Lowell Area School Enrollment Is 1644

Lowell Area Schools were a beehive of activity on Tuesday with a record breaking 1,644 students reporting to the Lowell and Alto schools. This is an increase of 329 over the enrollment in 1960 when 1315 were enrolled the first day.

The new Alto district accounts for 137 of this increase. Others new to the district this year are 9 from Ware, and the rest are from the natural increase in the area.

High School Jumps

A record freshman class of 163 has brought the enrollment of the high school back up to 467, which is more nearly the normal, for

Lowell. Last year the enrollment in the high school was down to 380.

This season, Junior High 7th and 8th grade classes have also shown an increase of 15 over the 1960-61 school enrollment.

In the Lowell elementary school this year we have 790 students enrolled in Kindergarten through 6th.

Alto School Enrollment

In the Alto area, the Lowell Area Schools are operating three schools until the new building is completed. In the Alto school combination 1st and 2nd grade room has 26; the 4th grade room 26, and the 5th grade 27.

In the Bowne Center school the combination 3rd and 4th grade room has 32 enrolled. The kindergarten class in Morse Lake school has 32 entered.

This will give the schools in this area a total enrollment of 137. Some of the students now attending in Lowell will go to the new Alto school when it is ready next fall.

Lowell Enrollment by Grades

K-126, 1st-96, 2nd-131, 3rd-109, 4th-96, 5th-120, 6th-121, 7th-131, 8th-110, 9th-163, 10th-144, 11th-86, 12th-74.

Hard Work Marks Second Week of Football Practice

Hard workouts and scrimmage marks the second week of Lowell High School football practice.

Friday night Hudsonville will be over for a practice scrimmage under the lights, beginning at 7:30. This will give Coach Charles Pierce an opportunity to further check the performance of his small, but fast 1961 squad.

The team had its first all-out practice scrimmage last Saturday morning at 6 a. m. with the reserve team. Pierce said that the brightest spot of this was the running and blocking of halfback John Sawka.

Practice at the end of last week and the first of this week has been slowed down by minor injuries to the squad. Last week was spent working on offense, and this week on passing and defense.

In the Saturday scrimmage the reserves looked exceptionally good. The reserve line averages 190 lbs. and shows lots of promise. Gerald Smith and Art Bieri are coaching the reserve team. Terry Abel, sophomore halfback and Paul Kroff, freshman quarterback looked promising for the reserve squad.

Annual Showboat Dinner Sept. 18 Features Hawaiian Travelogue Film

Edwin P. Petersen, master photographer and musician, will present his color travelogue, "Hawaii—Our 50th State," at the annual Lowell Showboat dinner meeting to be held in the Masonic Temple on Monday, September 18, at 7 p. m. A commercial photographer and a member of the faculty at the Sherwood Music School in Chicago, Petersen has made several travelogues, which he narrates himself while providing appropriate background music on an electric organ. His film on Hawaii, which was made in 1959, depicts the tourist and pineapple industries, the active volcanoes, and the hula dancers for which the 50th state is famous. Members of the American Legion and of the Lowell Chamber of Commerce are invited to bring their wives to the program, which will also include a business meeting and the election of Showboat officers. Tickets may be obtained by calling Harold Ball, chairman of the event.

Flower Show to Have Variety of Entries

Mrs. Vern Armstrong, Riverside Dr., proudly displays her 10-year-old wax plant. The wax plant is a member of the cactus family and she started it from a slip obtained from a friend in Big Rapids. This member of the cacti family blooms at least once a year, sometimes having as many as thirty blooms. The flowers form a perfect five pointed star with a red star center, and are very fragrant.

Mrs. Armstrong will enter this plant and others in the house plant section of the "All the Kings Gardens", YMCA sponsored, Flower show to be held this Thursday, September 7, and Friday, September 8. The public is cordially welcome to enter or visit the show. Entries must be in between 9 and 11:30 a. m. Thursday morning. Judging will be completed by 4 p. m. Thursday.

Immunization Programs, Hearing and Vision Tests Stated for County Schools

This year's vision and hearing screening tests and immunization programs for county schools have been announced by Dr. W. B. Prothro, director of the Kent County Health Department.

Immunization clinics are scheduled in all school areas during the school year.

The best protection against diphtheria, tetanus, polio, whooping cough, and small-pox is immunization begun with infants and preschool children and followed in three years with booster shots.

After these initial and booster immunizations, medical research shows that school-age children maintain their immunity by receiving booster injections every three to five years.

Each year the Health Department routinely offers boosters for the Kindergarten, 1st, 5th and 10th grades. Parents of children who are not in these grades and who have not had booster shots for a period of 5 years, may secure an Immunization Request Form from the child's teacher just prior to the time immunizations are given at the school.

Clinic Set at Ada

Infants and pre-school children will not be immunized at the school clinics. For such cases a Permanent Health Department immunization center has been located in Ada at the Ada Township Hall where, on the fourth Wednesday of every month between 9:30 and 11 a. m., shots will be given.

Vision screening will include all children in grades 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 and 11. If the number of students prohibits covering all those children, the upper grades will be dropped rather than specific schools. In the small county schools all the children are screened at two-year intervals.

Hearing screening will be conducted in grades 1, 3, 5, 7, and 9, in the larger schools, and at two-year intervals in the smaller schools.

5-Alarm Fire Destroys Turkey House; Cascade, Lowell Fire Trucks Scorched

Fire started by lightning destroyed a Lowell Township poultry house Saturday morning and severely damaged a truck operated by one of the five fire departments dispatched to fight the blaze.

A 60 x 380-foot turkey house, owned by R. A. Wittenbach of 3476 Snow Ave., burned to the ground for a total loss only partially covered by insurance.

A truck from the Cascade Volunteer Fire Department, the first piece of fire-fighting equipment to reach the scene, bogged down in sand near the building and was damaged when smoldering wires touched off the wood structure in a mass of flames.

A pumper from the Lowell fire department, which answered the call along with Cascade, Ada, Vergennes and Alto fire-fighters, also was scorched, as were nearby trees and buildings.

Notes Smoldering Wires

Mrs. Wittenbach reported that she heard the "popping" sound made by the lightning as it struck at 7:45 a. m. Saturday, but nothing amiss was discovered until the smoldering wires which led to the blaze were first noticed at 8 a. m. by the Wittenbach's daughter, Mrs. Beth Ulrich, who lives with her husband and children in a trailer parked near the Wittenbach house.

The Cascade fire department was quickly called, and when the blaze threatened the Ulrich trailer and the nearby Wittenbach home, pleas for assistance were sent to the fire on the vehicle were burned. He estimated the damage at $3,000.

Buttrick added that the vehicle is still usable but said that it has been driven to the factory in Lansing for repairs. The Lansing firm has loaned a demonstrator truck to Cascade while the damaged equipment is being replaced.

SCOOPE MUFFS COOP COUP

A five-alarm fire which destroyed a 380-ft. building and damaged two fire trucks in the process is a newspaper reporter's dream. Though the Lowell Ledger and Suburban Life offices are normally closed on Saturdays during the summer months, one such reporter was working overtime and was on hand with car, camera, and note book when the fire siren atop the Lowell Light and Power Plant office began wailing Saturday morning. A quick routine phone check with the light plant office revealed that the fire was (and we quote) "only a turkey coop at the Rudy Wittenbach farm on Snow Avenue."

"Scoop" decided—wrongly, as he later was crushed to learn—that such events as grass, trash or even small turkey coop fires were not calamitous enough to warrant law-breaking chases out of town, on-the-scene pictures, or the stopping of the presses. He stayed resolutely by his typewriter in the office, while up in smoke and gone with the wind went one of the best reporting coups of the year. As someone once said: "Ye gets too soon old, and too late schmart."

four other volunteer departments in the area.

Officers from the Kent County Sheriff's department arrived at the scene to direct the large crowd of onlookers who gathered to watch the destruction. Neighbors from nearby farms brought their tractors to aid in the removal of farm equipment from the path of the spreading flames.

$3,000 Damage to Truck

Assistant Fire Chief Grover Buttrick of the Cascade Volunteer Fire Department said that, when the Cascade truck arrived, wires were

Alto School Contract Let

Lowell Area school board Friday night let the contracts for construction of the new 7 room and all-purpose room elementary school in Alto.

Low bidder among ten general contractors was Ter Horst & Rinzema of Grand Rapids with an amended bid of $147,155; the bids for the plumbing and heating work was split with Holwerda-Huizenga of Grand Rapids getting the plumbing work at $21,220 and Knee Plumbing & Heating of Grand Rapids being awarded the overhead radiant heating contract for $54,723.

The electrical contract was placed with Feven & Windemulder on the low bid of $20,238.

Construction is to start in 10 days with completion within 240 days, which means that it will be September 1962 before the school can open.

Total cost of the school, Superintendent Nisbet revealed, will be in the neighborhood of $270,000, without the equipment. The well has already been drilled at the location by Orson Melle. The 4-inch well found an adequate water supply at 70 feet.

Wheat Program Set for 1962 Crop

Wheat farmers across the country have voted for Marketing Quotas for the 1962 wheat crop and also for the new wheat stabilization program.

The program is designed to reduce the amount of government stored wheat by at least 100 bushels rather than increase this amount by over 100 million bushels.

To do this, all farmers who have raised 15.0 acres or more of wheat have taken a 10 percent reduction in the amount that they plant for harvest in 1962.

Wheat producers who have raised 13.5 acres or less have not taken a reduction in the amount which they can produce since for 1962 they are permitted to raise as much as their highest harvested acreage in any one of the last three years.

Any farmer who does not have an allotment and has not raised wheat in the last three years can not raise wheat for 1962 harvest. This has brought a cry of undue restriction from the farmers affected.

However, these new growers in past years have produced far in excess of the 100 million bushel surplus of each year crop in the past three years. Our domestic consumption and export of wheat have kept ahead of the wheat production on regular wheat producing farms.

Realizing that a 22c per bushel increase in wheat prices would bring many more new wheat farmers into the picture for 1962, which would offset the reductions the regular wheat grower was accepting, wheat farmers voted to restrict the acreage of wheat on these non-wheat farms for 1962.

ACCIDENT FOLLOWS FIRE

George B. Strain, 6650 Cascade Rd., S. E., a volunteer fireman with the Cascade Fire Department, was on his way to work Saturday morning, after having helped to fight the fire which blasted through the poultry house at the R. A. Wittenbach farm in Lowell Township, when a car smashed into the rear end of his automobile at the intersection of Cascade Rd. and the E. Belding, Strain, the manager of a Grand Rapids laundry company, had stopped for a red light when the accident occurred shortly after 9 a. m. An estimated $700 damage was sustained by Strain's vehicle.

The Co-Weds of the Congregational church will have as their speaker for the first dinner meeting September 9 at 7 p. m., Dr. R. T. Lustig of Grand Rapids. Fire Tuesday Night Damages Schutt Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Schutt, 429 Amity St., was damaged Tuesday night at 11 p. m. when the garage at the rear of the home burst into flame. Quick work by Lowell firemen saved the five room frame home from destruction when the roaring flames from the burning garage threatened the house.

Mrs. Schutt and five children including a 4 weeks old baby were at home when the garage exploded into flame. Neighbors helped get the children from the house safely. Mrs. Schutt said she heard an exploding noise and saw the flames at the rear of the house. The car was not in the garage and she did not know of any explosive gas or oil being stored.

Damage, estimated by Fire Chief Baker at $1,500, was confined to the kitchen except for smoke and water. Mrs. Schutt said there was no insurance on the home.

DeLine has a cottage at the lake and Ketchum was spending the holiday there, state police report. c21

Dr. Herrick, who has successfully practiced dermatology in Grand Rapids for over 30 years, said, when explaining her recent move to Lowell, "I have decentralized for the joy of getting away from crowded city conditions."

Dr. Herrick lives alone at her new residence-office at 908 East Main St., with the company of her beagle dog, "Hush Puppy." To occupy her free moments, she has many interests and hobbies, the foremost being that of archaeology and Indian lore.

A past president of the Grand Rapids Amateur Archaeological Society, Dr. Herrick has assembled a large collection of Indian-made articles as well as trade objects which were made by the whites for the benefit of the Indians. Many of the artifacts in her collection were found at the bridge in Ada or in Segwun south of Lowell.

Before long, many of the residents in this area will be approached by Dr. Herrick asking for the privilege of looking on their property for other relics to add to her extensive collection.

Authority on Pattern Glass

Another phase of her interest in collecting is directed toward identifying mid-western pattern glass. Thousands of pieces which she has assembled have been identified as coming from one factory in Indiana.

In 1959 she published a book, "Greentown Glass," which included photographs she herself had taken of her pattern glass collection. The book was published with the purpose of familiarizing collectors with glass that had previously been unidentified.

Over 2,000 copies of the study have been sold so far, and orders are being received every day from all over the country by dealers and collectors.

Sees Need for Museum

Dr. Herrick has so many pieces of glass, Indian artifacts and archaeological items, as well as numerous antiques, that her dream is to one day establish a museum of her own, perhaps here in Lowell.

Dr. Herrick obtained her medical education at Rush Medical College of the University of Chicago and interned at Bldgett Hospital in Grand Rapids, thus acquiring her "love of Michigan."

The office suite which is attached to her new home in Lowell includes a reception room, secretary's office, consultation room, and treatment room. Parking facilities for 10 cars are available nearby.

Authority on Pattern Glass

Another phase of her interest in collecting is directed toward identifying mid-western pattern glass. Thousands of pieces which she has assembled have been identified as coming from one factory in Indiana.

In 1959 she published a book, "Greentown Glass," which included photographs she herself had taken of her pattern glass collection. The book was published with the purpose of familiarizing collectors with glass that had previously been unidentified.

Over 2,000 copies of the study have been sold so far, and orders are being received every day from all over the country by dealers and collectors.

Sees Need for Museum

Dr. Herrick has so many pieces of glass, Indian artifacts and archaeological items, as well as numerous antiques, that her dream is to one day establish a museum of her own, perhaps here in Lowell.

Dr. Herrick obtained her medical education at Rush Medical College of the University of Chicago and interned at Bldgett Hospital in Grand Rapids, thus acquiring her "love of Michigan."

The office suite which is attached to her new home in Lowell includes a reception room, secretary's office, consultation room, and treatment room. Parking facilities for 10 cars are available nearby.

Dr. Herrick, who has successfully practiced dermatology in Grand Rapids for over 30 years, said, when explaining her recent move to Lowell, "I have decentralized for the joy of getting away from crowded city conditions."

Dr. Herrick lives alone at her new residence-office at 908 East Main St., with the company of her beagle dog, "Hush Puppy." To occupy her free moments, she has many interests and hobbies, the foremost being that of archaeology and Indian lore.

A past president of the Grand Rapids Amateur Archaeological Society, Dr. Herrick has assembled a large collection of Indian-made articles as well as trade objects which were made by the whites for the benefit of the Indians. Many of the artifacts in her collection were found at the bridge in Ada or in Segwun south of Lowell.

Before long, many of the residents in this area will be approached by Dr. Herrick asking for the privilege of looking on their property for other relics to add to her extensive collection.

What Every Parent Should Know About Help With Homework

Homework—kind, amount, and frequency—often produces worry and tension for parents as well as children. More and more parents are asking anxious questions about homework. Is their child getting too much (or not enough) homework? Should they (or should they not) help with their homework? Should they let him play the radio while he does his homework?

If you're like most parents, however, you favor homework, provided it is reasonable in amount, geared to your child's abilities, really teaches something, and is the type that doesn't upset the whole household. The right kind of homework, according to the Michigan and National Education Associations, reinforces and extends your child's classroom activities. Homework benefits your child when it is based on a specific need for example, his need to explore a subject more deeply or his need for additional practice in a certain area of learning. Homework also should involve projects that give classroom learning new breadth—additional reading in textbooks or other books on the same subject, working math problems to enlarge your child's mind principles he has learned in class, writing themes that require more time and concentration than the class period provides.

Finishes Appraisal Course Oak Wilt Disease Control Gaining

A reduction in the number of trees infested with oak wilt disease, a killer of oaks, is reported by representatives of the Michigan Department of Agriculture's plant industry division who have operated a control program since 1957.

The disease kills most infested trees and is most frequently found in woodlots. It was found in the state in 1931. Since that time it has been found in 22 counties with southwestern counties most seriously affected, and G. S. McIntyre, director of the Department. If sufficient funds and manpower can be furnished to the plant industry division, the threat from this killing disease of oak trees may be largely eliminated.

Oak wilt diseased surveys are presently being conducted in Cass, St. Joseph and Barry Counties. Possible suspects are located from planes and are later visited by ground crews. First indication of the disease is a browning of the leaves, often at the top of the tree.

If ground crews find a tree infested with oak wilt, they treat it with 2, 4-D to hasten its death and thereby reduce the possibility of the disease spreading to adjacent healthy trees. Mr. McIntyre explained the Department disease control program has been in effect since 1953. Since then the yearly total of infested trees has been reduced by 20 per cent from the year-end total of 1,000,000.

Newspaper Ads Superior to Mail Circulars Survey Shows

Newspapers are far superior to circulars for retail store advertising... an independent survey recently showed...

The study was made by Market Research Service to determine how consumers react to circular and newspaper advertising and how they use them... The study shows that more than one out of every three persons receiving mail advertising are "considerably annoyed" by it...

For an "equal space buy" (in inches), costs were $53.19 and $9.38, for circulars and newspapers, respectively... "The heaviest load any man ever carries on his back is packing a grudge."
