Lowell City Council and 4-H Board working to make '89 Fair a success

Lowell's City Council approved a tentative plan for the 1989 4-H Fair that has been reached with the 4-H Board regarding changes in leased areas for the Fairgrounds at Recreation Park.

Board members Red Snyder, Ron Wenger and Ray Hawkins were on hand to dicuss the matter and further concerns the 4-H board may have.

One concern expressed by the 4-H members was what the city's plan is for that area over the next 10-15 years. Lowell City Manager David Pasquale said that beyond the fire barn he did not see a need on the City's part for use of the land.

Snyder said with the plans for the fire barn, the 4-H Board has reorganized and believes it still can put on a good fair. "However, the 4-H Fair will not be able to put on a good Fair for the youth if it loses much more land," he said.

A change of location for the carnival was of particular importance, since it was directly affected by the fire barn plans. The carnival grounds for the Fair will be moved from the south of the DPW building to the south of Bowes Road.

"I and other city officials have worked with the 4-H Board on the reorganization," Pasquale said. "I must say they have been most cooperative."

YMCA Board member Jim Reagan gave an update on the pool situation. Reagan noted that the pool should be ready for swimming by Friday, June 9.

Reagan also pointed out that monies remaining from the pool project will be put in an improvement fund and used toward the pool. "Time constraints have inhibited us from sandblasting at this time," Reagan said. "However, we believe this can be done in the fall."

Dave Baerwalde updated the City Council on the H.O.O.P.S tournament scheduled for June 16-18. "Currently everything is going well. We are pleased with the support H.O.O.P.S. has received.

The 3-on-3 basketball tournament has changed its site. The tourney will be played at the Bushnell Elementary parking lot. Parking will be at the Lowell High School.

There will be 116 teams participating, that's roughly 450 players, an increase of 35 percent from last year.

Lowell Boosters and the Knights Of Columbus will provide food booths. Lowell rescue will again be on hand in case of injuries.

There will be a special appearance by Michigan State basketball star Matt Steigenga. The Grand Rapids native will be putting on a clinic from 12 until 2 p.m. on Saturday, June 17.

A water consumption rate increase was also approved by the council. The rate will increase from $1 to $1.50 per thousand gallons, eliminating the large user discount (over 50,000 gallons, currently 88 cents per thousand). The non-resident rate will rise from $2 to $2.30 per thousand. These added revenues are needed to provide a positive balance for the Water Fund and also help with the new by-pass ditioning of the waste water treatment plant.

The resolution also contains a provision requiring remote water meters. Currently, the program is voluntary, with 300 more meters to be installed. The resolution requires meters at a charge of $15 per service as being assessed currently. "The $15 cost is a third of the cost of the meter ($45). The city is actually taking care of the other two-thirds," Pasquale said.

Public Works Director Tony Siciliano said it will take roughly 9 months to a year to install the rest of the meters.

In other council news:

* A variance requested for the Yogurt Station by Ivan Blough for two wall signs was approved. This will provide identification from both street and walk directions, the total amount of wall signage will be reduced from 70 to 64 square feet.

* A variance was approved to allow David Cadwallader to put an addition to garage which would attach the structure to the dwelling.

* The board deleted an ordinance that states individuals must be under the age of 17 to use a pool hall without the company of an adult. The suggestion was brought forth by Gary and Kathy Yeoman who have proposed a pool hall which will be operated at the old Pfaller's building at 103 E. Main.

* The council adopted the operating millage and budget for the fiscal year 1989-90. In compliance with the State Truth-In-Taxation Act the council held a well and the painting and recon- hearing to set the current millage at 12.383. The levy was reduced to 11.753 mills, so that the same revenue is generated as in last year's SEV. While the current millage is retained, increases in the SEV amount to an equivalent .630 mills. These additional funds are necessary to meet the increasing costs of operation.

Local boy dies drowning

A 2 year old youth from Vergennes Township died Friday night from complications, after falling into a family pool on Thursday evening, June 1.

Gregory Dale Williams, was pronounced dead at 6:30 p.m. at Butterworth Hospital.

The boy was missing about 5 to 10 minutes. William's father, John searched all around the home and the road before discovering his son at the bottom of the deep end of the family's new pool which had just been filled on Tuesday.

The boy was pulled from the pool and his father immediately started CPR. Lowell Rescue and Ambulance crews took over when they arrived and were able to get an erratic heartbeat again.

The child was taken to Blodgett Memorial Medical Center and then transferred to Butterworth Hospital. He was listed in very critical condition on Thursday and passed away Friday, June 2.

Williams is survived by his parents, John and Barbara Williams; his brothers, Dennis, Michael, Brian and Jerry; his sister, Cindy, all at home. Complete obituary is listed in that section of this issue of the Ledger.

Buffalo roam the range on farm near Smyrna

At 10605 Button Road in Smyrna, a piece of history still roams over 207 acres of the countryside.

At a distance the large, shaggy-maned, short-horned American Buffalo look peaceful enough, but as they sort of rumble toward Lon Heintzleman who holds an armful of corn cobs, their size becomes intimidating. They stand anywhere from 4-5 feet off the ground. Their weight varies anywhere from 2-3,000 pounds.

"I'm very cautious when I'm around them," Heintzleman warns. "Although, I trust the smaller buffalo of the four, but she is like a family pet." While Heintzleman trust all of them enough to take corn out into the field and feed them, he holds a high dosage of fear and respect for the buffalo.

Unlike cows and pigs, Heintzleman says you don't chase buffalo down. "You don't get buffalo to go in a certain direction by chasing them. I'm most effective when I'm carrying a bag of corn," he says. "Not only that, but they run at a good rate of speed for quite a distance and they can turn on a dime."

Lon and his brother Dave pooled their money together 4-5 years ago and purchased some buffalo from Johnny's Pet Farm in Cadillac. "My brother was already raising beefalo, which are a crossbreed of cattle and buffalo," Heintzelman says. The beefalo come in various degrees. "Any cattle with over one-eighth buffalo bred into it is considered beefalo. This can be measured through the animal's bloodline," he says. Heintzelman breeds Charolais, a beef cow with his buffalo.

Heintzelman, who has been raising beefalo for six years, is sold on its flavor and cholesterol count. "It's got more flavor than regular hamburger and more importantly, it has low cholesterol, low fat and high protein," he says. "I no longer shop for beef in stores.'

While he enjoys the flavor of beefalo, he does not care for buffalo meat. "It's a dry meat and tastes a lot like venison."

Heintzelman doesn't raise the buffalo because of his like for beefalo meat. The buffalo roam his 207 acres because he enjoys their history. "Having buffalo on your land is like owning a piece of history," he says. "I see people stop in their cars to take a look. I have people pull in our driveway when I'm out in the yard and ask questions.

Heintzelman is not alone in his thoughts. There are many small herdsmen throughout the state who own a few buffalo. There are also a few big farms - e.g. The Renegade Farm in Cheboygan and Olson's (owner of the biggest herd in Michigan) in Traverse City.

The 22-year employee at Belding Tool and Die hopes to spend more time farming in his retirement. "I enjoy it. It's like a hobby," he chuckles. Other than raising cattle and buffalo. Heintzleman also grows corn, oats, wheat, alfalfa and

This Lon Heintzleman buffalo stands roughly five-feet tall and weighs a sturdy 2500-3000 pounds.

The American Buffalo, contrary to the Woods Buffalo which are found mainly in Canada, have smaller humps. "The Woods Buffalo have larger humps on their shoulders," Heintzelman

He adds that domesticated buffalo still enjoy rolling in the sand and wallowing. "My brother has a man-made pond the buffalo wallow in. They also enjoy rolling in the sand," Heintzelman said.

Buffalo also still enjoy roaming the countryside, and passerby-automobiles still enjoy rolling to a stop to have a look.

Lon Heintzleman is cautious when in the company of his Hazardous Waste is not the whole story. It would be better to describe it as a Hazardous Material Incident. This would then bring to mind all the possible chemicals used by local businesses or the

I'm having one of those Tuesday mornings at the typesetter en the machine is working fine, but my brain is malfunctioning. Tis a rare occasion indeed, when the machine's electronic inerds you. and my cranial juices are flowing at the same time. Of course, if you read this column with any regularity, you already know that.

This morning is one of those times when I stare at the typesetter's green and black screen hoping for inspiration. I've been here over an hour now, and until just a couple of minutes ago, the screen was blank, and so was my brain. I rolled several ideas around in my head, but couldn't get past a paragraph or two with any of them. So . . . I've decided (as a last resort) to share those thrown out story ideas with you. Imagine, a writer desparate enough to piece together a newspaper column comprised entirely of rejected Interial. Well, I never said pride was my long suit.

I considered writing about my fourteen-year-old son. Any of you who have experienced rearing such a creature probably already know the kinds of things I could write about on that subject. His room and his hangout in the basement recreation room are in a constant state of destruction. Honest, the post-bomb photos of Hiroshima look like shots from a travel brochure compared to his messes. I suppose I could have stretched this topic into a full blown column, but I'm so sick of nagging Casey about this continual problem, I just can't bring myself to expound upon it in print. While I'm on the subject of Casey, I'll say a little something about his need to modify just about everything he owns so that it a "Casey" trademark to it. This spring he camouflaged his rowboat and painted a toothy shark's mouth on the bow. The thing looks like a P-40 Warhawk of the WWII Flying Tiger Squadron coming down the Flat River. A few weeks ago he used wood screws to affix a pair of sneakers to his skateboard. He laces himself in and does all sorts of weird tricks. So far he hasn't killed himself. His most recent modification was to saw off the barrel of his relatively new BB gun and grind down the stock to a pistol grip. The thing now looks more like a bank robber's weapon than something a kid would go out and knock over cans with. Come to think of it, I could have written an entire column on this subject.

Speaking of kids . . . I had also given some thought to writing out my fifteen-year-old daughter, and some of the fits she's given us lately. Some of her friends drive, so we've been going through the process of establishing boundaries on when, where and for how long she can be gone. After a few tests of wills, I think we have the parameters clearly defined. I think they finally came into focus for Angie when she was told, "one more slip-up, and you won't be going to Grand Haven with the gang when school gets out on Wednesday". Boy, did that get her attention.

You may have noticed a news release and photo of my wife in this issue. She was recently promoted, which automatically inched me one step closer to my plans for an early retirement. I considered outlining those plans as a column, but whenever I'd get started inking about it, I drifted off into dreams of tinkering with rplanes, fishing in the Florida Keys, building a cabin on Drummond Island, etc. You can imagine how tough it would be to keep your mind on writing with thoughts like that rolling around in your head. I gave it up.

So far all these thoughts have been of the family, so I'll sum this up with an incident in which they all ganged up on me. One night last week I was instructed to take Casey shopping for something suitable to wear to the annual eighth grade dance. Just prior to departure, Angie announced that she wanted to go along as the fashion consultant. I had been roped into this project because Terese was working late, but at the last moment, she decided to along to do some shopping of her own. So, I wasn't needed help pick out the clothes, and I was no longer needed to be the chauffeur. It wasn't until they rang up the tab that I finally realized why I had been dragged along. Just call me "Daddy Warbucks".

tanker of gasoline or a van with a five gallon pail of acid.

Dear Lowell High School Class of 1989:

as possible by being as ready as possible.

On June 4, 1989 you will each be what Webster's New School Dictionary defines as "one on whom an academical degree has been conferred"--a graduate. You will celebrate with family and friends this auspicious day. Your parents and family will express their love and pride. Your friends will revel in your happiness. Your graduation speaker will tell you about your brilliant future. Your teachers will express their best wishes. Finally, you will experience the happiness and sadness of moving forward with ifetime school chums. All of this is as it should be. It is my request, however, that following the celebrations you take time to reflect on the following comments:

We live in an exciting, fast-paced free society. We have more than any country on earth. For that, we are thankful. At the same time, we live in a society full of problems i.e. hunger, discrimination, family violence, drug addiction, etc. Our dream was to give you a society void of these. We have not. You will deal with these problems collectively and individually. However, what we can give you is our sense of humanity. If mankind's greatness is reflected in his day-to-day existence, it is in his sense of benevolence, compassion and charity. These qualities make all the difference. They mark the difference between satisfaction and joy, achievement and fulfillment. Therefore, we hope you accomplish your goals and dreams with the benevolence of a Mahatma Gandhi, the compassion of a Sister Theresa, and the charity of a Bob Geldhof. We hope you interact with your loved ones with mercy, sensitivity and foregiveness. We hope you treat those with whom you connect daily with honesty, self-confidence and humor. The establishment and continuation of humanity is dependent on each of you. In your humanity the world's problems will find their solutions. We love

Many merchants helped by donating to this event. Among them are: McDonald's Restaurant, Family Fare, Jay's Potato Chips, Radio Shack, Hardees Restaurant, Pfaller's Clothing, Anderson's Shoes, Lowell Family Hairstyling, Kropf Orchards and the Knights of Columbus. Thanks to each of the above for contributing to the success of the bike-a-thon.

Kathy Noskey, Chairman

An Open Letter to the Community of Lowell:

During the past five years the Lowell Athletic Boosters have contributed nearly $50,000, reaching every athletic program in the high school. Due to the first millage defeat last fall, the boosters made a donation to the Middle School which helped permit these students to continue interscholastic competition rather than settling for a less expensive intramural program. The organization became directly involved in the recent millage election this past spring. Our position was mailed to 300 parents of children who participate in high school athletics, and full page ads in support of passage were placed in local newspapers

I would like to publicly express my appreciation to the many individuals, organizations and businesses who have helped to make this past year a success.

The elected officers, Sue Burt, Peggy Idema and Sandy Nagy, gave unselfishly of their time; their leadership extended far beyond the duties which are outlined in our constitution. Committee chairpersons who comprised the rest of the Executive Board were John Stencel, Virginia Stencel and Paula Lenger. One of the many good qualities of this group was that each thought independently for himself or herself; there was seldom an issue voted upon which the Board was in one hundred percent agreement. Paradoxically, this was a group which worked in harmony and supported each other. Without the nucleus of these six, the organization would

As is the case with any organization which relies on volunteers. the backbone of the athletic boosters are the workers. Without willing people who will work in the trenches, our group would quickly falter. Valuable services were provided by Denise Dommer, Steve Idema, Kris Kropf, Jim Lindhout, Jeff Peel, Mark Russell, Clark Vredenburg and Nancy Zywicki. Additionally, many families and individuals took a membership in one of the subordinate clubs through a donation. These people, along with others, volunteered their most prized commodity, time, by working in concessions, attending general membership meetings, working at banquets, sel-ones that travel by rail and trucks through the area. It can be a ling raffle tickets, serving on committees, organizing the annual dance, drafting correspondence, and doing whatever else was required. The numbers prohibit me from naming you individually, and I would certainly leave some out. You know who you are. I

> Our school administration has been very supportive and cooperative of our efforts. Bob Perry, Tom Stahr, Dick Korb and Gary Kemp were always approachable and supplied us with whatever we requested. I believe that we often take this harmony for granted because there are many boosters organizations which fight like cats and dogs with the very people they propose to serve. The efforts of the coaches and assistant coaches at each level of competition are appreciated, and the young people of our community will become better citizens because of the training and direction which these men and women have offered. Karyn Hazel again served in a knowledgeable and caring manner as athletic trainer. As in previous years, Dr. Gerard could be found along the side lines on Friday evenings at our varsity football games.

> I want to thank the local businesses who financially supported the boosters by placing ads in our fall and winter sports programs. Family Fare underwrote the cost of one advertisement each week in The Ledger, requesting that the Athletic Department select an Athlete of the Week". In addition, at the conclusion of the school year Larry Coleman, manager of the local food store, presented the boosters a check for $1,000 in the name of all the athletes who had been selected for the honor. The Women of the Moose made two $500 donations. David Thaler donated a commercial popcorn popper and hotdog cooker.

Even though the car raffle occurred a year ago, I again want to thank the four local automobile dealers for their sponsorship and generous donation of an automobile to the organization. Through the joint efforts of Thomet Chevrolet-Buick, Vennen Chrysler-Dodge-Plymouth, Wittenbach Oldsmobile-Pontiac, and Harold Zeigler Ford, $4,000 was raised, all of which has been designated toward purchasing new equipment for the boys' and girls' track

Furthermore, as a direct result of the raffle, Norm Byrne, the eventual winner, turned over a check for $1,000 to the athletic department. This was his way of saying thank you to the dealerships and to the athletic boosters for their concern in the community.

Thanks is also extended to the Lowell Ledger, in general, and Thad Kraus, in particular, for the excellent reporting of not only our varsity sports, but also many freshman and junior varsity contests. Whether or not the war raged between Terry Smith and Roger had anything to do with this coverage, the end result was that the community prospered and came ahead the winners.

Finally, I want to say thank you to the entire community for your support through attendance at the various athletic contests in which Lowell has participated

I apologize to any individuals, organizations and businesses who made significant contributions. The oversight certainly was not

As a resident of this community, I am proud of the young people who have represented our hometown in athletic competition during the past year. Another senior class has graduated, and many of these students will leave our area in order to continue their education and/or pursue careers. As we look ahead to a new year, we, as a boosters organization, renew our commitment to serve our youth in their athletic endeavors.

I consider it a privilege to be able to call Lowell my home. Further, I am proud to be able to consider so many who live and/or work here as my friends. I have learned much during the past twelve months, and I am grateful for the opportunity to have served.

We look forward to the new challenges which lie ahead. Next year we will be making some important decisions, and we solicit the input from our membership. Your support, efforts and cooperation will again be necessary if we are to continue to meet the athletic needs of our kids. Rest up this summer because, come September, we will again be requesting your help.

Sincerely. Fred Lenger, President Lowell Area Schools Athletic Boosters

The Senior All-Nighter for the Class of '89 is over, and it is our great pleasure to announce it was a success. This event could never have taken place without the support of this community. To all of the merchants, organizations, churches and individuals that donated to this event, we thank you. George and I have been involved with these parties for two years, and we feel it is one of the most important events we as a community can support. Our children are the most important commodity we have, and you have helped the parents keep them safe. You, also, have helped us show them that they can have a great time partying without drugs and alcohol.

A personal thank you goes to our fellow steering committee members. We want you to know your help and support throughout the whole year is greatly appreciated. We would like to wish Dan and Jean Hoffman good luck with chairing the steering committee for the Class of '90. Thank you to the committees and their chairpersons for a wonderful job. When people with great ideas and individuality work together there is no question that a great party will result. Thank you to the chaperones for their time and patience, and thank you to the medical personnel for helping us make this a safe night. You all were a great group to work with, and we all enjoyed a successful and fun evening as a result.

George and I had a great year working with you and will remember it fondly. We wish the very best with your families in the

PASSIVE SMOKING

We all know there are dangers associated with cigarette smoking:

what is less well known are the hazards associated with passive inhalation of cigarette smoke. Recently, non-smokers have begun to assert their right to breathe smoke-free air, leading many city and state governments to prohibit cigarette smoking in public areas.

Some public commercial airlines have instituted smoking bans for the entire plane on flights to specified destinations. Mayo Clinic has recently become a smoke-free institution. No smoking is allowed on the premises for patients, physicians and all other work.

Passive inhalation of cigarette smoke has been shown to have some acute and long term effects on non-smokers. Lung patients have a detectably worse performance in their breathing when around people who are smoking. Some heart patients had aggrava-

The biggest concern and issue which seems to be getting the most attention lately is that of the relationship of passive smoking many studies have not drawn firm conclusions about this relation-have a small to moderately increased risk of developing lung cancer

In summary, current evidence strongly suggests that passive smoking is dangerous to our health. Of particular concern is the

The appointment of Bruce Haveman as treasurer, secretary and member of the board of directors of Attwood, Subsidiary Steelcase, Inc., has been announced by Don Rocheleau, president. He replaces Don Gillman, who is retiring after 36 years with the company.

"We're fortunate to have Bruce Haveman available for important position,' Rocheleau said. "He'll provide valuable continuity for our financial department, which Don Gillman directed so ably for many years."

Havemen has been Attwood's controller since coming to the company in 1981 from Seidman & Seidman-BDO. A certified public accountant, he received a bachelor of arts degree from Calvin College, and a master of science degree from Western Michigan University. He is a member of the American Institute of CPAs, and lives in Walker, Michigan with his wife and two Gillman started at Attwood as a cost accountant in 1953 after graduating from the University of Michigan with a bachelor's degree in business administration.

Item No. 1, ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS.

A. 501 Ottawa - front yard setback variance for new building. - Public Hearing. Mark McComber (13198 Grand River Drive) requested a front yard setback variance so that he can construct a 24' x 80' building within thirty-five feet of the right-of-way rather than fifty fent as required in the Industrial District. The variance was requested because of the shallowness of the lot (70'). The proposed use of the building is to assemble fishing lures.

No comments were received by mail nor at the public hearing.

IT WAS MOVED by Fonger and seconded by Hodges to grant the front yard setback variance to construct a building within thirty-five feet of the right-of-way at 501 Ottawa.

B. 315 South Hudson-front parking lot setback variance - Public Hearing. The City of Lowell requested a 5' front parking lot setback variance rather than the required 25' for the construction of the new Fire Station at 315 S. Hudson. The building would be moved forward (west) approximately 20', saving a significant amount of fill and lining up the structure with the DPW garage. The variance would allow parking within 25' setback but maintain a 5' greenstrip at the Hudson Street right-of-way. The fire station will be structured behind the required 50' front vard setback as established in the Public

Mr. Norman Borgerson (219 N. Washington) questioned if this would interfere with future widening of the road if it was ever necessary as such has happened on West Main. Dan Durkee of Robert Lee Wold and Associates stated that it should not because Hudson Street has the full 66' of right-of-way, 33' each side of the center line. That allows the County to construct up to a five lane highway. He also mentioned that a site plan has been approved by the Kent County Road Commission. City Manager Pasquale received a telephone call from Bert Horstmanshof, who owns a house located at 242 S. Hudson. He was concerned about any drainage problems that would be caused by the development. Mr. Durkee stated that the site will collect all the water that will hit the surface of the parking area in a catch basin and take it directly to the Confirmation of Fire Station Site Plan. As stipulated in Section 14.08 of the Ordinance, confirmation of the site plan for a public facility is required by the City Council. requested two wall signs (one allowed) for the Yogurt Station. This would provide identification from both street and walk directions. The total amount of wall signage will be reduced from 70 s.f. to 64 s.f.

IT WAS MOVED by Fonger and seconded by Doyle to set the public hearing to consider a sign variance for the Yogurt Station, 608 West Main on Monday, June 5, 1989.

Item No. 2. YMCA-PARKS AGREEMENT. From the joint meeting of the City Council and the YMCA Board on May 4. 1989, a general understanding of an agreement was reached for one year. City Manager Pasquale proposed that the agreement be extended to June 30, 1990, coinciding with the pool lease agreement. An understanding was reached on providing a benefit to City of Lowell residents in recognition of the Y utilizing City fields. Each City of Lowell household would receive a twenty-five dollar ($25) non-transferable gift certificate every year to use with any YMCA program. It was noted that it would be the responsibility of the Lowell YMCA to notify all City households of the gift certificate program at the Y's

IT WAS MOVED by Doyle and seconded by Thompson to approve the contract as proposed with the twenty-five dollar ($25) non-transferable gift certificate for each City of Lowell household to use for any YMCA sponsored activity or membership, handled through the YMCA at their expense.

Item No. 3. WASTEWATER TREATMENT PLANT INTERIM SUPERVISION AND TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE AGREE-MENT. City Manager Pasquale stated that the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has directed the City to have interim supervision and technical assistance for the Wastewater Treatment Plant until a new Superintendent is hired. It was noted that the plant is in compliance with all DNR and EPA standards, but needs assistance because of staffing

WW Operation Services of Grand Rapids proposed during the initial week that two operators will function on site focusing on supervision. Thenafter, an experienced B Operator would be on site 8 hours per day, 3 days per week.

The cost of the services described would be $2,340 for the first week and $950 per week thereafter. It is anticipated that the service will last from 8 to 10 weeks, depending on how quickly a new Superintendent can start.

IT WAS MOVED by Thompson and seconded by Hodges that an interim supervision and technical assistance contract with the WW Operation Services of Grand Rapids for the Wastewater Treatment Plant be approved as proposed.

tem No. 4. POOL HALL ORDINANCE REQUEST. Gary and Kathy Yeomans have proposed the opening of a pool hall with video games at the old Pfaller's Clothing building located at 103 E. Main. The current City Ordinance restricts any person under 17 to play at pool tables, unless accompanied by a parent or quardian. Mr. Yeomans has requested that part of the ordinance be removed since that eliminates the majority of the business. Currently the Yeomans operate such a facility n Greenville.

City Manager Pasquale stated that during the recodification of the city ordinances meetings, it was recommended by Chief Emmons that the entire text be eliminated. Chief Emmons also discussed with Mr. Yeomans about working with the Police Department concerning the Loitering Ordinance. Mr. reomans had agreed to cooperate.

WAS MOVED by Doyle and seconded by Thompson to set a public hearing on Monday, June 5, 1989, to consider an amendment to its Code of Ordinances deleting Article 11 of Chapter 4 thereby eliminating reference to regulation of Billiard and Poolrooms.

tem No. 5. POOL UPDATE. City Manager Pasquale said hat Benjamin Pools has completed specified work on the King Memorial Pool ($25,600). Doug Benjamin had pointed but that the pool is badly in need of sandblasting and painting. he cost given for this is $8,460. YMCA Director, Doug Ybema elt the pool did not need as extensive work. It could go hrough this coming season without these repairs.

he consensus of the Council was that City Manager Pasquale and YMCA Director Ybema should work out an agreement and then report back for approval.

tem No. 6. 1989-90 BUDGET HEARING. During budget discussions, City Manager Pasquale stated that the current pperating millage of 12.383 has been proposed to remain the same. But, to comply with the Truth-In-Taxation law, the City must first reduce our millage to 11.753 to account for the ncreased dollar amounts the overall State Equalized Value. hen the Council will consider the increase back to the 12.383 at the public hearing on June 5. Also, the Headlee Amendmen does not affect the City this year because the municipality is not operating at the maximum millage.

has been proposed to increase water consumption rates from $1.00 to $1.15 per thousand gallons, eliminating the arge user discount (over 50,000 gallons, currently $.88 per thousand). As noted in the budget, the Water Fund has experienced shortages in operating revenues necessary to run the plant. These added revenues are needed to provide a positive cash balance.

Police Chief Emmons gave a brief overview of the renovation of the City Hall for expansion of the Police Department. City Manager Pasquale said that the budget provides for a of local ordinances, providing that this shall be the sole prenew air conditioner at the Public Works garage and installation

City Manager Pasquale sought approval from the Council to seek bids for the Street Sweeper at this time and present it to the Council at the next meeting because of the condition of the present sweeper. It is a budgeted item and will take 8 to 10 weeks to get it. By consensus, the Council agreed to NAY: 0. have bids taken for the sweeper.

Item No. 7. PRESENTATION OF THE WATER SYSTEM RELIABILITY STUDY-PHASE II. Jim Townley of Fishbeck, Thompson, Carr and Huber made a presentation of the Water Distribution Plan for the City. This compliments the plan completed last year for the Water Treatment Plant. The study outlines improvements and necessary maintenance to the City's water system over the next 20 years. Some of the work has been already scheduled in the City's capital improvements plan. When and if major portions of this study are implemented, bond issues and special assessments would likely be necessary.

Research shows Michigan seatbelt law does save lives

University of Michigan Transportation Research Institute (UMTRI) report released recently states that the Michigan adult safety belt law has prevented 31,710 motor vehicle crash casualties. The report also indicates that since the law has been in effect, it has provided $734,716,290 in cost savings. There was also a significant 6.4% overall reduction in injuries to front-seat occupants associated with the law. No significant reduction in injury was found for rear-seat occupants.

Data on injured occupants involved in motor vehicle crashes was obtained from Michigan State Police records. These records were compiled from all traffic crashes within the state reported by local and state police

The report shows that annually 9,060 injuries are prevented as a result of the adult safety belt law. The cost savings to society presented in the UMTRI report in Michigan amounts yearly to is the cost savings to society re-

"Each child works 5-6 weeks, which includes before school, at noon and after school," said Runciman/Riverside teacher Dorothy Roth. Also helping Roth with the program this year was fellow worker Jim Blodgett. "The children also put up and took down the flag," Roth added.

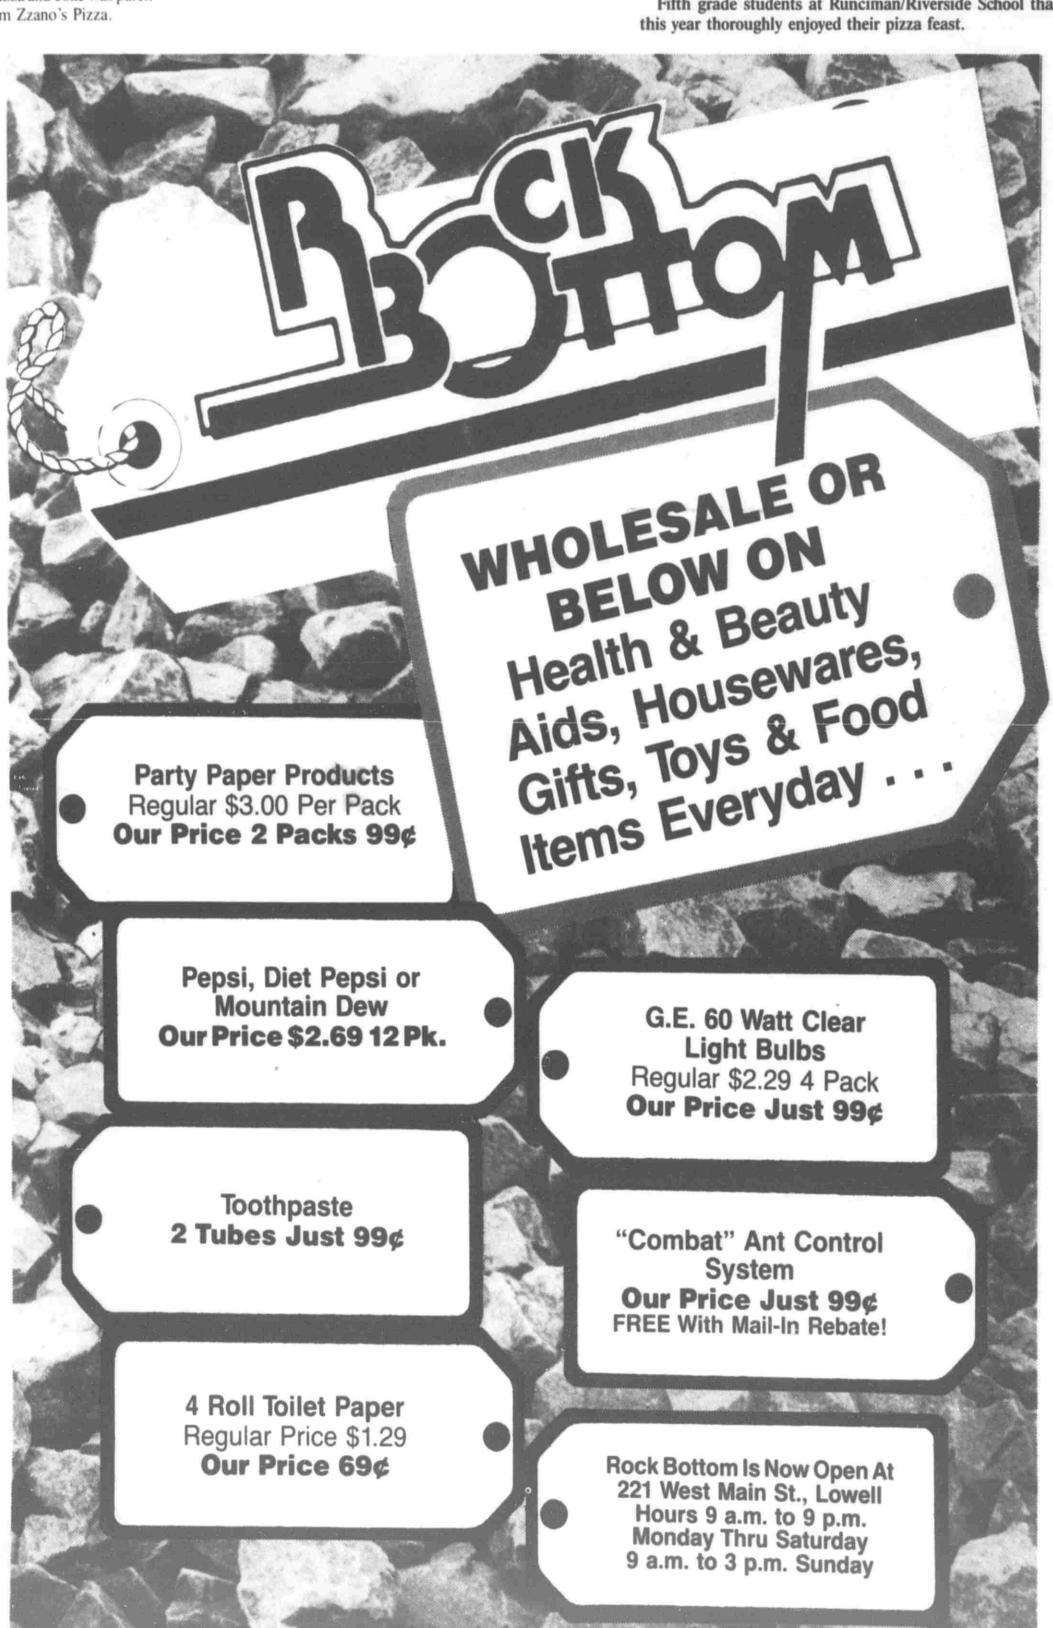

The pizza and coke was purchased from Zzano's Pizza.
