

Rising school costs are discussed

The high costs of operating the school system and the proposed teacher's salary schedule for the 1964-65 school year was discussed at the meeting of the Board of Education on Monday night.

Among the high costs reviewed was the big increase in heating with gas in the junior high and the intermediate building. Bills are also running higher than engineer's estimates on the new high school. Investigation of the big jump in heating costs found some fuel wasting practices among the faculty and some faulty valves that were repaired.

Review hot lunch costs
The operation costs of the hot lunch program were covered in the board agenda. Superintendent Nisbet revealed that operation of a hot lunch program on a small scale, such as in the Alto Elementary school, was extremely costly. He reported that an average of 86 meals a day were served in the Alto school in December and 88 a day in January. Labor costs per meal here ran 21 cents per meal out of the 30 cents charged. This is nearly double the cost in the Runciman Elementary where an average of 317 meals were served in December and 292 in January, for an average labor cost per meal of only 12 cents.

The high school costs were slightly higher with an average of 175 meals per day in December and 178 in January, for an average labor cost in December of 15 cents and 18 cents in January. Labor costs are figured at 50 per cent for efficient operation.

In further analysis of costs, the operation of the book store was studied by the board; biggest problem reported by the superintendent was delinquent accounts which amount to $2,343.17. All parents with delinquent book accounts are being requested to appear at the school to explain their failure to pay.

High school building fund
A balance of $22,669.96 was reported in the high school building and site account. Still needed is equipment and supplies estimated to cost $7,149.50.

The Alto School building and site account has a balance of $5,314.16, still available for needed improvements.

More busses needed
The superintendent proposed that bids be taken in March for three new school busses to replace units purchased in 1951-52 and 54. The larger busses now being ordered would increase seating capacity in the three busses by 42 seats.

A new carry-all to haul special education pupils to Grand Rapids is also needed.

The board also will take bids on the Bennett school on Vergennes Street, four miles northwest of town, on Monday, March 9. The school is built on a 2 acre plot.

SECOND LENTEN PROGRAM AT CONGREGATIONAL

The second special lenten service will be held on Sunday evening, February 23 at 7:30 p. m. in the Congregational Church. Appearing Sunday will be Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Olson of Birmingham, Michigan, who will have as subject topic, "Our Observations on 'The Southern Tour'".

The service will be illustrated with colored slides telling the story of a United Church Tour to the historic AMA schools and the related work of the Board of Homeland Ministries.

Capacity crowd

Sparta to share title

The Red Arrows of Lowell ran into a fired up basketball five from Sparta last Friday evening and came out on the short end of a high scoring contest 94-90.

The game was played before a near capacity crowd of an estimated 1600 enthusiastic fans. The capacity for the local gymnasium is set at around the figure of 1800. Many of the local fans could be seen viewing the game from the visitors side as the Lowell side of the gym was filled near to capacity.

Grab Quick Lead

The ball game was one of hot spells and cold spells intertwined throughout the game. The Red Arrows jumped off to a quick 12-7 lead only to find themselves trailing 24-14 in approximately the next two minutes of game time.

In another hot spurt the Arrows closed the gap to 24-23 by the end of the first quarter and received a standing ovation as they came off the floor between quarters.

The first quarter also found both teams getting themselves into serious foul trouble which was to play a vital role in the final outcome of the game.

16 Foul Shots

Tim Nelson appeared to be the best target for the Arrow guards to find open throughout play during the first half and he was continually fouled as he attempted to lay up a shot. Sparta rotated two men in the center position to help hold the tall 6'6" center from scoring even if it meant causing a foul.

In the course of play Nelson had 16 foul shot attempts in the first half and cashed in on 9. He went off the floor at half-time with 25 points and the team led Sparta by a 52-47 score which gave none a feeling of relief in the game.

Bob Elzinga had a hot first quarter scoring nine points but ran into foul trouble serious enough to warrant benching him by Coach Kempker to save him for service later in the game.

The second half of play got underway and saw each team trade shot for shot in a dual of deadly accuracy on shots. Sparta received a series of terrific long scoring shots from its two guards, Fryear and Hyde, as they appeared unable to be stopped from some 30 to 40 feet out.

Each team got deeper into foul trouble as the quarter moved along and good defensive play almost became pointless as neither team could risk another foul. The third quarter play ended with Lowell grasping into a 72-71 extremely shaky lead.

Rollins Scores 8

The fourth quarter saw Elzinga back into the game for the first time since early in the second quarter. Each team again exchanged point for point in a torrid pace. With McIver and Abel unable to find the range in their usual sharp shooting type of play, Lowell was unable to move ahead to stay. Elzinga very quickly was called for his fifth foul and was rapidly followed by Nelson and later by Kropf to the bench.

Dick Rollins, filling in for foul-ridden Elzinga, played an outstanding game in helping keep the team in balance and by his scoring of 8 crucial points, each basket coming when Lowell found themselves on the short end of the score.

Fouls Costly

The score ended 94-90 as Lowell tried desperately to hang on but faded in the closing seconds. Nelson ended the game with 32 points to lead both clubs and Fairchild ended with 30 for Sparta as he almost singlehandedly kept Sparta in the game with his early spurts before Fryear and Hyde started clicking for their 17 and 18 points, respectively.

Lowell shot 44 per cent from the floor as compared to Sparta's 57 per cent. The Red Arrows were called for 17 fouls to Sparta's 6 in the last half, which undoubtedly made a considerable difference.

The Red Arrows will play Belding this Friday and will be hoping for a victory here at home and will also be waiting to hear whether or not Comstock Park will be able to knock off Sparta. If both Lowell and Sparta win Friday night, each will become a co-champion of the Tri-River conference this year.

Down Ionia 77-68

In the Tuesday night game at Ionia, the Red Arrows, feeling a letdown after the Sparta game, came out with a 77-68 victory.

McIver led the Lowell attack with 20 points and was followed by Nelson and Kropf with 18 and 17 points respectively.

Elzinga with 9, Rollins with 6, Walter with 4 and Abel's 3 points rounded out the scoring. Rollins gained in well at a guard position when Elzinga found himself in foul trouble.

Movatt and Kowatch led Ionia with 25 and 22 respectively.

JV's Roll

Lowell's Junior Varsity rolled up a record score against Ionia on Tuesday night defeating them 90-76.

High point man was Dave Wessell with 26, Brad Fonger 21, Paul Hayward 16, and Jim Malcolm 14.

The junior arrows got 16 out of 31 free throws for 52 per cent. The game set a record for the most points scored in any game played by the JV's.

The JV's also had a good night against Sparta last Friday when they defeated them 67-41. Coach Bezie used every member of the squad.

High point man was Jim Malcolm with 16, Joe Melle 14, Dave Wessell 13, and Paul Hayward 12.

Juvenile services director addresses Women's Club

Robert Lewis, assistant director of Kent County Juvenile services and State president of the Juvenile Court Officers' Association was the very interesting speaker at the Lowell Women's Club meeting on Wednesday, February 12.

He told of the work of the court with juvenile delinquents under 17-years-old. Because of home environment many children are placed in foster homes or training schools; always keeping in mind what is best for the individual child.

In Child Haven, neglected and homeless children are cared for. Funds are badly needed to complete the furnishing of the Kent County Juvenile Home chapel, and the women's club made a donation to this cause.

From a beautiful table with decorations suitable for the Valentine season, refreshments were served by Mrs. Yates and Mrs. Smith.

Citizens protest closing street

At the City Council meeting on Monday evening several citizens who are residents of Lafayette Street were present to protest at the public hearing the closing of the street to erect permanent seats.

The Showboat several weeks ago requested the council to close the street so that more comfortable permanent seating could be erected.

Carl Smith, a resident of the street presented a petition from 70 per cent of the residents of the street and was spokesman for the group. In his protest, he said that Showboat costs him money every year because of the crowds who prevent his customers from getting to the store. Ed Yager, also a resident, protested that it is too bad to close the street all year for such a few days of Showboat.

Maurice Alexander, a resident of Lafayette Street, said that he wants to keep the street open to allow traffic to avoid going between the two elementary schools; he also stated that he wanted Showboat continued and thought that some other solution might be found.

Sees End of Showboat

Frank Stephens, president of Showboat Inc., said that the closing of the street was necessary to enable Showboat to continue. If the street could not be closed it would be impossible to improve the seating, and without some improvements the show would have to be discontinued.

Leonard Jackson, director of Showboat Inc., told the meeting that the board feels that better talent and improved seating must be found if Showboat is to be kept going in Lowell. Closing of the street was a question the council would have to weigh and decide whether it was better to not have Showboat, or close the street and inconvenience the residents of the north part of the street.

Wendell Berman, developer of Valley Vista plat on the west side of the city, was present and he stated that the reason he came to Lowell was because he heard of it through Showboat. He went on to say that the value of Showboat to the city was far more than the dollars that come in during the week.

Jay Bolens, who is a businessman, stated that he felt the residents of the street should be more important than Showboat and that some other way would have to be found.

The council continued the hearing over to the next meeting on Monday, March 3, when a decision will be reached.

Request Sewer Extension

A request for extension of the sanitary sewer west from West Street to the new Azzarello Chevrolet Garage under construction was discussed. The city manager proposed an assessment district which would build the 900 feet of sewer, and charge the cost to the adjacent property owners.

The city would participate to the extent of paying for over-sizing the sewer to 12 inch. A hearing for the special assessment district will be held at the next Council meeting.

Ask Bids

The council approved the asking of bids to remodel the rear portion of the city hall to allow all the fire equipment to be housed in this building.

Missionary to speak at Lowell Baptist Church

Wednesday, February 26, at the Lowell Baptist Church at 7:30 p. m. a missionary from Tilburg, Holland, will be showing a film strip on "The inroads of liberalism and catholicism in that country," as contrasted to the teaching of the Bible.

These four ladies who are the only surviving charter members of the Vergennes Cooperative Club are giving invaluable assistance in the commemoration of the Fiftieth anniversary year of this very active woman's rural area organization.

Each month throughout the year as the club meets on the first Thursday afternoon, the programs are planned around the history and activities of the members down through the years.

In January, Mrs. Jessie Rogers was in charge of the program entitled "Turn Back the Clock"

Her theme was very well handled and many fascinating recollections provided those present with a great deal of information and appreciation for the founders and their motives, inspirations and progress.

"Of course Time cannot be recalled" said Mrs. Rogers "however memory can be turned back and we can profit by the past experiences and thereby give appreciation to our heritage."

This meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Francis Closton and Mrs. Rogers was able to tell some of the history of the home and site of Lincoln Lake Ave.

February sixth, the meeting took place at the home of Mrs. Marion Yates on Vergennes Road.

Mrs. Florence Myckowiak was program chairman. With "World War I years" as the assignment "Mrs. Mike" gave names of soldiers from the area who participated in the war, showed pictures and souvenirs of the time and gave a most interesting account of the part the ladies were obliged to contribute through the canning, sewing and sacrifice of certain foods and conveniences because of shortages.

Some recipes were shown, accounts of experiences due to these scarce commodities were shared, a few songs of the period were sung and Mrs. Laura Ford served a delicious molasses cake made from a recipe used during the time of sugar and flour shortage. We were reminded what satisfactory food we were privileged to eat in spite of the substitutes necessary for their preparation.

Any and all of the readers in this area who are concerned with, and interested in the history of the Vergennes Cooperative Club will want to follow throughout the year these accounts of the past and the plans which are being formulated for future projects which are underway.

At the last meeting of the men's club, those present were asked to bring two guests with them. All members are urged to attend this important meeting.

139 failed to re-register in Ada Township

The Ada Township Clerk reports that at the close of registration on February 3, 1964, there were 139 voters in Ada Township.

This was 139 less than in December, 1963, at which time 279 voters who had not voted for two years in County, Township, or State elections, were notified by card and were requested to return the card to be reinstated.

Due to either a "don't care" attitude or an oversight, these 139 voters did not return these cards nor come in before the registrar. This means that most of these 139 will not be able to vote in the Forest Hills school election of March 4.

Harold Williams, East Kent District Director and Lester Mark attended the State Soil Future Farmers, February 11.

Ray Peterson, Algona twp., expects to use a single cross hybrid corn variety this year. He had a yield of 140 bushels of shelled corn on one field last year from a single cross variety. Although pollination was not as good on the field borders. Soil conservation management over the past several years helped to bring about the maximum yield of the potential bred into the variety.

Object... Success

I was born and raised in a family of moderate means. Looking back at my life I think I could have done better with the opportunities offered to me. How through a long chain of events, I am married to a fine girl and we have four children.

Three years ago I was offered and accepted a job of a supervisory capacity in a factory which I think I had earned because of many years of hard work and an earnest desire to better myself. The job seemed secure and things were looking up financially so we went into debt for a moderately priced home and a used car.

As it so often happens today with automation and industrial advances, a shake-up hit our plant and I lost my job. I am fully aware that automation is here to stay because of the standard of living and the population explosion in this country.

This past year has been rough. My wife has gone out to work, she doesn't want to go on welfare relief and neither do I. Our children are wearing hand me downs and the furniture is getting shabby. I am constantly seeking work up between my baby sitting and scrubbing at home.

I realize now, if I had finished high school, I could have easily obtained an education enabling me to become a skilled laborer. I am still hopeful of finding employment soon.

You find, "success is where you lay it," but take it from me, "it begins in high school and yourself!"
Yours truly, J.T.R.

Next week another interesting letter will appear in this column. Unable to walk her first year, she educated herself and went on to become successful in her endeavors because of her will to succeed. If you are interested, please write to "Object Success" with your story. Box 128, Lowell, Mich.

Always Cash On Tap
 WITH A LOWELL SAVINGS & LOAN OPEN END MORTGAGE
 Almost everyone realizes that you build equity in your home as you make monthly payments on your mortgage. But many think that this equity must be tied up for the term of the mortgage.
 Not so with the Lowell Savings & Loan financing plan. The equity you build in your home can be "tapped"—reconverted to cash when you need it. By using the "Open End" provision, you can usually borrow up to 100% of the original loan at a later date for any worthwhile purpose.
 And this without the high cost of refinancing... without red tape, its all part of the original loan. Get the details today.

Suggestion easier with younger child
U-M study indicates
 Can parents make a child talk himself into liking, say, brown bread?
 University of Michigan psychologists tried it with a group of retarded children and found: When they designed the experiment in such a way that the children said repeatedly "I like the brown bread" and were rewarded for having said it, the younger children ate more brown bread, but the older group ate less brown bread and more white bread.
 When the researchers simply told the children repeatedly "You like brown bread" and rewarded them for paying attention, the older group showed no increase in their brown bread consumption, whereas the younger children ate considerably more brown bread and showed a smaller increase in white bread consumption.
 One implication, broadly stated, is that such types of manipulation work with young children but generate some degree of counteraction among older children.
 The significance is this: The relationships between what a person says and what he does are not so simple as they appear to be. In today's society people learn early to spot and resist, even rebel against, any obvious attempt to change their behavior. Such reaction (or counteraction) by behavioral scientists in laboratory had another purpose: to test the theory that the form of a decrease in brown bread consumption and a more than compensatory increase in white bread consumption is expected to show less sophistication than normal children in recognizing the attempted manipulation as such. There was no persuasion or communication concerning the merits of brown bread, however.
 On experiment, using picture slides and tape-recorded questions, the children were asked to say repeatedly "I like the brown bread." Another experiment, using some of the same children, repeated the tape-recorded statement "You like brown bread."
 Results of the experiments produced a significant increase in brown bread consumption in the younger group with a mean age of 10.3. A significant but smaller increase in white bread consumption also appeared in the "You like brown bread" experiment.
 Neither experiment affected significantly the consumption of brown bread of the older group with a mean age of 14.3. But there was a decrease of brown bread consumption in the "I like the brown bread" experiment. This along with the significant increase in white bread consumption and the detailed examination of individual records, indicated the presence of "counter-control" in the older group.
 Darryl J. Bem, a graduate student, and David M. Carlson, a senior, collaborated with Lane in the study.

GULLIBES TRAVELS TAKE IN WEST

The Cadillac Cowboys, by Glendon Swarthout. Random House, 176 pp. $4.95.

Mr and Mrs Ho and Thurl, Route 3, Lowell, whose son, Joel, is a freshman, are among parents of Kalamazoo College students who have made plans to attend the second annual Parents' Day, slated February 22 on campus. Panel programs, a luncheon, and a general meeting of parents are among events planned, according to Frederick E. Bradford, faculty representative to the Parents' Association and assistant director of development at the college.

The College's recently inaugurated Foreign Study, Career Service, and Senior Research programs will be outlined by its directors. Dr. Weimer K. Hicks, College president, will speak briefly to parents and also act as moderator for a panel discussion on "Student Life and Activities." Panelists will be college administrators and faculty members.

So our happy pal Cadell gets tangled up with a 12-gallon cowbilly, Eddie Bud Boyd, right there in the glaring Arizona sunset of federal subsidies, duty doggies and early American seahags.

It seems this horseless, broad-shouldered fellow is a common salesman who recently has made $700,000 on a rising cattle market to escape debts. He is an adventurer, a marriage to a bare-foot creature from Utah and his desire for the prodigious type woman.

The only trouble is that podder Boyd, a naive innocent, gets clubbed by (a) Easterners who have invaded our heroic Western wastelands.

There Is A Fountain

William Cowper

There is a fountain filled with blood Drawn from Immanuel's veins;
And sinners, plunged beneath that flood, Lose all their guilty stains.

The dying thief rejoiced to see That fountain in his day;
And there may I, though vile as he, Wash all my sins away.

Dear dying Lamb, Thy precious blood Shall never lose its power,
Till all the ransomed church of God Be saved, to sin no more.

This is a wonderful gospel song stressing the atonement of Christ on Calvary. We sing it often at our Sunday services. We invite you to worship with us. And don't forget our very important evening service at 7:30 P.M. every Sunday evening.

Arla Bovee is honor student

Arla Lee Bovee, a 16-year-old 11th grade student at Highland High School in Anderson, Indiana, was given the honor last week of becoming a member of the National Honor Society.

She is the daughter of Janet and Glendon Bovee, former Lowell residents and business associates, who moved to Indiana five years ago. Arla attended Lowell Elementary school and has many friends in this area.

A student is selected to the National Honor Society on the qualifications of scholarship, character, leadership and service. Membership is limited to students who maintain a "B" average or better. Only 72 students hold membership at Highland, which has an enrollment of over 1,000 students.

Arla will receive a NHS medal, on a chain, with the scholastic torch emblazoned upon it.

Besides being an honor student, Arla is a member of the Highland Scots' band. She plays the bag pipes for the group, which wear authentic uniforms imported from Scotland. She is also a student assistant in the physical education department, and hopes to enter Michigan State University after graduation for a career in this field.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Bovee of Route 3, Lowell, are the proud grandparents of the honored student.
