Francis Campau Named To Evaluation Committee

Francis Campau, member of the board of education of Lowell Area Schools has been named on the evaluation committee by the County Board of Education. This committee will investigate the work of the special education program in Kent County which has been under fire by some members of the board of supervisors for having too much money to spend and not needing as large a tax bite for the next year.

According to a report by Lynn Clark, county school commissioner: On July 1, 1959 the actual cash balance in the special education fund was $564,140.18. Of this amount, $310,000 was earmarked for the Oral Deaf School in Grand Rapids and Deaf for mentally handicapped in Lowell, Forest Hills and Comstock Park.

In addition the estimated operation deficit above state aid receipts for Grand Rapids was at least $225,000. When this report is received 90 percent of that figure or $202,500 will be paid—leaving an unincumbered balance of $32,640.18.

Some state aid will be received during the year but a department with 35 employees must be operated until settlement day March 1, 1960 on this balance and state aid before 1959 taxes will be available.

Shown in the picture above are Sharon Pollice and Jerry Boone, seated and Jon Walter, standing. These members of the cast are rehearsing their parts for the play, "The Thread That Runs So True". The 30 act play takes place in the Kentucky mountains during July, at the opening of the Lonesome Valley Rural School, Lowell High School's Jon Walters portrays the role of Jesse Stuart, the new school teacher, who tries desperately to keep the school together, despite the hardships in the area, and the everlasting trouble makers who do everything in their power to make the school close down. THIS TOWN IS MINE

I am everybody. I am everybody who lives in my town.

A town is made of many things but mostly a town is made of people. A town is made by people, mostly by the people who live there.

A town grows and prospers or it declines, because of many things. Sometimes because of things beyond the control of the people who live there. But more often because of the activities of these people—that they do and say about their town.

A large representation of members of Kent Pomona Grange attended a pre-installation meeting at the home of incoming master and Mrs. Carl A. Wood on the evening of October 27. LANSING Observer

Concurrent with Gov. Williams' latest message urging income tax on individuals and industry, the Michigan Economic Development Department announced to the press that 17 industries have built or started new plants in this state within the last nine months.

The department, which has spent a million dollars of the taxpayers' money during the last three years, claimed it was directly responsible for the arrival of eight of these 17 factories. It had reporters in many newspapers. Its tone was to refute the charge that industry does not regard Michigan with high regard because of high taxes and an unfavorable labor climate. It was a sprightly and encouraging report on the state's economic progress. It was a report on the state's economic progress. It was a report on the state's economic progress.

Invitation to Public Hunting

State game areas serve the same basic function for hunters as public hunting areas do for anglers by providing public lands for outdoor laboratories for wildlife and habitat experiments by the Conservation Department. Data gained from these experiments are invaluable guides in shaping the Department's game management program. To date, Michigan has more than 50 such areas, most of which are found in the southern part of the state where private ownership of land has restricted hunting. Money used to acquire these areas came from hunting license sales and taxes on guns and ammunition.

Praise and Appraise Your Schools' Visit School During Education Week

Will you visit your child's school during American Education Week, November 8-14?

The Michigan Education Association reveals that 26 million adults visited their schools throughout the nation during AEW in 1958. In Michigan, 70,000 teachers and 1.6 million students have extended this invitation to everyone: "Won't You Come to our School?"

This year's theme is "Praise and Appraise Your Schools."

Formed in 1921, American Education Week grew out of the revelation that a shocking percentage of American people were illiterate and physically unfit. Representatives of the National Education Association and the American Legion established a plan for "securing for America a program of education adequate to meet the needs of the 20th century, and which will give every boy and girl that training and equipment which is rightfully his under our democratic government."

From 1922 on, the observance has been co-sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education, and in 1938 the National Congress of Parents and Teachers became the fourth national sponsor.

The basic purpose of American Education Week is to make every American aware of the important role education plays in democracy... and to help him realize that good schools are his personal responsibility.

The purposes of American Education Week are to increase public understanding and appreciation of education; to explain the modern school—today's curriculum, current teaching methods and materials; to increase public appreciation of their schools; to reveal school problems and needs; to strengthen the bonds of cooperation between school and community.

"American Education Week is an opportunity extended to educators and laymen to work together in common cause for the benefit of the children of this nation, and to ourselves our pride in this primary instrument of democracy—public education—complimented by private education, which is supported by the willing sacrifices of each citizen and which benefits all," the President said.

"Let us display to the world and to ourselves our pride in this primary instrument of democracy—public education—complimented by private education, which is supported by the willing sacrifices of each citizen and which benefits all," the President said.

"This, then, is a joint responsibility which we have an opportunity to review and appraise during American Education Week, 1959." President Eisenhower has officially proclaimed the period from November 8 to 14, 1959, American Education Week.

"Public education is a shared responsibility between those who serve in the schools and those who make the school program possible through support by taxation and contributions of services. Taxation is not limited to those outside the profession, for all of us contribute through our taxes to the development of the schools of this country."

"This, then, is a joint responsibility which we have an opportunity to review and appraise during American Education Week, 1959." President Eisenhower has officially proclaimed the period from November 8 to 14, 1959, American Education Week.

Arrow Iron Men Bring Home Share of Grand Valley Football Title

Lowell's champion 'Ironmen' are the toast of the town this week. Coach Charles Pierce's fighting footballers led a 14-year winning streak to a share of the Grand Valley football title, bringing the coveted crown back to Lowell High School for the first time since 1945.

Pierce, in his second year as coach, led the Ironmen to a 14-1 record, including a 10-0 record in the regular season. The team's success was due to a combination of factors, including a strong defense and a powerful offense.

The Ironmen's victory was a significant achievement for the school and the community. It marked the first time since 1945 that Lowell had won a share of the Grand Valley football title.

The team's success was a testament to the hard work and dedication of the players and the coaching staff. The Ironmen's victory was a source of pride for the entire school.

BUCK SHOT

by Norman Gotschall

Great minds talk about ideas; average minds talk about events; small minds talk about people—WHO shall we talk about?

In 1959 the average U. S. citizen of 25 years of age had completed 9.3 years of school. Next year the average will jump to 10.8. 10 years from now this average will be 12.0 indicating that about 1/3 of our entire population will have further training than high schools offer.

Competition for jobs will become increasingly keen, and it is very important that this point be stressed to all our students.

We will pause to offer our congratulations to Mr. Bieri for his recent marriage. At his earliest opportunity we suggest he check with us in order that we can inform him on our vast experience with marriage life. Here are a few principles which will help you no doubt:

1. wife beating is frowned upon in these days and should only be done in private.
2. If your wife asks you if you would like to save $50 quickly say no—she has found a sale at 10 percent off and plans on buying $500 worth of hats and shoes.
3. Develop an allergy to dish water soap.
4. Remember, you have gained more than a wife Art—you have gained a mother-in-law.

We think that Butch McMahon is one of the better line backers we have seen this year.

We wish Lawrence Bieri a speedy recovery—there are a lot of us pulling for you.

We think our boys are mentally right for the Rockford Game. It will be a tough game but a share of that title is at stake. Rockne once said "We make our breaks." Our tackles are becoming more vicious, and we predict a victory.

In athletics we sometimes are concerned about the fact that many a work horse doesn't get his share of the credit—for example a lineman in football, or a rebounder in basketball. However, these unsung heroes are learning the values of self sacrifice, and that there are others on the field or in the world than themselves. Perhaps it is these persons who are actually receiving the "best" education.

Mrs. Richard posted a 221 score in bowling—Congratulations for a nice series Mary.

Early American missionaries forced the Hawaiians to give up the hula because they thought it was immoral, but the dance originally was a religious ritual. The hula was part of the ceremonial rites for the ancient goddess of the woods, Laka.

Hawaii and Alaska have more historical ties than the achievement of statehood in 1959. During the 1800's whaling ships stopped off in the islands for supplies and repairs on their way to the Alaskan whaling grounds.

Airman Robert C. Tulecki, husband of Mrs. Nola Beth Tulecki of Ada, Michigan, has completed his initial course in Air Force basic military training at Lockland Air Force Base, Texas.

He has been selected to attend the technical training course for Supply Specialists at Amarillo Air Force Base, Texas.

Airman Tulecki graduated from Lake Odessa High School.

Basic airmen at Lackland are selected for specialized training at technical schools on the basis of their interests and aptitudes. They are reassigned to the school after four weeks of basic and are given additional military basic training along with the technical subjects.

Douglas A. Ritter
PFC Douglas A. Ritter, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon H. Ritter, 9344 Portland Rd., Clarksville, Mich completed the six-week tracked-vehicle mechanic course Oct. 17 at the Seventh Army Tank Training Center in Vilsack, Germany.

Ritter received training in engine repair, track and body maintenance and parts supply.

He is regularly assigned as a driver in Company C of the 54th Infantry in Heilbronn. Ritter entered the Army in November 1958, received basic training at Fort Hood, Tex., and arrived overseas in May of this year.

He attended Saranac High School.

Richard Byerly
Pfc. Richard Byerly, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Byerly, 5024 Ada Drive, S. E., who has been stationed at Fort Myers in Virginia is on his way to Europe to be stationed there, possibly in Germany.

Two new North West District Co-operators are John Momber, Alpine Twp., and son William C. of Sparta Twp. They report effective quack grass kill with the use of ten pounds of Dalapon spray, forty gallons per acre applied at seventy-five pounds pressure last week. The quack was field cultivated in August and then was left undisturbed. A 100 percent kill in 1958 led the Members to continue their eradication on additional land this fall.

400 pounds of 12-12-12 was applied this spring on land where quack had been killed for a new strawberry planting. 400 lbs. of the same analysis was used later as a side dressing. New improved varieties are planted 20 inches apart in the rows, with 44 inch rows. Geese do most of the weeding with fine results.

Irrigation to save the crop from frost damage is planned. John will install 60 rods of tile drainage this month. Original tile were put in forty years ago.

Arthur H. Johnson, Kent City, has done a very fine job in the management of his 240 acre farm. A 30 cow Holstein herd, a large irrigated potato acreage plus a pine tree plantation makes a full time job for Art.

In the completion of his soil and water conservation plan he plans to use 28 acres of field strips and 50 acres of contour strips. Pasture improvement of river bottom land and the tile drainage are included. 40 acres of rye has been seeded as a winter cover crop and for pasture.

Art is completing his new milking parlor and a paved barnyard. Many loads of stones have been removed from fields since 1900 when the Johnsons purchased the farm. Several stone piles will be buried when contour strips are laid out.

We found a well balanced crop and livestock program on the Adville Swanson farm, Kent City.

Holsteins, sheep, apples and cherries make up the Swanson farm program. Here also good management shows up in efficient land use with high returns per acre.

A good cover crop of oats was seen in the young cherry orchard.

We found an excellent Jack Pine stand about fifteen years old on the Erwin Rogers 240 acre woods, Nelson Twp. This pine can be cut for pulp wood in about ten years. Jack pine brings the top price for pulp.

Open areas in these woods may be planned to jack or to Red Pine. Red pine makes faster growth and is second to Jack Pine in the making of kraft paper. Just another example of making the best use of each acre of land according to its capabilities.

The sixth grade Campfire group met on Friday at 7 p. m., October 23, at the Boy Scout cabin. When we got there we popped pop corn, had pop and roasted marshmallows. Then we sang songs and acted out a play. After that we told stories, read comic books and played charades. About midnight we went to sleep. We got up at 6:30 and for our breakfast we cooked eggs and pancakes on our hobo stoves. We had fruit and chocolate milk also.

Juliann Erler and Mary Kay Barber took us on a hike. In a little while we went up to Devils Peak and then we crossed the river on some rocks. For lunch we roasted hot dogs and had chocolate milk, potato chips, salad, and cookies.

Then we straightened up the cabin and played "I Send." At 1:30 we went home.
