My own limited experience in public service has convin-ced me that literally hundreds of electors in this community both men and women, will vote in such blind fashion as to justify the suggestion they stay home! None of us should merely act on intuition or "by guess and b'gosh" at the polls. I can readily sympathize with those who react to what appears to be just so much legal hocus-pocus and unnec-essary technical phrasing. The of intelligent persons who still have not grasped clearly that, with this election, we are inaugurating an entirely new un-it of county government, con-sisting of a greatly-reduced number of representatives se-lected by equal population dis-tricts. Until now, we've merely used geographic boundaries (townships, citles, villages).

With the new board being chosen on a dem-ocratic basis and comprised of persons having no other gov-ernment responsibilities, it is hoped the new unit will func-tion with good success.

Following the 1970 census, the districts will be re-balan-ced; by then it is expected the members of the county governing unit will have become known as commissioners, to differentiate them from the ownship supervisors.

The election of our new county supervisor is an important part of the local gov-ernment scene. Wasn't it Aristotle who said it is better to e goverhed by a good man than even by good laws?

Forest Hills HI-Liles

BY SHIRLEY DYGERT

If post-game observations are a criteria, there should be a full house this Friday for the Homecoming Game be-tween Forest Hills and West Ottawa.

After last week's win by the Rangers over Wyoming Park, the main topic of conversation throughout the area was just how well the Green and White had done. One excited parent, in fact, even went so far as to suggest that Michigan State University might be a logical opponent at some future date!

That might be stretching things a bit ... but it is nice to see that folks are getting behind the athletic program.

So don't forget Friday ... there will be bands, floats and other events of interest. Plus the big dance Saturday. Get in on the fun! ***

There is a Second Best and Bake Goods sale coming on October 19 at the Ada Township Hall from 9-5. It will feature clothing for all ages, fur-niture and household items. This will be sponsored by the Ada PTO and the hard-working members are looking for contributions. These can be left at the hall the day before the sale or you can call Arden Bowes at 676-4921 or Dortha Forslund at 676-9423 for a pick-

Aerials Net Two Markers BY FRAN SMITH

Things just don't seem to be etting any easier for Coach lerry Smith and his Lowell High football Arrows.

Just when it appeared that defending Tri-River champion Rockford might not boast the powerhouse of old, the Rams turned in a stunning 33-20 up-set of Greenville last week.

The Arrows, meanwhile, went down to a 19-12 defeat at the hands of Sparta in a well-contested game that saw Lowell battling into the final seconds search of a tie, Tomorrow night, the Arrows will seek to break out of their winless ways when they invade Rockford for a conference game at 7:30 p. m.

If there is to be a turning point in the '68 campaign for Lowell, it may have come midway in the final quarter against Sparta.

Trailing by a 13-0 count, the Arrows broke into the scoring column in a most excitingand unusual-way.

Quarterback Mitch McMahon, apparently trapped for a long loss after having just completed a 2-yard pass to End Gale Schmidt, broke toward the sidelines and looked upfield. Standing at the Sparta 36 was End Ted Hoseth with only one defender for com-

McMahon reared back and let fly a high lob that Hoseth leaped to catch. Hoseth eluded his man and scampered into the end zone to make it 13-6. When Schmidt's run for the extra point missed, there was still hope ... and 6:24 left on the clock.

Sparta failed to move fol-lowing the kickoff and Half-back Rick Krause punted the ball dead on the Lowell 14.

McMahon lost six yards on a pass attempt and failed to gain on a thrust over center, leaving Lowell with a thirdand-16 situation on its own eight.

But McMahon then hit End Curt Fonger in the right at the 30-yard line and lanky flanker took off to complete a 92-yard scoring play with nary a Sparta hand being Fullback Ken Koth Talled to negotiate the extra-point try on a run and the score was 13-12 for Sparta with 3:36 remaining in the game.

On the ensuing kickoff, End Sid Blaauw gathered in the short kick and reached the Lo-well 48 where it appeared he had fumbled. However, the of-ficials ruled the ball dead and handed Lowell a 15-yard penficials ruled the ball dead and handed Lowell a 15-yard pen-alty for objecting to the quick Lowell Sparta

This set Sparta on its way to the clinching score with Halfback Mike Andrus scoot-out to cap a 22-yard drive foling off tackle from the four-yard line with just 30 seconds remaining. kept nearer the knee. ML

The key should be what's right for you? Have fun, try them all on, but take a friend you trust, who won't flatter you but tell you the truth, the honest truth, of course, about how you look in this or that. Of course no friend, no matter how intimate, would ever tell you some truths. Which is why no gal should ever neglect to use a good deodorant like Desert Dri - a cream with its own applicator.

Perhaps the answer will come next Spring. Chances are variety will continue to be the spice of life, and age will not be as important as it has been in the past. There are limits of course, as to how high grandna can wear the hemline, but by and large, the tendency is more and more on your figure, rather than your age. The mini is simply not for some shapes, whether over or under thirty. And even a young, slim figure might be more enhanced when the hem is Midi or Mini? That is the guestion this fall as the American female ponders the hemline
