HEAVY WINDS that hit the area Monday, at times gusting to 64 miles an hour, caused some damage in Lowell, uprooting a tree on Lafayette and tearing the roof off a building on South Broadway.

Variance in Zoning Approved

An appeal for variance in zoning, involving the building formerly occupied by Lowell Stamping Plant, today had been granted by the Vergennes Township Zoning Board of Appeals.

The board acted upon the request of Industrial Tool and Machine Co., which plans to install light industrial facilities in the plant, located on Godfrey Street near the Lowell city limits.

A special hearing was held two weeks ago and was well attended by residents in the area who objected to granting of the variance.

The board placed one condition on usage of the building, specifying that substantial foundations be installed under machinery in order to prevent vibrations.

Floyd and Charles Thomas were listed as owners of Industrial Tool and Machine, which currently is located at 11501 Grand River Avenue.

Supervisors Honor Late E. G. Schaefer

Recognition of long service to the county and to his community today had been accorded the late Elmer G. Schaefer by the Kent County Board of Supervisors.

The board adopted a resolution of commendation at its meeting Tuesday and forwarded a copy of it to Mr. Schaefer's family.

Mr. Schaefer, who passed away last week, had served as a representative of Lowell on the county board from 1960 until his death.

He had served as chairman of the Salary Committee for two years and had been a member of the Tentative Budget Committee, the Welfare Committee, the Finance Committee, and the Personnel Board during his eight-year tenure.

The Village Smithy

BY FRAN SMITH

Those of you among the faithful who read this weekly nonsense probably realize that the column was more noticeable by its absence than anything else in the most recent edition.

I am counting, of course, Good Friend Wife and the 11 other subscribers who are my most severe critics.

The reason there were no words occupying this space a week ago is two fold:

1. There was no time to sit down and dream up something to fill the void and
2. There was no void to fill... simply because of the fact that other much more important words placed a premium on space.

Even at the final moment, just as we were about to put the paper to "bed," there was a strong inclination to run the heading with one line below it. It would have read:

"No column this week... too busy!"

That, sometimes, is the way things go in this business. One week may offer little in the way of what might be termed "live" news while the next may occupy just about every minute of the working day in the effort to assemble, write and edit stories of events that fill space in these columns.

We personally prefer the latter condition, even though it creates a condition around this office which is referred to as organized confusion.

Under the present system, most news items are required for processing approximately 24 hours earlier than before.

But what happens, as an example, when some of these events transpire in the final few hours before publication?

If you have ever watched movies about newspapers, there's always the guy who rushes up to the editor and yells "hold the presses."

Well, we don't necessarily hold the presses... but there are a few moments of frenzied activity while page forms are rearranged to accept the late-breaking stories.

It is then... and only then... that one reaches the inevitable conclusion that superfluous material (such as a column) must give way.

And as we sit here pecking away at the typewriter, the thought even occurs that these words might never see the light of the day for just such reasons.

From time to time, we have been known to test our card playing skill in a friendly session of euchre.

To the uninitiated, we ask your momentary indulgence... and to those who take this game seriously, we know that you will appreciate what happened over the weekend.

Each community, no matter where my travels have carried me, seems to set itself up as the one and only place in the entire world in which the game of euchre is properly played.

Now I learned the game at the hands of some fine old gentlemen who resided in a small village known as Waldenberg. Each table at which the game was played bore the imprints of countless knuckles being slammed onto the surfaces. And each knuckle was unmistakably calloused from these slurrings.

A challenge was made and quickly answered when doubts as to my euchre ability were voiced by some of the more venerable members of Parnell.

I doubt I will be asked back... unless by my partner of the evening, Jim Gahan. Certainly George Malone and Dewey Francisco, who suffered through the demise, will have no further part of me!

A beautiful new four-color brochure, long a dream of the Lowell Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled to go to press this week. Members are urged to place their orders with C. of C. President Larry Wittenbach.

Today's edition marks the start of the 75th year of continuous publication for the Lowell Ledger. History records, however, that the Ledger was actually "born" in June, 1893... and the diamond jubilee will be celebrated in that month with a special edition featuring stories and pictures of events that have taken place down through the many years.

Gordon Johnson, back from an extended stay in Florida, reports that it is almost impossible to journey anywhere in the Sunshine State without running into folks from the Lowell area. There are so many Michigan license plates down there, he adds, that it seems just about half the state picked up and left those of us not so fortunate behind to brave the wintry blasts.

Perhaps it's the lingering cold, but folks continue to gravitate to the southland. Recently-elected Councilman (or should it be Councilwoman) Mrs. Virginia Meyers and her husband, Dr. Harold Myers, are vacationing in New Orleans... Marcel Kropf of McQueen Motors is in Florida and Keith Caldwell of State Savings Bank of Lowell is scheduled to depart soon for Biloxi, Mississippi, where he hopes to get the kinks out of his golf game.

Other travelers from Lowell are Mr. and Mrs. Dean Mangold, who departed over the weekend for London (to visit a new grandchild) and Frankfurt, Germany. Dean's timetable calls for him to return in time for the trout fishing opener late this month.

Old time devotees of the Ionia Free Fair will no doubt remember Billy Lorette, nationally famous clown who performed at the fair for many years. Billy died last week in Illinois at the age of 81.

Billy was a show in himself and gave one of his most memorable performances when, following a sudden downpour, water filled the race track at Ionia. He entertained the water-soaked crowd for more than an hour using the flooded track as his one and only prop.

Those who may be in the habit of doing their weekly shopping on Friday afternoon are reminded that most merchants will be closed from 1 p. m. until 3 p. m. on April 12, Good Friday. These hours coincide with many of the local Good Friday church services.

Lions Club "Light Bulb" Sale Tuesday

The annual Lowell Lion's Club "light bulb" sale will take place next Tuesday (April 16) according to chairman Joe Hines.

As in past years, Lion's Club members will go door-to-door selling packages of assorted size lightbulbs to the householders. This supply of eight bulbs, convenient to keep on hand, sells for $2. The sale will begin at 7 p. m.

Proceeds of this worthwhile effort will be used to support the Welcome Home for the Blind and the Leader Dog program.

The Lions Club recently assisted other civic organizations of Lowell in the purchase of a movie projector for the Lowell Public Library.

KENT COUNTY HIGHWAY SURVEYORS LINE UP NEW ROAD SITE

Cyclist "Lucky" in Crash

John Gleason, 21, of 8115 Whitneyville Rd., Alto, was listed today by Sheriff's Deputies as a "lucky young man."

Young Gleason was riding his motorcycle on I-96, east of Fulton, on Monday afternoon when a 40-ft. truck-trailer driven by Emerson Welshans, 49, of Burgettown, Pa., attempted to pass.

Welshans, according to the officers, failed to clearly negotiate the swing-over and struck the rear of Gleason's motorcycle.

The impact resulted in Gleason and his machine being picked up from the road by the truck-trailer and dragged a distance of 794 ft., before Welshans stopped his truck.

The motorcycle then fell away from the truck. Gleason, unhurt, but badly shaken up, stepped out of his motorcycle.

He was taken to a Grand Rapids hospital for first aid and released.

Annual "Y" Campaign Is Success

Co-chairmen Stanley Gardner and Mrs. Orlo Gwatkin announced today that the Lowell YMCA has successfully concluded its annual membership drive.

Gardner disclosed that 63 percent of the $4,000 goal has been reached and that the renewal membership goal of $2,500 had been surpassed. Workers are reminded, however, that the membership drive is a year-round activity.

Commemorative plaques were presented at the annual meeting last Wednesday to retiring Board of Managers participants Ivan Blough, Mrs. Tyrus Wessell, S. D. Wingeier and Dr. Roy Westcott. Replacing them on the board for three year terms are Mrs. Richard Curtis, Verceel Bovee, Roger Roberts and Mike Vander Velde.

Lowell Host to Police Association

Officers of the Lowell Police force were hosts Wednesday evening to some 100 members of the Western Michigan Law Enforcement Association at a meeting held last (Wednesday) night at Masonic Temple.

Following a dinner at 7:30 p. m., round-table discussions were held on current problems facing police in the area.

An "Officer-of-the-Year" also was chosen.

The law enforcement organization is made up of city, county and state police from 12 counties in the western part of the state.

I-96 Access Road Nears Final Plans

Engineers of the Kent County Road Commission today are putting final touches to plans for the construction of a new highway from Segun Avenue to Cascade Road.

According to Al A. Doornbos, chief designer for the Road Commission, the new road will run from the interchange at I-96, along Alden Nash Ave. and north to 36th St.

From 36th St., it will take a northeasterly turn to Emery Drive, where it will straighten out until it reaches Segun Ave., at a point about 1500 ft. south of the new bridge over Grand River. (See map)

The purpose for the construction of the new road is to provide Lowell and townships to the north with a more direct access to the I-96 Freeway.

The new highway will consist of an all-weather type of construction.

It will have a 24-foot bituminous pavement, with 10-foot shoulders, making a total grade width of 44 ft.

The alignment and grades will meet the requirements of the American Association of State Highway Traffic Safety Committee and also the requirements of the Bureau of Public Roads.

Contracts for the construction of the road will be let as soon as right-of-way papers have been signed, Doornbos said.

Preliminary studies for a proposed new "middle school" in the Lowell Area School District are underway today following action by the Board of Education Monday night to get the project on the drawing boards.

The board voted to commission McMillen-Palmer Architects to start work on preparing preliminary designs and sketches on the building, which would house 1,000 students from grades five through eight.

The proposal is expected to be brought before district voters later this year.

If approved, it would replace the existing junior high school facility, school officials say.

The board also considered several financial matters during the meeting, including a preliminary budget that will call for approximately $1,318,336 for the 1968-69 school year.

Superintendent of Schools James Pace introduced the preliminary figures to board members along with a suggestion that the district will seek allocated millage of 11.08 from the county.

The final allocated figure is subject to a number of variables, Pace noted, most important of which are final determination of state aid benefits, equalized valuation figures and the master agreement with teachers. The latter is expected to be finalized within the next few weeks.

Pace brought the board up-to-date on transfer of properties involving Lowell, Forest Hills and Caledonia districts.

A portion of the district known as the "old river district" has been transferred to Forest Hills and will result in loss of approximately $49,000 in valuation to Lowell schools, Pace said.

A total of 18 students presently enrolled in Lowell schools reside in the area. By agreement with Forest Hills and the Kent Intermediate Board, two of the students will be able to continue their education thru the final two years of high school.

An estimated $300,000 in property value will be added to the district, Pace told the board members, with transfer of properties from North Bell.

Pace also noted that recently-released valuation figures for the City of Lowell show an increase of approximately $800,000 in equalized valuation.

The board also formally recognized a request from the Kent Intermediate Board to place on the June 10 ballot a proposal for 1.1 mills to operate and $6,025,000 to purchase a site and construct two new vocational schools in the county.

Will Not Bid for Re-Election

David F. Coons, a member of the Lowell Area Schools Board of Education for the past 11 years, announced today that he will not seek re-election in June.

Coons told fellow members of the board of his decision at Monday night's meeting.

The 46-year-old Coons has served for the past nine years as board treasurer.

He was elected to a three-year term in 1957 and subsequently won voter support for two four-year terms consecutively when the board was reorganized to include seven members in 1960.

Owner of Coons Clothing and Shoes and member of one of this area's pioneer families, Coons has long been active in civic and church affairs. He served on the city's charter commission in 1960.

He and his wife, Betty, reside at 404 N. Division. The couple has three daughters, Laura, Martha and Nancy.

Danish Students Finds Americans 'Friendly'

"Americans are so friendly," says Mette Thorsen, exchange student from Denmark at Lowell High School. "I love being here, and I am enjoying my stay here. It's not really looking forward to going back."

The following impression of American living was written by Mette Thorsen, an exchange student from Denmark now attending classes at Lowell High School.

I am enjoying my stay here very much and I hope I will be able to return some day. Lots of people have asked me what my biggest misconception about America and Americans was.

As an answer, I guess, I will have to say that it is the imagination of all (or at least most) Americans being that a lot of people in Europe have that illusion, and that where they get it, too.

Both in TV and in the theaters they show a lot of American movies and just about all of them take place in real fancy and expensive surroundings.

The Americans we meet over there, too, give the wrong impression. Driving big cars and spending a lot of money, they add to the illusion. But of course it has to be that way because the middle-class cannot afford going abroad.

I am just glad that I have had an opportunity to come over here and see what America and American life is really like.

Denmark is a socialistic country, which there can be said both pros and cons about. One thing I like about Denmark is that the schools are supported by the state and therefore it is less expensive to go to college. Students over there don't have to struggle as hard as American students, who often have a hard time paying their way through college.

Taxes are high, though. Besides a pretty high income tax there has been, since July 1967, a 10 percent sales tax.

FH Council Gets Okay on Project

Approval to proceed with plans to beautify the front circle at Forest Hills High School has been granted to the Student Council by members of the Board of Education.

Netting Pike Illegally Nets Heavy Penalty

Illegal netting of a 10-pound northern pike from the Thornapple River near the La Barge Dam has cost a Grand Rapids man at the rate of more than 57c per pound.

Officer Arnold Richmond of the Michigan Department of Conservation issued a citation against Clair R. Dulyea of 711 Olympic SW when he was observed using a net to catch the game fish in violation of state laws.

Dulyea appeared before Justice Andrew DeKraaker and pleaded guilty of the offense. He was fined $50 and assessed $7.50 costs. A 10-day jail sentence was suspended.

Officer Richmond warns that any fisherman who net game fish are subject to heavy fine and possible jail sentences.

He also served as freshman and junior varsity basketball coach, concurrently, for two years, during which time his cage teams had a combined record of 49-10. He was assistant varsity track coach for two years and is now in his fourth year as varsity golf coach, a post that he must relinquish under school policy that no coach may handle more than one varsity sport in the same school year.

Smith attended South High in Grand Rapids, earning 3.5 varsity letters in football, 4 in track and two in basketball.

He attended Grand Rapids Junior College for one year, competing in football a 4th and track.

Following a letter of denial with the Coast Guard from 1962 to 1965, Smith entered Michigan State University where he received his Bachelor of Science degree in 1969.

His first assignment was as mathematics, science and physical education instructor at Lowell Junior High in 1960. The next year, he was assigned to the high school, teaching accounting, business mathematics, personal and commercial typing and driver education.

Because of Daylight Saving Time this summer, a new policy permits teams to play some of their Sunday games as twilight games during the week. Also the league voted not to affiliate with the National Baseball Congress this year breaking a ten-year affiliation with the N.B.C.

West Michigan Empire's Association will furnish two umpires for each league game.

DANGERS ARE NOTED—The American Red Cross noted that nearly one-fifth of all Americans who die each year by swallowing poison are small children too young to read labels and of an age when they will put anything in their mouths.

Jerry Smith

Jerry Smith Named Lowell Grid Coach

Gerald B. (Jerry) Smith today had been elevated to the position of head football coach at Lowell High School.

The decision, which required several months of screening of candidates, was reached Monday night during the Board of Education meeting.

The board passed a motion by a 6-1 vote to hire Smith as varsity grid mentor. The lone dissenting vote was cast by William Jones.

Recommendations for appointment of a coach to fill the vacancy had been forwarded to the board six weeks ago by a special screening committee made up of Superintendent James Pace, High School Principal Carl Hagen and Athletic Director Dale Houder.

Smith will replace Charles Pierce, who resigned following the 1967 season. Pierce had been head coach since he was named during which time his teams won 27 and lost 21. He will remain on the faculty as a teacher.

Smith had served as assistant varsity coach in 1967 following seven seasons as head mentor of the junior varsity. His JV squads posted a record of 28 wins, 12 losses and two ties.

Volunteers Needed to Assist ARC

High school girls of the Cascade, Ada and Lowell areas, 14 to 18 years of age, are needed to serve as Youth Volunteers for the American Red Cross, Kent County Chapter.

Mrs. Emery T. Freeman, Chairman of Youth Volunteers, announced that applications are being taken now and interviews are being scheduled for volunteers this summer.

Red Cross Youth Volunteers serve in hospitals and nursing homes. They are easily recognized by their blue and white striped pinafores and white blouses. Some of their duties include reading to a patient, writing letters, assist in recreation programs, assist nurses with patients, and numerous other duties depending on the need.

Mrs. Freeman said the girls will be trained in the next two months to be ready to serve as volunteers during the summer. Training includes an 8-hour orientation course and 10 hours of on-the-job training.

Girls should be willing to serve one day or half a day per week, have their parents consent and be in good physical health. For further information call Red Cross now, GI. 6-5861.

Boy Scouts

Three proud winners of the Pinewood Derby in Ada last week were cheered by members of Cub Scout Pack 3290.

First place went to Dan DeVos, second to Mike Pullman and third to Matt Wood.

This Friday (April 5), the boys will be visiting Boy Scout Troop 415 in Grand Rapids to view a model train that group has built.

These Cub Scouts are presently taking order for Easter flowers. This is an annual sale and the only money making project this pack has held for years. Tulips, hyacinths, and Easter lilies can be ordered through these boys and will be delivered to your home.

VERGENNES TOWNSHIP BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS

Industrial Tool and Machine Company having presented its application for a zoning variance to permit use of the premises on Godfrey Avenue, in Vergennes Township, described as follows:

Beginning at a point 183 feet west of centerline of Lincoln Lake Highway (Vergennes Road) and 2 rods north of the section line of Section 35, Town 7 North, Range 9 West, Kent County, Michigan, thence northwesterly parallel with Lincoln Lake Highway 150 feet; thence West 590.4 feet; thence southeasterly parallel with Lincoln Lake Highway 150 feet; thence East 590.4 feet to point of beginning.

For light industrial purposes, including production machining, and notice of such application having been given in accordance with the ordinance, and hearing having been held on such application on March 18, 1968, and the petitioners and objectors having been heard, and the Board having considered the application and the objections thereto and having reached a determination with respect thereto,

THE BOARD FINDS that a substantial building was erected on the property described prior to the date of the Zoning Ordinance, which building was used for many years as a stamping plant. The Board further finds that the building is suitable only for industrial use and is of substantial value for such use and of little value unless such use is permitted. The Board further finds that the property on the east is used for auto service work and for an oil company with exterior surface storage tanks, and that the property on the west is used by Bieri & Sons Contractors and has a substantial industrial building thereon. The Board further finds that granting of a variance with respect to the property described in the application is necessary if the owner of the property is not to be denied a valuable property right, and finds that the granting of the variance will not be of substantial detriment to surrounding property and that the variance is necessary to prevent practical difficulties and unnecessary hardship and so that the spirit of the Ordinance may be preserved and substantial justice done.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Industrial Tool and Machinery Company be and it is hereby granted a variance to operate a light industrial plant at the premises on Godfrey Avenue, Vergennes Township, as described above, and to conduct therein the business of production machining, subject to the following condition: That any presses operated shall be set on proper foundations so as to limit vibrations.

This variance shall be effective immediately.
