Hounds, Hunters, and Cottontails

Take a crisp winter day with a trace of fresh snow, round up a partner or two, add a couple of eager beagles and you have the ingredients for a great cottontail chaser. No doubt about it, rabbit hunting is a hard sport to beat, and through Mar. 1 thousands of nimrods will be going where the action is in and along areas where the cover is thickagt. Since rabbits usually run in regular circles, hunters with dogs find it best to stay at the spot where the chase begins, letting their animals move cottontails back to this starting point. The successful hunter without dogs picks out a single track and follows it slowly and carefully to close in on his quarry .-- Mich. Dept. of Conservation

No doubt everyone has, from time to time, placed his hand over his heart and felt its beat-beat and while doing so has marvelled at the working of this wonderful organ. As long as that heart keeps on with its beat-beat-beat all is well, but when it stops beating death comes suddenly.

However, death is not the only thing that comes when the heart stops beating. The Bible tells us that we meet God and that we enter eternity. That surely is a momentous and staggering thought!

Today, or tonight while you are sleeping, your heart may suddenly stop. Then what? Will you at that moment appear terrified before God because your sins are unforgiven? That would be terrible! Or would you appear before God as His dear child whose sins are all forgiven because you have repented and have placed your faith in Jesus Christ as your personal Savior?

For the Christian it is as a certain gospel song puts it: "Every heartbeat brings me nearer home." To His disciples Jesus said, "Let not your heart be troubled . . . I go to prepare a place for you." Is Christ preparing a place for you? Do your be--Pastor H. Buikema long to Him?
