Staff Almost Complete Lowell Schools Need New Teachers To Meet Enrollment, Fill Vacancies

A full-time kindergarten teacher and an instructor in high school junior and senior English are needed to complete the Lowell teaching staff, announced Stephen Nisbet, superintendent of the Lowell Area Schools.

Because of the increasing number of children reaching school age next year, the local school will have to schedule another kindergarten section. It is for this new section that the school board is seeking a teacher.

The new section will bring the total number of kindergarten sections to five. Two will be held in the Runciman Elementary building, two will meet at the Congregational church, and one will be held in the newly-annexed Alto system.

Picnic Concludes Second Calvary Bible School

Over 90 boys and girls were enrolled in Calvary Chapel's daily Vacation Bible School which was concluded on Friday, June 30.

Since this was only our second year of Bible School we feel the response was very heartening. On Friday morning mothers were invited to see the results of their children's work and to join in our singing and to listen to an illustrated Bible story.

Refreshments were served and a fine spirit of fellowship prevailed.

On Friday afternoon and evening our annual picnic was held in Fallasburg Park. Games, prizes and a fine potluck supper was enjoyed by a large group. A hearty thanks to all who made these 2 weeks very profitable; teachers, helpers and parents with their children.

Funeral services were held Saturday at the Roth Funeral home with Rev. Peter VanderWal officiating. Interment was made in the Solon cemetery.

High School Teachers
Miss Annette Forgrave, a graduate of Muskingum College in New Concord, Ohio, has been named as the new instructor of girls' physical education.

In the world history spot, replacing Norman Gotschall, who will switch to full-time counseling, is Miss Judith M. Cass, a 1959 graduate of Purdue University. Miss Cass has been associated with the YWCA and, for the past year, has worked with Purdue University in educational television.

Besides her world history duties, Miss Cass will also teach freshman English.

Mrs. Helen McMahon will teach three sections of junior high English as well as one section of ninth and tenth-grade home economics.

Miss Brenda Rankin is slated to teach commercial subjects, filling the vacancy created by the departure of Mrs. Holly Court, who is moving to Hastings.

A replacement is still needed to fill the position in junior and senior English formerly held by Edwin Erling, who is entering the business field as an insurance adjuster.

Offers Free Termite Inspection to Residents

The termite is an engineering genius—despite the fact that he is blind and brainless. "So shrewd is this migrant, pin-sized insect that man's most modern construction practices have failed to stop his attack on buildings which contain wood or other cellulose material," said Bruce Walter, of Lowell Lumber & Coal Company, local authorized representative of Bruce-Terminix, world's largest termite control organization.

Usually, it takes an expert to detect clues to termites presence, said Bruce Walter, who urges persons in the Lowell area to call TW 7-9231 for a free inspection by a skilled Bruce-Terminix inspector.

BOATING SUPPLIES
Fibre glass, epoxy paint and boat hardware and supplies. Williams Radio-TV-Marina, 126 North Hudson St., Lowell. c21f

Showboat tickets went on sale yesterday at the Showboat ticket office. Lylla Johnson is again at her post and reports that advance sales are again going well. The number of the ticket office is TW 7-9237.

The Showboat Ticket Office was moved Wednesday morning from Roth's Furniture to the ticket building at the main entrance to the Showboat Dock on Main St.

Chorus Director Bruce Walter reports that a new song will be tried this year in conjunction with the entering number, "Are You From Dixie." Called "Showboat Tonight," the new tune is dedicated to the Lowell Showboat by Len Keller, who wrote both words and music.

Lake Odessa Fair visitors over the holiday probably noticed the Showboat advertisement in the Fair's official program. This ad is part of the publicity committee's attempt to inform as many people as possible of the 1961 Showboat dates, July 24 through 29.

If last year was any indication, about $4,000 will be spent on all forms of Showboat publicity. Because of its community nature, the Showboat also rates much free publicity. For example, WOOD-TV will match every spot announcement the Showboat corporation buys with a free plug. At two dollars per second of air time, this seems to us to be most generous.

Buck Berry, well-known WOOD-land cowboy, will be special guest of the Showboat at the Family night performance, Monday, July 24.

Work on the new sea-wall before the Showboat grandstand has been completed by the construction crews and the river has been raised to its normal height. The new cement structure will prevent the river bank before the grandstand from eroding away and will permit extra seats to be set up on the north side of the stage to accommodate the expected overflow crowds.

Nine people visited Lake Odessa last Saturday to plug the Showboat before the crowds visiting the Lake Odessa Fair. Accompanying 1961 Showboat Queen Karlene Detmers were the members of her court: Phyllis Rose, Sandy Rose, Karen LaDue, and Elsie Backstrom. Guy Quiggle drove Cary Stiff, jr., and the Showboat calliope through the parade, and Albin Wittnebach and Jim Barber provided convertibles for the Showboat royalty.

Mechanical break-down forced one of the queen's convertibles to drop out of the Lake Odessa parade last Saturday just as the line-of-march was starting to move down the main street. After a somewhat hysterical flurry of chifon and rhinestone, the court members were all squeezed into the remaining convertible and the Lowell contingent made the run without further hitch.

The Showboat queen and members of her court visited Crockpot Park and Sand Lake on July 4.

Riding down river on the Showboat at the opening night performance will be Russell J. Boyle, editor of "The Michigan Tradesman" magazine. A special Showboat edition of the magazine will be sponsored by the State Savings Bank.

Dave Clark, jr., Showboat director; Theron Richmond, Showboat president; and Cary Stiff, jr., publicity committee man, talked with Bill Merchant of WGRD Tuesday morning via a four-way conference call. Merchant gave the Showboat representatives plenty of air-time during his morning record show in which to announce the Showboat dates and list the headline acts.

Mrs. Phillip (Jan) Johnson, local YMCA art instructor, has drawn a caricature of Herb Shriner, which will be used in the Showboat's newspaper ads and on the brochures that will be handed out by the Queen and her court when they visit other towns. Mrs. Johnson's drawing shows Shriner seated on the bow of the Robert E. Lee as it steams down the Flat River.

A new ticket outlet will be established this year in Greenville at Highfield's Drug store. Showboat President Theron Richmond placed a display board featuring pictures of all the acts in the Greenville Bank last week end, hoping to stir up Showboat enthusiasm among residents of that area.

Other ticket outlets will again be set up at Wurzburg's in Grand Rapids, Ferrone's in Ionia, Grossman's in Muskegon, and Roth's in Hastings. Display boards, assembled by the publicity committee, will also be dispatched to these places.

Accept Progress Or It Will Pass You By: Hall Tells Rotarians

"Progress passes by communities that are reluctant to accept it or not ready to accept it," said Harry R. Hall, Executive Vice-President of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, at the Rotary Club in Lowell on Wednesday.

"In traveling throughout the state and observing all types of communities, large and small," Hall said, "I believe that one of the serious handicaps to industrial growth in Michigan has been the inability of local communities to adjust to the needs of modern industry. Sometimes this is due to reluctance to make adjustments in public expenditures, due to the need to supply proper facilities and utilities to new developments. For example, several weeks ago I visited a community that was about to lose a sizable industry because of the unwillingness of the City Council to extend water facilities to permit the company to put in a sprinkler system required by the same public body. The most competitive enterprise in the country today is the competition between cities and states for payrolls, and any community that is not able to move fast enough to meet competition will suffer in the economic losses that result from migration of industry."

Hall commented on the opportunity that now exists in Lowell if it is willing to accept progress that is being offered it in the form of a new industry that will employ from 200 to 300 employees. He pointed out that this new industrial development alone will result in an economic revitalization that is actually measurable as a result of research that shows what happens for each 100 jobs created in a community. It means 172 more employees added in the community; 338 more people living in the community; 117 more households necessary to house the additional people; 51 more school children attending public schools; 54 more residential telephones installed in the community; 165 more passenger cars sold by dealers in the community; 3 more retail establishments necessary to serve the community; $590,000 more total personal income added to the community; $270,000 more bank deposits made in the community; $457,000 more in retail sales in stores in the community.

These sales are distributed as follows:

Grocery	$89,000
Eating and Drinking	38,000
Department Stores	57,000
Clothing & Shoe Stores	32,000
Auto Dealers	64,000
Service Stations	25,000
Lumber & Bldg. Materials	19,000
Other	33,000
Total	$457,000

Multiply that by 2 or 3 hundred and you can measure that value to Lowell.

In addition Hall commented on the proposal to build another 1 1/2 million dollar project in a residential area. The money that Lowell will have to put out for additional sewer and water connections will not only be self-liquidating, but will pay for itself many times over through service charges and additional taxes added by these new assessments on new properties.

Hall stated that Lowell has an opportunity to demonstrate to the entire nation that a small local community can be self-reliant, self-sufficient, and can grow up through private enterprise and private initiative without the forced doses of federal dollars as advocated by the Federal Government today as a cure for sick cities. He gave a prescription for healthy communities, and listed the following points as being essential:

1. A healthy community must have the willingness of the local community to be alert to opportunities for advancement. For example, he stated that some people have sufficient confidence in Lowell to invest several million dollars, and he warned against an over-cautious attitude in the expenditure of a few thousand dollars in public funds. He said, "It would seem that a few thousand dollars investment to get 4 or 5 million in return would be pretty substantial dividends."

2. A healthy community must have employment opportunities for its citizens, an adequate supply of qualified and responsive people to fill the needs of its employers, and facilities and services to take care of the increased population that industrial and commercial growth attracts.

3. A healthy community must have a job-producing climate consisting of adequate educational facilities, good employer-employee relations, absence of unwarranted work stoppages and slowdowns, and evidence of constructive and fair management, and if organized, sensible union leadership.

4. A healthy community must have honest, relatively efficient, and progressive community government. This government must be geared to the modern needs of shifting and rapidly changing needs of industry, who in turn must meet growing competition in a delicately balanced economy. Community conditions and governmental regulations and policies help determine the cost of doing business, and the cost of doing business in a location determines whether a community can hold and attract good employees.

5. A healthy community and a community that expects to keep pace with progress must have such as stores, banks, utilities, transportation, hospitals, health institutions, and commercial services.

Hall emphasized the absolute necessity for strong, aggressive leadership and named a good Chamber of Commerce as a logical center of this leadership. He stated that leadership should anticipate developments and prepare for them rather than trying to take preventive measures after it is too late. He stated that good leadership must diagnose trends and prescribe effective remedies to prevent economic illness that is bound to occur if leadership fails. He stated that one of the reasons the Federal Government has stepped into so many areas that should be handled locally is that leadership has failed in too many cases through negligence, timidity, or slovenly performance of men in positions of power.

Martin Calls For Open Con-Con Meetings
"The Constitutional Convention should be open to the representatives of the press, radio, television and the public from start to finish at every level of decision," John B. Martin, candidate for Con-Con delegate from the 17th Senatorial District told a Republican meeting in Lowell Tuesday, June 27.
"I want to endorse completely and without qualification the proposal made by various newspaper groups that no meetings of the convention, whether in general session or in committee or subcommittee, should be behind closed doors. If there was ever an event which should operate in a goldfish bowl, the Constitutional Convention is it," Martin said.
"Delegates who are required to cast their votes either in Committee or in the General Session should do so openly and all discussion and action should be equally open to public scrutiny. There should be no decisions whatever made in secrecy. We will want the public to have confidence in the results and this can only be the case if there is no slightest suspicion of back room trades or deals. I shall fight for a Convention Rule to make this clear."

Shepard Memorial Fund Aids Local Nurses' Study
Five graduates of Lowell High School have received or will receive assistance from the B. H. Shepard Memorial Nursing Scholarship Fund.
The fund was established in 1954 to serve as a memorial to Dr. Shepard's years of service in our community and to encourage graduates of the local high school to enter the nursing field. The fund will aid Lowell graduates in obtaining their nursing education.
Ruth Preston Beard graduated from Blodgett in 1957 and is now working in the Veterans' Hospital in Ann Arbor while her husband is in medical school.
Beth Wittenbach Ulrich graduated from Blodgett in 1958 and worked for several years in the hospitals near Purdue University where her husband was a student. The Ulrichs have returned with their family to Snow Community, where Mr. Ulrich is engaged in farming.
Miss Patricia Wittenbach graduated from Butterworth in 1958 and is now working in the Oakwood hospital in Dearborn.
Ann Reyburn will start her last year at St. Mary's Mercy School of Nursing, and Rose Eilyn McIver will begin her studies at Butterworth School of Nursing this fall.
The scholarship fund will be adequate for a least three more grants. Since its establishment it has received further support from the State Savings Bank, the Lowell Women of the Moose, the Business and Professional Women of Lowell, the Future Nurses Club at the high school, and several individuals.
During the past year a number of gifts were received as a memorial to Rose Christiansen.

The Rev. David Debbink, of the Lowell Congregational Church, performed the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Connie Lee Stiles and Richard David Biggs, Friday evening, June 30 at 8 p. m. at the home of the bride's parents, 8935-28th Street, Ada.

Ralph Lawrence Builds New Car
The thrills and spills of racing are a well-known fact to Ralph Lawrence of Route 3, Lowell, who struck the retaining wall around the asphalt track at the Grand Rapids Speedrome two weeks ago and rolled his car over. His car, a 1940 Ford coupe, was badly damaged and has been put away permanently.
Saturday night he is expected to be back in action again in the new car which he has built-up out of a '34 Ford coupe.
Ralph started racing at the Old-M37 Raceway at Hastings in 1959 in a '37 Plymouth coupe. At the end of the season, he was awarded the co-championship with Ralph Swift for the "Roll Over" trophy of the year.

Shepard Memorial Fund Aids Local Nurses' Study
Five graduates of Lowell High School have received or will receive assistance from the B. H. Shepard Memorial Nursing Scholarship Fund.
The fund was established in 1954 to serve as a memorial to Dr. Shepard's years of service in our community and to encourage graduates of the local high school to enter the nursing field. The fund will aid Lowell graduates in obtaining their nursing education.
Ruth Preston Beard graduated from Blodgett in 1957 and is now working in the Veterans' Hospital in Ann Arbor while her husband is in medical school.
Beth Wittenbach Ulrich graduated from Blodgett in 1958 and worked for several years in the hospitals near Purdue University where her husband was a student. The Ulrichs have returned with their family to Snow Community, where Mr. Ulrich is engaged in farming.
Miss Patricia Wittenbach graduated from Butterworth in 1958 and is now working in the Oakwood hospital in Dearborn.
Ann Reyburn will start her last year at St. Mary's Mercy School of Nursing, and Rose Eilyn McIver will begin her studies at Butterworth School of Nursing this fall.
The scholarship fund will be adequate for a least three more grants. Since its establishment it has received further support from the State Savings Bank, the Lowell Women of the Moose, the Business and Professional Women of Lowell, the Future Nurses Club at the high school, and several individuals.
During the past year a number of gifts were received as a memorial to Rose Christiansen.

Where the Bible is received, and beloved, and preached, not as the word of man, but as it is in truth, the word of God.
THIS WE BELIEVE AND TEACH:
MAN
We believe and teach that man was created in the image of God; that he is a rational, moral, and immortal being; that he was originally endowed with true knowledge, righteousness, and holiness to the end that he might love and glorify his Creator; that he sinned and thereby incurred God's wrath upon himself and became subject to death; that he is by nature totally depraved; and that he cannot by any power of his own—but only by the grace of God—be restored to fellowship with God. See Genesis 1:27; Romans 5:12; Genesis 3; Psalm 14:3; I Corinthians 2:14; Ephesians 2:1, 2.
