School Board Studies Plans For High School

The Lowell Board of Education were given a look at preliminary plans for a new high school on Monday night by Beyster Associates, the architectural firm employed to plan the new building.

Both Mr. Haberkorn, president of the firm and their local representative, Don Palmer of Cascade were present to discuss the preliminary sketches.

The first plans were developed for a school with a central core to provide for a high school enrollment of 900 to 1,000 and 24 teaching stations able to handle the maximum number provided for in the central core.

Cost estimates of the firm on the 72,000 square foot building were estimated at about $12.00 a square foot; several sites were discussed and the board ordered further investigation.

Site selection is limited because of the need for at least 20 acres for the school and the board feels that it must be inside the city limits.

The architects plan to bring more detailed sketches to the faculty and the board next week, and move as rapidly as possible to have the estimates and drawings ready to show to the citizens of the districts early in February.

Plans are now being studied to vote on the bond issue to build and operate this new building by early March.

Fannie Krebs and Raymond Seese were united in marriage on February 7, 1912, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Oltshouse at Freeport, Michigan, by Rev. F. W. Moxon. Mr. and Mrs. Seese have lived most of the time in this area and vicinity.

They have two daughters, Mrs. Leon (Vada) Vaughn of Lowell, and Mrs. Robert (Ellen) Host of Detroit; two sons, Orion and Philip of Alto; thirteen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. No invitations have been sent, and all friends and relatives are invited to help them celebrate this "golden" event. They are looking forward to meeting their friends and have requested that gifts be omitted.

Buy Christiansens

William Christiansen announced this week that he has sold the Christiansen Drug Co. to Dean L. Manigold and Mitchell F. Wiczorek, both registered pharmacists, who have formed a corporation with equal interests to operate the store as Christiansen Drug Co. They will take over the operation on Wednesday, February 7.

Dean Manigold has been a pharmacist at Christiansen's for the past four and one-half years, coming here after working in Jackson, Cadillac, Lansing and Lake Odesa over a period of eight years.

Dean was born and raised in Jackson and graduated from Ferris School of Pharmacy.

He resides with his wife, Marcia and five children at 517 Spring St., Lowell.

Mitchell F. Wiczorek is a native of Detroit where he has grown up in the drug business. His father still operates a store there. He graduated from Detroit Institute of Technology and has been a salesman for Wyeth Pharmaceutical Co. for the past nine and one-half years.

He plans to move to Lowell with his wife Ruth and three children in June at the conclusion of the school year.

Chris Retires
William Christiansen in announcing his retirement from the drug store says he plans on keeping active in community affairs and in the management of his several properties. He plans to leave for Florida early in February, where he will spend several weeks.

Chris, as he is known to almost everyone in the community for the past 34 years, came to Lowell in 1928 and purchased the Lalley Candy store and soda fountain. He started making his own ice cream and developed the lunch facilities and soda fountain. He moved his ice cream plant to the old hotel property at the corner of Main and Washington where the Eberhard Store is now, in 1932.

He opened a cone shop in this location in 1935 and enlarged it into a dairy bar in 1939, at the same time putting in a frozen food locker plant, Christiansen Drug Co. was organized in 1938 and has been enlarged from the one 22 foot store unit to its present three store size over the past 24 years.

The dairy bar was closed down for several years during the war but was opened as a meat market and small store in conjunction with the frozen food locker plant in 1943. In 1955 he enlarged the building and opened Lowell's first super market, and was sold to Eberhard in 1958.

Started out in Dairy Business
William Christiansen was born in Manistee and began working in Cadillac in dairy supply sales and service. He moved to Mobile, Alabama, where he continued in the dairy business, operating a dairy and ice cream plant there. He returned to Grand Rapids where he worked in a dairy before locating just the opportunity he was looking for in Lowell in 1928.

Chris tells of coming to Lowell and looking at the Lalley store, deciding that the new M-21 just being completed would make Lowell's Main Street a good place for a soda fountain and saw the possibilities of building a business with his own quality ice cream products.

Years of Community Service
Chris has served Lowell over the years in many ways. He served on the council for 21 years and for most of the history of the Showboat has led the way in decorating the craft. In fact the idea of Showboat was born around a table in the rear of the store.

Chris served at the base hospital at Battle Creek during his tour of Army service in 1918 and has been a leader in the American Legion Post here over the years. He was commander during the mid '40's and pushed the present American Legion Community Building to completion in spite of many difficulties. In fact when things were toughest, he put his own money into the project to get it into operation.

Chris has four children, William Jr., Robert, Mrs. Don Hemingsen of Lowell, and Mrs. Richard Van Allsburg of Grand Rapids.

Interim Pastor

The Rev. Earl F. Collins, serving as "interim pastor" at the Lowell Congregational church has proved to be a most popular minister of the church's needs and the members are most happy to have such an outstanding member of the clergy to serve them until a full time pastor can be employed.

Mr. Collins provides spirited and thought provoking weekly sermons that have brought out large and appreciative audiences.

In a short biographical sketch of his life the Rev. Collins revealed, "I was born in Chicago 68 years ago. I was brought up a Methodist and trained in Methodist schools, Lawrence College, Appleton, Wisconsin, and Garrett Theological Seminary, Evanston, Illinois. In 1919 I was ordained a Congregational minister."

I was pastor of the following Congregational Churches: First Congregational, Oak Lawn, Illinois; First Congregational, Chicago, Illinois; First Congregational, Naperville, Illinois; First Congregational, St. Johns, Michigan; South Congregational, Grand Rapids, Michigan; and First Congregational, Kenosha, Wisconsin.

In 1959 I retired from the ministry, and we moved to Greenville to live. Since then I have served our churches in Stanton and in Carson City as "interim pastor" and have supplied a number of pulpits in this part of Michigan.

Presently I am the "Parish Visitor" of the Congregational Church in Greenville. That gives me worth while work to do during the week, but leaves me free on Sundays to supply pulpits.

C. H. Runciman Flies to Buy Beans in Early Days

Carl H. Runciman, left, in the picture, is shown as he looked when he came to Lowell 45 years ago after taking over the Jake-way Elevator. Pictured with him is Charles Stocking, World War I pilot. "Runcim" a showman and super salesman right from the beginning, brought attention to himself and his business by flying from Lowell to the Cam Hefferan farm, 2½ miles northwest of Parnell, to make an offer on the bean crop.

Carl Runciman was feted on Monday of this week on the anniversary of his 45th year in business in Lowell. Coffee and cake was served to his many friends who came from miles around to offer best wishes on this occasion.

It was a day for reminiscing, and one such memory was the occasion when he hired Charles Stocking, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Stocking, a local business man, to fly him in his plane from Lowell to the Hefferan farm. "Runcim" recalls the trip well, especially the spiraling drop, a real thriller to land in the field that "Cam" had marked with newspapers held down with stones.

But the Runciman Co. got the desired effect. Farmers came from miles around to see the airplane and talk with young Runciman who was just getting started in a very competitive business of buying the products of the area farms. As close as can be figured, this picture was taken August 20, 1915.

In another bit of remembering Monday, Mrs. Runciman recalls well, coming to Lowell in the middle of February in weather about like this year from Grosse Isle, part of the city of Detroit, on the train with all their household goods and their two children, Carl, Jr. and Jane. Mr. Runciman had been here about three weeks. This was quite a move from being superintendent of schools in Grosse Isle, a metropolitan area, to this small community, but his success speaks for itself.

Many might think that Mr. Runciman was Lowell's oldest businessman, but Merle W. Gee, who stopped in to offer his greetings, revealed that he started his hardware store on Lowell's Main St. in 1914.

Life-long Lowell Resident

Mr. O'Brien, who was born on August 7, 1882, lived on 28th Street, Route 2, Lowell. He had no survivors.

Services Held for Local Businessman's Mother

Funeral services were held at the Roth Funeral Home on Monday afternoon for Mrs. Margaret W. Howard, aged 91, who passed away Friday, at a local nursing home.

Rev. J. Marion DeVinney, pastor of the Lowell Methodist Church officiated at the services. Burial was made in Oakwood Cemetery.

She was born March 14, 1871, in Dundee, Scotland, and came to America with her father after her mother died. They settled in Dundee, Illinois, but later made their home in Chicago, Illinois.

Mrs. Howard had been a member of the Shrine and Order of the Eastern Star Chapters in Chicago for the past 60 years. She came to Lowell 21 years ago to make her home with her son, local businessman, A. B. (Curly) Howard.

Besides her son, she is survived by two grandchildren.

Arrows Bow to Grandville at Home

The Lowell Red Arrows lost a heart-breaker Tuesday as they were defeated 60-56 on the home court.

The local team shot a fairly low 23 percent in the first half and only managed to get the ball through the hoop 7 times on field goals and 7 times on free throws.

In the second half the Arrows looked like a brand new ball club and with the aid of Don Dilly with 10 and Rick Beimers with 6 the Arrows took the lead with a minute left and led 43-41 at the end of the third quarter. Twelve fouls in the last quarter and the accurate shooting of the Bulldogs enabled them to take a three point lead in the latter part of the quarter, and the Arrows couldn't over come the lead.

Lowell 9 12 22 13-56
Grandville 18 14 9 19-60

Don Dilly led all scorers with 18 followed by Rick Beimers with 12.

The Lowell JV's who in their first meeting with the Bulldogs lost in overtime put on a fine display of ball handling to defeat the Bulldogs 60-55. Mike McMahon led all scorers with 19 followed by Bob Elzinga with 18, Paul Kropf and Bob Griffen with 11 and 10, and Terry Abel with 8.

Veterinarians Needed to Solve World Public Health Problems

Veterinarians are badly needed in many countries of the world to combat mounting public health problems, according to the chief of the Veterinary Public Health Service.

In India, he said, there are about 150 million animals, but only about one-third of these are produced. The rest are actually "sacrificed cows," which roam the streets destroying the countryside and carrying all types of diseases.

India, he noted, has as many cattle walking the streets as the total number of cattle in all the Americas, but does not have enough meat to feed its people.

Red China, he said, has had to recently give up its animal by-product because there is not enough food for the people, let alone cattle.

There was a big meat industry in the Congo until it gained its independence, he stated. Now, because these animals are being slaughtered or are dying of diseases, the industry has been reduced to practically nothing, he continued.

He also pointed out that hoof and mouth disease in cattle, sheep and swine in South America is preventing that vast country from exporting meat. Because it cannot export to its full capacity, South America, therefore, cannot import all of the products it needs.

Russia, he said, has a big breeding problem, and Africa is slipping backward because of the ravages of sleeping sickness.

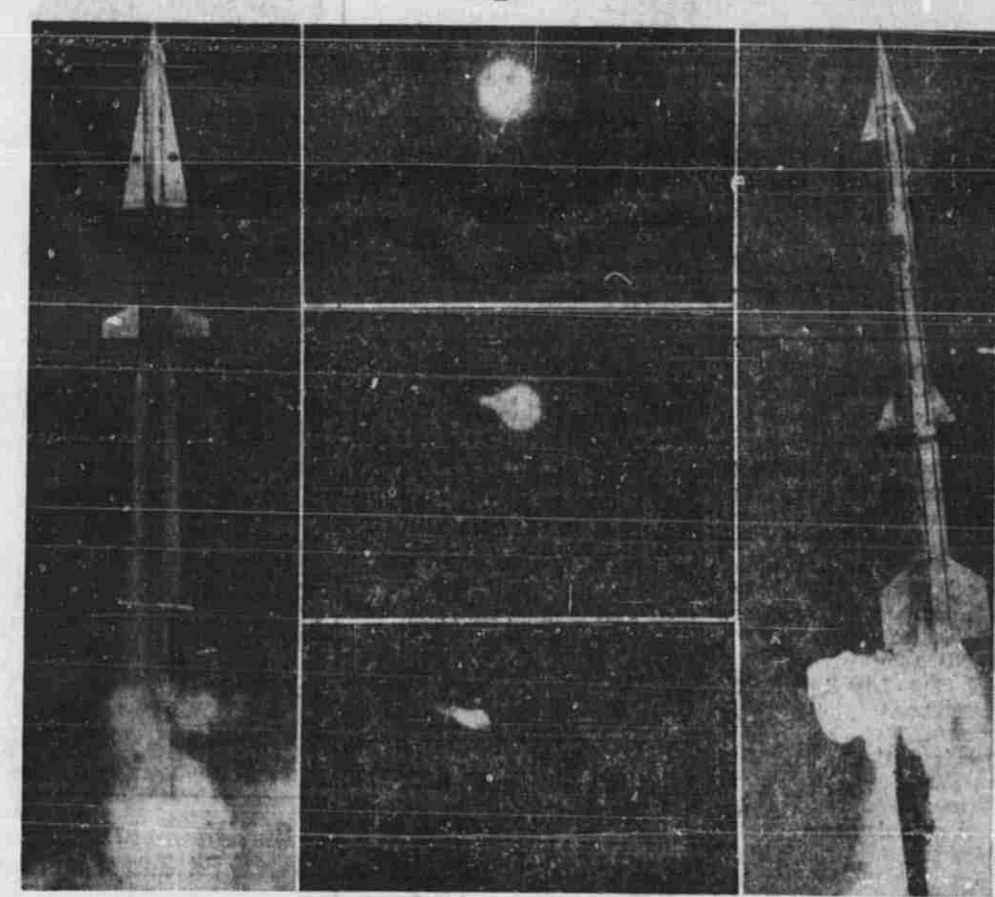

Speaking of Africa, he said, there were only four veterinary schools in the entire country, and none in West Africa. He added, hopefully, that the MSU project in Nigeria may eventually provide some sort of veterinary training for West Africa.

What this all boils down to, said Dr. Steele, is that we need more than just a handful of veterinarians in overseas programs. We need professional know-how, as well as money, to assist other nations of the world establish preventive medical programs to help solve their public health problems.

Children Need Limitations Set By Parents

Many present-day juvenile delinquency stems from the fact that parents fail to set boundaries limits for their children during their formative years, says Marie Hartwig, University of Michigan supervisor of physical education for women. "Some children can fare quite well within the framework of broad limitations, whereas others must have very specific boundaries," says Miss Hartwig. "Because of the nature of their personality, some children need very strong authoritarian leadership until such time as they are able to operate within their ability to operate with in a democratic framework."

Arrow Defense Fails to Come Through; Downed By Cedar Springs, 82-56

Lowell's on again-off again basketball team will be seeking to return to the winning trail this Friday February 2, when they travel to Sparta. The Arrows had yet to win a game away this season. In the last meeting of the two clubs the local team defeated Sparta 68-65. Second team play begins at 7. Cedar Springs Red Hawks hooped in 39 points in the second and third periods of last week's league contest to highlight their 82-56 conquest of Lowell. Capitalizing in an alert defense and shoddy passing by their opponents, the Red Hawks tallied 20 points in the first and second quarter to lead 40-19 at intermission.

The Lowell boys just couldn't get their defense to click, and to add to their troubles they lost the ball 25 times on bad passes, violations and fumbles.
Dilly led the Arrows with 15 points followed by Lloyd Slack with 11.

Sandra J. Bean To Wed Feb. 17

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bean, of Rural Route, Lowell, wish to announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sandra Jane to Richard D. Ouan.

Miss Bean and her fiancé are making plans for a February 17 wedding.

BUCK SHOT

by Norman Gotschall
Goose Wittenbach gave his old coach heck this week-end for not keeping up with his writing chores.

We have just finished "Trout Madness" by Robert Traver who is the Upper Peninsula author who penned "Anatomy of a Murder." This book provides a great education for wives whose husbands are afflicted by "fishing madness." It is also entertaining for men to read about another with a similar disease. Since the book costs $4.95 I would suggest you borrow it from Bob Perry (as soon as I get it back).

Last week we devised a new warning system for a fish box. It consists of a large amount of paraffin in a wide mantle with a wick in the center so that it bums like a candle. We explained to coaches Smith and Pierce that this would be more economical and quiet. Alas! There is jealousy even among good friends! Both of these fellows poked fun for most of the afternoon. The nicest thing they said was that it simply would not be warm enough. We regret to say that part of their predictions were true we would not recommend this for other fishermen — it is dangerous. We tried it out on the pond and forty-three fishermen congregated to keep warm. This weight-coupled with the fact that the heat was so intense the ice melted thin, makes for very dangerous fishing.

Some nights you can't make a basket, but Cedar didn't have any trouble. They made 28 out of 44 free shots to add insult to injury. Cedar is a much improved team and deserves a lot of credit.

The most improved teams this year are Gerry Smith's 9th grade and Jack Kempler's 7th. Both teams have shown hustle, breaking, and scoring power. Good times are ahead for basketball in Lowell. These teams will well deserve room to flex their talent, and we (for one family) are very willing to have taxes raised so that these boys and other students will have better chances for a better education.

Freshmen—JV's Win

The Little Arrows coached by Gerald Smith moved into undisputed first place by defeating Cedar Springs JV's 61-39. Bob Elzinga paced the attack with 22 followed by Terry Abel and Bob Griffin with 12 each.

The Lowell freshmen led by Duane McIver with 25, Dick Rollins with 12 and Kurt Beimers, defeated the Cedar Freshmen 66-22.
