Emergency Medical Service coming to Lowell

Rockford Ambulance, an affiliate of the Kent County Emergency Medical Service which has been in business for 20 years, starting Aug. 22 will provide Lowell with a pre-hospital emergency medical service.

Currently ambulance units from Grand Rapids respond to Lowell calls.

"We're here to enhance the emergency service and quality of life in Lowell," Director of Rockford Ambulance, Roger Morgan said. "The ambulance service will be a totally different operation from Lowell Rescue. We will work separately."

The ambulance service has been in the making for roughly nine months. Morgan said that the city and Vergennes Township have been supportive. "I first contacted Lowell Police Chief Barry Emmons about the concept and then we went to the city and township," he said.

The cost to each entity will be $3,000 a year. The director of Rockford Ambulance added that a one paramedic ambulance fully equipped cost $80,000.

Lowell will have a pre-hospital emergency medical service starting Aug. 22, thanks to the efforts of the city and Vergennes township. Front from left are Lowell Police Chief Barry Emmons, City Manager Dave Pasquale, Joel Airy, back, left to right, Jim Cook, Roger Morgan and Dan Gillespie.

The Lowell ambulance service will be incorporating a family membership. "We will be sending out applications for household coverage. The cost will be $29 a year for unlimited transportation," Morgan said. "There will not be any out-of-the-pocket costs."

Rockford Ambulance now services nine townships in the north-east Kent County area -- Al-goma, Cannon, Gratton, Oakfield, Nelson, Spencer, Solon, Plainfield, Courtland and starting Aug. 22 Lowell. The coverage area includes the cities of Belmont, Rockford, Cedar Springs and Sand Lake.

"With the Lowell ambulance there will be a better opportunity for community identity," Morgan said.

He added that Dan Gillespie, now a supervisor at Rockford, will be the operation manager.

Korky "clowns" around at the fair

As a youngster, Stephen White used a small short legged hound -- a happy, big baby beagle named Korky -- to talk to during tough times and to curl up with at night.

Life as a tot wasn't easy. White lost his dad at the age of 10 in a car accident. That's traumatic for any child, but for a young boy who was deep into his own little shell, and very much introverted, the trauma possibly settled a little deeper.

However, Korky was that release, that someone to talk to, something that could create a smile on that boyish face, turn a look of pain into a boyish grin. You know that story about a man (boy) and his dog.

It's a funny how things work. Today, White, under the assumed name of Korky the Clown, entertains, amuses and makes children laugh from the east coast all the way to the Mississippi.

Whether it be through magic, music or just simply clowning around, Korky the Clown has put a charge of laughter into many boys and girls.

"Children coming up to you and giving you a hug is a feeling matched by none," White said. "It really charges your battery." Korky the Clown performed at the Kent County 4-H Youth Fair from Aug. 8 through the 13th, performing each day at 3, 6:30 and 7:30 p.m.

While his magic of laughter has rubbed off onto many youngsters, White has managed to grasp some of Korky for himself.

Korky has allowed White to come full circle, and break free of his shell. "I guess Korky has allowed me to do funny things and make a fool of myself and feel good about it," he says.

Meanwhile, White has given Korky a background, a childhood life, something that children and adults can relate to.

White's initiation into clown-hood came at the age of 18. He worked as a fireman for the fire department in Morris, Ill. and when the fire department entered a horse-drawn fire engine in the parade, the department decided it needed someone following behind them to clean up.

Enter White -- knowing of the harassment friends might bestow on him, he decided a costume was needed to save face.

"Along with the clown outfit came the name BoBo, all clowns back then were named BoBo," White says. From this 1973 local parade stint White's vocation-to-be was born.

In 1974 he did another parade; in 1975 a Easter program, which included a 30-minute magic show; after six-months of hibernation, he did a birthday party and then in 1974 he started G.B.A. Attractions -- the birth of Korky the clown.

The company has been pretty good, 12 years later it's still going, and from Lowell it was on its way to Indianapolis, IN for the Indiana State Fair.

Cornerstone Church sponsors concert in the park

Comparisons are nice. They tell us who sounds like who and what looks like what. But when four Christian musicians from Kalamazoo put together a sound so unique and refreshing that it defies any establishment mold, then what?

Living Proof, with the recent release of their album "Here's to Life", has carved a niche for themselves in the melodic hearts of the Midwest. With a touch of Jazz, a little R&B, a hint of gospel, and a truckload of energy they sing about the joys and trials of a pilgrim's progress.

If you're old enough to moon walk or young enough to tap your foot, you won't want to miss Living Proof... simply because it's time you heard some contemporary Christian Music that defies comparison. Living Proof will perform in concert on Sunday evening, August 21 at 7 p.m. at the pavilion in Fallsburg Park, on Lincoln Lake Avenue, north of Lowell.

Living Proof is being brought to Lowell by Cornerstone Community Church. Though Cornerstone is Lowell's newest church, in the last year and one-half it has established itself as a growing, non-denominational church for the unchurched.

Weekly services combine contemporary music, audio-visual presentations, drama, and audience participation with teaching from the Bible that is designed to make a difference in the lives of men and women who come looking for answers to questions about themselves and God, searching for hope in facing conflicts at work or at home, or just seeking a fresh start in life.

Services are never the same from week to week. The atmosphere is sometimes light and informal. At other times the spirit becomes intense as honest doubts are raised, questions are asked, or members openly discuss personal struggles or needs.

Always the services are a celebration of faith in the God of the Bible who members are convinced is alive and at work in their daily lives. Cornerstone Community Church of Lowell meets in the Lowell Middle School (12675 Foreman SE) each Sunday morning at 10 a.m. Questions about the church or the concert can be answered by calling 897-6477.

Lisa Dukakis visits Lincoln School on campaign tour

Lisa Dukakis spent some time with the less fortunate children at Lincoln School during her travels through Michigan last week.

Lisa Dukakis, daughter-in-law of Democratic presidential nominee Michael Dukakis, made a few stops along the campaign trail in Michigan (Battle Creek, Lansing, Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids) Friday, Aug. 12, talking about education. Dukakis, 32, visited Lincoln School checking out the facilities that are used to train and educate roughly 290 trainable mentally impaired, severely mentally impaired and severely multiply impaired students. "The quality of care here is good -- that is very noticeable through the students," she said. For every nine students at Lincoln School there are two professionals and an aide. What was also very noticeable to the students and Maureen Slade, director of special education for Grand Rapids Public Schools, was the ease with which Dukakis interacted with the students. "She interacted with them very naturally. You could tell she has had experience," Slade said. Dukakis studied in special education prior to a five-year European modeling career. "Teachers are not paid well. No one is going into teaching. For us to be first internationally, we must be first in the classroom," Dukakis said.

The cost to run Lincoln School a year is 2.3 million. That money is sought through state, federal, local aid. According to Slade, money is also forwarded to the school through the special education millage. Slade said that over the last five years there has been more money at the state level, but there has also been more kids. She adds that because of the increased enrollment, proportion-

Lisa Dukakis, daughter-in-law of Michael Dukakis, is on tour concentrating on the educational outlook of the country.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

...let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name (Hebrews 13:15).

Any person who sews knows that most material has two sides - right and wrong. The pattern in the material is brighter and clearer on the right side. Occasionally, however, the wrong side of the material appears more attractive, but this is most unusual.

A number of people go through life looking at the wrong side of the material, so to speak. They see everything that is unpleasant. They continually fret over the injustices done to them by others and the wrong deal the world has dealt them. It makes one wonder if they aren't happy being unhappy.

Then there are those who concentrate on the right side of living. Life may have been equally hard, if not harder, for them than for their whining neighbors, but they refuse to succumb to self-pity and melancholy. They continually look for the good and praise the Lord for everything. Grandma Woodman lived in a tumble-down shack down by the river bottom. She had little money, but her habitual greeting was "Praise the Lord." No matter what happened, she exclaimed, "Praise the Lord." On her death bed she summoned strength to raise her hand feebly and whisper, "Praise the Lord." Prayer: Dear Lord, I shall praise Thee for all Thou hast done for me. I praise Thee - now, I shall - always. Amen.

He gave me a song; 'twas a new song of praise. By day and by night its sweet notes I will raise. My heart's overflowing; I'm happy and free. I'll praise my Redeemer, who has rescued me.

In The Service

Richard H. Palmer, son of John and Gearnaldine Palmer of Lowell, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force upon graduation from officer training school at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. The 12-week course trained selected college graduates to apply communicative skills, professional knowledge, leadership and management in positions of responsibility. Palmer's wife, Cheryl, is the daughter of Dick and Barb Fox of Ukilah, Calif. The lieutenant graduated from Oak Park High School, Kansas City, Mo., in 1973, and in 1987 he received a bachelor's degree from Texas A&M University in College Station, Texas.

Wells Walker Jr. has entered the United States Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program. According to TSgt Kent Fillmore, an Air Force recruiter, Walker's entry into the Delayed Enlistment Program allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area. Walker will be a 1989 graduate of Lowell High School and will enter the United States Air Force on June 13, 1989. Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, he will receive technical training in the general area and be assigned to a duty station. The term drawing room is a shortening of the word withdrawing, for the room to which guests withdrew.

The Michigan Legislature adjourned for a late-summer recess last week after completing work on the 1988-89 budget, which comes in just under $6.7 billion dollars. The budget for the fiscal year beginning October 1 represents an increase of slightly less than 2 percent over this year's spending.

Combined with a current year surplus estimate of $5.8 million, the projected balance for next year will be about $10 million. However, the Senate Fiscal Agency estimates that revenues will be several million dollars higher.

In addition to approving next year's budget, major Legislative accomplishments included passage of a 69-bill anti-crime package, tighter restrictions on public smoking, and close agreement on an extensive package of bills to crack down on dangerous trucks and drivers.

Other new laws will: --restore Michigan's presidential primary, effective 1992 --allow criminal prosecution of pected to be resolved this fall and placed on the ballot in early 1989.

House Republicans are also unhappy that there was no action on product liability and unemployment insurance legislation. These laws are excessively punitive to Michigan's job providers and deter new employers, which in turn means a loss of employment for Michigan citizens. Since continuing jobs and new jobs are critical to Michigan's economic recovery and new growth, we must restructure these laws to create a welcome rather than hostile business environment. We must lower the high costs of doing business in Michigan if we are to remain economically competitive. husbands or wives who sexually assault their spouses --make it a misdemeanor to reveal the name of a customer and the video or audio cassette the

However, House Republicans are very disappointed that other important issues remain unresolved. High on the list are school finance reform and the environmental bonding issues.

Conference committee members remain at odds over differences in each measure, which effectively precludes the possibility of putting the measures before the voters in the November election. Both issues are ex-

Korky

In between the fairs and festivals White attends 10 months of the year with his wife, Becky and son, Jamie, 12, White finds an ever decreasing amount of time for children in hospitals. "I visited a little boy with leukemia around Easter time some years ago dressed as an Easter Bunny,"

White said. "The following day I went back as Korky the Clown because the family called and told me their boy had a bad night."

According to White, the boy died a couple weeks later, but the felt good knowing that for two days he helped the boy forget the pain with smiles and laughter.

"There are many clowns, but to be a good clown you must love kids," White said. "You also have to not only have fast hands but a fast show -- children want action."

Now for 12 years White has provided action for children, along with entertainment, laughter and a friend -- something a friend named Korky did for him.

Supplemental bill approved

Michigan's Revenue Sharing Act mandates any local government that can show the minimum 15 percent growth is eligible for increased revenue-sharing funds to keep up with the need for increased government services such as police and fire protection.

The first snag came last summer when the Governor vetoed those funds from the budget approved by the Legislature. A special Senate bill was introduced to restore those cuts. However, after winning Senate approval, it sat in a House committee so long, the deadline passed for taking any action on Senate-originated bills.

This time, Senate Republicans took a new tack and included the special census revenue-sharing funds in a supplemental spending bill. After so many failed attempts, we were holding our breath and crossing our fingers around the bill went to the Governor for his approval.

In the end, our persistence paid off because the Governor approved the supplemental bill -- lock, stock and barrel. I'm sure many of these communities had all but given up ever seeing this much-needed money. This time it's safe to say, the "check is in the mail."

Ledger Looking for Football Forecasters

With less than a month before the Lowell Red Arrows kick off their season at Ionia against the Bulldogs, the Ledger is gathering together a crew of prognosticators. Football soothsayers should have knowledge of the game -- thus one understands why gridiron tough-fans are being sought.

Each week a fan and the other fearless forecasters will attempt to forecast the outcome of games played that weekend.

If you're interested, the Ledger asks that you send a self addressed stamped envelope to the Ledger office (105 N. Broadway, Lowell, MI 49331) with your name, address and telephone number. All the entries will be thrown together in a hat and each week a name will be drawn.

Each lucky fan that has their name drawn must provide a head-and-shoulder picture of oneself or come to the office no later than 9:30 Tuesday morning and have a picture taken.

Below is a form that may be filled out and brought or mailed into the Ledger office in care of Thad Kraus.

Man injured in crash

Shawn Randall Duckett, 25, of Lowell sustained a bruised spinal column and a fractured cervical bone in his neck after the car he was driving S.E. on Vergennes, east of Boynton veered left of the center to the north side of the road before veering back across both lanes, entering the ditch on the south side and striking a tree head on. Duckett was cited for a violation of speed.

by Roger Brown

We're gonna talk about driving today. If you ask my wife, she'll tell you I'm the last person in the world to be handing out driving tips or complaining about how other people drive. I swear she's worn a hole in the passenger side floorboard of every car we've owned. She has a habit of trying to brake the car from that side when I come up on a stop sign faster than she would.

Terese also has a habit of screaming, "Roger! Do you see that guy?!!!!!!". The guy she's screaming about is usually the car in front of me, whose brake lights I see, and who I am in the process of stopping for. But, the way Terese screams, I immediately start looking for a runaway truck barreling down the road at us, or a B-52 about to land on my hood. I swear she does it on purpose in an effort to collect my life insurance. I just know that one of these days my heart is going to stop, and not re-start, when she does that to me.

Riding with Terese is no treat for me, either. To describe her driving in a word, I would have to say, "timid". In fact, I think if you look up, "timid", in your Funk & Wagnalls there's a picture of Terese behind the wheel next to the definition. I don't think she's ever run a yellow light in her life. She won't make a left turn if there's an oncoming car closer than South Bend. If we get behind some slowpoke Sunday driver on a two-lane road, I try to catch a nap during a long ride to Ada or Saranac or wherever. I'm exaggerating, but to say our driving habits are different, is as much of an understatement as saying Hulk Hogan is a little different type of person than Mr. Rogers.

But, I didn't choose this subject to talk about my driving, or Terese's driving. I'd like to spout off about the bad habits of some other motorists. I'll start with those people who were never taught that there are turn signals on a car. If you're one of these people, and you just might be because there are a heckuva lot of them, the turn signals on your car are intended to give your fellow motorist some clue as to what you might be up to. I know it requires some thought and effort to think, "Gee, I guess I want to change lanes, guess I'll reach up and flick on my turn signal". It's really not so bad if you get into the habit.

Another type that gets to me is the guy going 100 miles per hour with his radar detector mounted on the windshield. On an expressway I always stay in the right lane except to pass. (Those guys who drift along in the left lane while picking their nose and letting traffic pile up behind them are also on my list.) I have to admit, that on a long trip I get lulled into sometimes starting my lane change to pass, before taking a thorough look in the mirror. I tell ya', when you start to weave out into the left lane, and see a big Lincoln boring down on you at 100 miles per hour, you get back in the right lane in a hurry. Sometimes the experience will darned near leave a wet spot on the seat.

I've thought of a great invention to deter these high-speed clowns. Wouldn't you just love to have a battery powered gun that would emit the same signal as police radar. You could let those 100 mile per hour Lincolns, Caddies and Mercedes get right along side, then zap 'em. You could laugh like crazy as they smoked their tires and fishtailed down to the speed limit.

I've saved the very worst for last. You've all been through these expressway repair projects where they funnel the traffic down to one lane. All the decent drivers line up in the proper lane, and wait it out as everyone slowly motors through the construction area. All the jerks fly way up to the barricade, and set there with their turn signal on waiting for some good samaritan to let them in. I'm not sure whether I get madder at the jerks who fly up to the front, or the guys who let the jerks in ahead of me.

Remember the highway shooting craze in Southern California a few years back? Well, I've got a pretty good suspicion of what might have started that whole thing. I'll pull up short of saying, "they had it coming", but I can sure understand where the anger came from. When those jerks zip past me as I wait my turn, I remind myself of Yosemite Sam when he gets mad at Bugs Bunny. My face gets all red, and I start muttering, "Oooh you ratz'n' fratz'n' scraggly fratz'n' razzle scratz'n' varmit!!!!". The big difference between me and "Sam" is, he was always armed with six-shooters, and swords, and cannons, and dynamite, and stuff like that. Lucky for them.

Consumers Power offers pool safety tips

A recent near-accident prompted Consumers Power issue a warning to customers about being careful near overhead electric lines.

"One of our employees noticed a neighbor getting ready to clean his backyard pool," said Vern Hatch, Alma/Greenwood District Manager for Consumers Power Company. "He was carelessly swinging an aluminum pole he planned to use in the pool just under the electric line attached to his house. Our employee called over a warning and probably saved the man from a serious accident."

Hatch added that it is important that anyone working outdoors be alert to the location of electric wires. They are dangerous and should never be touched except by trained utility experts.

Consumers Power advises everyone to follow the company's basic safety motto: Look up, stay away and stay alive.

Reduced Rate Lunch Information

Dear Parent or Guardian: August 1988

The Lowell Area Schools serves nutritious meals every school day. Students may buy lunch for $1.00 in the Alto, Bushnell and Runciman/Riverside Schools and $1.05 in the Middle and High Schools. Milk is included in the price of lunch. For those who wish to buy just milk, it will cost 25¢.

Children from families whose income falls within the levels shown on the scale below are eligible for either free meals or reduced-price meals at 40¢.

FOOD STAMP/AFDC HOUSEHOLDS: If you currently receive Food Stamps or "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" for your child, you only have to list your child's name and food stamp or AFDC case number, print your name, and sign the application. Since you have already given income information to the welfare office, the school can confirm your eligibility.

ALL OTHER HOUSEHOLDS: To apply for free or reduced-price meals, please fill out the attached application as soon as possible, sign it and return it to the school. Please answer all questions on the form. An application which does not contain the following information cannot be processed by the school.

- (1) the total household income AND the amount and source of income received by each household member (such as wages, child support, etc.) Multiply weekly income by 4.33 to get monthly income.
- (2) names of all household members;
- (3) social security numbers of all household members 21 years of age or older or the word "NONE" for any adult household member who does not have a social security number;

and (4) the signature of an adult household member.
VERIFICATION: The information on the applications may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the year.
REPORTING CHANGES: If your child is approved for meal benefits, you must tell the school when your household income increases by more than $50 per month ($600 per year) or when your household size or income decreases.
RE-APPLICATION: You may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If you are not now eligible but have a decrease in household income, become unemployed or have an increase in household size, fill out an application at that time.
FOSTER CHILDREN: If you have foster children living with you, they may be eligible for these benefits regardless of your household's income. If you wish to apply for these benefits for them, please contact the school and they will help you complete the application.

NONDISCRIMINATION: Children who receive free or reduced-price meal benefits are treated the same as children who pay for their meals. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap. If you believe you have been discriminated against, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.
FAIR HEARING: If you do not agree with the school's decision on your application or the result of verification, you may wish to discuss it with the school. You also have the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official:

Dr. Fritz Esch, Superintendent of Lowell Area Schools, 12685 Foreman Road, Lowell, Michigan 49331. Phone: 897-8415.

You will be notified when the application is approved or denied. If you wish to be eligible the first day of school lunches, August 30, 1988, the application must be in my office by Thursday, August 17, 1988.

School Lunch Program

It is time once again for the school bells to start ringing and the students to fill our cafeterias for lunches. This is a busy time for the Lowell Area School Cooks but they will be ready.

Because of the higher food and labor costs the prices of lunches will be higher. This is the first time since August of 1985 that we have raised them. Lunches in the Middle and Senior High Schools will be $1.05 and in the Alto, Bushnell, and Runciman Schools they will be $1.00. Milk is included in the price of the meals.

At this time we wish to invite the students from St. Mary's School to join us for lunch in the Bushnell School Cafeteria. Students may purchase lunch tickets every morning before school at the Alto, Bushnell and Middle Schools and in their rooms at the Runciman School. St. Mary's and Senior High students may pay when they go through the lunch lines. In all the schools, students, may, if they wish bring their money for the whole week on Monday morning. This is not mandatory but we will provide this service for the parents.

Free and reduced price lunches are available upon proper application to families who qualify for the program. Free milk is not available in grades 1-12 as there is no federal reimbursement for it. A letter to the parents and an application is included in this publication. Because of strict federal regulations the applications must be fully completed before students may receive free or reduced price lunches. Applications will also be available in all school offices. Parents who think they may be eligible must have their application in by Wednesday, August 17, 1988, to be eligible or the first day of school lunches on Tuesday, August 30.

The cooks of the Lowell Area Schools will still offer good, nutritious meals with many choices every day. The students may choose all five components of the meal (protein, bread, vegetables, fruit and milk) or as few as three of the items and we will still be able to count it for federal reimbursement. We have found this eliminates plate waste. If cost allows, we will continue to bake our own bread, dinner rolls, cookies, casseroles, etc. "from scratch." We offer fresh fruits every day and fresh vegetables at least three times a week. We will offer a minimum of two entrees and a chef's salad, with a choice of cheese or meat, every day in the Middle and Sr. High Schools. In the Sr. High School, students may, if they wish, pick out individually priced items from our a la carte line. This, of course, costs more than the unit priced school lunch which includes milk. We sell ice cream, milk, orange drink and fresh fruits at our snack bar which will be open in the morning and after school. In addition, at noon we sell hot sandwiches, pizzas and chef's salads.

We do not sell carbonated drinks, candy, gum or potato chips in our schools.

It is because of the sincere dedication of our 27 cooks and van driver that we are able to serve good nutritious food, at the low prices, to our Lowell Area Schools students. Parents having any questions about School Food Service should call Mrs. Marilyn Bovee at 897-8415.

PART 4 - FOSTER CHILDREN

In most cases foster children are eligible for free milk regardless of your household income. These children are considered to be a household of one. If your child is a foster child as described in Category A OR B below, place a check in the proper box.

A. The welfare agency or court is legally responsible for the child and the foster home is, in fact, an extension of the welfare agency or court.

B. The child is a resident of a licensed "Group Foster" home or a residential institution.

Only the foster child's spending money is counted as income on this application. Spending money is: money received in hand for the personal use of the child from a welfare agency, the child's family, a trust account, earnings from regular employment and so on. Do not include money from occasional or part-time jobs like paper routes and babysitting.

List his/her spending money per month $ _____

If you have any questions or if you have a foster child who does not fit under category A or B, as described above, please contact the school.

RACE

Please check your child's racial or ethnic group. You are not required to answer this question. We need this information to be sure everyone receives benefits on a fair basis.

White, not of Hispanic Origin

Black, not of Hispanic Origin

Hispanic

Asian or Pacific Islander

American Indian or Alaska Native

No child will be discriminated against because of race, color, handicap, national origin, sex or age.

PRIVACY ACT INFORMATION - SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBERS

Federal law (P.L. 97-35) requires you to list social security numbers of all adult household members before your child may receive free milk. You do not have to give social security numbers of children under 18 years of age. You may, however, list their social security numbers if you wish. Verification may include audits, investigations, and checking the State employment security office, food stamp office, and employers, and checking the written information on household members. The school will not disclose your information to anyone other than those who need to know for the purpose of the program. If you have any questions or if you have a foster child who does not fit under category A or B, as described above, please contact the school.

Facts from the Princeton Dental Resource Center

Dentistry In The Year 2,000
By Tom Truhe DDS.
America can look forward to a more cavity-free society thanks to scientific advances.

Princeton Dental Resource Center was established to report scientific breakthroughs and to forecast how research will affect the practice of dentistry. Some predictions about dentistry in the year 2000 include:
• Three-dimensional x-rays - for a more accurate reading of trouble spots in the mouth.
• Electric braces - a small battery installed on the frames of the braces will move teeth twice as fast as conventional methods.
• Time-release fluoride device - these devices are bonded to the teeth and may last up to six months.
• An anti-cavity vaccine - part of a regular dental check-up might include receiving a vaccine that will prevent cavities.
• Lasers - will be used to smooth the areas on the tooth's surface where food gets trapped.

Picture Yourself at a Kent County Youth Fair in the Future!

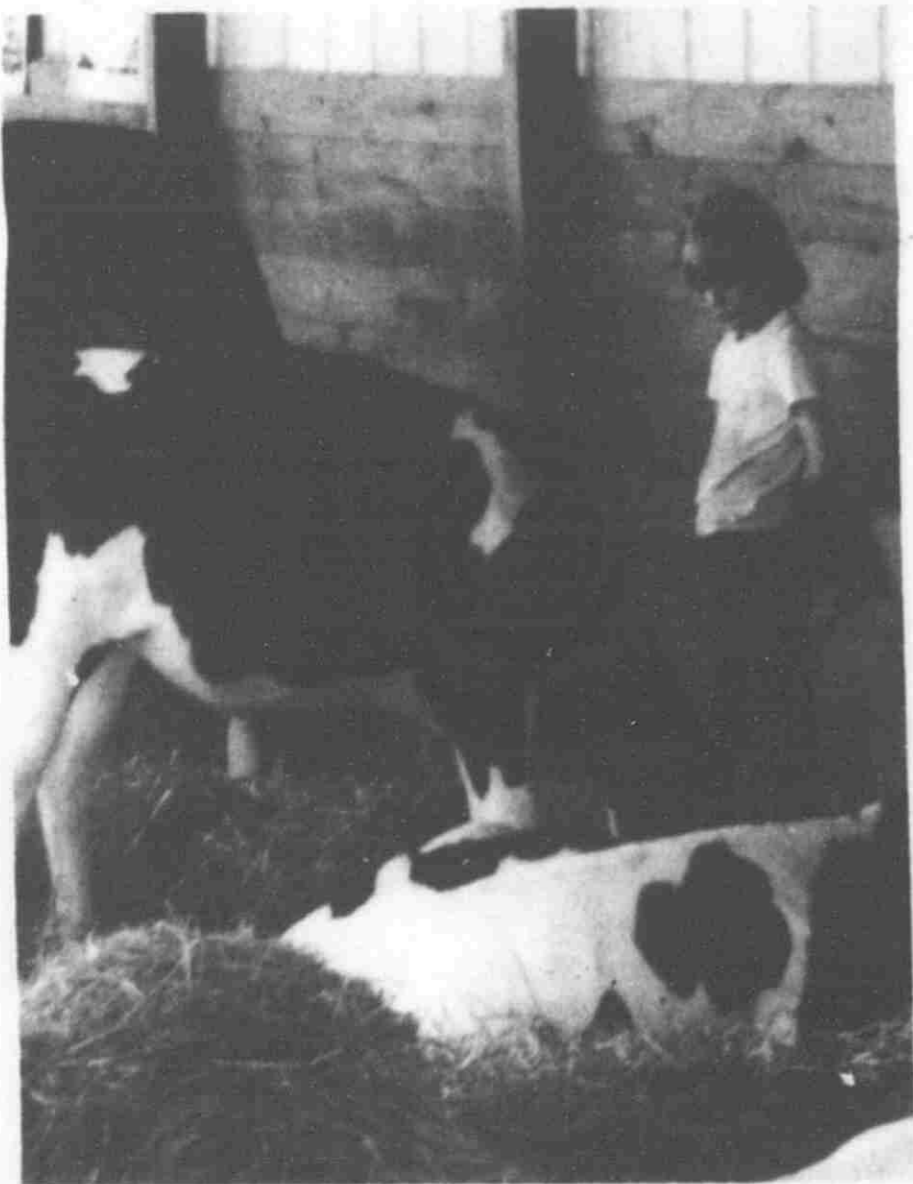

Piglets ran for the stop at the Fair pig races.

Although the breeze created by the ride was warm, it was better than no breeze at all!

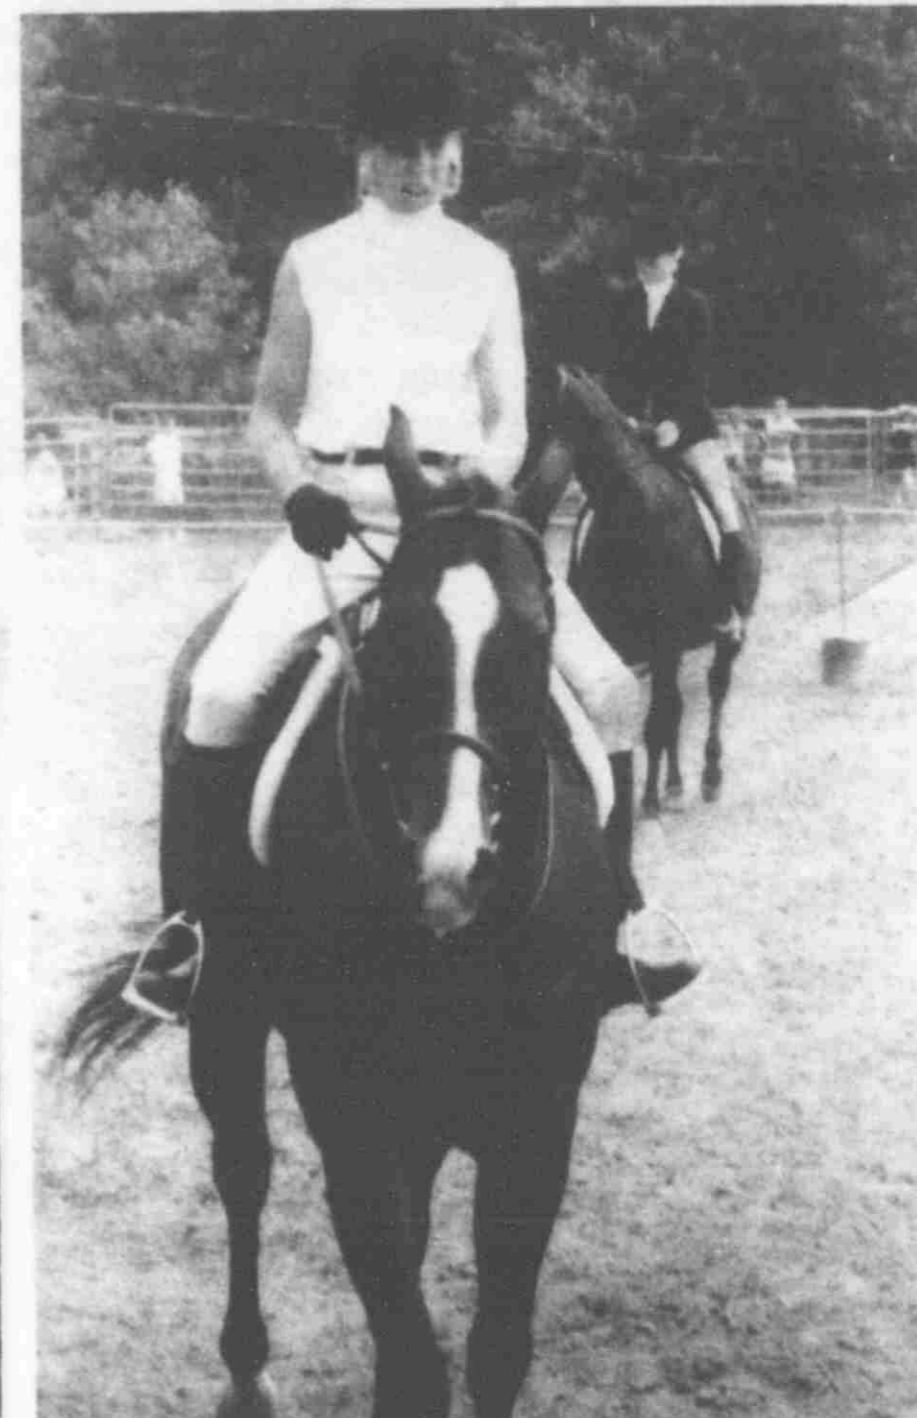

He huffed and he puffed in his battle against the weights -- This young tot won!

A young 4-H'er spends some quiet moments alone with her friend.

This young man and his John Deere had a heavy load to pull, but met the challenge.

Horses walked, cantered and galloped in front of the judges at the horse judging event at the fair.

E.L. Phelps gives 50 years of dedication to 4-H Fair

E.L. Phelps, center, has been at 50 Kent County 4-H Youth Fairs. Sitting in front is his wife, Wannetah. The couple has been married 46 years

Kent County's 4-H Youth Fair has been as integral a part of E.L. Phelps' life as livestock has been to the fair.

The Cedar Springs native has attended 50 of the 54 Kent County 4-H Youth Fairs. The four years Phelps missed he was busy servicing the United States Army.

His first fair, Phelps showed a Jersey Calf, and got a red ribbon for his efforts. His hard work, ideas, accomplishments and dedication to the fair has probably afforded him many blue ribbons.

"I'm not sure it's a good idea to take too much of the credit. I've been surrounded by a lot of good people," Phelps said. "I've just been an overseer," he claims.

Phelps was the beef superintendent, in charge of beef projects, for a number of years. He has been a board member for 38 years -- 32 as board president.

"It's a part of my life. It's in my blood," Phelps said. "It's a desire to work with kids -- to work at the fair."

Phelps was born and raised on a farm -- a farm that has been in the family for 75 years. "I don't think it's necessary to live on a farm to enjoy and love the fair, but I do think it helps," he said.

He sees the relationships that are built, the personal satisfaction and the progress kids make from year to year as some of the positives that the fair offers.

The Kent County 4-H Youth Fair has seen a number of changes over the years. Possibly, the most significant is the mix of rural and urban participation.

"I think it's good, but I don't think the mix is working," Phelps says. He added that to get things done, rural leadership approach is different from the urban approach.

The number of programs and projects has also increased. Phelps believes the competitiveness isn't as strong, though. "I think years ago there was more competitiveness," he said.

The carnival and exhibit parts of the fair haven't always been there but have attributed to the fair's growth.

"There are more programs and I think they are better," Phelps said. He attributes this progression to the theory of looking forward and referring back. He adds the fair has progressed slowly but has remained successful over the years.

The fair's growth and triumph, in part, has surfaced because of people like Phelps, who have dedicated their lives and spirit.
