Jet Trip, lour to Tim Hanes

Timothy Hanes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Hanes, Buttrick Road, Ada, competed successfully in the "Tom Sawyer" portion of the Ada Fourth of July Celebration.

The reward for winning the local contest was an expense-paid trip to Hannibal Missou-ri for Tim and his tather to compete in the National Tom Sawyer Fence Painting Con-

Meeting contestants from 11 other states, they were honor-ed with a get-together dinner Friday evening at the Mark Twain Hotel following a flight to Quincy, Ill.

The most notable guests were Keith and Kevin Schultz, were Keith and Kevin Schultz, who portrayed Big Twin and Little Twin in the television series "The Monroes," and Verle T. On Saturday morning, the boys and fathers were taken on conducted towns of Hannibal and the haunts of Mark Twain's Tom Sawyer. This included the home of Huck Finn, Tom Sawyer's boyhood home and museum, "Becky Thatcher's" home, the Clemens law office, the early drug store, the fence that is depicted in the story and other historical spots.

Following lunch and a two-mile parade, came the Mis-souri Fence Painting Contest, followed by the National Painting contest. The boys were judged by the authenti-city of costume, speed of painting and neatness of the Walter's Lumber Mart of Lowell donated the fence posts used to build the rafts, and Dan Vos provided the truck and manpower to deliver them. Ada Village Hardware provided the paint for the fence-painting contest and Amway Corporation provided the flats used in the painting contest.

Although Ada's Independence Day parade was smaller than in previous years, a great deal of imagination was shown by those entering.

The parade ended at the ball park with games and fun, including a greased pig contest which was won by Rog

Cascade boasted the biggest parade in its history, and a crowd many times larger than any of those in the past.

The Forest Hills High School Band was a featured attrac-tion in the parade, as was Cascade's own Town Band, composed of a dozen or so local residents.

Music prevailed throughout the day for both listening and dancing pleasure, and a wild and wet water ball fight ended with the Cascade firemen emerging victorious over Ada

This week... fresh from a brief "vacation"... we initiate a new column that, hopewill be carried each

There may be times when sparsity of news and-or space may prohibit these pearls of wisdom ... but we'll try cur best to keep it going and to make it interesting.

We noted at the outset that last week's hiatus from this typewriter was a vacation . . . if you can call seven 12-hour days a rest!

During the week, it was our privilege once again to assist in the press operations at the Buick Open Golf Tcurnament at Grand Blanc with good friends like Budd Lynch, many longtime associates from Detroit's sports reporting gang ... and Buick public relations director Jerry Rideout and his top aids, Frank Cronin, Lynn Reuster and Bill Lampe, my old boss from the Detroit

The pressure of the final moments of the tournament was tremendous, especially after young Mike Hill of Jackson made a charge at the $25,000 first-place money with a birdie at 17...only to bog-ey the final hole and finish one stroke behind winner Tom

I viewed the situation with mixed edmotions! There was Weiskopf—just 25—about to become the youngest cham-pion in the tournament's history. Yet, inwardly, I also wanted to see a home state

The Buick officials altered sprawling Warwick Hills considerably, cutting 200 yards to bring the monster down to Fine tournament, though and we were happy to be a it again.

Congratulations to Chuck McArthur, a member of the Kent County Sheriff's Department, on his sizzling 33-34-67 round at Arrowhead GC . . . a new course record, according to Gene and Vince Kay,

RED-FACE DEPARTMENT: Mac Fonger had one of his worst days...and wife Rose one of her better ones... when he fired a 49 and she a 47 at Arrowhead over the

Hill Sets Pace in Polo Win

Led by Dale Hill's second five-goal effort of the tournament. Eastmanville won the annual Ed Nelson Memorial Trophy at Kentree Polo Club last week by downing Ken-tree, 7-6.

Hill, 21-year-old native of Ada, was the key man for the champions as they swept all three matches in the roundrobin polo meet.

Crete (Ill.) took runner-up honors with a 2-1 record by nipping Grand Rapids in the closing match Sunday when Gene Gilmore tallied in the final 15 seconds of the fourth chukker for a 6-5 decision. George Biddle paced the winners with three goals.

This weekend, a special mination series is scheduled Saturday at 4 p. m. to determine Kentree's representative in the Michigan champion ships and, on Sunday at p. m., Kentree Oldtimers will meet Kentree Youngsters in an exhibition match.
