Lowell 'Harriers' Start Cross-Country Fall Schedule

Last Friday, the Lowell High School 1961-62 Cross-Country squad opened their season with the Wyoming Vikings on the Indian Trails Golf Course. Although the harriers lost the meet, 24-31, the squad (consisting of back row, Gary Swift, Lawrence Wittenbach, Ken Wisner, Dan Steele, Bob Arhart, and Bob Perry, head coach. Third row, John Ickes, assistant coach; Terry Dawson, Fred Hoffman, Dave Marsh, Bruce Odell, Jim Watrous, and Paul Rogers. Second row, Paul Draper, Ed VanTimmeren, Pat Murphy, Art Backstrom, Ron Raymer, Tim VanderVeen, and Steve Rutherford. First row, Jim Speerstra, Bob Marsh, Mike Foss, Ron Wilson, Roger Odell, Fred Verspoor and Abe DeYoung) looks promising for future meets.

In the non-league Wyoming-Lowell meet, Ron Wilson topped first place on the Indian Trails 2-mile course with a fine 10:47. Other finishers were Roger Odell, 5th, 11:25; Mike Foss, 6th, 11:36; Jim Speerstra, 10th, 11:51; Fred Verspoor, 12th, 12:22; Bob Marsh, 13th, 12:31; and Abe DeYoung, 14th, was Lowell's 7th man with a 12:32. The local harriers under the coaching of Bob Perry, have a full schedule ahead of them this fall in the new Tri-River Conference. Assisting with the cross-country coaching duties this year will be John Ickes.

farm. Others reported having an Indian mortar and pestle, a tanning stone, a stone axe, a fire rock, etc. Some also knew where the old Indian "road signs"—the bent trees—still point out the trails.

Dr. Herrick told of a real Indian pow-wow held recently on Conservation Road near Ada in an outdoor arena which is said to have been used for many years by the Indians. This event was sponsored by the Dwight Coffinberry Chapter of the Michigan Archaeological Society with many of the Indian members taking part in discussing their crafts and then doing several of their ceremonial dances around a huge fire.

Dr. Herrick urged those present at Thursday's meeting not to throw anything away, especially those things that have been in the family for many years and are no longer in use as they will be of historical value.

This brought up the subject of a museum in Lowell as so many people have these objects stored away with papers, pictures and historical records of many kinds. They would like them to be preserved for future generations in a safe place where they can be enjoyed by others as well. Dr. Herrick is also interested in seeing a museum established.

Anyone with ideas or suggestions on the museum project is especially welcome to attend and join with the Senior Citizens Group in trying to make this a reality.

The "Y" Senior Citizens meet the third Thursday morning of each month at 10 o'clock and anyone 60 years or over is welcome to attend. Transportation will be provided if you will call TW 7-7375.

Student Council Enlarges Class Representation

The 1961-62 Lowell High School Student Council which just recently convened has started its new year by introducing a new amendment to its constitution.

This amendment states that a representative from each of the sixteen newly-formed home rooms, shall be elected to the student council.

The home rooms are where the students, according to their class, report when they come to school in the morning. By passing this amendment, the students will be able to voice their opinion through their home room representatives, and the council member in turn can let their home room know what the student council is doing.

The previous council was made up of a girl and boy from each of the four classes. By adding these sixteen new members the student body will be better represented and it is hoped that this move will evoke a bigger interest in the Student Council.

The Student Council presented this amendment to the student body on September 25, and it was passed by a unanimous vote.

ATTENTION ROYAL ARCH MANSIONS: Next regular meeting Wednesday, October 4. The 7th degree will be conferred. Please plan to attend.

Michael Herwig 17, comes to Lowell through the program of the Council of Churches "Youth for Understanding" program, and will live for the next year at the White home at 1014 N. Hudson St. Mike is interested in music and plays the violin; his father, Gerhard Herwig is an organist and conductor in Essen, Germany. Mike plans to become a minister. He expects to attend the University of Berlin in Bonn after returning from his year in the United States.

Here is Michael's own story: I was born in Schlesien on November 8, 1944, while my father was a soldier, staying at the coast of France, 1945 when the Russians invaded Germany, my mother had to flee with us four children. Then I was dangerously ill, because there was nothing to eat and the fatigues were too great. Often we had only very little room for seven persons. We moved many times and we finally came to Rottenburg o. T. (Bayern).

My father returned from captivity in 1947. I went to Kindergarten for three years; then I entered primary school. But after a little time we moved to Essen, where my father was offered a greater sphere of activity as president of a great church and as conductor of the Essen Bachverein.

First I was very often on the playing-field, for I liked to play handball and football. Also I gladly went to the Youth Club of our parish. But gradually my interest in music became predominant.

When I was 7 years old I started to play the violin and now I had to exercise for one or two hours every day. For some time I played as the youngest member in the Municipal Youth Orchestra. When 12 years old I joined my father's choir. It takes much time because of its concert (Bach's "Hobe Messe in h-moll" e. t. c.), journeys and broadcasts.

We are exercising about one hundred times, and we are singing twenty-five times at divine services, too, during one year. So it fills up a great part of my time, but I enjoy doing it. This way I am singing and playing in churches, at home with my family and also in the orchestra of our school. At school I am the speaker of my class. Here I have to represent the interests of each student and to talk about them with the teachers.

Last summer I travelled by bike to Great Britain, and there I had to realize, that our conceptions of this land often are not right. I was curious to get to know new ideas and views on life and I tried to understand them. I want to get a more accurate picture of the U. S. A., too, in order to get a better and wider point of view and to see in this way Germany and the foreign countries in a different light.

Couple Wed In Afternoon Rites

The Rev. David Deblink performed the double ring ceremony which united Barbara Lynne Court and Phillip R. Herschelman in marriage in the Lowell Congregational church. Mrs. Leonard Rowell was the organist and Dr. Roy Westcott sang "I Love Thee" and "The Twenty-Third Psalm."

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Court of Lowell and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Herschelman of Grosse Pointe.

The bride entered the sanctuary in a floor length princess style gown of satin with a scoop neckline. Her finger tip veil of tulle was secured to a cluster of pearls. She carried a white Bible adorned with a white orchid.

Lowell Arrows Downed in First Tri-River Conference Game, 14-0

Lowell High School football team was upset last Friday 14-0 by a high spirited Cedar Springs team which held the lead for the entire game. The first half held Lowell scoreless. The Lowell team showed evidence after their first half victory over Ionia the week before and appeared confused and split on the field.

Some fans have attributed this to the loss of three players who were held out of the game for disciplinary reasons; but with this loss and a low tide of spirit they fell easy prey to a tough little Cedar team.

Meet Sparta Friday
Lowell will journey to Sparta Friday night at 7:30 when they meet the Sparta High team that met defeat at the hands of Rockledge last week. Cedar had the ball for a win in the conference. Lowell will have three more younger men from the second team to play for an 11-0 record. Varsity Terry Abel who ran well Friday night and Mike Serne who played throughout the game were brought up last week. This week Coach Pierce will have freshman quarterback Mike McMahon and sophomore Phil Sanders and Craig Walters.

Account of Game
Cedar kicked off to Lowell; Huffer took it on the 43. Two attempts into the line by Miller and Davis lost 2 yards; Kropf's pass to Davis fell incomplete and Davis had to kick for Lowell. Cedar's VanLew took the ball back to his 37. Lowell stopped Cedar with the aid of an illegal move penalty. VanLew had to kick from his 25. Davis brought the ball back 3 yds. to the Lowell 46. Miller fumbled on the next play wearing an ankle length boater dress of yellow with a yellow headband. She carried a basket of yellow, bronze and white blooms. Tom Herschelman assisted his brother as best man. The ushers were Robert Grau of Detroit, and Richard Court Jr., brother of the bride. Elmer Herschelman, Jr., brother of the groom, assisted. Mr. and Mrs. Herschelman are living at Cran Circle, North Campus of the University of Michigan where the bridegroom is continuing his studies.

American Women Face Retirement Several Times

In America, a woman's normal life-cycle provides her with two or three retirement experiences before her husband faces this problem the first time.

Wilma Donahue (PhD), chairman of The University of Michigan Division of Gerontology describes the contrast as follows:

"In our society many women have left employment for child-rearing. Thus, they have become familiar with essential elements of the retirement experience in early adulthood. They have given up earnings and income and have 'retired' to other activities.

"When their children grow up and leave the parental home, women experience another retirement from an essential function and have to make adjustments to the cessation of the maternal role.

"For this they are likely to be prepared by the staggered experience of temporary but increasing separations from their children which our methods of child-rearing have forced upon American mothers.

"And, in the physiological sphere the menopause has taught them the inevitability of retirement from the meaningful experiences of child-rearing.

"The husband who has to make an adjustment to retirement, therefore, should find in his spouse a person who has experienced, in varied and to him, partly inaccessible ways, the problem of retirement which he faces for the first time. But the extent to which the retirement-experienced wife is inclined to aid her husband in his adjustment has not been researched."

Dr. Donahue's comments are contained in "Retirement: The Emerging Social Pattern," a chapter co-authored with Harold L. Grant and Otto Pollak in "The Handbook of Social Gerontology" (University of Chicago Press, 538 pp., $12.50).

The Pittsburgh Steelers pro football team should be able to win this Fall; it trained at Slippery Rock, Pa.

Hunting Privileges on Private Land Pretty Much Up to the Hunters

"Will I be able to hunt here again next fall?" is a question yard where it will be cared of the should note the actions of every hunter privileged to use private lands during Michigan's 1961 hunting season.

The answer, of course, is pretty much up to the hunter.

If he tramples down crops, lets his dog run loose around livestock, and generally makes a nuisance of himself, he's apt to find "No Hunting" signs posted on the farmer's lands next fall and for many seasons to come.

On the other hand, if he sets his sights on gun safety and game court as well as game, the odds are pretty good that these lands will be open to hunting again in 1962.

There are many ways to win and keep the favor of farmers. Each amount to the hunter putting himself in the farmer's shoes — following the golden rule.

Taking first things first, the hunter should ask the farmer for permission to hunt before setting foot on his private lands, his is a forerunner to the question about next fall's available hunting lands and is more than just a golden rule principle; under the Hunter Trespass Law it is unlawful to enter or hunt on private lands without the owner's "O. K."

Here are some other ways in support for future seasons:

Don't gang up on the farmer. Each hunting party should be limited to three, or possibly four hunters. If another group of hunters is already on the farmer's lands, look elsewhere for a place to hunt. Get their permission to hunt.

A garden is a thing of beauty and a job forever.

CONSERVATION SOIL and WATER

By Your S. O. D. Directors
It is encouraging, soil and water conservation wise, to walk cooperator farms with the owners in the completion of their conservation farm plans. Even with the press of fall work, most owners still take time out to accompany us as we inventory conservation practices which have been done. The owners' final decisions for future conservation farming adapted to the farm's soil types and capabilities are included in the completed farm plan.

Farms walked recently are Victor Freeland and Sons and Gordon Anderson, Tyrone Twp., Joe Alt and Ed Steffens and Sons, Alpine Twp., Mrs. Helen Spille, Courtland Twp., and Francis and Clayton Sesse, Bowtie Twp.
The 425 acre-Freeland farm in the northwest corner of the county is a fine example of a family type farm where both sons, Robert and Barth are active partners with their father, Victor. The Holstein milking herd of 40 cows, dry lot fed from over 30 acres of alfalfa and 30 acres of corn comprises the livestock program. Nearly 50 acres of apples, peaches, cherries and plums make up the orchard enterprise. Ideal elevation and air drainage on Monocain sandy loam, loamy sand, and on McBride sandy loam is found on the orchard sites.
While considerable hand thinning was done this spring, no spray thinning was done, because of possible late frost damage. As a result, bending boughs, supported by props, now show the need of drastic thinning. "It seems that every bud set this year, in spite of the late frost," remarked Victor. The history of a farm is interesting. Victor bought the first 120 acres in 1910. Three-hundred acres more were purchased in 1946, land which had formerly belonged to the Constock Estate. Sixty years ago, Constock had lumbered off an extensive acreage in this area. Logs were carried by a narrow gauge railroad, then floated down the Rouge River to Grand Rapids. Constock cleared several hundred acres and had a large dairy herd with, at one time, a creamery located on the farm.
Continued depletion of the land by the next owner found much of the farm in poor condition some twenty years ago. Victor pointed out one ten-acre field which produced only two wagon loads of oat bales in 1940, last year it averaged 100 bushel of oats per acre. The Freelanders feel that alfalfa

Now here—a great new exclusive from Buick

ADVANCED THRUST

It puts the engine ahead like the tip of an arrow • It tames "wind wander" and road sway • It sweeps you forward in a hush of luxury • It turns the floor hump into foot space.

WHAT IT IS—Buick's big new move: It positions the great new Wildcat V-8 and Turbine Drive way up front over Buick's front wheels.

WHAT IT DOES—As the engine went forward, the floor hump went DOWN. And, the forward weight makes wheel response far quicker, cornering far surer, ride far smoother.

WHY YOU'LL LOVE IT—It's the closest you can come to sports car handling in a passenger car. Distances shrink before its 3/4-G thrust. Hills disappear. Lean on curves is gone because the frame's gone wider. Winds don't make you wander. It's going at its Buick best!
