day period, are particularly poor times in which to try to "stretch" a holiday, Gerald W. Shipman emphasized.

He urged that in planning holiday trips, drivers give full consideration to the need for sufficient time to make the journey at a safe speed with additional allowance for unforeseen delays.

"It's better to take a shorter trip and return alive," he advised.

Talk of Closing Lowell Library, Shocks Citizens

Repercussions from a reported recommendation by the Kent County comptroller that the county library be eliminated to help trim the budget in 1959, are beginning to pile up, according to Carol Thomas, Library Director. If the county library were closed, it would also affect the Lowell, Ada, and Alto Branch Libraries.

"People are beginning to protest at the suggestion that the library be abolished," Miss Thomas said. "Many are shocked at first, but then they ask 'What can we do?'"

The finance committee recommendation will be considered at the October 15 meeting of the supervisors. They presumably, may vote at that time to eliminate the library," Miss Thomas said.

"The only thing we can do is to advise people to contact their supervisors and tell them how they feel," she said.

At stake in the pending budgetary action is nearly half a million dollars in library equipment and personnel, all of which would go down the drain, according to Miss Thomas. Also at stake, and most important, would be the drastic curtailment of a program of service to Kent County residents, which in the course of its life has grown steadily in its value to them.

The 14 branch libraries located in rural and suburban county communities last year served 13,000 patrons. The school service department of the library served 165 rural county schools through its three bookmobiles and consultation service.

Included were a number of non-public schools. In addition the summer bookmobile program served 6,000 patrons this summer.

Miss Thomas said the people served by the library were "shocked" and believed the recommendation to abolish it "penny wise and proud foolish."

The Late Mike Todd and "Around the World in 80 Days"

Many of us have been swept into doing things for ourselves during the past few years; building book ends, coloring paperweights, or for the more ambitious, plowing up some extra and erecting building houses. However, few of us have personally covered as many facets as Mike Todd when he produced the Academy Award-winning "Around the World in 80 Days," the smash hit at the Strand Theatre. The United Artists release is being shown each evening, Wednesday through Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.; matinee, Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

While many of us take a hammer and saw and start the nearest project, it was 10 years from the initial gleam in Mr. Todd's eye until the completed production was done. It all began in 1946 when he started a musical version of Jules Verne's "Around the World in 80 Days" with Orson Welles. However, our young producer withdrew from the musical because he felt there wasn't enough scope to the stage version. Still, he always felt that someday he would again present the Jules Verne story.

Almost a whole decade went by during which time Todd produced many Broadway shows, ventured into the filming of 11 out of the 13 sequences of "This is Cinerama" and experimented with cameras and film techniques so that he could be as adept with them as any veteran movie producer.

Now Todd was ready to tackle the story again, and in his customary fashion, single-handed. For this most ambitious independent project ever produced in Hollywood (costing over $6,000,000), he financed, produced, supervised the script, obtained the services of 50 of the world's top stars and traveled in more countries shooting this film than anyone has ever done before. Nothing was too complicated that Todd would not personally handle. He even directed a few scenes himself!

The first footage was shot near Toledo, Spain on August 9, 1955. Shortly thereafter the crew moved into Chinchon, a small town near Madrid where technicians re-created the town in the style of 1872 and employed its 6,500 inhabitants as extras in fiesta and bull-fight scenes. To stage the bull-fight scene, Mr. Todd selected Luis Miguel Dominguez, the world's foremost matador.
