This Was The Year That Was: A Review of Lowell Events Throughout '63

On June 15, an early-morning fire, started by a spark from a sorting machine belt, broke out in the Runciman Co, bean elevator on Broadway St, near the railroad tracks. The $500,000 fire burned out of control for two hours until equipment from Saranac, Ada, Ionia, Cascade and Grattan could be brought to the scene to aid Lowell firefighters in flooding out the flames, Hundreds of spectators were drawn to the scene by the towering column of smoke and flame which was visible miles away. Shortly after the fire was prought under control, the Runciman Co, announced plans to rebuild the elevator facility.

NIOR HIGH SCHOOL DWELL AREA SCHOOLS

Lowell High School grapplers took top honors at the Tri-River Wrestling Conference in Cedar Springs last February, The local mat men chalked up a score of 107 points to Cedar's 90, and the victory enabled them to bring home the much-coveted trophy for the high school's new trophy case, Pictured are (front) Tom Davis, Barry Hunt, Doug Olin (capt.), Gordon Meyers, Ron Hostetler, and Bruce Odell; (second row) Jerry Lipscomb, Gary Kropf, Mike Foss, Bruce Rittenger, Jim Boyd, and Mike Serne. Don Dilly, a former Lowell High School athlete now a member of the University of Indiana football team. At the end of the fall sea-body was discovered 150 feet downstream by Lowell firemen,

The Lowell Light and Power Company's new garage-and-office building on Riverside Drive went into use in August, Behind the $14,000 structure stands the new transformer and sub-station complex through which electric power from the Wolverine Electric Cooperative is fed into the Lowell lines.

Lowell's new Senior High School was dedicated in October to Walter W. Gumser, right, with a plaque which read: "This builds ing is dedicated to the educational standards established in this community from 1026-1860 by its Superintendent of Schools, Walter W. Gumser." A new, 30-foot steeple for the Lowell Congregational Church was lifted into place by a crane in October, replacing the building's original steeple, which had been torn down in 1925 after it had been damaged by high winds.

Senior High School building, which opened its doors to students for the first time last fall. An Open House in August gave the public a chance to inspect the million-dollar structure which had been voted into being by one vote in 1962. The cost of the school averaged out to $10.90 a square foot, $3.00 less than the national average for similar schools. Principal features of the new building are a 300-seat auditorium, a physical education wing, a new library, an industrial arts shop, and a ceramic-tiled entrance lobby

- 1 O God, our help in ages past, Our hope for years to come, Our shelter from the stormy blast, And our eternal home.
- 2 Under the shadow of Thy throne Thy saints have dwelt secure: Sufficient is Thine arm alone, And our defense is sure.
- 3 Before the hills in order stood, Or earth received her frame, From everlasting Thou art God, To endless years the same.
- 4 A thousand ages in Thy sight Are like an evening gone, Short as the watch that ends the night Before the rising sun.
- 5 Time, like an ever-rolling stream, Bears all its sons away; They fly forgotten, as a dream Dies at the opening day.
- 6 O God, our help in ages past, Our hope for years to come, Be Thou our guard while troubles last, And our eternal home.
