LABOR-MANAGEMENT LEGIS-LATION: Kennedy-Ervin, Elliott's bill, and Griffin-Landrum are the names about the Capitol this week. Rep. Carl Elliott of Alabama introduced the Labor-Management Reporting and Disciosure Act of 1959 (H. R. 8342) as revised and reported by the House Committee on Education and Labor, It is a considerably watered-down version of the Kennedy-Ervin Bill passed by the Senate on April 25th.

Bob Griffin of Traverse City, representing Michigan's 9th Congressional District, and Rep. Phil Landrum of Georgia, members of the House Committee on Education and Labor, have introduced legislation (H. R. 8400 and H. R. 8401) retaining most of the Kennedy-Ervine mending that some air base, a research and development facility, or some other Air Force installation be named in honor of Captain Kincheloe. This proposal received by a Department of Defense Board of Meritorious Service to determine whether the services of Captain Kincheloe warranted such consideration. The Board's decision will be confirmed on September 18th at a ceremony which I am sure will be applauded by every citizen of Michigan.
