hazardous; order signals installed

The Michigan Public Service Commission has ordered the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company to install automatic flashing-light signals at it crossing with Vergennes Road in Vergennes Township of Kent County. The order was issued subsequent to an inspection of the crossing by PSC staff, along with representatives of the Kent County Road Commission, the railroad company and a resident of the area

"There is now no automatic protective device at this crossing, the scene of a fatal accident." Peter B. Spivak, Commission Chairman, said. "It is the opinion of the Commission that, in view of existing hazards, automatic equipment is called for if crossing protection is to be commensurate with the safety standards established by the Commission."

Vergennes Road extends between Pettis Avenue on the West and Flat River Drive on the east and intersects with Lincoin Lake Avenue some 700 feet east of the crossing. The Commission investigation revealed that because of the paralleling courses of Lincoln Lake Avenue and the railraod track it is difficult for an eastbound Vergennes Road motorist to distinguish between the headlight of a southbound Lincoln Lake Ave nue vehicle and the headlight of a southbound locomotive. THE LOWELL LEDGER, SEPT. 14, 1967

Life often presents us with a choice of evils rather than of good. -Colton

Before we get into the big-time political arena next year the one really big domestic question to get the play will probably be: How to save our cities. What galls is that here again government spending will be touted as the only panacea. This is particularly irritating since we see now that the brave talk some months are of out talk some months ago, of cut-ting Presidential spending, has evaporated into thin air. No letdown in government largess can be anticipated; even civilian employment in government has increased over 112,000 since last summer. Where ever will we draw the line?

In truth, can we cure our urban cancer without running to Uncle Sam for more and more gargantuan fistfuls of expensive public programs? Edward Logue, Administrator of Rede velopment, City of Boston, observes that inner city decay comes about in great measure because business wealth and power increasingly ignores the land, the political boundaries and the pervasive decay its own technology has accelerated. When banks redline a blighted area they contribute to the cumulative loss of confidence "that can change a whole city's faith in itself." Logue asks us to realize what we do when we rule entire sections of a community off limits. He points out that far too many who dominate our business economy merely use the city, grow up, prosper and die without every having been a citizen in the Athenian sense. There is, of course, room for government where only it-however cumbersome-can be effective: It can educate millions in the American city slums. Where soundly conceived and properly tax-dollared, it can acceptably develop better housing. Unless the business firms that have cloistered themselves in the suburbs stop eliminating themselves the long arm of government will of course be forced to do much more.

ness sector, often in a beautifully landscaped rural park, be permitted to discharge its moral obligation to the problems of millions of forsaken people concentrated in the core city, Government inevitably must act where others fail to do so.

Unfortunately the price is scandalously prohibitive and the intricacies of pork-barrel politics destroys its capacity for effective action.

like no other Charger you've ever seen. Brand, spanking new from road to roof. Complete with disappearing headlights. Foam-padded bucket seats up front. And eager, economical power from a standard V8 engine. One new touch is mandy pockets in the doors for the things that get in your way when you travel. Here's a Dodge that's even a joy to think about.

'68 MONACO

The super-plesh Dodge every year, and especially for 1968. Here's a car that'll spail you for everything else. With V8 power-the slickest, smoothest automatic transmission you've ever said "go" to-and every luxury touch a car this big and this good-looking should have. And yet, its price is a pleasant SHOOISA

'68 POLARA

A whole lot of car for a lot less money than you'd think. It's big, it's powerful, it's luxurious. And it's priced in the same league with Impala and Galaxie 500. Hard to believe? Well, then, Come in, and let's talk figures. Proving what a wonderful bargain Polara offers you is one of the things we like to do best.
