Memorial Day services slated

Lowell & Saranac celebrate Memorial Day

All interested parties, especially veterans, are encouraged to participate in Lowell's Memorial Day Parade and Services slated for Monday, May 29 at 9:30 a.m. The salute to veterans is sponsored by the Clark-Ellis Post of the American Legion and the Flat River Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Lowell parade will form at Richards Park on North Hudson St. at 9 a.m. It will step off at 9:30 a.m. and proceed east along Main St. The parade will pause on the bridge over the Flat River while a floral wreath is tossed upon the waters as a tribute to those in service who perished at sea by Mrs. Nora Rash. Mr. Ed Rash will offer a prayer. A firing squad comprised of the American Legion and V.F.W. members will fire a rifle salute.

The parade will then proceed to Oakwood Cemetery via Monroe St. At the cemetery a floral tribute from both of the veterans groups will be presented. Rev. William Amundsen will offer the invocation at the Cemetery and Rash will be the master of ceremonies.

Both the Lowell High School and Middle School bands are scheduled to participate as are a host of antique cars, bicycles, city vehicles, horses, scouts and dignitaries.

Anyone interested in participating should contact Parade Marshal John Stinson, Jr. at 897-7965.

SARANAC MEMORIAL DAY CEREMONY

The Memorial Day Parade in Saranac will start forming at Adgate's parking lot at 9 a.m. on Monday, May 29.

Escorted by the Ionia County Sheriff's Dept. the parade will proceed to the cemetery by way of Mill Street.

Participation in the Memorial Day parade is open to any person or organization who wishes to participate. Color guard units, decorated bicycles, horse units, (known to participate under parade conditions), old cars, firing squads, service clubs, all ball teams, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts, Brownies, church groups, firefighters. Anyone is welcome. If possible let Township Clerk, Patricia Zander know you are planning to march by calling 642-9162.

The Memorial Day service at the cemetery will be like past years, programs will be available at the cemetery Memorial Day.

Please be at Adgate's parking lot on time so the parade may get underway no later than 10 a.m. Come and show your support.

Lowell Showboat selects its nine acts

And then there were nine - The Lowell Showboat Talent Search '89 concluded Friday. After 3-1/2 hours and 33 acts the panel of five judges announced the nine acts that will perform at the Showboat on June 22, 23 and 24.

Roughly 500 people from Lowell and surrounding areas were in attendance and they were treated to an entertaining night of singing and dancing.

The acts that were given the nod to share the 1989 Showboat stage with B.J. Thomas were on Thursday night, The Robert E. Lee Dancers from Rockford; Melissa Kyser, Lowell; and Hardknock Life, Kentwood.

On Friday, the three amateur acts performing will include The Polka Pals from Owosso; Chris Schutt, Owosso, a repeat performer from the 1988 talent show and a previous performer on the Chesaning Showboat. Also joining B.J. Thomas will be the musical group Message.

Saturday night's amateur performers will include David Hoag and Shauna Blunt from Owosso; Dance Unlimited, Kentwood, and Deena Nichole King from Portland.

Each act received two complimentary tickets to the night of their performance.

MCGEE HOMESTEAD - Bed and breakfast, 2534 Alden Nash N.E., Lowell. 897-8142.

The Polka Pals was one of nine acts selected to perform with B.J. Thomas at the Lowell Showboat in June. Polka Pals will perform on Friday, June 23.

Lowell's Showboat Talent Search '89 was originally scheduled for the Showboat Amphitheatre, but due to inclement weather was switched to the Lowell Middle School.

Judging the acts were Laura McCollum, Flat River Antique Mall, Ionia; Cathy Swift, Lowell; Shannon Fenech, promotion director WOOD Radio; Kelly Holst, Lowell Showboat Vice President; and Noreen Martin, Lowell Area Arts Council.

"A lot of work and effort is put forth by many volunteers," Talent Search Committee Chairperson Jim Reagan said. "It's the volunteers that make Lowell Showboat the special event that it is and have made the Lowell Showboat Talent Search '89 such a success."

Reserved and general admission tickets are still available for all three shows. Tickets can be purchased at the Lowell Showboat office at 202 W Main St. located in the Flat River Antique Mall.

Like Boston, New Jersey had a "tea party" during the mounting friction between the colonies and Great Britain. At Greenwich, near Delaware Bay, young men in Indian costumes burned a shipload of tea from England in 1774.

"Safe Roads" legislation clears way for road repair and safer travel for Michigan motorists by: Rep. Curtis Hertel House of Representatives Associate Speaker

Last week a bipartisan package of "Safe Roads" legislation was introduced in the House that will provide about $145 million annually in much-needed additional revenues to rebuild and repair our state's highways, roads and bridges to make travel in Michigan safer; to provide for additional infrastructure bonding for transportation projects; and, to provide funds for environmental clean-up of petroleum pollution from leaking underground storage tanks.

The package consists of three bills. The first, (HB 4630), which I sponsored, will increase the motor fuel tax, frozen at 15 cents per gallon since 1984, to 17 cents per gallon. This two cent increase will raise about $90 million annually in new revenues for transportation, to be distributed through the Michigan Transportation Fund statutory formula.

A second bill, (HB 4631), sponsored by Representative James E. O'Neill, Jr., (D-Saginaw), will create a "Rebuild Michigan" program for environmental clean-up and transportation infrastructure projects. It will be funded by a one cent regulatory fee at the refinery level on all petroleum products. Twenty-five percent ($13.75 million) will be used for environmental clean-up through the Michigan Underground Storage Tank Fund established by legislation enacted last year. The rest of the "Rebuild Michigan" money will fund a bonding program for urgent highway, road and bridge projects and for capital projects for public transportation. Total revenues for the "Rebuild Michigan" program will be about $55 million annually.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency has required either that states establish a tank clean-up program like the MUST fund, or EPA will not allow individual service stations to operate unless they have at least $1 million in assets or liability coverage. The MUST Fund will help pay for locating, repairing and removing the thousands of defective underground tanks which are leaking petroleum and other contaminants into our groundwater supply.

A third bill, (HB 4632), is sponsored by Representative M.L. Mickey Knight, (R-Muskegon). It amends the Michigan Highway Act to provide for the transportation bonding programs.

Michigan has one of the largest highway systems in the country -- about 118,000 miles of state, county and local roads -- and at one time our transportation system was considered one of the finest in the nation. Most of our freeway and interstate system was constructed more than 20 years ago and has reached or exceeded its life expectancy. For several years our transportation revenues have not met our needs, and now about 30 percent of our roads are rated deficient. Unless we take remedial action now, 80 percent of our roads -- 95,679 miles -- will need resurfacing, reconstruction, widening or other improvements by the year 2000.

Michigan's current gas tax of 15 cents is just below the national average of 15.4 cents. As of January, 1989, regional gas tax rates ranged from highs in Wisconsin and Minnesota of 20.9 cents and 20 cents respectively to a low in Illinois of 13 cents, with Ohio at 14.8 cents and Michigan and Indiana at 15 cents. Michigan's gas tax rate has been frozen since 1984, and during that time highway construction costs have increased by about 20 percent.

Although our state's transportation system is one of the largest in the country, we were ranked recently at 43rd in the nation in per capita road spending.

The national per capita spending in 1987 was $204.78, while Michigan's average per capita spending was only $172.92. A recent comparison of Michigan with neighboring states found that our average motorist pays the second lowest average gas tax in the region -- $99.95 in 1985, compared to the regional average of $107.94. This lower spending is reflected in the current condition of highways, roads and bridges.

The House Committee on Transportation, will be holding hearings on the "Safe Roads" package to be held in the next few weeks in the Detroit area, Lansing and Grand Rapids. I hope you will give me a call if you have any questions or if I can provide additional details concerning this legislation.

SINGING IN GREEN

Looking out of my study window, the whole scene has changed. A few weeks ago nature was lean and brown and seemingly lifeless. Now it is becoming full skirted with green. Everything has come alive. I feel the same way.

While I was waiting in line at a restaurant the other day, a chipper looking couple standing next to me started up a conversation about this season. I listened and smiled as I heard him say, "Oh, I enjoy this lovely young color of green." His wife picked that thought up quickly from him and added, "I look forward to enjoying that green every day. I darkens so quickly -- that soft, baby green."

Recently, the phone woke me up very early in the morning. It was a call from a friend in Tennessee. During our talking, I read a passage to her from the diary of Opal Whiteley. Opal was about five or six when she wrote this diary. When I finished reading, my friend excitedly yelled into the phone. "Oh Joan, that's exactly -- I mean exactly, how I feel about Tennessee." Opal's description of a spring day is like a song of celebration. She writes:

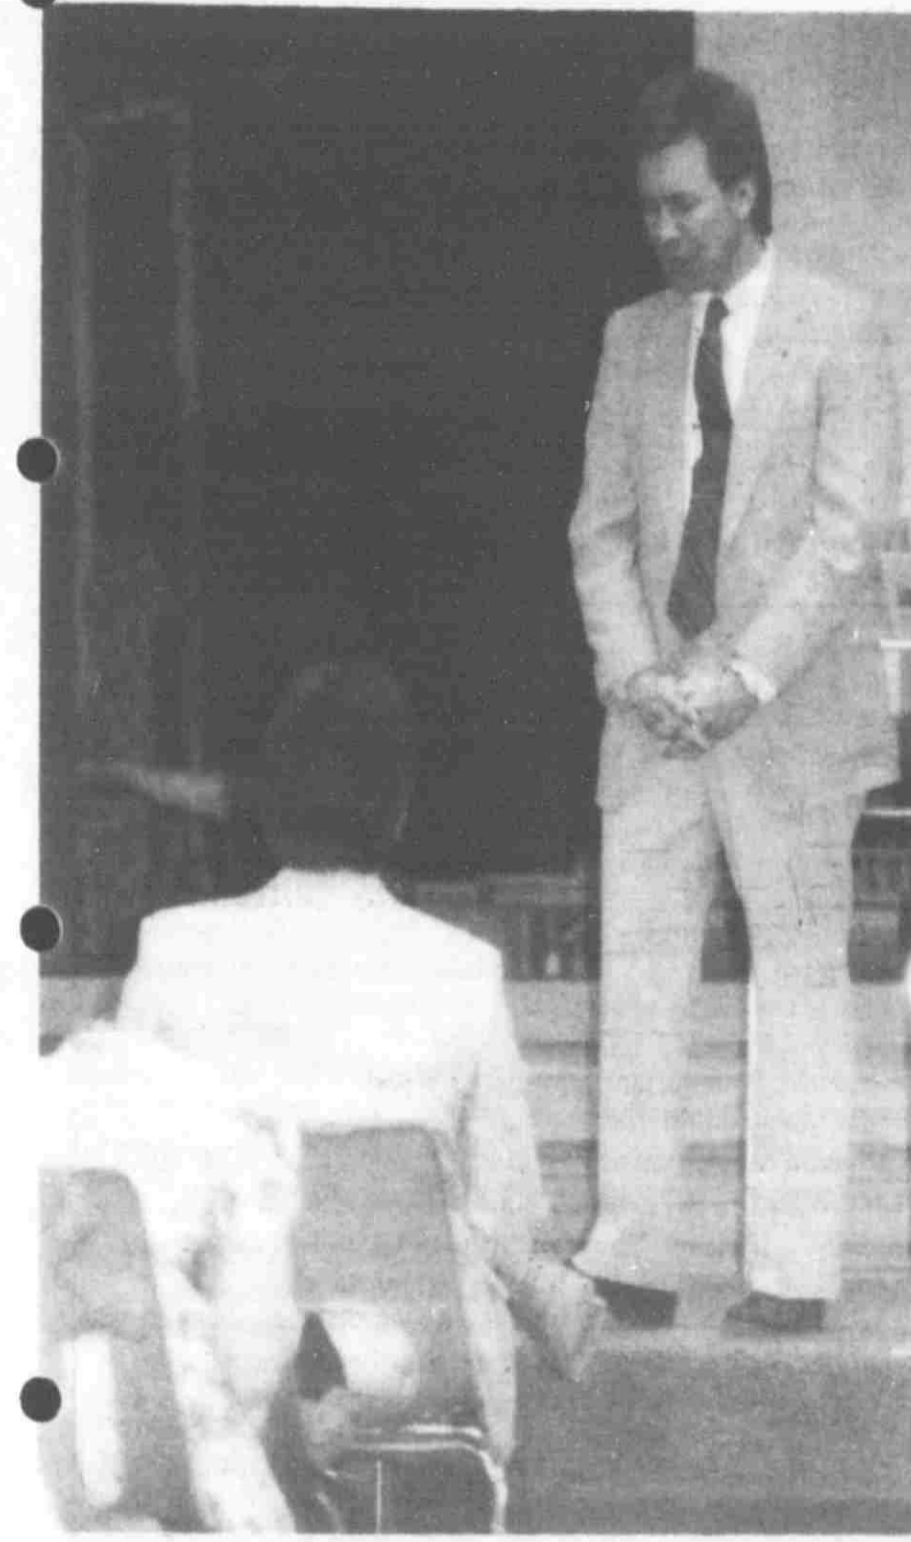

Morning is glad on the hills.
The sky sings in blue tones.
Little blue flowers are early blooming now.
I do so like blue.
It is glad everywhere.
When I grow up I am going to write a book about the glad of blues.
The earth sings in green.

Hopefully, with that new burst of color and enthusiasm from Opal and my friend, I can once and for all put away the cough drops, the mentholatum, the aspirin, the box of tissues and the remembrance of sleepless nights due to hours of endless coughing. For many people, it wasn't the weather that was bothersome, it was the continual doctoring of the flu or a lengthy virus that kept coming back. It has been a long, tiring winter, for many.

Today, "the sky sings in blue tones." I am quiet and grateful, but I am even more thankful that the beige of winter has given over to the new songs of green. I jotted down in my journal a quote from author, Sally Conway that puts color into another perspective. She writes: "Every experience you have in life is like being given another crayon with a slightly different color than all the rest to use in creating a picture. Each new color allows you to expand the shading, the tone, the richness."

So be it, Lord

Cornerstone Church is "listening & helping in Lowell"

Pastor Ray Befus of the Cornerstone Community Church pauses to reflect at his service on Sunday.

Is Christianity credible?
Is there a God?
Is the Bible true?
Is man responsible to God?
Does man need Him?
The Cornerstone Community Church communicates the Bible's answers to these questions through a movement that's alive, vital and modern.

"I came to the church 2-1/2 years ago. It was without a pastor," relates Cornerstone Community Church of Lowell Pastor Ray Befus. "I began to help informally for a while and the church began to take off - I was then asked to stay and serve as its pastor."

When Befus started, the church had 30 adults and 40 children. In his tour of duty, the congregation has grown to roughly 200 (125 adults, 70 youths).

Befus credits three reasons for the church's success. "When the Cornerstone Church came to Lowell nearly three years ago, the Lowell Community was not a dire need of religious ministries," he says. "However, I think churches as a whole are losing the christian content and Cornerstone is offering a movement that is alive, vital and one that communicates."

church property to show that Jesus Christ can provide answers and that his message is relevant to their everyday lives.

According to Befus, 64 percent of the people in Kent County are unchurched. He is hopeful that by reaching out and getting out, the church can attract these people. "Many have gone to church a couple of times throughout the year but have found it meaningful and those that have never attended church - don't find it relevant," Befus said.

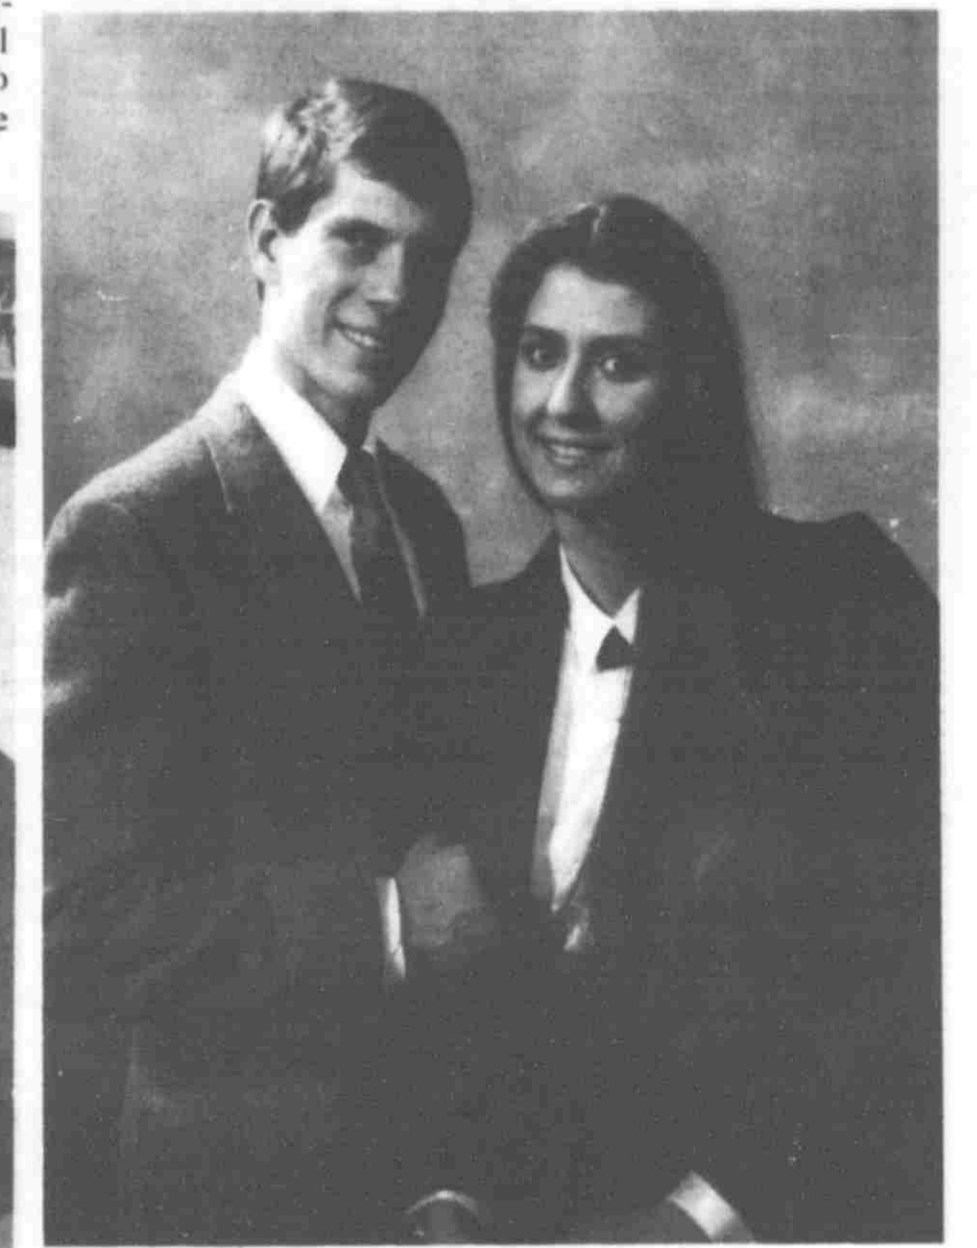

Cornerstone Community Church Pastor Ray Befus reviews passages from the Bible for his Sunday sermon.

The Cornerstone motto is "listening and helping in Lowell" that falls right in line with Befus' belief that the church's needs to speak the language of its congregations and to keep in touch with their needs. Being new has provided Befus the freedom to try new things, to take risks.

"I want the Cornerstone Community Church of Lowell to be recognized as a place where anyone can go - a place that will listen and help," Befus said. "To show the love Jesus would if he were here in person."

Lowell Women's 600 Club holds Tournament

Members of the Lowell Women's 600 Club held their 5th championship bowling tournament at the Lowell Lanes on May 20.

Invited to the tournament this year were women from 600 clubs from Belding, Greenville, Ionia and Lake Odessa Associations.

A total of 26 women participated in the 2 sets of 3 games tournament. The five finalists participated in a step-ladder roll-off immediately following the six games.

The championship was won by Sue Halfaday of Lowell; 2nd place went to Debbie Comden of Stanton; 3rd place to Connie Roth of Lowell; 4th to Brenda Hubbard of Saranac; 5th place to Linda Malone of Greenville; 6th to Virginia Holstad of Greenville and 7th place went to Linda Clouse of Saranac.

High actual series for the tournament was 1,165 for 6 games, rolled by Debbie Comden.

About half as much hot water is used in the average shower as in the average bath.

How we beat the competition by finishing ahead of them.*

And behind them.

*Ford Tempo faster than Chevy Corsica in passing tests.
Ford Escort brakes better than Chevy Cavalier.

In recent independent tests the Ford Tempo GL went from 50 to 70 mph in just 8.43 seconds. It took the Chevrolet Corsica LT a full 9.39 seconds to reach the same speed. Independent tests also proved the superior braking power of the Escort LX over the Chevrolet Cavalier. From a speed of 60 mph, it took the Escort only 138.3 feet to come to a complete stop. The Cavalier needed 150.5 feet.

ESCORT LX SELLS FOR UNDER $7,800

The 1989 Tempo GL, available with air conditioner, AM/FM stereo with clock, tilt steering and more, sells for under $9,400! And the 1989 Escort LX, the best selling car in the world† is priced under $7,800! For passing or braking, both are clearly in a class by themselves. Test drive one at your Greater Michigan Ford Dealers and you'll know why.

St. Mary's "Lighter Than Air" Day family kite contest winners were front from left to right Luke Niewiadomski and his brother Joe (not pictured) took first; and Jamie Fox placed fourth. Back, left to right, are Vincent, Lucas and Anthony DeVito, who finished second; followed by Kelly and Jenny Schanta, who finished third.

St. Mary's students even got a lesson and a slide show on the art of flying a kite by John Despres.

TV 13's meteorologist Bill Steffen participated in St. Mary's "Lighter Than Air Day."

St. Mary's students celebrate "Lighter Than Air Day"

St. Mary's School held its "Lighter Than Air Day" on Friday, May 19.

The day was filled with experiments and exercises that related to air.

Susan Koster organized and planned the all-day event with the help of the St. Mary's staff.

One of the day's highlights was a visit from TV 13's meteorologist Bill Steffen. The weatherman talked about the weather and presented a 40 minute slide show.

The fifth through eighth-grade students had an active and instructional role in the experiments and exercises. "They prepared so they could teach the elementary children," Koster said. "The students performed creative type experiments for the younger kids."

Some of the experiments and exercises included bubble gum blowing contest; making square and triangular bubbles; constructing paper gliders; the family kite contest winners were announced; John Despres, an amateur kite flyer, showed clips of kite flying demonstrations. "The young students show excitement toward learning when they are taught by the older students," Koster said.

Chop home grown herbs separately in a blender with a little water and freeze. Freshly thawed they're much tastier than dried herbs.

LHS spring concert offers variety of music

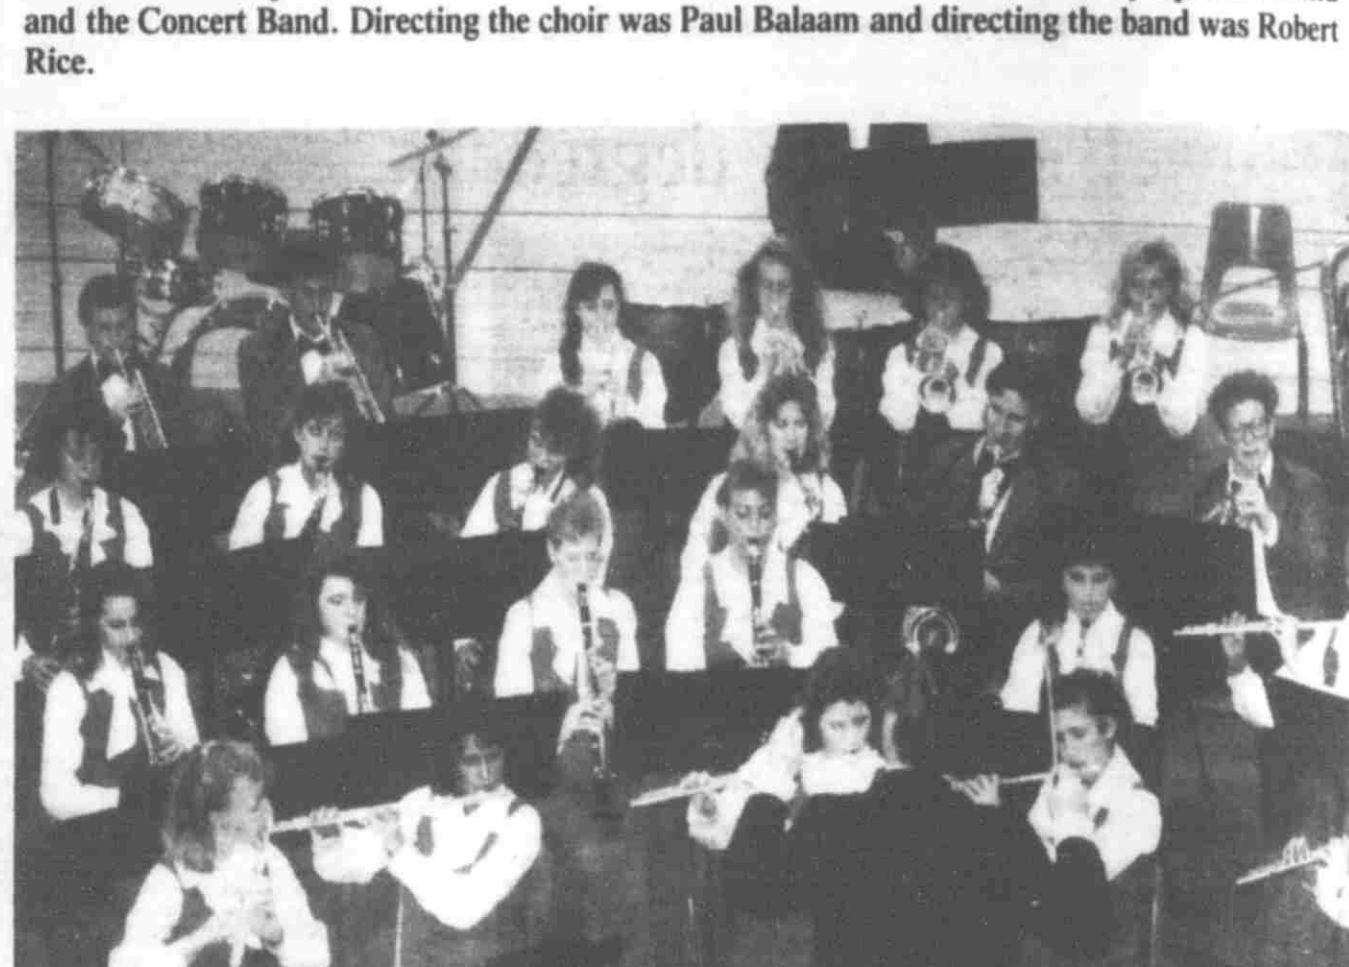

Lowell High School's concert band performed such melodies as "Bunker Hill," "Kokomo" and "Covington Square."

The Lowell High School Gymnasium was the site of the LHS annual spring concert. The concert included performances from the Glee Club, the Concert Choir, the symphonic Band and the Concert Band. Directing the choir was Paul Balaam and directing the band was Robert Rice.

There are 30 members of the Lowell Concert Band and roughly 60 members in the Symphonic Band.

Rice and his band cohorts entertained the crowd for nearly 30 minutes.

"Capitol Column"

By State Senator Dick Posthumus

For many years, colleges and universities were turning out more teachers than there were jobs available. During the period when enrollment was declining and even veteran teachers were being laid off, many would-be teachers gravitated to other fields with better job advancement prospects.

Today, all that is starting to change. The United States is experiencing a baby "boomlet." Our new crop of students will need dedicated, and highly trained teachers, to prepare them for our increasingly technological world.

While we've yet to experience an overall shortage of teachers, many districts cannot find educators qualified to teach technical subjects, such as math and science. The "brain drain" could be alleviated by letting Michigan schools tap the wealth of knowledge and experience available from professionals now working in computer science, math, chemistry, biology, engineering, physics and robotics careers.

Senate legislation would allow districts to hire non-certified and non-endorsed people to teach specific subject areas when a certified teacher is not available. That means a high school could enlist the services of a Dow scientist to teach students chemistry. Or a General Motors engineer could be recruited to lead students through calculus.

Under the bill, the specialist would need a four-year baccalaureate degree, a major or graduate degree in the subject to be taught and two years' work experience.

The bill represents an exciting possibility for both the specialist and the student. The specialist would get valuable teaching experience and the chance to share up-to-the-minute knowledge, while students would get an inside look at exciting fields of applied technology.

A similar New Jersey law has already proven successful. Last year, nearly 30 percent of the state's new teachers were non-certified specialists. Scores of engineers and scientists in the state are eager to pass on their experience and expertise to high school students.

'88 drought will have little effect on apple consumers

The blossoms are plentiful at Kropf Orchards.

The one-two-year old apple trees will be victimized most by last year's drought. Consumers need not worry, apples should be plentiful this year.

DONALD R. GARVIN, HEAD DESIGNER

The impact the 1988 drought had on apple orchards will not be felt by the consumer, according to Ken Kropf of Kropf Orchards.

"The drought had an effect on the apple orchards, but it's nothing the consumer will feel," Kropf said. "The biggest hurt came with the rain we got in the fall. The apple took in too much water and didn't stay conditioned."

He also added that the drought of 1988 took its biggest toll on the 1-2-year old trees. "There have already been reports of young trees that have leafed out because of the sap stored inside them, but when pulled out of the ground there are no roots."

Kropf said the number of trees this has happened to will be determined in mid-June when they are stressed. "In the state of Michigan, the monetary loss of young trees has been quoted as high as $1 million in losses, this is according to a Horticultural Cooperative Extension Service report," he says.

The move out of the drought and into the harvest season a year ago provided enough rain to finish the apples off. "At the end of the season last year apple orchards were looking healthy heading into winter," Kropf explains.

Then in the fall (September and October) excess rains caused damage to the apples. The water went straight to the fruit, making for poor keeping conditions and poor shelf life. "The apples were softer, many were bruised, decayed and broken down," Kropf said. "Lots of the apples were not packable. Thus, many were not shipped." He adds that the apples needed moisture, but not as much as they got.

Softer apples brought complaints from the warehouse and store levels. Because of the complaints, orchards had to install changes at the packing house level before allowing fruit to leave.

It meant watching the pressure tests and not allowing shiploads of apples to go out that would be out of condition before reaching the public.

"Softer apples come in under 10 pounds of pressure. The good apples are 10 pounds and over," Kropf said. "Although McIntosh are still okay under 10 pounds of pressure. Delicious start to get into trouble when under 10, but they can run as high as 14 or 16.

The good eating Delicious apples are right around 12."

The biggest concern for apple orchard growers this spring were the bus sets. "If there are not bud sets there will not be leaves and thus no apples," Kropf explains.

"Next spring many orchards will replace the young trees that did not make it through the drought, if affordable," Kropf said. "The average tree in the ground cost $4.50-$5 a tree."

Kropf doesn't believe the orchard will suffer a big loss because of its ability to irrigate last summer and to get plenty of water to the smaller trees. "The trees stayed healthy and their size was up," he says. "The loss was in the time spent getting the trees there. We didn't lose fruit, we lost in the condition of the apple. Many of the apples that are normally packaged went for juice or processing."

Kropf concluded by saying the final word on how orchards fared will come in mid-June.

LAAC presents "Harry & Friends"

Harry and Friends, an ensemble watercolor exhibit, brings its 5th annual tour to the Lowell Area Arts Council Gallery on Sunday, June 11.

The group of painters was formed by Harry Hefner, retired chairman of the Art Department of Western Michigan University. Participating in this exhibit of recent work will be Alicia DuRand, Sylvia Krissoff, Bertha Verbrugge, Russell Sheperd, Donn Palmer, Wanda Anderson, Loretta Sailors, Carol Jelens, Joan Huffman, Joanne Peltz, Elsa McFarland, Susanne Remes, Judy Tummino, Jan Johnson, Mary Heuvelhorst, Kay Hammond and Harry Hefner.

A special reception "Brunch on the Green with Harry and Friends" will open the exhibit on Sunday, June 11. The brunch will feature delicious summer fare.

From the menu you may select French toast with raspberry cinnamon conserve and powdered sugar, a variety of delicious home baked muffins, seafood crepes, Chicken Divan, pasta primavera, phyllo purses filled with spinach, cheese and pine nuts, radicchio cups filled with cucumber and fresh herb salad, salad of mixed greens and herbs, pears marinated in honey and creme fraiche, fruit compote, mint and lemon ice, La Croix, iced Cafe Au Lait and champagne.

This special event is by reservation only and tickets are $10 per person. Two seatings are offered 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Reservations may be made by phoning 897-8545 Monday through Friday, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Deadline for tickets is June 9. The exhibit runs through July 30.

Alto PTO entertained by "Raisins"

The Alto Parent-Teacher club held their last meeting of the year on May 15. This family potluck features Alto's Fifth Grade Choir singing several songs they had been practicing during their lunch periods over the past month.

Shown here are Music Teacher, Barb VanderLaan and volunteer pianist, Marcia Graham with the choir doing a "California Raisin" number.

AMERICA'S ROADTEAM
America's Road Team, developed by the American Trucking Associations (ATA), is a public awareness program featuring highway safety tips from professional truck drivers whose motto is "safety is our driving concern."
Here are tips from ATA's safety experts to help you share the road with a truck.
Trucks have a "blind spot" behind the trailer. Avoid "tailgating" trucks because the driver can't see you. If you can see the truck's side-view mirrors, the truck driver can see you and give you plenty of warning for a stop or a turn.

Bushnell staff and students work to improve play area

This spring staff and students at Bushnell School pitched in to beautify the earth berms that were constructed last year to separate the parking lot and playground areas.

Five trees from the Arbor Day tree distribution found new homes. Two days during lunch hours students planted myrtle and iris and spread a bark mulch.

Our thanks to staff and students for the myrtle, Ms. Hoats for the iris, and the pencil sale and activities funds for the shredded bark.

Students at Bushnell planted myrtle and irises and spread bark mulch on their lunch hour.

Students gave up their lunch hour for two days to spruce up their playground.

Several classes at Alto Elementary were invited to visit the Fred Oesch (Swiss Lane) farm as a culmination of studying about farms and animals.

Shown here are Mrs. Webber's first graders boarding a hay wagon for a ride from school to the farm. A highlight of the first graders visit was the live birth of a baby calf just as students were entering the barn.

A student diligently waters the plants provided by funds from pencil sales and other activities.

Each eye of a duck has three eyelids.

In The Service

Navy Seaman Recruit Michael L. Muller, son of Clifford J. and Patricia E. Muller of Alto, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, Orlando, FL.

During Muller's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Muller's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

A 1987 graduate of Caledonia High School, he joined the Navy in December 1988.

Navy Seaman Recruit Joe P. Driedger, a 1988 graduate of Lowell Senior High School of Lowell, MI, recently deployed to the Caribbean and surrounding areas with Naval Mobile Construction Battalion-Seven, Gulfport, MS.

While deployed Driedger will participate in numerous military exercises and visit several surrounding ports.

He joined the Navy in July 1988.

The picky panda: Of the 20 bamboo varieties, the giant panda eats only five. And only certain parts of those plants at certain times. According to International Wildlife magazine, only bamboo stems are on the menu in spring. At other times, pandas prefer the leaves and shoots. Researchers believe the animal alters its diet because of seasonal changes in the parts of the plant that are most nutritious and taste the best.
