The problem of finding enough money to make the school payroll due this Friday and paying the monthly bills was brought home to the school board at their meeting Monday night.

Tax money, which is slow to come in and not due until next February, along with sales tax money not due from the state until December 28, has created a real tight money situation in the local school system.

Superintendent James Pace said that he was making every effort to get the funds available to make the school payroll this week. Money is not coming in fast enough to cover the im-mediate needs of the school.

Pace also revealed to the Board, that at the present time it appears the school will end the year with a $30,000 deficit. Some $10,000 of this amount will be due to additional transportation expense, the Board was

The Board probed the higher osts, but could not find any lace that the administration had not already made all the savings possible. There is little opportunity to cut costs except salaries; 85 percent of all the school money goes to pay-ing teachers, administrators, fanitors, kitchen help and bus

The School Board was given a list of future needs of the district and will take them up the board.

Death takes Mrs. Lucille Walker

Mrs. Lucille Frances Walker, aged 58, of Lowell, passed away unexpectedly Friday evening, December 8th, at Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Walker was discovered unconscious by her husband, Clarence, when he arrived home from work Friday afternoon. She had apparently suffered a serious fall. He took her to the hospital where she died later in the evening.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Walker is survived by 3 sons, Valdy and Jerry, both of De-troit, Pat in California and seven grandchildren.

She is also survived by her father, Eugene Sisson; two bro-thers, Clyde and Edward Sisson; three sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Starring and Mrs. Marian Rumsey, all of Fennville, and Mrs. Evelyn Batey of Lowell, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Roth Funeral Home in Lowell with the Rev. Keith McIver of the Lowell Baptist Church officiating. Interment was made in Oakwood Cemetery.

Don't forget! Soulbenders here Saturday

The Soulbenders arrive in Lowell Saturday night, December 16, to open the holiday season with a dance at the Runciman Elementary Building. This famous rock and roll group will sponsored by the Lowell Teen Center, Inc., and the festivities will last from 8 p. m.

until midnight. The music of the Soulbenders is now available on record, with their big hit "Hey Joe" backed by "I Can't Believe in Love" a current favorite on Grand Rapids radio stations. This record was made locally and promoted by the members of the group. They have now attracted the attention of two major recording firms. Negotiations with them are now in progress. The Soulbenders achieved national acclaim last summer when they placed fifth nationally in the Jaycees Battle of the Bands in a competition held in Boston.

The members of the Board of Directors of the Lowell Teen Center, Inc. are very proud to present the Soulbenders for the first time in Lowell. Admission to the dance will be $1.50 per person.

New members of Honor Society

The Lowell High School Chap-ter of the National Honor Society met on November 27th to initiate 40 new members from the junior and senior classes.

These are students who have maintained a B or above average in their academic work throughout high school and have been selected by a faculty committee on the basis of service, leadership and character.

Four years ago the local chapter of the National Honor Society was established in the Lowell School. This is the largest group to be inducted during this period.

Deadline for Christmas mail

The busy activity in local post offices can be noted by the highvolumes of mail being process-ed. Last year the Lowell Post Office had 117,029 cancelations for the 20 days before Christ-mas. So far this year the cancelations are running 2,500 above this figure.

Early mailing gives the post office a break by not loading more mail into already overcrowded buildings and transportation lines than the postal system can handle. By spreading out mailing over the pre-holiday period there is no chance of jam-ups which could delay the Christmas gifts and greetings, the postal official commented.

Four remedial reading centers

Shittling in and out of the school's reading centers, at halfhour intervals, are groups of 5 or 6 children. They range from six-year-olds to teens, but they have one thing in common; they all have reading difficul-

Lowell Area Schools have 4 remedial reading centers, at Bushnell School, at Alto, in the Runciman Intermediate com-plex, and in the Junior High. Remedial services are also provided for St. Mary's and St. Patrick's Schools.

The centers have a wide range of materials, many of on them, the results of research in reading difficulties that have taken place in the last 5 years. One of their best sources of is the classroom teacher, who knows each child's difficulties, but lacks time for all the individual help he needs.

What causes a child to have a reading problem? Most au-thorities feel that the cause is a complex of many factors rather than a single one. Common ingredients of a reading problem are: physical defects-of vision, hearing, speech or gen-eral health; mixed laterality, such as left eye and right hand dominance, a condition often causing reversals, such as "was" for "saw," "gril" for "girl," "flase" for "false," etc.; emotional disturbances, which make it almost impossible for a child to perform adequately in school; lack of language skills, common in children whose parents don't read to them or listen to them; and lack of maturity at the time when reading instruction was first presented.

The children do improve in reading, but possibly equally important, they experience the satisfaction of achievement in an area where they have felt frustration and failure. Most of them are eager to learn. Teachers hear the question, "Is it time to go already?" and "Can't we stay longer?" as these chil-dren begin to discover that reading can be fun.

Concerned parents often ask, "What can I do to help?" Read to him often and in great variety. See that he has books to read, with a vocabulary that he can handle. Listen to him. Self-expression is an important background skill for success in Steven Robertson, 17, Jeff Rittersdorf, 14, both of Lowell and Larry Sims, 26, 7657 East Fulton Street, Ada, were seriously injured Friday evening at 9:50 about 2 miles east of Ada on M-21. The two Lowell boys are in Blodgett Hospital, Mr. Sims is at Osteopathic Hospital.

Eye witnesses to the accident Harry DeVries, 36, of Grandville and Donald Bos, 39, of Saranac told Kent County Sheriff's Deputy Raymond Heck that the Robertson car going east crossed the double yellow line and hit the Sim's car head on in the west bound lane. The witnesses to the accident also said they they had followed the Robertson car after it had run them off the road a short distance west of the accident.

A third passenger in the Robertson car was David Vanderhoff, 15, of Lowell who was treated in the hospital and released. Both cars were total wrecks. The sheriff's department still has the accident under investigation.

it if we can. Yeah, we all know that the cost of living has gone up, & when you had just a one room school to support, it was a lot cheaper; but remember, it was cheaper to keep a horse than it is a tractor. Yeah, I know that kids have gone wild and the school doesn't stop them, but most of that stuff doesn't happen in school, Well, lets get ing the subject on me, Now let's take a look at your tax notice. Up at the top is listed your assessed valuation and then your state equalized valuation of your property. One ques-tion real quick, double your listed state equalized value, and that is supposed to be the present day market value of your back to taxes-you keep chang-

Would you sell the property for that price? Of course you wouldn't but that is all the state claims your property is worth. One more point, do you have last year's tax notice? Good, lets compare the assessed value of your property between the two years. See, you can note that your value went up a thousand dollars, but it is still pegged pretty low.

When you compare last year's tax to this year's, I notice there has been an increase. Now stop blaming the school for it all. Yeah, I can see that they only give one amount and about % goes to school, but let's check and see where all this tax mon-

The county gets $4.815 per thousand to run the county government. Now you know you need the sheriff and the road commission and the courts and the county offices. (You might have a point though when you say that if you didn't pay your tax you wouldn't get a tax bill

The majority of people in Ke-nt County voted to tax themselves extra to build a new airport. I know you don't fly, but doggone it, if our area is going to grow we need a good airport and tha cost your 40 cents a thousand extra; and then all of those county ofices had to be located somewhere, so we voted $1.00 per thousand extra to build a new county building, on top of this, last year we voted $1.00 per thousand extra to build a new medical facility that you might need some day. So you see, the county gets $7.211/2 cents for each thousand valuation of your property.

Now the County Superinten-dent of School (yes, I know they changed the name to the Intermediate School District, but rose is a rose, you know) gets 661/2 cents for every thousand to operate their office and

Of that amount, 81/2 cents is spent to operate the office, 8 cents is being used to purchase an office building, and 50 cents is for the special education program like special classrooms & speech teachers.

Not much of this money goes directly to the local school district, but the local school receives a lot of services from the county-oops-Intermediate off-

The township also levy taxes at this time to run the township and take care of local roads. Yeah I know, they didn't take care of your road, but most of the townships have long range plans for taking care of roads and, like most of us, they just don't have enough money to do it all at once. Each township is given up to $1.25 to collect actually collected varies.

for their use, but the amount For example, Grattan and Vergenne Townhip levy $1.00 per thouand, Lowell and Ada Townships levy $1.20 per thousand, vy $1.25 per thousand. Now, the city folks in Lowell pay summer property taxes to run the city and last summer they levied $12.00 per thousand for that

In addition to the above amounts, some Township levy additional taxes for specific purposes. Ada Township taxes $1.00 poses. Ada Township taxes $1.0 per thousand for their fire de-partment and additional amounts for street lights and drains; Cannon Township levies 50 cents a thousand for their fire department, and Cascade Township levies an extra amount for their street lights and drains. Now let's get down to brass tacks on the school taxes, Total school taxes for this year amount to $24.30 a thousand Last year they were $19.50, and so there is an actual increase of $4.80 a thousand. (If your property is located in the former Mapes, Talbot, Alton or Mosely districts, you paid $11.85 last year and this year you are billed to $16.13, or an increase of $4.28.) This incrrease in school taxes results from a $4 increase for operation of the school and 80 cents increase to pay for new buildings.

Neighbor, keep in mind that the school will spend about $480 this year to educate each student, and although your direct property tax by itself helps, in nost cases it won't even pay the costs to educate one child. Nobody likes taxes, friend, but every unit of government is going to advance and keep up with the times, they are necessary. I don't know where the whole thing is going to end, but you are still living in a country where you, as an average citizen, have more money and get more for that money than any place else in the world.

It's been nice talking to you and my best advice is to smile count your blessings and pay those taxes.
