

Mrs. Richard (Trudy) Schlernitzauer, 514 N. Monroe, returned home Monday afternoon from a three-day pistol shoot at Sparrows Point, Md., lugging eight of the ten trophies she garnered at the match, Mrs. Schlernitzauer's team, which includes three women from the Detroit area, but which is registered with the Lowell Rifle and Pistol Club, broke the National Women's Center-fire Record by seven points after piling up 1022 points out of a possible 1200. Approximately 550 people competed in the match. As an individual, Mrs. Schlernitzauer also shot a 2516 aggregate out of a possible 2700. The Lowell team now holds three national records: the .22 callber indoor, the .38 indoor, and the .38 outdoor marks for women. Mrs. Schlernitzauer, the only member of her team to have achieved a Master's ranking in competition, also holds the Indoor Gallery National Match Course Record with a score of 290 out of a possible 300. The Lowell woman is in her third years of

Five Lovely Girls Named As 1962 Showboat Royalty

Rhinestones, chiffon, and nervousness set the mood at the annual Showboat kick-off meeting, held June 20, in the Runciman Elementary Building Before an estimated audience of 75 Showboat committeemen, ten lovely girls wore their most dazzling formal attire, flashed their prettiest smiles at the judges, and competed for the title of Queen of the 1962 Lowell Showboat, Emceeing the event was Showboat Endman, Steve Nisbet, who tossed many an unexpected question at each of the contestants as the judges rated the girls on the basis of appearance, speaking ability, and poise.

Those competing were Susan ns have made many friends, who Mildred Gronewold, Sharon Kingsley, Judy Koewers, Phyllis Rose, Sandra Rose, Mary Lou Vaughn and Shirley Zigmont, Busy at the judges' table were Monroe MacPherson of Radio station WION, George Morski, Sunday magazine editor of the Grand Miss Jean Gordon of WOOD-TV.

Rockford Quartet Sings

After the contestants had been interviewed, and while the judges were tallying up the final results, Chorus Director Bruce Walter introduced the Rockford Rambeaus, 1962 Junior Barbershop Champions of Michigan, who entertained the crowd with four numbers.

At this time 1961 Showboat Queen Karlene Detmers also took the stage to thank everyone who had made her tenure as Showboat representative possible. "The year," Karlene said, "was just great!"

Then, as tension mounted, the new members of the 1962 Queen's Court were announced. Selected by the judges to help with Show boat promotion were Mary Lou Vaughn, Phyllis Rose, Judy Koewers and Sandy Rose,

And at the climax of the eve ning, Shirley Zigmont was presented to the audience as the new Showboat Queen,
