Drop Lowell Tax Rate to 10 1/2 Mills for 1959; Vote to Change Street Names

The village council on Monday night approved the setting of tax millage for 1959 at 10 1/2 mills; this is a drop of a half mill or with the decrease in the Lowell's equalized base by the state will mean a dollar a thousand assessment savings on 1959 taxes.

Approve Changing Street Names
The council Monday made the following changes in street names: Garfield also known as Grove, to Hunt St.; Vergennes St. to Lincoln Lake Ave.; Foreman Road and Highway St. to Foreman St.; Brush Street to Brook Ave.

Several Visitors
There were several visitors to the Council meeting; Mrs. George Boyenga brought the attention of the council to the condition of Sherman St.; Bob Hodges, Jackson St. resident, asked to have the lumber left from tearing the former Walter Zerba house removed or burned. He also complained about the many wild cats loose in the area. C. J. Place was present to ask to have Brush St. changed to Brook Ave., when the council was making street name changes. This they did.

Ask To Have Pine Tree Removed
The council discussed the proposal of the Standard Oil Company to have the pine tree in front of the Library building removed because it obscured their sign. They offered to pay the village $90 to have the tree removed. After much discussion by the council members it was agreed to place the proposal in the hands of the library committee.

The need for enlarging the sewer on Washington St. from Avery St. to North St. to provide adequate facilities for the new school was discussed and estimates on the necessary work will be taken.

George Dey pointed out to the council that insurance coverage of village property was inadequate and he was given authority to take immediate steps to properly insure village property. He also told the council that village tax monies invested in government securities while being held for future use, earned the village some $688 last year.

A complete spray for mosquitoes in Recreation Park and on the 4-H grounds has been completed, Roger Westenbroek reported.

Arrows Perform Well in Conference Meet

Although the Arrows finished in the Grand Valley cellar in all three spring sports, baseball, tennis and track, several boys turned in fine performances at the Conference track meet held last Friday afternoon at Wyoming Park, Chuck Ryder captured the Arrows' first points with a fourth in the broad jump finals held last Wednesday. Steve DeVries was part of a four-way tie for first in the pole vault at 10 ft. 4 in. After all had been eliminated and before the running events had begun, Steve put on a little exhibition, clearing 10-8, and then knifing over the bar at 11 ft. Steve is the first Lowell boy to vault 11 feet or higher three times in a single season.

The Arrows' medley relay team, with the aid of a strong finishing kick by anchor man Ray Jones, captured fourth, Jerry Boone ran the other 440 leg, and Chuck Ryder and Noel Smith sprinted the 220 sections. Outstanding performances by two runners provided the Arrows with surprise places in the mile run.

Ron Wilson, a product of coach Norm Gotschall's physical education class, clocked a 4:58, good for a fourth place finish. This was only Ron's third running of the mile, his previous times being 5:23 and 5:07, and having run a 2:17 and a 2:14 half mile. Ron, a strong-running freshman, could easily develop into another distance man of the caliber of Bob Hall or Bob Carigan. Terry Buck finished just a few strides behind Wilson with a 5:01 for fifth place.

Senior Chuck Ryder, suddenly a hurdler in his last week of high school athletic action, rounded out the Arrows' scoring at 12 1/2 points by placing fourth in the low hurdles. He had a time of 21.8 in winning his qualifying race.

Seniors Steve DeVries, the league's second highest scorer this season, and Chuck Ryder, for four years one of the tops in the Valley, will be sorely missed next year, as will Noel Smith, another 4-year letter winner, and Ray Jones.

Baccalaureate Well Attended; Commencement Exercises Tonight

The all-purpose room in the Runciman building was filled to capacity last Sunday evening by one hundred six members of the graduating class, their parents and friends, and the high school faculty. The participants and spectators were not disappointed in the outstanding program. The musical numbers furnished by the varsity choir and the trio consisting of Sylvia Dykhuizen, Martha Stiff and Martha Wittenbach, were particularly outstanding. A surprise of the evening was the Alma Mater, sung by the choir. The words and music were written by Miss Bloodgood, and it has already been suggested that it become the official Alma Mater for Lowell High School. The Band rendered the Processional in the usual pleasing manner. Rev. DeVinney gave the Invocation and Benediction.

Address
One of the finest Baccalaureate addresses—or sermon, as the speaker called it—was delivered by Rev. Hugh Michael Beahan, a former student in Lowell high school—and presently the director of the Diocesan Office of Radio and Television and chaplain and teacher at Mt. Mercy Academy. Rev. Let Teen-Agers Help Plan Home Activity Center

Your home doesn't have expensive furniture to be attractive to the teenage set. If it is comfortable, cheerful, and convenient, teen-agers along with adults will enjoy being there, says Jane Graff, extension specialist in home furnishings at Michigan State University.

Many teen-agers tend to be over-critical of their homes. However, they seem to be more interested in home activities if they are asked to take part in planning for new arrangements and furnishings, says Miss Graff.

An activity center is very important in your home, especially if there are teen-agers around. This center might be in the basement, the living-dining room area, or any other place where your family's favorite activities could be carried out easily.

The space you choose should be cheerful and inviting, believes Miss Graff. If the basement is your choice, you may want to add warmth to the atmosphere. You can do this by painting old furniture and by using covers of bright cotton fabric. Colorful curtains and an inexpensive area rug also help.

Teen-age party time is a good time for parents to be around but not underfoot. Some parents have found that by moving an easy chair, reading lamp, table or desk into the bedroom they can create a comfortable "second" living room. This provides a private place for parents to spend an evening when their teen-agers have the gang over for a party.

Remember, a warm, cheerful place for activities can mean good times in your home — both for adults and teen-agers.

Care in Traffic Avoids Accidents

"Every driver should give more thought to the effect his actions may have on others for his own safety and the safety and convenience of other drivers," declared J. Robert Cooper, president of the Michigan Trucking Association.

"The day is past when a driver can afford to be unmindful of the delays he may create for drivers behind him," Cooper said, speaking in connection with Michigan trucking industry's April Courtesy and Safety Campaign, "Highway Courtesy."

"A stop or slowing down by one driver quickly affects following traffic, adding to delay and congestion and setting the stage for accidents. Every driver should strive to create for himself a matter of courtesy to other drivers and as a means of avoiding accidents."

"Even the necessary act of slowing down for a turn creates delays," he said. "Often when unavoidable, such delays can be minimized if the driver signals and gets into the proper lane well in advance of his turn. While we do not advocate taking turns on two wheels, we are not in favor of drivers who slow down too far from where they plan to turn."

The innocent act of slowing down to look for an address or street sign can create traffic delays which are most irritating. Know where you are going. If you go into strange territory, get directions, if you can. Know not only the names of streets, but also find out if there are landmarks which can be spotted more quickly and easily than most street signs. In this way, you won't have to slow down continually to see where you are," he concluded.

LANSING Observer

Gov. Williams says that all the money plan will create fiery protests from a dozen sources. But if the people want economy, the GOP leaders will show how it can be achieved.

All 22 Republican Senators have had a hand in the architecture of the new peace plan. Particularly active were the two floor leaders—Senators Lynn O. Francis, Midland, and Frank Beidle, St. Clair, as well as Senator Carlton I. Morris, Kalamazoo, and Senator Clyde H. Geerlings, Holland, chairman of the taxation committee.

Gov. Williams will want a corporation income tax. This levy might be acceptable to most large industries, in lieu of other taxes, except for one glaring danger.

This is the Democratic Party's pledge to make income taxes the main source of the state's revenue. As government expands, Democrats demand spending increases year after year, rates would go up. A personal income tax would be added as a permanent feature.

The threat of constantly increasing rates would become a menace preventing industry from expanding in Michigan.

And the Republican Party is much interested as the Democratic Party in preserving jobs and creating new ones.

They demand an attractive business climate throughout the state, thus promoting full employment and prosperity for all.

It will be made public at a time when the House of Representatives will be debating the income tax bills supported by Democrats.

What if Gov. Williams turns down this offer, as he has all others, in his stubborn insistence that the only answer to the state's financial crisis is an income levy?

Somebody must yield. The fiscal year ends June 30. After that date, there would not be one dollar appropriation in case of rain, panicles will be served inside.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Preston and Mrs. June were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Zerfas of Grand Rapids.

Asparagus Season When Grass Grows Greener

When "grass" grows the greener, it is Michigan asparagus season. The "grass" is asparagus and it is eating-best when it is home-grown. Michigan asparagus comes into production about May 6, and the season lasts until the middle of June, according to Virginia Helt, Michigan State University Food Marketing Agent for Grand Rapids area.

If you plan to can or freeze asparagus, plan to do it at the peak of the asparagus season. What is "peak season"? That's when supplies are biggest, quality is best and when supplies are high, prices are lowest. You usually get the most asparagus for the least money.

Sometimes you see a food ad that says, "Fresh snapped asparagus. It's 'snapped' asparagus any different from any other? Doesn't 'snapped' mean it's better? Answers to these questions are 'yes' and 'probably.' So now you want to know why.

Asparagus is harvested by snapping of the stalks, or cutting them off. When asparagus is snapped off, it is snapped at a tender spot. This means when you buy "snapped asparagus," the whole stalk is tender. You have nothing to throw away. Snapped asparagus simply needs washing and cooling. If asparagus is harvested by cutting, the stalks are usually cut close to the ground and the white part of the stalk is usually tough or woody and you'll need to cut it off and throw it away. It is waste.

What does it add up to? Cost for a round of asparagus and the will, no doubt, be greater than the cost for a pound of cut asparagus. But when you compare the cost of an edible round, you may find they are the same. For instance: If cut asparagus is 25 cents a pound, you can pay as much as 50 cents a pound for snapped asparagus. And you can still have the same amount of asparagus to eat! That is because snapped asparagus just doesn't have "throw away" pieces. You will do some comparing before you buy, won't you?

The Ada Christian Reformed church will celebrate its 50th anniversary at a special program to be held on Thursday, June 11, at 8 p. m.

The church has been served by seven ministers in its 50 years of ministry. These include Rev. M. M. Schant (1911-1915), Rev. J. K. VanBastien (1915-1920), Rev. H. Hendrick (1921-1942), Rev. A. E. Romendal (1942-1947), Rev. W. K. Reimsma (1948-1951), Rev. E. A. Van Someren (1952-1958), and the present pastor, Rev. A. A. Verburg.

FOR WANT OF A NAIL—

For want of a nail, the shoe was lost. And because the shoe was lost, the horse was lost . . . and the soldier was lost. . . the story goes, the battle was lost.

Sometimes it is that way when the battle is a community's struggle to gain new industry. Sometimes the battle is lost for want of something it would seem every community should possess.

A community's attitude—how all of us feel about our town and the industry in our town—is one of the most important elements considered by an industrial prospect.

Our attitude must be good if we are going to win. It is everyone's responsibility. The attitude of everyone toward our present industry can be our biggest asset or our biggest liability in the community's effort to get new industry.

Join hands with your local industrial development organization and the Michigan Economic Development Department to help your community grow and prosper.

This ad is one of a series published as a public service by this newspaper in cooperation with the Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Economic Development Department.

Nat'l Magazines Feature Michigan's Travel Attractions

Michigan's natural and man-made wonders are featured in two national magazines during April and May with special emphasis on the state's vacation travel attractions.

The April issue of National Geographic Magazine and the May issue of Esquire highlight points of interest around the state, according to Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council.

National Geographic features a Michigan's recreational, scenic and industrial advantages in a 32-page article, "New Era on the Great Lakes." The feature includes Detroit, Mackinac Island, Mackinac Bridge, Soo Locks, Isle Royale, industrial Detroit, Mackinac Island and other points of interest.

Esquire magazine editors have announced plans for a feature on the Mackinac Bridge and Michigan's northern vacation areas in the May issue of that publication. Emphasis will be on the Bridge area, the Upper Peninsula and Mackinac Island.

This nationwide publicity is certain to give a boost to our promotion of vacation travel in Michigan," Furlong says. "We have been pleased to cooperate with the editors of National Geographic and Esquire in the preparation of these timely and interesting features."

Crazy Ads

A man in New York named Alan Abel writes what he calls Crazy Ads, designed to get attention in buses and subways. An example: MONEY! MONEY! MONEY! We've got what you want. Borrow up to $25.00. Your word is as good as cash! No credit references; no security; not even your own signature required. We deduct each week from your salary until the sum you need has accumulated with our Mr. Briggs.

If you give the thing a moment's reflection, it isn't crazy at all. A better sample of the fellow's wit is this:

Farm Census Will Begin in October

Nationwide census of agriculture starts in late October and in early November of this year, according to the U. S. Bureau of the Census. This is the 11th such census.

Thirty thousand census takers are scheduled to visit each of the nation's 4,000,000 farms, ranches and other places where livestock and poultry are kept or crops produced.

Three questions will call for kinds of information. First, a count of farm resources such as total farms, area of farms, acres of cropland, acres for pasture, etc. Second, farm products produced and sold in 1959. And third, how many days the farmer worked off the farm, how much fertilizer and lime was used this year, how much was spent for farm labor, etc.

Bureau of the Census officials are suggesting that farmers keep a few simple records to assist the census takers. Records of harvest, products sold and major expenses would be valuable to both the farmer and the census taker.

Information gathered by the agricultural researchers, agricultural industry, farm organizations and by farmers themselves in making operating decisions.
