

LOWELL SHOWBOAT ROUNDS CATTAIL BEND ON '68 RUN

The Showboat came around Cat-tail Bend in a blaze of unexpected fireworks when they got off course and hit the power lines stretched across the river sending sparks arcing along the lines. Lowell Light and Power manager John Jones reported that one of the shoreside transformers burned out as a result of the collision but no other damage resulted. Power men spent Tuesday morning tightening up the lines in the hope of avoiding a repeat performance.

While there were many beards on display at Monday night's Showboat performance, both on stage and in the audience, the most distinguished looking bearded gentleman there was without a doubt was Music Director Gerrit Lamain.

Most of the credit for the well-paced show goes to Gerrit who will be the new Director of Music at Creston High School in Grand Rapids this fall.

On stage displaying all the poise and personality for which she is so famous, Dinah proved she is the master of a quick ad-lib when the microphone and cord separated. After it had been fixed by an all too willing sound technician, she quipped, "Gosh, for a few minutes I was afraid I'd have to buy it."

In a recent action of the Showboat Board of Directors, a $450 contribution to the Lowell Police Reserve Squad was approved. The money will be used for the purpose of assisting in providing uniforms for the squad members. This is a fine help to these community-minded men who augment the Lowell Police Department when they are needed.

Bright and early Monday morning found eight travel trailers waiting to be shown to their places in Recreation Park for the Lowell Showboat Travel Trailer Rally. Travelers from all over the state of Michigan are members of the group making Lowell their "home" this week, many returning for the third year in a row. Welcome Rallyites!

Dinah Shore fans far and near are interested in her appearance at the Lowell Showboat. The Ledger office has received letters from as far away as Pennsylvania requesting copies of any issues containing stories about Miss Shore. Just proves that the girl from Nashville still holds her place in the hearts of the American public.

— Toot —
Lowell merchants who have contributed to Miss Shore's visit this week are Azzarello Chevrolet, which has supplied transportation for the singer (remember when Dinah was with Chevy?) and Ball Floral, which sent a beautiful floral tribute to the star upon her arrival at Kent County Airport Sunday.

Speaking of the airport, veteran observers say that Dinah's brief appearance drew one of the all-time record crowds. Estimates ranged from 5,000 to 8,000.

Showboat '68 Glitters; New Records Assured

BY FRAN SMITH

If the opening performances of Lowell Showboat 1968 are any indication, the 36th renewal of the mid-summer classic is scheduled to go into the records as the most successful in history.

Monday's opening night drew in excess of 3,000 appreciative fans and was, in the estimate of Showboat officials, the largest premiere turnout since the event started back in 1931.

Box office officials said late Tuesday that ticket orders for late-week performances were reaching landslide proportions.

The magnet, without question, is headliner Dinah Shore.

Miss Shore drew repeated rounds of applause during 45 minutes on stage Monday. Except for the late hour, she might well have responded for more than one encore.

The petit star of television and movie fame captivated her audience with songs ranging from blues to torch to country and western... interspersed by several well-received novelty numbers, including a flashback to the 1930s and a love medley.

Though she hails from Dixie, which is more famed for its big-river showboats than Lowell, Miss Shore was performing for the first time "on deck."

She won over the audience at the outset of her appearance by commenting that the fame of Lowell Showboat is widespread in the entertainment world.

"When I told people I was going to be here this year," she said, "they told me that Lowell had the finest audience to be found anywhere in this country. I know you won't disappoint me."

Miss Shore was especially brilliant in her rendition of "Yesterday" and her long-time standard "Blues in the Night," which she sang as an encore.

Professionalism was the keynote of the entire performance, with the 20-member Maycroft Square Tappers from Muskegon lending to the overall theme even though they were performing as amateurs.

The Dukes of Dixieland turned in a sparkler, though it was apparent that many in the audience would have settled for a little more Dixieland and less of recent hit tunes.

Comedian Rusty Ryan found a warm reception... both from the audience and the weatherman. He ran through much stock material, but many of his jokes were refreshingly new.

A survey of the audience indicated a desire to have Ryan's spot on the program sandwiched between the Dukes of Dixieland and Miss Shore in order to bring about a better balance of music and comedy.

The ever-popular Endmen, bolstered by a "new look" with top hat and tails, performed very well and drew customary groans with tried-and-true... though oft times stale... material.

Young Dan Silver from Forest Hills, a rookie with the Endmen, handled his role well as did another newcomer, Joe Vezino of Lowell. Veterans Forrest Buck, Loren Wohlford, Curt Chadwick and Dick McNeal made solid contributions.

Gerrit Lamain and the 100-voice Showboat Chorus backed the Endmen beautifully and stood out artfully in their rendering of the most famous of all Showboat songs, "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The entire effort was well-paced, due in large part to Interlocutor Gordy Gould, who managed to keep the introductions brief and to the point.

All in all, a fine production and one that should bring about both artistic and fiscal success to the 1968 Showboat.

DINAH SHORE IN ACTION

Dinah for Real, Reporter Finds

BY PATT BAMBRICK

As I sat there waiting for her to come, thoughts ran through my mind, the most prominent being:

"What in the world am I doing here?"

And then she came in... Dinah Shore! I really don't know what I expected my reaction to be, but it turned out to be one of shock.

Not at her appearance, for she was as lovely as she is pictured to be. And not at her manner, for she was as warm and gracious as anyone could be.

What then? Finally it dawned on me. She was real!

There was a time in my life, when rain or shine, foul weather or fine, I plunked myself down and watched Miss Dinah Shore every Sunday evening without fail, and loved every minute of it.

I had seen pictures of her, listened to recordings, read about her in the papers, and seen her on television.

But somehow all this exposure didn't really make her an individual person to me. Not like the gal across the street, or my sister, or any one who lived and breathed an everyday existence.

And now here she was. Close enough to reach out and touch.

Here was someone who had children to raise, and a job to do.

To us, a very glamorous job, and one that often seems to the greater portion of the population to be all glamour and excitement.

What then, does one talk about to Dinah Shore?

First of all, I asked the obvious question: Was she excited about doing the Lowell Showboat?

Her answer? A very definite "yes." She had at one time participated in minstrel shows back home in Nashville, Tennessee, and always love it. And she was really looking forward to this unique experience.

"Everything here is so wonderful and everyone has been so warm."

The discussion turned to children, and I asked if it was any more difficult to raise children being internationally known. Miss Shore thinks not.

"Out in California, where I live, there is somewhat the same situation that you have here. All of our kids go to the same school, so being Dinah Shore's child doesn't seem unusual at all. All the kids who are Jody's friends and classmates (Jody is her 14-year-old son) have a parent or both parents who are in some phase of show business."

Were her children going to be up here with her?

"Oh, I wish they could. I called Jody last night and said 'you'd just love it here. The whole first floor of the motel is a swimming pool.'

"But his friends had just gotten home from camp, and he wanted to spend some time with them. Missy is 19 now, and she has a job. I wouldn't do anything to interfere with that."

And so, too quickly, my interview with Dinah came to end.

She was indeed real, with children to raise, and a home to keep.

Never would she be classified as "just a housewife," but neither is she just a star. She is after all, a woman, and that says a lot.

Fate of School Budget In Voter's Hands Monday

A decision as to whether Lowell Area Schools will operate at near-normal levels for 1968-69 or be faced with an austerity budget will confront qualified district voters next Monday.

The Board of Education is seeking voter approval of a one-year levy of 3.3 mills to be used for operating expenses. This would be in addition to a seven-mill operating levy approved for three years in 1967.

A special public hearing on the proposed 1968-69 budget is scheduled this Sunday afternoon (August 25) at 2 p. m. in the Senior High School auditorium. Board members and school officials will be on hand to answer questions.

If approved, the new operating millage will permit the board to authorize a budget calling for approximately $1,310,000 for the coming school year.

Failure to win voter support, however, would probably force the board to adopt an austerity budget of $1,200,000. The latter would call for elimination of several school functions, including the entire athletic program, the nursing program (which has already been curtailed), elementary music and gym and some custodial maintenance expense.

The board has met repeatedly with Superintendent James C. Pace and other administrators in an effort to bring about financial stability.

In their most recent actions, board members reduced the administrative staff from nine to five and eliminated the position of business manager. In addition, the board released one nurse and a secretary.

Reduction of the administrative staff resulted in a saving of $31,000.

In all, approximately $58,000 was eliminated from the initial budget proposed by Pace for 1968-69.

The board is confronted with an accrued deficit of about $112,000, of which an estimated $25,000 is collectable from overdue taxes.

The remaining deficit of some $85,000 would be wiped out if the proposed 3.3 operating millage is approved in the special election.

An early meeting is planned following Monday's election at which the board will adopt the budget dictated by the voters.

A Time for Decision

Next Monday, August 26, qualified electors in the Lowell Area School District will be asked to approve a special 3.3 mill tax levy for one year to help support operating costs for 1968-69.

The decision to seek voter support was reached after many hours of study by the Board of Education.

It was a decision not easy to make in view of ever-increasing taxes and the need for additional support at some date in the near future to assume increased bonded indebtedness for a new middle school.

The hour of determining a budget for the coming school year is imminent. For this reason, the board no doubt will follow the dictates of the electorate.

In simplest language, it will be up to the voters to decide whether Lowell schools will operate at near-normal educational levels or whether the system must tighten its fiscal belt.

It is a decision that demands response from a majority of voters.

Your vote... whether pro or con... is required.

Revive Ambulance Service Plan for Lowell

Lowell city officials are scheduled to meet with members of the Kent County Board of Supervisors Public Safety Committee in the near future to discuss a possible interim ambulance service for southeastern Kent County.

The city council agreed at its Monday meeting, after discussing the matter with Supervisor Walter Gumsier of Lowell, to meet with William Wurst, chairman of the committee, and Kent County Deputy Comptroller Frank Evans on September 9 at 7:30 p. m. in city hall.

In a letter to the council, Wurst noted that several tentative plans for servicing the entire county with private ambulances had apparently reached an impasse and that something must be done to provide adequate protection for Lowell-area residents.

City Manager Bernard C. Olson advised the council that all possible is being done to bring the city's sanitary landfill operation, located three miles east in Ionia County, up to new state standards.

Olson said that the Ionia County Health Department, in

Classes Resume Sept. 5

Those students who are new to this district and who have not already registered are requested to do so next week beginning Monday (Aug. 26).

All elementary student registrations (kindergarten thru fifth grades) will be taken at Runciman and Alto elementary schools; Junior High registrations (6th grade through 8th) will be taken at the Junior High, and Senior High students (9th through 12th grades) who have not yet registered should go to the Senior High office.

Next week's issue of the Ledger will carry complete details of the actual school opening.

a recent inspection trip, was not satisfied that the operation was meeting specifications. Ionia County will forward its recommendation to the state following another inspection Friday.

Council also received bids on a new lift station in the west end of the city, but deferred action pending additional bids.

A meeting with the Public Service Commission was scheduled this Thursday morning at the C&O-Main Street crossing to discuss ways to improve safety equipment at the site, scene of a multiple-death crash in May.

The city manager told council that bids calling for installation of curb and gutters on Laurie Gail Avenue, approved by petition of home owners recently, will not be taken until the Valley Vista No. 5 project is ready for similar installation.

Olson pointed out that the joint project probably would result in savings for the home owners and for Lowell Development Corporation, which is developing new homes in Valley Vista.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
 On Monday, August 26, our schools will be looking to us for a mature responsible decision. Everyone has been experiencing the pressure of continually rising costs, added taxes and incomes consisting of dollars which buy less and less goods and services. Thus, the call for additional millage to operate our schools for the coming year comes at a time when most people have just about "had it" with such matters.

It is small comfort to be reminded that Lowell's operating millage is presently one of the lowest in Kent County. Even though we appreciate the many, many hours of careful evaluation and effort given by our school board, it is still not really very heartening to hear them announce that an additional 3.3 mills is a necessity if we are to continue to have a reasonably adequate educational program for our children.

Unfortunately for our children, the probable initial reaction of many area citizens to this request for additional operating millage is going to be negative. It's going to take a great deal of objectivity and mature thinking on the part of our community for this needed asking to pass. Nobody likes the idea of an increased expense. Even a slight increase on top of what we're already paying is bound to be viewed as an unfair burden and in the same category as "the straw that broke the camel's back." Because we can anticipate this rather common emotional "no" reaction, it is imperative that Christians think this issue through carefully and in accord with the spirit of seeking the highest good for all concerned.

Is it really "Christian" for a community to deprive its children and youth of the kind of educational opportunities that are possible and essential if the challenges of today's and tomorrow's world are to be met? Is it really "Christian" to force the school board to institute a drastic austerity budget, curtailing many valuable current services and programs simply because we're tired of "taxes" and "dollars for dollars" we probably get the most for our money from the taxes and assessments that go to finance local services. If our quarrel is with the heavy burdens being carried as a result of taxes for federal and other non-local spending, is it fair to take out our frustration on our local schools and the children they serve?

One thing more... when School board elections, or special recall elections, are better ways to express disapproval with past or present policies, than by eliminating the desirable school programs.

Yes, you could inconvenience the board and make their job more difficult. But the real victims would be 2,000 youngsters, and this community's pride and self-esteem about fulfilling its obligations to its youthful citizens.

Last year's deficit must be made up this year, or else the state can take over and assign us to another district. We could be paying the Ford if we cannot take care of our own Hills tax rate next year "school-house."

Think it over.

Currently they are in the process of recruiting new members, with openings in many positions including horn and drum players and ten girls for the color guard and banner line.

A fee of five dollars is requested upon joining the corps. An initiation fee of two dollars is included in this, plus the first three month membership dues. Dues are then one dollar per month.

Area Student Witness to Riots in Paris

BY SHIRLEY DYGERT

"The students are rioting in the streets of Paris again."

This cry in the headlines of the world repeats itself often these days.

John Banta, Spaulding Ave., a student of Hiram (O.) College, has just returned from a year of study in the west of France at Nantes. He was present when the students of the nation triggered strikes that crippled a third of France's working forces.

But John is quick to emphasize that the students who continue to stir up trouble in Paris are not those who seriously want reform in the colleges and universities last spring.

If he had reacted in a more powerful manner at the beginning, John feels that much of the disruption of the country would not have taken place. Later when De Gaulle did not take a strong enough stand when he first returned to Paris during the spring riots. He looked old and tired, they felt, when he appeared on television and appealed to his countrymen for law and order.

"Those who carry the black flag are ideologically oriented anarchists," said John. "They just keep going, although they do not seem to know where they are bound. The elections were a reaffirmation of what went on before as far as they were concerned, but they have no program of their own."

John explained that last spring's uprisings by students was a matter of discontent among students at the way exams were conducted.

A student studies a full year, he notes, without a re-evaluating exam to tell him how well or how poorly he is progressing. In the spring, he may suddenly find that he is failing, and his only recourse is to cram for an exam that he may take the following September.

John's sympathies were with the students in this matter. He felt that real reform was necessary and that these uprisings on the part of concerned students had no connection with the wild and repeated battles of Paris.

"You must understand that Paris is an intellectual center, industry is on the outskirts," he says. "There are thousands at the core of the city who are studying or in business who have nothing to do with the anarchy, but who become irked whenever they see the black flag. A few dedicated nuts can worry many, especially when the few do not really know what they would replace the present government with even if they should succeed to power."

Those around John, including his French brother, felt that President DeGaulle did not take a strong enough stand when he first returned to Paris during the spring riots. He looked old and tired, they felt, when he appeared on television and appealed to his countrymen for law and order.

According to Kent County Sheriff's deputies, the car hit the shoulder on the left side, hit a guard rail, then rolled over three times in the center median. He had failed to use safety belts.

Lantz died of a broken neck, according to county medical examiner Dr. Ramon B. Lang.

Lantz was a resident of Troy. He and his wife had driven to Grand Rapids to spend a weekend with friends.

The hearing will be held in the Holiday Inn, in Kalamazoo beginning at 1:30 p. m.

The new standards, adopted January 4, are designed to maximize the usefulness of the state's water resource for all citizens. Although some additional standards are included for application to inland lakes, these standards are similar to those adopted in June, 1967, for interstate waters, including the Great Lakes.

Information on present and prospective future uses of the waters involved will be presented at the hearing. At a subsequent meeting, the Commission will then designate the uses to be protected within the drainage basins of the Grand River, the Black River at Holland, the Black River at South Haven, the Kalamazoo River, the Paw Paw River and minor tributaries to lower Lake Michigan between Grand Haven and the Michigan-Indiana state line.

Club news, coming events and social items must be submitted by noon on Monday.

Urge New Students to Enroll

Coho Run Nearing in State Rivers

Two great groups are converging for a confrontation in Michigan like two giant locomotives roaring in opposite directions on the same track.

As of this date for the July 4 weekend, another state area has been selected for intensified enforcement in the eight-lives, the highest on record for that weekend and one of the state's worst holiday accidents, claimed forty-eight lives, the highest on record for that weekend and one of the state's worst holiday accidents, claimed forty-eight lives, the highest on record for that weekend and one of the state's worst holiday accidents, claimed forty-eight lives.

Last year, Labor Day period accidents claimed forty-eight lives, the highest on record for that weekend and one of the state's worst holiday accidents, claimed forty-eight lives.

One of these groups, the Coho Run, is moving up Lake Michigan in vast numbers, intent on seeking out spawning streams. Nature has built into each individual salmon a mechanism that procreation takes place where, himself was hatched and raised. The salmon will go to great ends to return to his spawning waters to start his own family.

The other group, the fishermen, have a built-in compulsion to catch fish and they will go to great lengths to do this.

A total of 43 other permits for small buildings and additions also have been issued with valuation set at $108,133, according to Mrs. Bokkamp.

Killed when he lost control of his car was Jerry A. Lantz, 32, who was to have celebrated his birthday the same day.

Lantz was thrown clear from the car as it overturned in the eastbound lane of I-96 between the 28th Street exit and the Kraft Avenue overpass.

According to Kent County Sheriff's deputies, the car hit the shoulder on the left side, hit a guard rail, then rolled over three times in the center median. He had failed to use safety belts.

Set Hearing Aug. 28 on Water Usage

The State Water Resources Commission next Wednesday (August 28) will hold the 3rd in a series of public hearings to designate the specific water uses to be protected by Michigan's new standards of water quality for inland lakes and streams.

With high volume traffic expected over the Labor Day weekend, the Michigan State Police will operate special highway patrols from noon, Friday, August 30, to midnight, Monday, September 2.

As was the case for the July 4 weekend, another state area has been selected for intensified enforcement in the eight-lives, the highest on record for that weekend and one of the state's worst holiday accidents, claimed forty-eight lives, the highest on record for that weekend and one of the state's worst holiday accidents, claimed forty-eight lives.

Last year, Labor Day period accidents claimed forty-eight lives, the highest on record for that weekend and one of the state's worst holiday accidents, claimed forty-eight lives.

One of these groups, the Coho Run, is moving up Lake Michigan in vast numbers, intent on seeking out spawning streams. Nature has built into each individual salmon a mechanism that procreation takes place where, himself was hatched and raised. The salmon will go to great ends to return to his spawning waters to start his own family.

The other group, the fishermen, have a built-in compulsion to catch fish and they will go to great lengths to do this.

GR Township Sets Fast Building Pace

Just as with its neighboring communities, Grand Rapids Township has issued 77 permits for new residential dwellings at a total valuation of $1,588,500. Commercial development in the township has added $290,000 to the year's totals. Included were such major projects as the new Union Bank branch office on Cascade Rd. ($30,000), an addition at Forest Hills Shop-Rite ($85,000), an indoor movie at Northtown Center ($20,000) and the O'Brien Funeral Home at Cascade Road and East Paris Avenue ($145,000).

A total of 43 other permits for small buildings and additions also have been issued with valuation set at $108,133, according to Mrs. Bokkamp.

Court Nominee Seeks Incumbent Designation

A candidate for judge of the newly-created 63rd District Court, Second Division, is taking the Kent County Board of Election Commissioners to court in an effort to win a designation of "incumbent" on the November general election ballot.

Edward D. Wells, veteran East Grand Rapids municipal judge, is the complainant.

Kent County Circuit Court Judge John H. VanderWal set a hearing for 1:30 p. m. Friday.

The Board of Election Commissioners was ordered to show cause why Wells' name cannot appear on the November 5 ballot with the designation of incumbent.

In his complaint, Wells contends that he asked the board to be designated as an incumbent municipal judge on the August 4 primary ballot and that he had been advised by Bronkema that the request would be honored.

However, Bronkema later told Wells that State Director of Elections Bernard Apol had issued an order, based on a recent opinion by Attorney General Frank Kelley that such designation could not be allowed, to strike the wording from the proposed ballot.

Wells is seeking an early ruling and hearing in order to have time for an appeal.

Wells and Joseph B. White, East Grand Rapids attorney, were successful candidates in a five-man runoff in the recent primary.

The board is made up of County Clerk Jack Bronkema, chairman; and County Treasurer Henry Romney and Probate Judge A. Dale Stoppels.

A scheduled November opening of the new Cascade Twin Drive-In theater has been set back at least several months following collapse of one of the giant screens in high winds last Friday.

The construction worker who observed the collapse said that it appeared the wind caught the screen "just like the sail of a boat and blew it over."

The $120,000 project, started recently by Redstone Drive-In Theaters, Inc. of Boston, was scheduled for completion in November.

It is located at 5060 23th Street SE in Cascade Township.

The Commission said the detour will be in effect until November.

Bath Heads House Study Committee

State Representative Martin D. Butth (R-Comstock Park) speaker pro tem of the Michigan House, has been appointed to head an effort to improve the legislative operations of the House.

Butth was named by House Speaker Robert E. Waldron (R-Grosse Pointe) as chairman of a bipartisan special committee of top House leaders from both parties which will make the study.

Some of the major items to be reviewed, according to Butth, will be the Standing Committee system of the House, and internal procedures for passage of legislation in the House.

Place High in 4-H Fair

Several 4-H groups that participated in the fair held this past week in Lowell are lauded in this area, and have many young people who placed extremely well with their exhibits and livestock.

Carol Wittenbach, of the Lowell Saddlettes, placed first in the Park Seat, English Division, first in English Horsemanship and Grand Champion English horse with her saddlebred gelding, Diana's Billy Fortne.

Carol was ineligible for state show, having gone two previous years, and was classed in the group of 15 and 16 year olds plus those of any age who cannot return again to state show and won the trophy which is offered to high point girl in this class.

Many other members of the Saddlettes did well with their horses, and the club as a whole received second place "high point" trophy, missing only by one-tenth of a point in the top rating.

Jim Dykstra of Ada exhibited his bull Little Red, who walked away with top honors and became the year's Grand Champion, while Jim received accolades for his showmanship. The steer was purchased by the Lou DeYoung Market of Grand Rapids, and went for $56 a pound.

The Snow Community 4-H Club had entrants in clothing, dog care, photography, creative arts, foods and nutrition, the young chef, and teen leader.

As a whole the club did very well, with the vast majority receiving the Bob Wittenbach Memorial Trophy from Everett (Steve) Wittenbach. The trophy was initiated this year in memory of the former 4-H champion who was killed in a recent traffic accident.

Award Memorial Trophy

Things didn't seem quite the same around the horse barns at the 4-H Fair this year.

Bob Wittenbach was a nine-year veteran of the fair. During those years, he was an outstanding participant in horse activities as well as a member of the judging team.

He was a fine horse trainer of the group receiving A ratings on their projects.

Stark's Raiders, another local group, had several entrants in the horse events, and almost without exception received A ratings on their animals, with many of their members placing in the top three places of the many arenas of competition.

In 1967 he was awarded the 4-H Fair High Point trophy for his accomplishments with Bill's Pep.

Earlier this year Bob Wittenbach was killed in a traffic mishap. A memorial trophy has been instituted and will be awarded to the 4-H'er who earns the most points in horse activities during the fair. This year it will be presented to Carol Munson of Ada.

He was a young man who, although busy himself, was always willing to help other youngsters with their horses, and one who had a friendly smile and courteous word for everyone.

The trophy is a memorial to a fine young man, not only to an individual, but also in

A New Orleans visitor was injured early Sunday morning when the car she was driving skidded out of control on South Hudson Street in Lowell and rolled over.

Police reported that Mary Baughn, 22, suffered minor injuries in the mishap. A passenger in the car, Earl Wieland of Lowell, escaped uninjured, according to the report.

Launch Grid Drills Monday

Prep football returns to the local sports scene next week when griders at Forest Hills and Lowell high schools answer the call for opening practice Monday morning.

Two-a-day sessions are scheduled in both training camps as preparations get underway for season openers on September 13.

Coach Frank Rosengren and his staff will greet Forest Hills varsity candidates at 8:45 a. m. Monday with junior varsity players following at 9 o'clock and the freshmen at 9:30.

All Lowell players will convene at 9 a. m. to meet Coach Jerry Smith and his assistants.

Both grid pilots are new to the head coaching positions this season. Smith was elevated to the No. 1 spot at Lowell to replace Charles Pierce after seven years, as an assistant while Rosengren moves to Forest Hills from St. Johns as a replacement for Bob Dangl.

Both mentors face rebuilding jobs in an effort to bring their squads back from disastrous 1967 seasons.

Lowell managed but one victory in eight starts last fall while Forest Hills picked up victories in its last two outings after six straight defeats.

The Rangers, in fact, had gone 18 straight games without a win before snapping their streak in late October.

Smithy on Sports BY FRAN SMITH

A few weeks back, there was mention here of Julius Boros and how much old bones like the Smithy appreciate what this 48-year-old golfer has done to show up those long-hitting youngsters we all envy so much.

All of which made Sunday's TV viewing of the Westchester Classic the more savory! Keep it up, Julie baby. At least for another year or two!

***

The past weekend was spent at Silver Lake CC where we joined banker Keith Caldwell in 36 holes of best-ball competition.

What happened to us wasn't worth writing home about, but we did manage to make the championship flight in Saturday's qualifier. On Sunday, though, the putts just wouldn't drop.

Not bad... not good. But fun.

Tempus really fugits. Can you believe that football is fast upon us, with practice opening Monday for both area high school teams and registration next week for the Forest Hills-Thornapple entry in the South Kent Recreation League for youngsters 8-13.

Lowell 'Y' Splashes to Many New Marks

The Lowell YMCA swim team completed its 1968 season last weekend with the annual Mid-Michigan Swim League conference meet at the Jolly Roger pool in Grand Rapids.

The local swimmers racked up their highest point total ever in a league meet, and took more first place ribbons than ever before, in amassing 332 points for fourth place in the team standings.

Other team scores were: Holland South Side Swim Club 457½, Jolly Roger Swim Club 413½, and Northville Park 370.

The 100-meter medley relay for girls 10-and-under, composed of Becky Gerard, Gerry Smith, Perri Eickhoff and Maureen Doyle, splashed to a narrow victory in the team record time of 1:32.9.

Another Lowell victory featured the 14-and-under girls 100-meter medley relay. A blistering third leg of the relay by Margo Norton, who clocked 15.2 seconds for the 25-meter butterfly portion, regained the lead for the Lowell girls, and Karen Reagan held on in the last freestyle length for a judge's decision over the Jolly Roger girls team in the time of 1:13.2. The other swimmers on this championship quartet were Jane Reagan and Sally Doyle.

In the individual entries, Rusty Steffens brought home two titles for Lowell in 11-and-12 boys competition, winning the 50-meter freestyle in 33.8 seconds and lowering his own team record in capturing the 50-meter backstroke in 42.7.

In 11-and-12 girls competition, Nancie Gwathkin concluded an outstanding season by winning the 50-meter backstroke in 41 seconds flat, clipping two full seconds off the previous conference record. She also captured second in the 50-meter freestyle, and lowered her team record in the 50-meter butterfly to 40.5 seconds.

Rob Christiansen came from behind in the 8-and-under boys 25-meter backstroke to annex his first league championship with a team record time of 24.8 seconds.

Outstanding efforts by Karen Reagan and Margo Norton netted the 14-and-under girls 200-meter freestyle relay team to Lowell's final blue ribbons. Sally Doyle and Louise Doyle rounded out this foursome which churned to a team record time of 2:25.2 for the eight length relay race.

Many other team records were established by local swimmers including: 6-and-under girls, Patty Courser, 24.7 seconds for 25 meter freestyle; 14-and-under girls, Karen Reagan, 1:18.7 for 100 meter freestyle, Sally Doyle, 46.0 for 50 meter breaststroke, and Brenda Fish, 40.3 for 50 meter butterfly.

Forest Hills Hi-Lites

BY SHIRLEY DYBERT

Among the hundreds of boats that ply their ways between Macatawa and Saugatuck Sunday was the Hi-Timer of Kentwood owned by George Patton. On board with him were Bruce Patton, Sharon, Judy, Leslie, David, and Brian and Steve Hess. The last two had just returned from Camp Shawandossee where Steve was Sharpshooter of the week.

D'ja ever see a pair of shocking pink panties with black lace trim flying from the flag pole on a golf green?

Members of the Women's Western Michigan Golf Association who went to the tournament at Otwelligan discovered one such on each green all of the way around. The clubhouse was unusually decorated tee with fresh flowers sprouting from real golf shoes, spikes and all, on every table.

Members representing both Hickory Hills and Forest Hills Women's Golf Leagues who walked off with honors and prizes to match were:
1st Flight, Low Net, Tommy Price; 2nd Flight, Low Net, Phyl Stovall; 3rd Flight, Low Net, Barb Braendle; 6th Flight, Low Net, Dottie Baxter; 2nd Low Gross, Sylvia King; 2nd Low Net, Marie Cline; and 7th Flight, 2nd Low Net, Sylvia Johnson.

Others who enjoyed coffee and rolls before teeing off were: Jan Bowie, Glenna Hula, Barb Champion, Dorothy Hall, and Mary Lou Schueller. A buffet luncheon was served after which Jane Briendenfeld, Spaulding Ave., president of the association, conducted the final meeting of the season. Also attending were: Cheryl Brown, Sharon Morse, June Van Strein, and Jean Houlding.

MRS. JAMES ZWEDYK

Hawaiian Honeymoon

Miss Lynn Watson and James P. Zweedyk took their solemn wedding vows at the altar of the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in Honolulu, Hawaii, August 6th.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Watson Jr. of Grand Rapids, and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Zweedyk of Honolulu.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheath gown of off-white linen with empire waist, elbow length sleeves and narrow back panel trimmed in scrolled Viennese lace. With this she wore a floor length muftilla veil encircled in the same lace.

Bill and Donna DeFouw, and Gus and Madi Richter.

A profusion of yellow and white mums filled the home of Jack and Pat Van Romien when they held a Hunt Breakfast for thirty friends. Instead of the traditional pink coats, guests arrived in crisp cottons and linens in a variety of hues.

The "hunt" part of the celebration was simply the finding of their new house, the breakfast was not so simple. Mounds of fresh fruits and steaming chaffing dishes filled with everything from eggs to shrimp gave an appropriate beginning to a full day of lazy swimming rich conversation, and sheer relaxation.

***
On Saturday Bill Manus and Sandi Best will be wed in Flint, Michigan. Here visiting the George Manus family proceeding the marriage is his grandmother, Mrs. Ann Manus of New York City.

Also here for the week of festivities are his Uncle William Manus, his Aunt Lynne, and their two young daughters, Susan and Beth all of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

***
James Du Vall, son of Mr. and Mrs. William DuVall, Buttrick Ave. has just returned from Germany where he has been serving in the armed forces. Jim has now received his discharge and will be at home to old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Phillip celebrated their 22rd Wedding anniversary on Saturday evening with guests from Detroit and Ada.

The bride's bouquet was of native Hawaiian flowers — white anthurium, baby orchids and a flowing wreath of Pi-take, the bride's flower of the islands.

Attending the bride was Miss Christine Nozal, and serving the bridegroom was David Byerly, both of Grand Rapids.

The newlyweds will make their home in Honolulu.

MRS. DAVID PRUSAK

St. Robert of Newminister Catholic Church in Ada was the scene Friday, August 16, of the wedding of Jo Ann Meier and David Prusak. Honor attendants were Sue Meier and Todd MacIntyre. The couple, who are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Meier of 3500 Goodwood Drive, SE, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Prusak of 2443 Linda Avenue, SE, will be at home at 515 Fessica, SE, in Kentwood following a northern wedding trip.

Rushmore and the Crazy Horse pageant of South Dakota highlighted their trip. They took a scenic drive through the Custer State Park on the well-known Needles Highway.
