

THIS WAS THE SCENE OF DOUBLE-FATALITY ACCIDENT IN LOWELL FRIDAY

Two Die, 1 Hurt in Crash

The first fatalities of 1968 on Lowell streets were on record today, the aftermath of a train-car collision last Friday afternoon.

Dead are: Guy C. Wilburn, 85, and Joseph J. Reamer, 81, both of Saranac.

In critical condition in the intensive care unit at Butterworth Hospital today is 65-year-old Mrs. DeVona Mathews, Saranac, an occupant in the car.

Wilburn was pronounced dead at the scene by Kent County medical examiner Dr. G. F. Barofsky. Reamer died some five hours later at Butterworth Hospital.

Lowell police, assisted by local volunteers, administered first aid to Reamer and Mrs. Mathews during an estimated 45-minute wait for ambulance service.

The double fatality resulted when the car, driven by Wilburn, ran into the path of an oncoming C & O-B & O freight train at the Main Street crossing.

The 72-car freight, en route from Saginaw to Grand Rapids, was proceeding at approximately 30 miles an hour, according to engineer Gerald McClees and other witnesses.

The impact crushed the front right side of the car and flipped it out of the train's path. The engine was stopped in about 150 yards, according to police.

Witnesses told police that flashers at the intersection, which had never before been the scene of a serious accident, were functioning and that the train was sounding a warning whistle.

Roy A. Eyer of Wyoming, a truck driver, told police that it appeared that the death car was attempting to pass. Eyer was driving a westbound truck on M-21 (Main Street) at the time.

The last fatal accident on Lowell streets occurred last July 29. It was the lone death recorded in 1967.

Cyclist is Fined

A Lowell motorcyclist has been fined $100 and costs and, additionally, has had his operator's permit suspended for riding the vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Roger Lee Conner, 28, of 726 N. Lafayette, was stopped by Lowell Police last Friday when they observed him driving the motorcycle on M-21.

Conner was taken before Justice Marie DeVries in Kentwood where he pleaded guilty to the charge.

C-C Eyes Industry Site Plan

Creation of an industrial development committee was under consideration today by the Lowell Chamber of Commerce.

The proposal to get such development in the area under a full head of steam followed an interesting talk by George Matthes, industrial representative for the C & O-B & O Railroad before the C-C Board of Directors last Thursday.

Matthes outlined a number of ways that local communities could avail themselves of services offered by the railroad to help establish the format needed to bring about good industrial development.

"We can help . . . and we stand ready to help at an instant's notice," explained Matthes, "but it still requires time and effort on the part of a group such as the Chamber of Commerce to get this type of project started."

Matthes stressed that proper preparation is vital in "selling" a community to an industrial prospect.

"Be certain," he warned, "that you not only have a site, but that you also have all the answers needed to persuade a businessman that this is where he should build."

President Larry Wittenbach said that the C-C's next step would be to set up a committee to survey the area for possible industrial sites, investigate financing of such a project and ways to publicize and promote it.

Committee reports were hard on the antique car festival held over the past weekend, the new color brochure recently put into circulation by the C.C. plans for the 1968 Trailer Rally at Showboat time and Michigan Week.

With this assurance, the day crew called off its pickets and the second shift resumed normal production.

In all, 11 groups will participate in the program. Local representatives will be the Lowell Scarlet Troubadours, managed by Bob Green, and the Green Hornets.

City Council Approves Long Range Measures

In a three-hour action-packed session at city hall Monday night, the Lowell city council approved city legislation which will affect the municipality's operations for many years ahead.

The meeting was devoted to matters on the proposed 1968-69 city budget, adoption of a zoning ordinance, also approval of a long-awaited subdivision ordinance and consideration of residential electrical heating rates.

Adoption of new measures designed to clarify building requirements for the City of Lowell today had been approved by the City Council.

In Monday night's council meeting, an amendment to the zoning ordinance was passed which set the minimum frontages on lots in full-service areas at 75 feet.

The council also approved the long-awaited subdivision ordinance, which will help spell out a firm set of rules for future development in the city.

The two pieces of legislation were subject to public hearings, but no objections were raised by a few people on hand.

Council also took action to tentatively approve purchase of a 39-acre tract of land located on Lincoln Lake Road in Vergennes Township for a price of $21,000.

The property which adjoins the city airport, is being eyed for possible future use as a cemetery site, a recreation area and for expansion of the airport facility.

Councilwoman Mrs. Virginia Myers cast the lone dissenting ballot in a 4-1 vote for approval of the measure.

Purchase of the property will be contingent upon acceptance by the Vergennes Township officials of proper zoning for the tract, it was noted.

Amendment of the zoning ordinance and passage of the subdivision ordinance is expected to stimulate new home construction in the city.

Prior to amendment, the zoning ordinance had called for minimum lot sizes of 12,000 square feet in A-1 residential districts and minimum frontages of 80 feet.

The new requirements are set at 9,750 square feet with 75-foot frontages as minimums.

Under the new ordinance, specific guidelines based on percentages, have been established for full-service districts.

Councilman Herb Reynolds brought the land purchase proposal to the council table and received support from Mayor Arnold Wittenbach and council members Carlen Anderson and Harold F. Jefferies.

On hand for the meeting were Judson Wilterink and Leonard Jackson, who joined with Councilman Reynolds in forming a committee to establish site locations and need for the additional property.

The council also gave tentative approval to Valley Vista No. 5, a subdivision proposed by the Lowell Development Corporation.

The council also agreed to tentatively approve purchase of a 39-acre tract of land in Vergennes Township for possible future expansion of cemetery, recreational and airport facilities. The vote was by a 4-1 margin with Councilwoman Mrs. Virginia Myers opposed.

The session also included public hearings on the budget, and the two ordinances. However, no objections raised by any of the citizens present.

The Lowell City Council, together with City Manager Bernard Olson faced with a May 20th deadline for final presentation of the city's 1968-69 budget and are working overtime in putting finishing touches to the fiscal document.

As late as last Saturday, the city manager unveiled the first set of next year's budgetary needs.

It would require three council sessions before a final vote can be taken, Olson advised the city solons.

At Monday's meeting, the city manager told the council that he had not completed his estimates of all appropriations required to operate the city for the next fiscal year.

This meant that the councilmen could not take final action at the Monday session, he said.

At this point the council voted to hold a recessed meeting next Monday beginning at 7:30 p. m. at city hall.

The city manager's proposed budget calls for a total expenditure of $232,104 for the next fiscal year, which is some $30,000 over last year's cost for operating the city at $203,093.

Olson lists major revenues as coming from property taxes, which amounts to $113,654.

Present indications are that the city's tax rate of $12 per thousand of assessed valuation would hold up.

Other major sources of revenues were estimated as follows: fines, $10,000; locally shared state taxes at $80,300, a jump of $16,350 over last year's income from this source; $6,000 from cemetery revenues; $10,650 from utility payments in lieu of taxes; and $6,000 from Lee Fund transfers.

On the expenditure side of the budget, the city manager estimated it will require $54,300 to run the street department, an increase of nearly $7,600 over last year.

Olson is asking appropriations of $35,838 for the police department, a slight increase of the 1967-68 expenditure; $12,600 for the sanitation division, up $8,150 from last year; and the fire department at $8,590, a $500 increase for this year.

In the miscellaneous (contingency) estimates Olson is asking for $61,671, about $7,400 over the past year's figures.

With possible few minor exceptions, salary increases are estimated at about five per cent across the board.

The new budget calls for an annual salary for the city

Draft Pool Bill Eyed

Senator Philip A. Hart today introduced a new bill which would make young men draft-vulnerable for just one year and allow them some choice as to when the year would begin.

He said the bill would relieve the current pressure on graduate schools and put a greater degree of certainty to each potential draftee's life.

Under Hart's plan, most draftees would be 19-year-olds, thus reversing current draft policy that takes eligible 25-year-olds first and works backwards.

The bill would place all young men in a "prime pool" when they turn 19. All current draftees—for college, essential occupations, etc.—would be available but when the deferment expired, the man would have to begin his year in the prime pool.

File $1.6 Million Suit

SHERIFF PARSONS

George G. Taggart, and his wife, Nella Mae, of 2929 Alden Nash, Lowell, through their attorneys, have filed a $1.6 million negligence suit in Kent Circuit Court.

The case will be heard in Judge Roman J. Snow's court. Taggart, an electrician, was injured last Feb. 28 while working at the Grand Valley State College fieldhouse construction when the roof collapsed.

Defendants named in the suit are DeYoung & Bagin Construction Co., the general contractor; Meadler, Kessler & Associates, Inc., architects; McClurg, McClurg, Mills and Cooper, Inc., structural engineering consultants; and Timber Laminators, Inc., makers of certain wood construction components used in field house construction.

Taggart, who was employed at that time by Delta Electric Co., the electrical subcontractor, or on the fieldhouse projects, contends that the defendants were negligent in the planning, design, engineering, fabrication and construction of the field house.

As a result of this negligence, the complaint alleges, Taggart sustained damage to his spinal cord which the central portion of the roof collapsed.

One-Man Campaign for Housing

A one-man campaign to raise money for Freedom Homes, a project of the Negro community in Grand Rapids to provide decent housing and jobs in the ghetto area, has been launched by Robert Wagner of Larway Lake Drive.

The Freedom Homes Project will start with four homes, which will be priced in the $15,500 range. Buyers will have the opportunity to do some of the work on their own homes, thus building up "sweat equity" which would be deducted from the price of the home.

Wagner's goal for the Grand Rapids area is $5,000, which would be presented to Freedom Homes as a "no strings attached" gift to help launch this ambitious project. More than $1,000 has already been contributed.

For more information call 676-1065. Gifts of any size will be appreciated. Checks should be made payable to Freedom Homes, Inc., and mailed to Robert Wagner, 1661 Larway Lake Drive, Grand Rapids, 49506.

Talented Youngsters in Ballet Debut

A new ballet company, composed of 44 talented young dancers, will present its first program May 17 and 18 at the St. Cecilia Auditorium.

The ballet represents the combined efforts of many people active in the performing arts, and has been several years in the planning.

Edward Riffel and Rich Rahm, directors of the Academy of Dance Arts, are the company's choreographer and director. Daniel Kovacs, professor of music at Grand Valley State College, and director of the Grand Rapids Youth Symphony will act as musical director.

The dancers were carefully selected through a series of auditions held in February, and range in age from 7 through 18.

The program will consist of "La Boutique Fantasque" by Rostrop; "Pas de Deux" by Korsakov and Khachaturian; and "La Tolle", a contemporary dance work with music by Bartok.

Sets for the entire production were designed by the Grand Rapids Art Museum.

Paul Dreher, Civic Theater director, and John Frey are the lighting designers.

The Thornapple Valley Children's Ballet is proud to accept its role in the performing arts of the community and aspires to contribute to the cultural needs of other communities as well.

Tickets are on sale at all three Wurzburg stores and at the Academy (949-6330).

More than half of the homeowners who live within the limits of the Goodwood Plat Association were present for the recent association meeting. Members live on Goodwood and Berger Drives.

The discussion centered around the future of a group-owned lot on the Thornapple River. This lot was originally deeded to the association, but has remained undeveloped.

Opinions differed at the meeting concerning the use to be made of the property. Finally, the members voted that an up-to-date abstract be obtained to learn the legal language of ownership.

Larry McPherson, who presided at the meeting, announced that another discussion period will be called for as soon as the abstract is ready.

Residents who have been considering having their private drives paved this summer are pleased to see that the plan is paved, agreed to obtain combined bids for the work.

Area-Trained Dog Captures High Honors

A locally-trained Black Labrador Retriever, "Rowdies Sean of the Corkies," has captured the coveted Michigan High Point trophy for achieving the highest points in American Kernel field trials.

The retriever is a training product of Dorothy Leasure's Timberline Training Kennels on Pratt Lake Rd., Rt. 3, Lowell.

The four-year-old retriever is owned by S. C. Shea, a Grosse Pointe Woods dog fancier.

In addition, "Rowdies Sean of the Corkies," was the first Michigan-owned retriever to qualify for the National Championship in field trials held recently at McCall, Idaho.

Forest Hills Winner of Sportsmanship Trophy

The schools are judged on sportsmanship of the players-coaches and student body for all Red Division football and basketball games during the school year.

This is the third year the trophy has been presented. It went to G. R. South Christian in 1965-66, and to Hudsonville in '66-67.

Carl Justice pitched a four-hitter against Godwin giving him a 2-2 record. Tom Telford scored on a passed ball and brought in two runs; as did Ryan Ashley with a bases loaded single in the 7th.

Ashley, with his first win, pitched a five-hitter against Kentwood. Ozmolinski hit a 300 ft. double driving in Tom Telford. Other runs were scored on an error, and singles by Ashley, Sherwood and McCormick.

Telford was the winning pitcher against Lowell with a no-hitter going for him until the 6th inning. Dave Sherwood and Stan Grochowalski had three hits apiece; one of Sherwood's being a bases loaded triple.

First, second, third, fourth, and fifth places will be given awards, the first prize being a trophy.

Each boy and girl will take part in at least three events; there are 40 events in all.

Rangers, Arrows Split Two

Forest Hills High School's baseball team has accrued an enviable record of having won the last four out of five games.

After defeating Caledonia, Godwin, and Kentwood, the Rangers were finally stopped by Lowell.

In a double-header played at Lowell last Saturday, they split with the Red Arrows, losing the first game 2-1, and posting a 7-2 win in the second game.

Although the Forest Hills games, it took some effort to overcome the strong Lowell defense.

In a non-league game against Caledonia, Rob McCormick singled to left with the bases loaded, driving Dave Sherwood home. Stan Grochowalski singled to left scoring Justice and McCormick. Later Grochowalski went to center on a single by Dyert.

Dyert then scored on an error. Winger set a school record during the game with three doubles.

At the end of the field events, the Red Arrows were ahead by a score of 22-14, and steadily increased their lead to a final total of 71-7.

The Red Arrows were paced by Dan Heimtzman and Dennis Kissinger with (6) points each.

Bill Williams of Cedar Springs was the meet's top scorer with a total of 18 1/2 points and Nick Hallock, also points.

Lowell swept the pole vault, two-mile, and one-mile events; and had an overall record of six first, 10 seconds, and 11 thirds.

The Red Arrows currently are tied in second place with Belding, each with a record of 2 wins and 1 loss.

Lowell 4-H Girls Rate in 'Top Ten'

Two Lowell 4-Hers, Carol Wittenbach and Joyce Olin, were among the "Top Ten" winners at the Kent County 4-H Style Revue held at Aquin's College.

Modeling being a requisite as well as clothing construction and suitability of the garment to the girl, the 73 Senior Miss participants judged one another to choose the 19 delegates to represent Kent County this summer at the State Style Show at Michigan State University.

Now in her eighth year in 4-H sewing, Carol tailored a natural color dress of skipper blue accented with top stitching and gold emblem buttons. Her accessories were a white and a skipper blue tate and white gloves.

Joyce's sixth year sewing project was an A-line coat of red flannel with white pearl buttons. Her matching wool crepe dress featured long sleeves and white cording at the neckline.

Both girls are members of the Modelettes Sewing Club.

Register Now for 'Y' Camp

Registrations for Camp Manitou-Lin, the YMCAs two-week residential camp are now being accepted at the Lowell "Y" office at 322 W. Main, according to executive director, Terry Hambrick.

Camp Manitou-Lin, located on Barlow Lake near Middleville is available in two-week or one-week periods of residence for boys aged nine through 15. Activities include swimming (both instructional and recreational), horseback riding, overnight trips, archery, riflery, hiking, nature study, crafts, sailing, boating, canoeing, campfire programs and a variety of athletic activities.

The camp provides leadership and counseling services provided by a picked staff of college students. Boys are split into age levels and there is one counselor plus a Junior Counselor for every ten boys.

Special services of dedication and many other memorial gifts will be provided.

He will preach at both the 8:15 and 11 o'clock services, and will officiate at a special service during the 11 o'clock worship hour at which time the new news and steeple, and many other memorial gifts will be dedicated.

A coffee hour will follow the service.

Bishop Loder has just returned from the history-making General Conference at Dallas, Texas, at which the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church were merged into a new denomination known as the United Methodist Church.

The community is invited to share in worship and hear Bishop Loder at either service this Sunday.

An organizational meeting will be held Monday, May 13, at 7:30 p. m. in the Ada School Cafeteria. The complete program of Campfire Girl activities from second grade through high school will be discussed.

Mrs. Florence Neuman, district director of the Campfire Girls will present a film on the organization's activities. Mrs. Carolyn Gage, neighborhood coordinator, will be present to explain activities in the area and answer any questions.

This meeting is to make plans for the individual groups for Thornapple, Ada, Honey Creek and Egypt Valley Schools and any girls from the entire area who will be attending junior high in the fall. The latter group will have a Junior Horizon club.

The girls will have displays, give demonstrations, songs & games. After the meeting, refreshments will be served by the present members.

Forest Hills Hi-Lites

BY SHIRLEY DYBERT

A-traveling we will go! While some of us are looking forward to a brief vacation... some time... two families managed to squeeze in short trips to visit their daughters.

Ray and Nina Moore and sons, Tim and Kevin, have just returned from Oneida, N.Y., where they visited their daughter, Mary Grabic. The Harold Geitzen family took off for St. Petersburg, Florida and drove straight through to see daughter, Jeanie, who is now Mrs. David Mairn.

Local artists who have representative works hanging at the Cascade Township Hall this month include Carol and Phillip Crossman, Harold Driscoll, Don Duiven, June Engen, Mary Gerritsen, Erwin Gutsell, Jeanne Laird, Phillip North, Glen Raymond, Joanne Rockett, and Harry Sheng. It is worth the stop to view these works, there are many styles and mediums.

The exhibit is a continuing one with the paintings being exchanged once a month by the artists and with new pieces being presented by others of the area. If you feel that you have the talent to show in this gallery, call Mrs. Laird at 949-0489.

More works are desired from oil and pop and abstract to representational paintings. All of the work must be original and should be from this locality.

The two Brownie troops of Collins School were invited to a special meeting of the Girl Scouts of the Collins area last week. This was to serve as an introduction to the fun and responsibilities of being a member of the older organization.

The girls of Brownie Troop 186 purchased geranium plants and created cards as Mothers' Day gifts, which they presented at a punch party Tuesday under the direction of Mrs. Donald Strazisar and Mrs. Carl Gustavson.

Mrs. Thomas Thwaites was the honored guest at a surprise birthday dinner given for her on her 76th anniversary by her son and daughter-in-law, Jack and Phyl Thwaites. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Dykstra, Miss Judy Kaupa, Andrew Menishino, and Jimmy and Janie Thwaites.

Friends of Mrs. Harold Buttrick, who was an operative patient at St. Mary's Hospital, will be glad to know that she is now recuperating at home.

While Bob Ussery was urging Dancer's Image on to victory, guests at a Kentucky Derby party on Thorncrest Drive given by Sam and Nancy Rea were cheering for the horses they had picked as winners.

The names had been drawn from a hat so that no one to figure odds, but it was just as exciting as if great study had been put into the effort. gathered around the three TV sets that the hosts had provided and each sipped a real mint julep as he awaited the results.

This is an annual party given by the Reas, a tradition begun in Pleasant Ridge before they moved here two years ago.

Guests included the Walter Kutches, Ed Meyers, Don Frites, Bud Bowles, Walter Porechbacher, Jr. and the Sam Bakers.

CARD OF THANKS

Sincere thanks to neighbors, relatives and friends who have been so kind during this time. Special thanks to Rev. Robert Webber, Dr. Orval McKay and the Lowell Police and the Kent County Sheriff's Department. Mrs. Wm. Wierenga and family
