Ionia woman killed in Cascade Rd. crash

An Ionia woman was killed Monday morning around 9 a.m. after her car drifted left of the center and struck a pickup truck driven by Donald Bergy, 54 of 6855 Hastings St. Bergy received minor injuries.

The police report released by Deputy Jim Rathbun states that Letha McParland, 21 of 3823 68th S.E., lot 26, of Ionia, sustained fatal head injuries after her car appeared to drift left of the center line and struck Bergy's vehicle.

McParland was taken to Butterworth Hospital by Aero Med where she was pronounced dead.

Responding to the call were Lowell Ambulance, Lowell Rescue, Ionia Ambulance and the Michigan State Police from Ionia.

The report also said no alcohol was involved and that McParland was not wearing a seat belt.

This is what was left of Letha McParland's car after she hit a truck driven by Don Bergy of Lowell. McParland sustained fatal head injuries and was pronounced dead at Butterworth Hospital.

City gets vocal backlash after severing walnut trees

In an effort to rid Oakwood Cemetery of what city officials referred to as "messy," Black Walnut trees, they may have created a mess harder to clean up than that of the sap left by the trees and its nuts.

With "deteriorating, old, diseased, rotted trees" as their motive for hiring Bob Sayers of Walnut-Oak Logging in Ionia to sever all 25 Black Walnut trees, city officials are now trying to appease those most directly affected by the action who found the trees to have aesthetic beauty.

"Black Walnut trees are extremely dirty," Lowell City Manager Dave Pasquale said. "Their dirtiness, the damage done to the stones, the maintenance issue, were all looked into before making a decision."

According to Sayers, eight of the 25 trees cut were rotting from within. Which raised the question then, why cut down all 25 trees?

"Those that had not started to rot still have some value, but were threatened by the same worm damage incurred by the other trees - diminishing their value too," Pasquale said.

He added that the council did not believe an arborist or a forester (experts in the field) were needed to see what damage was being caused to the cemetery.

The city received $8,000 for the walnut lumber. Sayers said that roughly six trees would be shipped to Europe for veneer, four (badly rotted) for firewood and the rest of the lumber would be sold out of his shop in Ionia.

Sayers expects to get seven five-yard dump truck loads of lumber which he says he will sell at $2 a board foot.

DNR forester in Lansing, Gordon Terry, said that walnut is a very valuable lumber, but normally the more valuable lumber comes from wooded situations and not very often from open areas such as cemeteries.

Kathy Swift, a resident to the east side of the cemetery, said what angers her most is that she believes the council made a rash decision on an issue that should have been checked out with the public first.

Howard Thurtell of Crestwood, just off of North Washington, added, "If this is the caliber of thinking that our city council is doing, then I think the town should be worried."

"The council intends to specifically put the money back into Squirrels like using the tombstones as tables for eating their black walnuts. That will no longer be the case, as the city had all 25 walnut trees cut down at Oakwood Cemetery. The sap from the nuts stained the stones, city officials said.

VIRAL CROUP

A very common respiratory infection seen during autumn is viral croup. Also known as laryngotracheobronchitis, this form of croup strikes young children between the ages of six months and three years. Several different viruses are responsible for this infection.

The onset of viral croup is usually gradual, with several days of symptoms similar to a cold followed by a deep barking cough and respiratory hoarseness or stridor. This is due to swelling and narrowing of the upper airway. The child will usually have a low grade fever and occasionally will develop hoarseness. The barking cough is the hallmark of viral croup. In more cases the cough and respiratory difficulty will persist for several days, becoming worse at night or when the child is agitated. Gradual improvement takes place over the next five to seven days without treatment. In a very small percentage of patients, respiratory difficulties can progress, leading to retraction of tissues behind the ribs and above the breast bone at the neck during respiration. The child may become quite restless and anxious. These are the danger signs to look for when treating a child with viral croup at home. If you see retractions during inspiration, very rapid breathing, high temperature, drooling or a bluish hue around the mouth, you should notify your physician at once.

As stated previously, most cases of viral croup are mild and can be treated at home. Cool mist is a useful home treatment. A cool mist vaporizer is relatively inexpensive and can be used in the child's room at night. Some parents have noted excellent improvement in respiratory difficulty after placing the child in a steamy shower for 10-15 minutes. Acetaminophine (Tylenol or Tempra[®]) can be given for fever. Some doctors recommend avoidance of milk or dairy products for a couple of days, as they have a tendency to increase the thickness of the mucous, which can in turn aggravate respiratory difficulties. The child should be well hydrated-encourage increased liquid intake.

Only in a small minority of patients will other medical treatment be necessary. Occasionally, a child will be hospitalized and placed in a mist tent for a day or two. Medications may be given by inhalation to help decrease respiratory difficulties. Antibiotics are of no benefit because croup is caused by a virus.

In summary, viral croup is a common infection seen in the autumn months that is usually treated at home with simple measures. It is characterized by a barking cough and mild respiratory difficulty.

Toastmasters form new club in Ada

When a Toastmasters Club meets, sweaty palms, stuttering, bad grammar, and wordiness are strictly outlawed. Members meet to conquer their fear of speaking to groups, to increase self-confidence, and to advance in their careers.

"Toastmasters promised me a lot and then delivered even more," says Robert Redd, retired Ada CPA, who is now forming a Toastmasters Club in that community, which will be open to residents of surrounding communities as well.

"My four years in Toastmasters has become a major part of my life," Redd adds.

"If you think you need practice in speaking in front of others, you probably do," Toastmaster Redd pointed out. "After a few months in Toastmasters you can speak to a group of five or 500, and there's no difference. If you are adequately prepared and know what you're talking about, you feel comfortable, and if you're comfortable, it shows."

Redd said that communication is becoming more and more important in business, and persons who are most attracted to Toastmasters are professional men and women, salespersons, secretaries, supervisors, administrators, and persons aspiring to those positions.

During a regular Toastmasters meeting, participants are on their feet and speaking three or four times, sometimes with a prepared speech and other times on an impromptu basis, according to Redd.

The new club is now meeting in Ada Congregational Church, 3339 Bronson, SE, Ada. Meetings are being held every other Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. and last two hours.

There are no professional instructors. Members help and evaluate each other, therefore costs are kept as low as possible. Dues are $12.00 every six months to the International Organization, plus small local fees.

Persons desiring more information may call 363-6792 or 676-1583.

Favorite color. Not satisfied with your tomato crop? The solution may be as simple as changing the color of mulch in the garden. According to National Wildlife magazine, researchers have found that vegetables respond favorably to particular wavelengths of reflected sunlight. Tomato plants grown over red mulch produced 20 percent more top quality tomatoes than those grown over black plastic. Potatoes and green peppers, on the other hand, show a distinct preference for white mulch.

St. Mary's staff to attend conference

On Oct. 27 and 28 teachers from St. Mary's School will join more than 6,000 teachers and administrators from Michigan schools affiliated with Christian Schools International, the Missouri Synod Lutheran Church and the Catholic dioceses as they gather for a major educational conference at the Grand Center/Amway Grand Plaza Hotel in Grand Rapids.

Sponsored by the Michigan Association of Non-public Schools (MANS), the two-day conference will center around the theme, "Transforming Tomorrow." While embodying different backgrounds the MANS group is unified in its commitment to a faith in God that exemplifies itself in Christian education for children.

The first day will be highlighted by a keynote address by Dr. Don Bartlette titled, "Macaroni at Midnight." Dr. Bartlette is truly an example of transformation in life as he has overcome many handicaps that would have caused many to give up. On Friday, Mr. Melvin Kieschnick, Director of the Lutheran Schools of New York, will speak to the future on the conference theme, "Transforming Tomorrow."

Outstanding lectures will be given by a number of powerfully motivating individuals. One of our astronauts, Maj. Donald McMonagle, will speak on "What Difference Can A Teacher Make." Other significant presentations will be by Marva Dawn, "Being Transformed in our Devotional Life," and Chick Moorman on "Celebrating the Mission."

Mel Kieschnick will speak again on "Together as Family: Building the Team Spirit of the Total School Community." "A Moral Vision in School Organization" will be presented by Phillip Cusick of M.S.U. Sr. Clare Fitzgerald, Director of the Catholic School Leadership

Program at Boston College, presents "Trilogy of the Mission, a Transformation of Culture."

Rounding out this educational experience will be a host of workshops/sectionals, and nearly 200 exhibits.

The heart of the conference is a desire to energize and motivate those involved in non-public school education. Conference planners know educators will come away from the conference inspired and rededicated with positive benefits to our whole society.

Lowell FFA attends Region 5 initiation

The annual Region 5 FFA initiation was held on October 12, 1988 at Belding High School. The initiation ceremonies were conducted by the Region 5 officers led by President Jamie Cook.

Thirty-eight members of the Lowell chapter received their Greenhand degree. This degree is awarded to first year FFA members who are enrolled in Agriscience classes and are becoming involved in the FFA.

Also, twenty-three second year members received their Chapter degree. This degree is presented to FFA members who have successfully completed one year of FFA membership and at least one semester of Agriscience classes.

Special guests from the state FFA officer team were: Tom Nugent, Vice President and member of the Lowell chapter; and Charles Scovill, former State President. Also, the featured speaker for the initiation was Mr. Charles Snyder, State FFA Projects Consultant from Michigan State University.

Other schools attending the initiation were: Belding, Caledonia, Lakewood, Cedar Springs, Ionia and Maple Valley.

The concert begins at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22 at Lowell Church of the Nazarene, 201 N. Washington.

A free will offering will be taken and the concert will be followed with a time of fellowship in the Church Fellowship Hall.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

he hath chosen us....(Ephesians 1:4).

Mom really had her heart and hands full with the seven of us children at home. But if anyone asked her, "Mary, which one are you willing to part with?" she would invariably answer, "I haven't one to spare."

She loved each of us, individually. We're all different. She needed each of our personalities. The absence of any one of us would have left the family circle incomplete.

Our Heavenly Father has need of each of us, too. Every individual has a definite place to fill in His kingdom. He loves us one and all - regardless of rank, title, or talents.

Jesus, when entering Jerusalem, gave instructions to the disciples to bring the untrained colt to Him. He gave the disciples a reason. He said, "The Lord hath need of him."

No matter how insignificant we may feel, the Lord has need of each of us. He has a place in His heart and in His service for every individual. He cannot do without one of us. He has "none to spare."

Prayer: Dear Lord, I feel so unworthy and unimportant. Still I know Thou hast need of even me. Show me what Thou wouldst have me do and help me to do it with all my might. Amen.

Ada Apple Haus keeps Braam family productive

Hobby, according to Webster's Ninth New Collegiate Dictionary is "pursuit outside one's regular occupation engaged in especially for relaxation." Depending on the individual, that may mean fishing, golf, knitting, reading, lying around and watching a football game or purchasing a 54-acre apple orchard.

What! You say. three years ago, Don Braam three years ago purchased the DeYoung Apple Orchard, known today as the Ada Apple Haus. No, his normal work week as Vice President of Thornapple Valley Meats didn't stop. He just added this to his life something to relax him, something to do in his spare time.

"It's kept me and my family busy, but for myself I think it's good therapy. It's not just one thing. It's a departure from what I'm used to doing. Some people like to chase golf balls, but I enjoy achieving things and being productive when away from work," Braam said.

Yes, an orchard takes more than just part-time work to run effectively and to be productive - enter his wife, Charlene and their seven children Robert, placement for VandenBrink.

The apple yield at Ada Apple Haus is down in 1988. "1987 was a bumper crop. We opened up the orchard for pickers," Braam said. "This year with the drought and the frost, the crop is down." In '87 18,000 bushels of apples were produced at the orchard. Braam said 1988's total will be about 25 percent of that.

Being October and all, cider making and sippin' is at its seasonal height. At Ada Apple Haus 600 gallons of cider are made each week primarily from the graded-out apples, those that don't meet size, are scarred and or bruised. Braam's orchard holds 2,600 trees and a wide variety of apples. "Actually it's a blended mix of tart and sweet apples that seem to make the premium cider," Braam said.

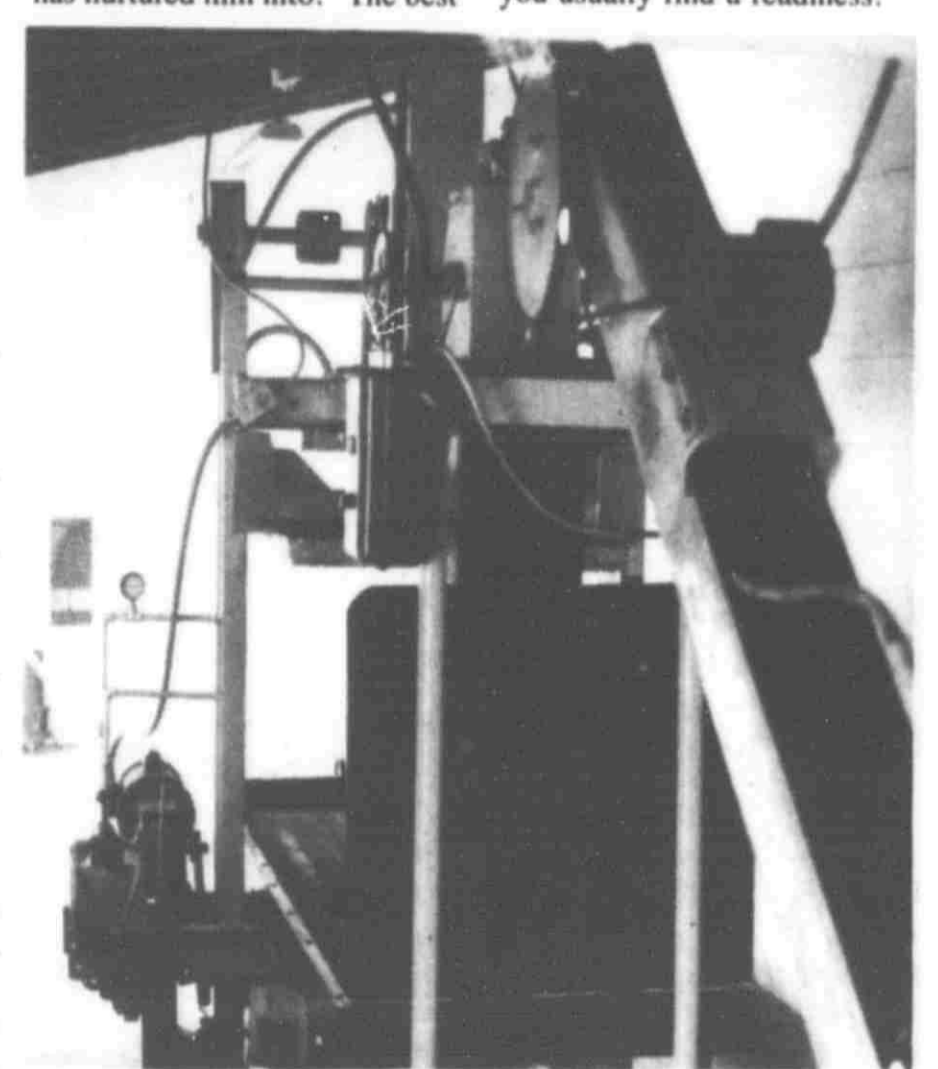

The apples are put onto a conveyor and washed as they're sent up through a chute. From there, the apples are sent through Hammermill type press. "The special claws press helps expose the apples as compared to crushing them," Braam said.

After the apples are exposed the juice is stored in a 1,000 bushel apple cider tank. The temperature is kept at 35 degrees. The apples are stored in 10,000 bushel capacity coolers also kept at the same temperature.

Along with the cider, donuts, pies, jelly, honey, sausage and bacon are all homemade and sold at the Haus. "We buy the ham, but make our own old fashioned sausage and bacon," Braam adds. He also grows and sells pumpkins.

The honey is extracted from Braam's own hives, another facet of the business. DeYoung has nurtured him into. "The best time to do the extracting is when its cooler while the bees are docile," Braam said. "Smoke, which is not harmful, is also used to make the bees docile."

This is the machine that processes the graded-out apples for apple cider.

The prime fall months usually find the Braam family spending many long hours at the orchard working and learning. Braam said, "When there's a willingness you usually find a readiness."

It's cider sippin' time!

Summer's record high temperatures should help produce a sweeter crop of apples this fall, and that means sweeter cider-sippin' for mill visitors, reports AAA Michigan.

"Every autumn, thousands make a pilgrimage to enjoy rustic cider mills," observed AAA Michigan Touring Manager Brian Potter.

Apples not only taste great plucked from a tree or pressed into cider, but when used in a medically supervised diet can help to curb cholesterol, heart disease, and diabetes.

According to the Michigan Dietetic Association, apples are a perfect food and are cholesterol-free and rich in potassium; contain no added sugar, salt or fat; and make a tasty 80-calorie snack between meals. Among the most popular types are Jonathan, Rome and Red Ida.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture predicts state orchards will yield 700 million pounds of the fruit this year, about average—and only 90 million pounds less than second-ranked New York. Washington leads the nation with 3.2 billion pounds. Michigan hit a record high last year with 1.15 billion pounds of apples plucked from orchards.

AAA Michigan's 1988 Cider Mill Guide lists 102 sites with everything from antique water-powered apple presses to drive-through cider and doughnut service.

Many mills also offer related activities, such as "pick your own" orchards, hay wagon and train rides, and animal petting farms for tots.

A gallon of cider averages $2.52 per gallon this fall, up 7 cents since last year, with prices ranging from $1.40 to $4.00 depending on location. Doughnuts cost $1.90 to $3.50 a dozen, up from last year's $1.55 to $3.

Most mills permit visitors to watch pressing operations and provide special tours. Visitors should call ahead for a schedule of activities.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir,
Just this week I learned about the removal of the stately, beautiful Walnut trees in Oakwood Cemetery, so I went just to see for myself. It looks like a tornado went through the entire cemetery.

One of these trees was removed close to our plot and was a source of shade that we cherished just for that purpose. Why were these trees cut down without advance knowledge to the public?

The devastation of our cemetery is truly appalling and I wanted my disgust of the matter known. They should be replaced by large Maple trees instead of pines as suggested. Ones at least as large as those now on Main Street, so you can see the approach to the road leaving the cemetery without the view interrupted by bushy pines.

Most of these trees were much older than stated and it is indeed a travesty to have these trees gone as nothing can ever replace them in the next century.

Yours Truly,
Cecil DeRushia

Open letter to Lowell:

Have you seen the Oakwood Cemetery recently? If not, you should take a walk or ride up North Washington. I'm sure you will be surprised-- or appalled. The City has made an arbitrary decision to cut down all of the beautiful black walnut trees. The cemetery looks naked. The loss of those majestic and healthy trees is a great shame that should never have been allowed to happen. The City received $8,000 for someone to cut them down. The actual value of those trees is far more than that.

But worse than the loss of the true monetary worth of the trees is the loss of their natural beauty and what they contributed to the overall ecology.

Many years ago black walnut forests existed. The furniture industry discovered that black walnut furniture brought a high price because of its beauty. Consequently, the forests were gradually depleted. Today we have only small isolated stands of black walnut trees. And because of their scarcity the few trees that are left are even more valuable.

So we have scavengers. Crews of men who cruise the countryside and small towns looking for areas just such as our Oakwood Cemetery. They convince the town fathers, who usually know little or nothing about such things, that "these trees are old and rotting and dirty, etc. etc. and just generally a nuisance. However, there is some worth such as firewood. So why don't you let us remove them and we'll pay for doing so," and the town fathers buy it. HOT DOG!! We just made $8,000 on some worthless, dirty ol' trees. We'll replace them with some trees that aren't so dirty. Well, if they do this they might be shocked at the price of young, mature hardwood trees today.

However, the dastardly deed is done. The group of people to feel sorry for are those whose loved ones are buried there. They thought, and rightly so, that their family members were buried in a pleasant, restful place. That is no longer true. How very, very sad.

Howard T. Thurtell

Dear Editor:

Ignorance, greed, apathy, poverty. Every City Council, regardless of size, should have as a member at least one ecologist and/or environmentalist, whose advice and concern should be considered and accepted before one act is considered that affects the environment; in the present case of the mammoth environmental disaster in the Lowell Cemetery, there should be a public outcry and were I a Lowell resident, I would believe a petition for recall should be circulated and signed to remove those from public office who were responsible.

Many years ago, BETTER HOMES AND GARDENS gave a figure of $500 that each large shade tree added to the value of a home and property. Factor in present days prices and inflation and many times that figure is valid today. "A tree gives off an incredible amount of moisture through its leaves. For example, a birch tree could give off up to 900 gallons of water in one day. A tree is like a bank. It takes up water through the roots and pays off with water and oxygen. It keeps the land stable and the fallen leaves absorb water from a rainstorm or from melting snow and keep the land from eroding."

All over the world, from the Kent County Road Commission to poverty-stricken Haiti, to Brazil and other countries both needy and greedy, trees are being wantonly destroyed; so much so that concerned scientists are warning at the rapid decimation of rain forests' impact upon the environment world-wide.

The wanton destruction of over 25 large trees 25 to 70 years old - some older, I dare say - is nothing short of obscene. The replacement with "pine trees" is ridiculous, even laughable, were it not so sad and serious. Pine trees for shade? As any reasonable person will acknowledge, you do not replace a large tree overnight.

What's wrong with grass and shade for children and others to enjoy? People put flowers on the graves. Had I a loved one buried in this cemetery I would be particularly incensed.

SHAME UPON YOU, CITY COUNCIL. For a paltry $8,000 you have committed an inestimable amount of damage to both environment and the aesthetics of the city.

Dear Editor:

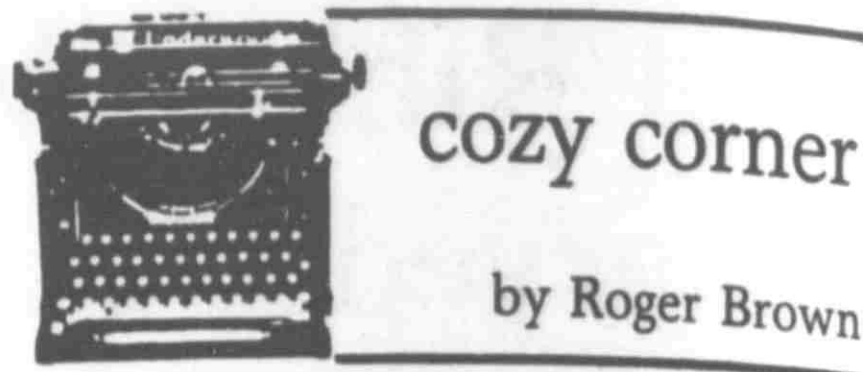

Two Michigan Supreme Court Task Forces will hold three public hearings in Western Michigan as part of their efforts to determine if some citizens receive different treatment in Michigan courts because of race, gender, or ethnic origins.

The Task Force on Racial/Ethnic Issues in the Courts will hold two public hearings. On Oct. 26, the Task Force will hold a hearing in Court Room No. 2 on the first floor of the Hall of Justice at 333 Monroe Ave. NW in Grand Rapids. On Nov. 4, the Task Force will hold a public hearing in the Board of Commissioners Room on the Third floor of the Berrien County Courthouse at 811 Port Street in St. Joseph. Both public hearings will be held from 9:00 a.m. to Noon and 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The Task Force on Gender Issues in the Courts will hold a public hearing on Oct. 27 in Court Room No. 2 on the first floor of the Hall of Justice at 333 Monroe Ave. NW in downtown Grand Rapids. The hearing will be held from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., 3:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. and 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

We are holding a total of 13 public hearings throughout

My wife worries about our thirteen-year-old son with his Devil-may-care attitude about his personal well being. Not me. Boys that age are designed with a toughness and elasticity that protects them from their built-in stupidity. I know, because I was one. I survived my teenage years with no broken bones, no stitches and kept a full set of teeth. If I were to take some of the lumps, bumps, smacks and whacks today, that I took back then, I'd probably by-pass the hospital, and be sent straight to the coroner.

So, while Terese worries about Casey, I'm getting geared up to fret away the next few years with Angie. Angie is just a couple weeks away from her fifteenth birthday, and I'm becoming more and more aware of boys' names in her conversation. There are also phone calls from boys with deep voices. There are occasionally boys on my front porch. There have even been two "special occasion" dates, the eighth grade dance last spring, and the homecoming dance a couple of weeks ago.

All this has been creeping up on me, even though I vowed when Angie was born, that she would not be allowed to date until she was 26-years-old. I figured that would be about right to get her through medical school, and established in a practice. I think boys would just be a distraction, but there's a conspiracy afoot.

Our house was "papered" over the weekend. For those of you who might not know what "papering" is, it is accomplished by draping a house, trees, shrubs and outbuildings of a residence with toilet paper. It's embarrassing for the homeowner, to say the least. Angie knows who did it, and the "who", are a group of boys from her class. I don't know what this all means, but I think it's time for me to put on my protective father armor, and get ready to meet the hordes.

I've got a few tricks up my sleeve I learned, and remember vividly, from when I was dating high school girls. To my dismay, their fathers were all pretty good teachers. One girl I dated often invited me over to make popcorn and watch TV. As soon as we sat on the couch, the father would enter the room, sit down in the chair directly across from us, and read the newspaper, and read the newspaper, and read the newspaper. I swear I could have memorized it in the time he took. It was amazing to me, that he always finished with the paper just when it was time for me to go. I subscribe to four newspapers and at least 20 magazines.

Most fathers leave the porch light on for their daughters. One father of a girl I dated always had the house totally dark when we'd pull in the driveway. Just as I'd get my hopes up, the porch light, garage light, driveway light, kitchen light, and every light short of a spotlight would come on. I've already got a 220 volt, 1,500 watt quartz light on a utility pole by the driveway and another 110 volt, 500 watt quartz light installed in the peak of the garage. I can make my driveway at midnight, look like the Gobi desert at high noon.

My father-in-law always, and I mean always, met me at the front door with his dog. This was no ordinary dog. It was a German Shepherd about the size of my Volkswagen and a temperament like Mr. T. It's a wonder my wife and her sisters had any dates at all. I'm afraid my hand-licking golden retriever doesn't quite measure up, but I know where I can borrow one mean Doberman on Friday and Saturday nights.

Another father used to greet me with a handshake that would almost drop me to my knees, look me straight in the eye and ask a question like, "So, why did you decide to ask my daughter out this evening?". If he hadn't had that deathgrip on my hand, I'd have headed straight for my car. I've been building my grip by squeezing a tennis ball and practicing some pointed questions in front of the mirror.

There are lots of other tricks in my bag, but I'm not about to reveal all my secrets here. I know teenage boys age aren't big on reading newspapers, but you can never be too careful.

Red Ribbon Week is observed Oct. 23-30

To create a drug-free Michigan.

That's the goal of the 1988 Michigan Red Ribbon Campaign. "Red Ribbon Week," Oct. 23-30, which will work hand-in-hand with the National Campaign for a Drug Free America, is a comprehensive public education and fund-raising drive, involving thousands of parent groups, schools and teen groups across the country.

"Red Ribbon Week is a week of activities to promote a drug-free lifestyle in our community. The red ribbon is the symbol of intolerance to drug use. The theme of the week is 'The Choice for Me, Drug Free,'" said Lowell High School Counselor Barb Pierce.

In West Michigan, Pierce recently attended a Red Ribbon Campaign Organizing Committee kickoff breakfast, hosted by the Elks Drug Awareness Committee. It was attended by over 120 community leaders from West Michigan representing public health, education, law enforcement, business, government agencies and service organizations.

Locally, support has been generously given by the Rotary, the Lions Club, the Lowell Education Association, the Elementary School P.T.O.s and by the Lowell Chamber of Commerce (see "Along Main Street"), which has donated money to buy Red Ribbons for all merchants and their employees. All area churches are also participating with ribbons and activities on Sunday of that week.

Lowell Schools, (and schools district-wide) will have staff and students showing their support for a drug-free lifestyle by wearing a Red Ribbon throughout the week. In addition to wearing the Red Ribbons, staff and students will be participating in a week of activities.

Monday, Oct. 24 will be Red Ribbon day; Tuesday, Oct. 25 is Red Ribbon and top day; Wednesday, Oct. 26 is Red Ribbon, red socks and jeans day; Thursday, Oct. 27 is Red Ribbon and red hat day; Friday will be Red Ribbon and red and white day.

In addition, Lowell students kindergarten through second-grade will be coloring posters and grades 3-8 will be creating posters which will be hung up in schools and businesses throughout Lowell.

At the Lowell Middle School, a name will be drawn at the end of each day. If that person is dressed accordingly he or she will receive $5. If not, the money will be carried over to the next day. The high school theme at Lowell will be "Stand Up and Be Counted." A tally of each class and its students dressed accordingly will be taken at noon. Students dressed to the day's specifications will be put in a drawing at the end of the day and a winner from each class will be drawn. The winners from each class will receive $5. At the end of the week the tallies will be counted and the class that had the most students participate throughout the week will be given $100.

Merchants will also participate by wearing ribbons and decorating windows with red and white and by hanging posters made by children in their windows. Pierce said that discounts on purchases and free gifts for customers who walk in wearing red ribbons will be available.

"Money raised from the campaign will be used for on-going activities - parent night and Teens Involved Day," Pierce said. "The student congress will donate monies and profits made from the Sun-Glo fund."

According to a congressional resolution, approved July 25, "illicit drug and alcohol abuse has reached epidemic proportions and is of major concern to all Americans. Drug and alcohol abuse costs the American society nearly 100 billion dollars a year in lost productivity - 23 million Americans age 12 and over currently use illicit drugs.

Pierce added that she believes alcohol use among students is up. "I think easy access has a lot to do with it," she said.

Oct. is National Stamp Collecting Month

"For the ride of a lifetime-collect stamps!" The Postmaster General Anthony M. Frank has designated October as National Stamp Collecting Month. Charlie R. Doyle, Postmaster of the Lowell post office, says the special observance for 1988 will focus on the Carousel Animals block of four stamps in the American Folk Art Series of commemorative stamps. The block of four artfully hand-carved menagerie animals, is an exceptional addition to the American folk art series. As the newest stamps in the series, the colorful Carousel Animal's issue on Oct. 1, in Sandusky, Ohio, is expected to be one of the most beautiful and popular.

"Stamp collecting still is the world's most popular hobby," says Postmaster Doyle. We are encouraging collectors, old and young alike, to share the beauty, history, and pleasure to be found in collecting U.S. stamps. Typical collecting, assembling stamps which focus on a specific theme, can be especially enjoyable because it allows the collector to choose an area of personal interest to him or her. The hobby actually can transport the collector to different places and times to fulfill dreams and experience new adventures. Collecting stamps can provide the "Ride of a Lifetime!"

In addition to National Stamp Collecting Month, there will be a "Carousel Memories" poster promotion. In order to receive a "Carousel Memories" poster and a block of four Carousel Animal stamps, send $2.00 to Carousel Animal Free Poster Offer, Washington, D.C. 20265-9980.

Along with the Postal Service and Benjamin Franklin Stamp Clubs, the Council of Philatelic Organizations, National Association of Elementary School Principals and American Library Association again will co-sponsor this year's observance. Be sure and visit the Lowell post office to grab the brass ring and join the postal service "for the ride of a lifetime-collect stamps!"

Michigan to give citizens an opportunity to express their views on discrimination and bias in Michigan courts. We would like to hear from anyone who believes they were treated differently in a Michigan court because of their race, ethnic origin or gender.

Our mission is to investigate the nature and extent of bias in state courts and to recommend ways to reform the court system to prevent actual or perceived bias.

Persons who are unable to attend one of our public hearings but would like to express their views on this subject may do so by writing either Task Force. Letters should be sent to: Bias Task Force, P.O. Box 30048, Lansing, Michigan 48909.

WARNING: IF YOU THINK THE POWER IS OFF WHEN THE SWITCH IS OFF, YOU'RE WRONG.

KEEP AWAY FROM WATER.

Everyone knows that electricity and water are a dangerous combination. But did you know that an electric appliance is still electrically alive even if the switch is off? If the plug is in, the power is on. So when you keep appliances near water, keep them unplugged.

ALWAYS UNPLUG SMALL APPLIANCES.

CITY OF LOWELL PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE TO OAKWOOD CEMETERY LOT OWNERS

If you have urns, artificial flowers, decorations, etc., which you wish to save, please remove them by November 1, 1988. Urns should be emptied of dirt and turned upside down to avoid cracking.

All items not removed by November 1, 1988 will be picked up by City crews and discarded.

Winter floral tributes are allowed, including plastic flowers, wire stemmed plants, etc., but must also be removed by early Spring. These items can foul lawnmower blades and cause serious injury.

Runciman/Riverside fundraiser nets $16,000.00; a great year

Runciman/Riverside had a very successful fundraiser this year. They took orders for items of cheese, sausage, candy and other goodies.

On Thursday, Oct. 13, the Runciman gym was the scene of incredible activity. As classes on the gym floor continued at a normal pace, twenty people tackled a mountain of cheese, sausage, candy, and other goodies on the stage. When the dust had cleared at the end of the day, $35,500.00 in products had been sorted and packed for our 500 plus students to deliver to their customers. From this fundraiser our P.T.O. netted approximately $16,000.00. These monies will be used to directly benefit the youngsters by providing goods and services for children which the school could not normally afford. The students and parents deserve a great deal of appreciation for making the fundraiser a success. A special thank you goes to Julie Kenney, organizer of this year's fundraiser, and her crew of hard working volunteers, most of whom stayed all day. Included in this list are: Anna Heltzel, Cindy Triplett, Sandy Rich, Allyson Noall, Chris Hodges, Jackie Smith, Elaine Martin, Sue Hoekstra, Brenda Hostetter, Margaret Wilkes, Terri Anstett, Karen Ford, Patti Sanborn, Laura Evans, Tanya Goodwin, Tara Goodwin, Kathy Swift, Sherri Jahnke and Louie Dudeck.

Many volunteers at Runciman/Riverside School helped to sort through items ordered for the fundraiser this fall. The School netted approximately $16,000.00 this year.

Thank you P.T.O. and workers for a great job.

St. Mary's annual fundraiser a big success

St. Mary's School annual fundraiser is now history. The school sold the World's Finest Chocolate again this year. The bars sold for $1 and the almonds sold for $2.

The school, which has an enrollment of 121 students, sold the candy for a week and a half and have netted approximately $2,500.00 for the school. All monies go toward equipment purchases and activities at the school.

The school had many great sellers this year. Everyone gave their all. Prizes were awarded to the top three sellers. In first place selling $533 was the Arnett Family (Courtney, Corrine and Nicole) which won a home component stereo unit; 2nd place was Seamus Dillon with $448 who won a $60 gift certificate to Toys

'R Us; and 3rd place was won by Amanda and Wayne Mahrenholz who sold $354.

Some smaller prizes donated by area merchants were also given away. Thank you to Keiser's Kitchen, Lambert Variety, Lowelectronics, McDonalds, Hardees, Speerstr Insurance, FMB State Savings Bank, and many more for all their support.

Also thanks to those volunteers who gave their time every morning to count money and distribute candy. Alicia Despres, Lori Nowak, Kelly Mahrenholz and Sally Owens.

Thank you for a great year students, parents, faculty and community.

In the Service

Navy Seaman Recruit Mark A. Silvis, son of Donald R. Silvis of Lowell, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, IL.

During Silvis's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Silvis's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

He is a 1988 graduate of Lowell High School, Lowell.

Pvt. Allen J. Kaminski, son of Louis J. and Frances M. Kaminski of Lowell, has completed basic training at Fort Dix, NJ.

He is a 1984 graduate of Lowell Senior High School.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

His wife, Amy, is the daughter of Robert Henning of Comstock Park.

He is a 1988 graduate of Lowell High School.

Two Alto residents receive Alma College scholarships

Jennifer Dine and Rebecca Dine of Alto are among the upperclass students whose scholarships to attend Alma College have been renewed for the 1988-89 academic year.

Jennifer has been awarded an Alma Renewal Scholarship, awarded to students showing intellectual promise and outstanding academic achievement.

Rebecca has been awarded a Trustee Honors Scholarship, Alma's most prestigious, competitive award given on the basis of superior academic and extracurricular achievement. She also has been awarded a Performance Scholarship in vocal music. Performance Scholarships are awarded to students who have demonstrated a high level of accomplishment in vocal or instrumental music, dance, art and design, and theatre.

The graduates of Lowell High School, Jennifer in 1985 and Rebecca in 1987, are daughters of Robert and Judith Dine, of Alto. Jennifer is a senior majoring in English and Rebecca is a sophomore at Alma College.

Alma is a private college founded by Michigan Presbyterians in 1886 and is a national model for integrating liberal arts education with career preparation. It was ranked in 1987 by the U.S. News & World Report in a survey of "America's Best Colleges", as first in science programs and third among the best liberal arts colleges in Western and Midwestern states. Alma College, in the central Michigan town of the same name, also offers students numerous international study opportunities.

Lowell revives offensive punch against Rangers, 14-0

We're all familiar with the lyric, "it only takes a spark to get the fire going." Well, Lowell football coach Phil Christensen going into the contest against Forest Hills Central was looking for a spark to help rekindle a Red Arrow offense that during its three game losing streak has had trouble putting points on the board.

Junior Ryan Holtz in his first start of the season led Lowell to two second-quarter touchdowns as Lowell shutout the Rangers 14-0. The 4-3 Arrows got some stellar defensive play as well, allowing the Ranger offense into Lowell territory just once all evening, that being late in the first half with less than a minute to play.

Holtz, who was 3-of-5 with two touchdown passes in the first half, connected with wide receiver Tim Weststrate early (11:55) in the second quarter on a six-yard out pattern for Lowell's first score and a 7-0 lead; and again with Weststrate on a 14-yard scoring pass with 52 seconds to play in the first half.

Lowell started the drive at the FHC 47-yard line following a good punt return by Todd Nauta. The big play that set up the touchdown pass was a second and eight run by Kevin Goggins from the Ranger 33. On a nice pitch from Holtz, Goggins went 30 yards to the Forest Hills Central 3-yard line. The 47-yard scoring drive took the Red Arrows three minutes, running just seven plays. "We wanted to loosen up our offense some and get our running game going again," Christensen said. "Lowell's defense played well and their offense was able to move the ball and score," FHC head coach Tim McGee said. "We were unable to sustain our blocks and just didn't move the ball."

The Rangers longest sustained drive was 31 yards - that coming midway through the third quarter. FHC took the ball from their own 12 to their 43-yard line before punting.

Lowell's second score came with less than four minutes to play in the first half. Lowell started at its own 43 and marched to the Ranger 14-yard line in eight plays. Rolling to his right, Holtz lofted a pass deep into the endzone, with green jerseys around in front of him Weststrate pulled the ball down and kept a foot inbounds. Brian Bennett added the point after securing Lowell a 14-0 lead.

Weststrate has been Lowell's most constant and consistent receiver all year. The senior has been able to come down with the ball in many tough situations. Last year he made the big catch against Wyoming Park. "He's been our primary receiver this year," Christensen said. He had three receptions for 28 yards and two touchdowns against FHC.

"Forest Hills has one of the top coaches in Tim McGee and with the Rangers being a neighborhood rival we knew it would be a tough game," Christensen said. Goggins led all Lowell rushers with 74 yards. Bob Adams rushed for 43 yards. The Arrows rushed the ball 41 times, rolling up 133 yards on the ground. Through the air Lowell was 5-of-10 for 52 yards and two TD's.

FHC, now 3-4 overall and 2-4 in the O-K White, ran the ball 32 times, gaining 105 yards. In the air Ranger quarterback Craig Seeber was 5-of-14 for 50 yards and one interception, being by Lowell's Dave Organek.

Lowell will now get ready for league-leading Zeeland. The Chix were 27-6 winners over Northview, a 19-10 victor over the Red Arrows.

Christensen's squad is now 3-3 in the league and 4-3 overall.

Red Arrow soccer team boots Sparta; falls to EGR

On Tuesday the Red Arrow soccer team s traveled to East Grand Rapids for its second meeting with the Pioneers.

"Unlike the first meeting we did not insert a special defense for the top ranked EGR team," Lowell coach John Turkal said. "EGR's staff was shocked at our non-use of a marker on their all-state player, Pat Barlett." A marker is similar to player a box-one in basketball.

The Arrow playing a strong defensive game limited the Pioneers to two goals for the entire game. The halftime score was 1-0. Lowell is the only team, outside of Middleville, to hold East Grand Rapids to two goals or less for a game.

The game was won by EGR on a driving charge by the Pioneer center and later on a header.

"I think EGR played the game not to lose," Turkal said. That may have had some bearing on the closeness but Lowell's improvement also had an affect. The first half of the season the Red Arrows went 3-6, so far in the second half they are 5-3.

The excitement and intensity of the game of the game according to Turkal was best explained as a former Lowell graduate shouted "Go you Red Devils," a nickname the school used in the 1940's for a few years. Lowell 7, Sparta 0

Lowell traveled to Sparta later in the week to take on the struggling Spartans.

Lowell took a 1-0 lead at half thanks to a Jason White goal. The starting offense was given 10 minutes of the second half by coach Turkal to score more goals. The Arrows scored four goals in eight minutes. The "Top Gun" being Jason White who grabbed his first track. Teammate Tom Cichon scored two goals.

freshman Jon Kohler scored two goals in the last part of the second half while the club was running the "corky" shift.

Many scoring chances went over the net. Turkal inserted the junior varsity line with 15 minutes to play. "It was pleasing to see the first shift score five goals in 30 minutes.

Goalie Doug Sanford recorded the win in a game in which only four shots on goal got past the Arrow fullbacks.

Lowell now stands at 8-9 and 4-3 in the O-K White Conference. Six Arrows have three goals or more on the season explained Turkal.

The junior varsity lost 5-0. Turkal said size was the determining factor.

Lowell harriers continue to run strong

A tale of two high school cross country teams. For the Lowell girl harriers there was good news and some more good news. Their Red Arrow counterparts had good news but it was sandwiched between bad news.

The Lowell girls won a close race over league foe Forest Hills Central 26-29, increasing their record to 5-1 in the O-K White conference. The team's performance was highlighted by Hillari Kirsch who recorded her best time of the year 20:37, which was good enough for meet honors.

"Kirsch's run was super, but I thought the key to the race was the strong finishes by Chris Decker and Stacy Beute," Lowell coach Tom Harper said. Decker was the fourth Red Arrow to finish. She stopped the clock at 23:27. Beute, meanwhile, the last Arrow harrier to score, finished 10th in a time of 24:11.

Joining Kirsch at the top once again was the ever dependable Betsy Dommer. While Kirsch has been Harper's top runner throughout the season, Dommer hasn't dropped a step in consistency. The Arrow came home in 21:52, taking second overall.

Kristen Shuster was the third Lowell harrier to cover the re-rain. She was fifth overall with a time of 22:34.

Other harriers who ran but did not score include Karen Bussler, 24:32; Jessica Stone, 24:33; Elisa Peel, 25:50; and Amie Kanoza, 25:52.

While the girls won a close race the Lowell boys were edged out by the Rangers 27-32.

Despite the tough loss, the meet was graced by one of the best races to the finish line this year, involving Lowell's Mike Mull and Forest Hills Central's Dave Vonk.

Mull behind Vonk by 15 yards with three-quarters of a mile to go, pulled even with a quarter mile to run and then out sprinted Vonk to the finish line and placed second overall in the meet at a time of 17:24. For the Red Arrow senior that was his top time of the season. "It was a superb race by Mull," Harper said. Vonk is FHC's top runner.

Mull's teammate Clay Vander-Warf grabbed top honors finishing first overall, beating Mull by two seconds at 17:22.

Harrier runners three through five were Andrew Patterson, sixth overall, 18:33; David Stouffer, 11th overall, 19:47; and Jon Pratt, 12th overall, 20:22.

"It was a tough defeat. We missed having Wayne Haines who's out with a bruised heel," Harper said.

The loss dropped the boy harriers to 3-3 in the league.

Finishing the race for Lowell but not scoring were Jacob Hecksel, 20:58; Gregg Groeters, 21:56; Rob Bourgette, 21:24; Clay Pelon, 22:57; and Jon Amundsen, 23:48.

Eighth grade girls' BB

Lowell's eighth-grade girls' basketball team has hit its share of five-foot jumpers this season. The Arrows are undefeated at 4-0.

Hunters should be aware of major regulation changes

Firearm deer and waterfowl hunters should be aware of major changes in this fall's regulations, which are not reflected in the 1988-89 Michigan Hunting Guide.

In addition, all hunters born on or after January 1, 1960 are reminded that before they can purchase a Michigan hunting license, they must 1) present a Hunter Safety Certificate showing they have completed a hunter safety training course or, 2) have proof of purchase of a previous hunting license from Michigan or any other state or, 3) must sign an affidavit stating they have completed a hunter safety course or previously possessed a hunting license.

A list of all major waterfowl/firearm deer hunting changes for 1988-89 follows:

- FIREARM DEER
1. Black-powder substitutes and the use of mini and maxiballs have been legalized for the December muzzleloading season.
- Black powder handguns, .44 caliber or larger, have also been legalized for hunting during the December muzzleloading season.
- Persons hunting with any centerfire or black-powder handgun during the November 15-30 firearm deer season, must now have a firearm deer license and a valid kill tag in possession.
- Non-residents must now have a concealed pistol license to carry a handgun issued by their state that permits use for hunting. A safety inspection certificate alone will not suffice. See page eight of the Michigan Hunting Guide.
- An amendment to the Off-Road-Vehicle (ORV) law now allows persons with a permit to hunt from a standing vehicle to operate their ORV or snowmobile during the normal closed

ORV hours of the firearm deer season, 7 a.m. to 1 a.m. and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

WATERFOWL
1. The point system has been eliminated for duck hunting this year and replaced with a conventional bag limit. Daily limit is 3 ducks (excluding mergansers), no more than two of which may be mallards (one female), 2 wood ducks, 1 black duck and 1 redhead. Effective September 2, 1988, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service approved 1 pintal daily throughout the season, included in the daily bag. Canvasbacks may not be taken. Merganser limit is an additional 5, only one of which may be a hooded merganser.

2. Steel shot requirements are in effect this year for the entire Lower Peninsula and surrounding waters and also for the Munuscong Waterfowl Area and the Potagannising Flooding in the Upper Peninsula.

3. For the first time since 1977, there will be a quail season this fall for 19 counties in the Lower Peninsula. The season will run from Oct. 28 to Nov. 11, with a 5 quail daily bag limit. Open counties and other details are listed in the 1988 Waterfowl Hunting Guide. (Due to printing schedules, quail areas and bag limits were excluded from the 1988-89 hunting/trapping digest and placed in the Waterfowl Guide.

The 1988-89 Michigan hunting and trapping guides may be obtained from DNR offices or from any of the 2,500 hunting license dealers statewide. For more information on hunting rules and regulations, contact the DNR's Law Enforcement Division at 517-373-1230; DNR Wildlife Division, 517-373-1263, or DNR Information Services Center at 517-373-1220.

Carrol "Chris" Burch
The Lowell community lost a teacher, coach and good friend, Monday, when Carrol R. (Chris) Burch passed away at the age of 85.

Burch came to the Lowell School system in 1937. He retired from Lowell Schools in the Spring of 1963. During those 26 years he touched many lives - students, players, coaches and teaching peers.

The Rockford graduate taught business math, civics, social studies, driver education while also coaching baseball and football and being in charge of transportation.

Burch, the winningest Lowell football coach (72-57-7), was the Red Arrow coach from 1937 until 1953. He announced his res-

FAMILY FARE

"Athletes of the Week"

Erik Fulkerson Tony Stepek

He was asked at mid-season to switch from goalie to fullback. His reply was "If it will help the team win." Not much more needs to be said about Lowell's senior soccer co-captain athlete Erik Fulkerson or his attitude.

"When I moved Fulkerson from the goalie position, he became our field general, our communicator," Turkal said. "He's a very smart player." years ago as a sophomore, Fulkerson was a member of the Red Arrow soccer team. He admits that back then the thought of actually being competitive against East Grand Rapids or Forest Hills Central was never pondered.

Thanks to some good, young, talented players, a rejuvenated and uplifting team attitude and a first-year coach that can both motivate and teach, Lowell soccer is experiencing the fruits of playing sound soccer and being competitive against the likes of the Pioneers and the Rangers.

"There's been a drastic change in the team attitude since coach Turkal came to Lowell," Fulkerson said. "With the young players, now I sort of wish I had a couple more years to play."

The Red Arrow senior, the son of Paul and Diana Fulkerson, advises youngsters in elementary and middle school interested in playing soccer that dedication and hard work are necessary. "Soccer is a demanding sport, but size and or gender don't mean anything if there's dedication."

Fulkerson plans on attending a business school in California after graduation. The blonde haired youth smiles and then adds "I'm a surfer. I don't like winter."

The senior son of John and Shirlee Schneider plans on pursuing environmental mechanics (heating and air conditioning). "I think I will work a year and then attend college," he said.

The defensive tackle has two sisters, Tonya and Tammie and an older brother, Tim, who graduated from Lowell in 1984.

Lowell girl hoopsters topple 'Cats; but are shot down by FHC

The age old question that every coach, player and fan has asked surfaced again. How can a team look so good one evening and do a complete 360 and play so poorly two days later. This time the question is being asked by Lowell High School girls' basketball coach Ken Akers and the Red Arrow following.

That's sports! - Although a somewhat simple answer, it's probably the best answer anyone can give. It's that phase of sports that keeps things fresh and keeps the interest up at any level.

In a Tuesday night confrontation, the Red Arrows in one of their best outings of the year, handed Northview and its All-Conference star Beth Sanders, headed for Central Michigan University next fall, a 66-46 defeat.

"The girls took it to the Wildcats, a good squad that has some big girls," Akers said. "Sanders is an excellent player."

Lowell's press was again at the forefront of its opponents problems. The Red Arrow pressure caused Northview to turn the ball over 32 times.

Despite the height disadvantage and Erica Hackenbruch not yet at full strength, Lowell did better than hold its own on the boards. The Red Arrows won the battle on the boards 33-31.

Lowell shot a sparkling 46 percent from the floor and 65 percent from the line.

A couple of personal bests highlighted the scorer's book. LeAnn Iteen had a career high 26 points and a team high nine rebounds. Julie Tarak followed suit with a career high 20 points for Lowell.

"The girls played extremely well," Akers said.

Some may say its harsh to write that the hometown team played poorly, but take one look at Lowell's numbers in its 43-32 loss against Forest Hills Central and you can see why. "The girls were outshot, out-rebounded and outlasted," explained the disappointed Lowell coach Akers added, "I kept waiting for the girls to snap out of it, but it never happened."

Lowell's bread and butter all season long, has been its aggressive pressure defense, but according to Akers even it was non-effective.

Lowell 3-3 in conference play did not have one field goal in the third quarter and had just two field goals in the second quarter. "If someone had told this was going happen, I wouldn't have it possible," Akers explained.

Iteen led the way in scoring with eight points and Kim Marvin added six. Hackenbruch was the team leader in rebounding with seven caroms. Adams had two and Zywicki had one.

Lowell finished the week at 8-4 overall.

We have examined the general purpose financial statements of the Lowell Area Schools as of and for the year ended June 30, 1988, as listed in the table of contents. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and, accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

A substantial portion of the revenues of the School Services Funds consists of charges to users. It was not practicable to extend the examination beyond the Lowell Area Schools accounting for amounts recorded as received.

In our opinion, except for the effects of such adjustments, if any, and disclosures as might have been required had we been able to obtain sufficient competent evidential matter with respect to the item mentioned in the second paragraph, the general purpose financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of the various fund types and account groups of the Lowell Area Schools at June 30, 1988, and the results of their operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

U.S. Army reconnaissance team demonstrates air assault

The five-man reconnaissance team displayed a few of the fall out methods used.

Future U.S. Army officer candidates watched from ground level with Sgt. 1st Class Station Commander Gary Johnson as a five-man reconnaissance squad demonstrated an air assault for students at Bushnell Elementary and Lowell High School.

The Fort Campbell, KY, squad cruised over Lowell Schools at 130 knots, that's cruising when the 4.5 million U-H 60 Blackhawk, the fastest one in the U.S., can excel to speeds of 175 to 200 miles an hour.

"These air assaults are executed when we don't want to land the aircraft. For concealment reasons we are able to jump to anything," Johnson said. The squad has been in Grand Rapids all week visiting and demonstrating at schools as part of a country-wide recruiting effort.

Johnson said that each year roughly 2,000 students, graduates enlist into the U.S. Army from the State of Michigan.

"From Lowell we will be flying to Lansing and then Big Rapids (Ferris State University)," Johnson said. "These type of demonstrations are done throughout the country."

While students and instructors alike enjoyed the 30-45 minute demonstration, community member and chairperson for the Kent County Chapter of Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, Sue Snell, expressed concern over taking students out of the classroom in a recruiting effort to help glorify the Army.

"They bring in the helicopter and help glorify the Army, but they don't show the bags that many boys are brought home in," Snell said. "Why don't they take some of that money used in building that helicopter and put it toward education and the future of our children?"

Lowell High School Principal Dick Korb said the demonstration was held during lunch and teachers holding class had the choice of taking the class outside for the demonstration or remaining in class.

"This demonstration was cleared through city officials and through the Kent County Aviation Controls," Korb said. "All the proper procedures were taken."

Sgt. Craig Garrison, a member of the Fort Campbell squad that came to Lowell, answered questions on the demonstration and the helicopter. Garrison also had another story battalion - his protection was a 203 grenade launcher. According to Garrison the Grenada invasion was to rescue American students and to stop communist aggression and killings.

Some American Indian tribes believed it to be good luck to "marry" their fishing nets to little girls.

"I wasn't sure it was the right thing to do until I saw a warehouse full of arms and ammunition," Garrison said. "The arms came from Cuba and North Korea. It was then that I thought the mission was the right thing to do."

The Allentown, Penn. native said the people living in Grenada were happy to see them. "They loved us," he said.

The unfortunate side of the story is that at least 10 members from Garrison's battalion were injured (Garrison being one) and two were killed. "I was there two days before being evacuated because of medical reasons," Garrison said. "I was hit in the face with shrapnel."

The Grenada mission lasted approximately one month. Although the mission was considered successful, Garrison agreed the loss of lives is a high price to pay for success.

Sgt. Craig Garrison spends a few minutes signing autographs for young Bushnell students. Garrison was part of the Army demonstration recruiting effort last week at LHS.

CITY OF LOWELL PUBLIC NOTICE

The Lowell City Planning Commission-Citizens Advisory Commission will conduct a public hearing at:

7:30 P.M. on MONDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1988

for the purpose of receiving comments from the public on a request from Roger Robinson and Faro Ucello for a SPECIAL USE PERMIT to utilize the property on West Main Street between Crystal Flash and Reedy Realty for a used car lot.

Interested persons may submit comments prior to the meeting or appear in person at City Hall.

Betty Morlock
Deputy City Clerk

C49

The tallest woman basketball player was Juliana Semenova who played on the 1976 Russian Olympic team and stands seven feet two inches tall.

Doyle said. In obvious reference to the after-the-fact public outcry concerning the fallen trees, Doyle quoted the child's nursery rhyme, "Humpty Dumpty" adding emphasis to the final lines, "And all the King's horses, and all the King's men, couldn't put Humpty Dumpty together again".

Councilman Jack Fonger noted that the city owns several nice shade trees on property purchased from the Lowell Moose Lodge a few years ago. The property has been designated as a nursery for shade trees in city parks and right-of-ways, and some may find their way into the cemetery property.

Councilman Dean Collins recommended that lime be applied to the areas where trees had been removed in the cemetery, in preparation for future plantings.

In other Council business, public hearings were held on two zoning variances. One variance was requested by Erb Lumber to construct parking spaces for 92 customers when adding to and remodeling their facilities at 925 W. Main. Erb's planned total of 19,800 sq. ft. of retail space requires 138 parking spaces as stipulated in the zoning ordinance. A representative from Erb Lumber argued that the lumber business is different from most retail operations in that most customers are parked for a very short period of time, and many customer vehicles are parked in the yard area for loading. The Council, acting as The Zoning Board of Appeals, approved the request.

Action Auto, a new auto parts store and service station being constructed at 2001 W. Main, sought a sign variance. The ordinance stipulates a sign area of 54 sq. ft. and 30 feet in height. Action Auto requested a sign 228 sq. ft. in area and 31 feet high. After considerable discussion, the Council agreed to a compromise allowing a sign no larger than 128 sq. ft. in area and 30 feet high. A variance for a 128 sq. ft. sign was granted to the Lowell Shell Station earlier this year.

Ms. Charlie Johnson, representing Michigan Wire Processing Co. approached the Council regarding a request for tax relief under Public Act 198. In April of this year, Michigan Wire applied for tax relief for a new $85,000, 7,700 sq. ft. building at their W. Main facility. Johnson said the addition has created at least the five new jobs specified in the application. The issue died for lack of action in April.

Under P.A. 198, tax relief of 50% can be granted for a period of up to 12 years. The city loses the revenue, but the school district is reimbursed through state funding. Several new businesses and plant expansions have benefited from P.A. 198 in Lowell over the past several years. The Council recently adopted a formula by which the number of years an abatement is granted is proportionate to the size of the project and the number of new jobs created. Using the formula, the Michigan Wire project qualified for two years of tax relief. Collins motioned that the abatement be granted for a full 12 years, but the motion died for lack of support. An abatement was finally approved for a two year period.

Local attorney Mike Tummino approached the Council with a request to purchase the east wall of his building at 311 E. Main. The wall was a common wall with a building formerly located where "Senior Citizen Park" is now situated. Tummino said the wall is in need of repair, and if the city would sell it to him, he would see that it is maintained. The Council voted to deed the wall over to Tummino for $1.00.

The Council voted to purchase 150 tons of road salt from the low bidder, Domtar Industries, at $25.00 per ton.

A "Municipal Facilities Needs Study" was completed by WBDC, Inc. in March. The study recommends the construction of a five bay, 8,700 sq. ft. fire barn and ambulance station. Since the spring, the following outside funding has been secured: $50,000 from the Look Memorial for engineering and site preparation, plus a 50/50 matching commitment for city monies invested, $40,000 over five years from Vergennes Township and $66,369 over five years from Lowell Township. Lowell City Manager David Pasquale is also approaching the Grand Rapids Foundation for additional funding.

At Monday's meeting, Lowell Fire Chief Frank Martin suggested the fire barn be located on S. Hudson St., south and adjacent to the Public Works Garage. Doyle and Fonger questioned the location. It was finally agreed to add site research to the architectural and design study approved by the Council. Design work should be completed over the winter, and construction should begin in the spring.

The Council unanimously approved a property purchase of a 20.61 acre site west of the Water Treatment Plant on Bowes Rd. The property is owned by Reith Riley Construction. A price of $40,000 has been established in previous negotiations between Reith-Riley and the city.

Honorable George R. Cook, 67, dies at his EGR home

Lowell area friends, the business community and organizations were saddened on Sunday to learn of the death of the Honorable George R. Cook, 67, a Kent County Circuit Court Judge, at his home in East Grand Rapids.

Cook had been ill at his home the past week, and died apparently of natural causes, his body being found shortly after 2 p.m. An autopsy was to be performed on Monday.

His larynx had been removed 11 years ago after cancer was found. He first used a voice box but learned to speak through his esophagus and with the help of his clerk reading his opinions in court, continued his judicial duties.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret, also an attorney; his daughter, Ann (Timothy) Merkle of Chelsea; a grandson, Brian; his mother, Kathryn Cook of Grand Haven; and one brother, John of Lansing.

Memorial Services were held Tuesday afternoon at St. Mark's Episcopal Church with the Rev. Joseph Howell officiating. Memorials can be made to Hospice of Greater Grand Rapids.

George Cook was born in Ohio but moved to Lowell in 1925 with his parents Gerald and Kathryn Cook, attending Lowell schools, before moving to Silver Springs, MD. He graduated from the University of Maryland in 1942 and received his law degree from the University of Michigan in 1948 after serving in the South Pacific in the U.S. Army.

After the war, he worked as a law clerk for the Michigan Supreme Court. He moved back to Lowell in 1949 and formed a partnership with Roger O. McMahon, a former Kent County prosecutor.

In 1951, he formed a law firm with Richard VanderVeen and Walter Freihofer in Grand Rapids but maintained his office in Lowell also, spending afternoons here until he was appointed to the Circuit Court bench in 1975 by Gov. William Milliken, to replace Judge John H. VanderWal. He won election to the office in 1975, and was re-elected in 1980 and 1986. Governor Blanchard will now appoint someone to fill out his term until the next general election at which time a judge would be elected to serve the remainder of his term which expires in 1992.

Among his other services were Attorney for the City of Grand Rapids and Civil Counsel for the County of Kent.

George, as he liked to be called, was a member of Lowell Rotary Club and wrote many issues of the "Paddle Wheel" bulletin, sharing many a witticism and often quoting from the Bible, or in Latin, or from his favorite poet.

He always considered Lowell his home town and has many friends here who remember him as kind and compassionate, always interested and helpful in assisting his clients, friends and acquaintances.

the cemetery," Pasquale said. "The council is a representative democracy of the people that has to look out for the best interest of the people and in this case, the cemetery."

Siciliano added that some people have expressed their approval of the now open area. "Many have said they like it better," he said. "I think many will like it better once the brush is removed and replanting of other trees has started." The removal of the brush and the completion of the job is expected to be done Saturday.

Another problem the city has encountered is the discoloring of the individual stones in the cemetery of those located in lots closest to the trees. The stain from the walnut has covered some of the stones' tops.

Pat Drake, a first-grade teacher at Runciman/Riverside Elementary said, "For a lot of people those trees had aesthetic beauty. 'I wouldn't cut something that beautiful for anything,'" Drake said. "Not once have I heard a complaint about the dirtiness of the trees."

The group of concerned and upset citizens agreed that they couldn't remember seeing anyone from the city cleaning up the fallen walnuts from the trees.

"The squirrels get most of them. I doubt, if while mowing, I've ever had to pick up more than five walnuts," Swift said. "Technically the area is owned by the city, but it's the peoples' place. Joggers use the cemetery to run in and families use it as a park - to take walks."

Grace Nowak, who lives on the south side of the cemetery, had to leave the premises. "I had to leave my house. I couldn't watch them cut down the trees," she said.

Big Ben is the 13½ ton bell in the clock tower of the House of Parliament in London—the name is often incorrectly applied to the clock itself.

A car driven by Susan Bristol, 32, of Lowell was struck in the rear by a car driven by a 16 year old driver from Ada Sat., Oct. 15 on Main at Monroe St. No one was injured.

James Zywicki, 47, of Lowell had his car struck while driving on Main St. near Broadway Sat. evening, Oct. 15 when a juvenile driver failed to yield right of way at the intersection. No one was injured.

Two vehicles were struck by a hit & run driver Sat., Oct. 15 while parked on Chatham near Broadway St. Both were owned by Tom Ward of Lowell.

Three Lowell juveniles will be referred to Probate Court at a later date on charges of Trespassing and Attempted Arson, which occurred in the Bowes Rd. gravel pit area, Oct. 11.

A 13 year old juvenile will be referred to Probate Court on Charge of Larceny when he was caught in possession of a stolen bicycle Monday evening, Oct. 17 by Lowell Police.
