Judd McKinney, Gary, IN, was trapped inside this crumpled flatbed truck cab for an hour-and-a-half, before being transported to Butterworth Hospital by Lowell Ambulance.

Kent County Sheriff's Department awaits word on truck's brake condition

Independent trucker breaks both legs & incurs some cuts in truck accident near Hudson St. bridge

The Kent County Sheriff's Department is waiting on a Michigan Department of State Police Motor Carrier Division investigation report in regards to the condition of the brake drums on the flatbed truck that overturned on the SE side of the Hudson Street Bridge Friday morning.

"Our final release will include the information obtained from that report," Kent County Deputy Tom Hillen said.

The testing on the brakes will be done by Tom Pattock. It will determine if the brakes and brake drum were up to par, Kent County Deputy Gerald Pluger added.

The flatbed truck, driven by Judd Kinney of Gary, IN, that was loaded with wire cable, landed on the hood of its cab on a railroad track SE of the Hudson Street Bridge. The bridge, which had been closed for repair, was reopened on Monday.

McKinney who had been in the area before, tried to avoid slamming into a vehicle parked on the bridge when he lost control and landed on the west side of Alden Nash near the foot of the bridge, according to a Kent County Sheriff's Department Deputy.

Kent County Sheriff Deputy Gerald Pluger said a witness reported that the truck was going at a high rate of speed. "But what's a high rate of speed," Pluger said. "You must also remember the truck was carrying coils of steel. The weight of the truck was 35-50,000 pounds."

Kent County Deputy Jayson Beute reported McKinney's head was pinned down between a bucket seat and the ceiling. "He was conscious. We were able to talk to him, but there was no way we could get to him," McKinney, an independent trucker, suffered two broken legs and some cuts. Prior to going to press, he was still resting at Butterworth Hospital.

Pluger added that he did not think the early morning fog had anything to do with the accident.

Lowell Rescue and Fire Department after arriving at the scene could not even find McKinney at first, according to Lowell Fire Chief Frank Martin. "We had to cut the steering wheel and the metal to get him out," Martin said.

Upon arriving, Martin immediately called Aero Med (6:05 a.m.). The helicopter unit landed at the Segwun and Alden Nash Nash set-up point 15 minutes later, according to Martin. However the hand brake that is set so that it doesn't roll, failed. "The Aero Med Unit rolled 10-15 feet into the curb, and blew a tire," Martin adds. "The brakes on the unit failed."

Rescue personnel spent an hour and a half removing the pinned McKinney from the squashed truck cab. It took two wreckers to raise the truck so that McKinney could be cut free from

Murphy named Alto Elementary Principal

The music played through Lowell Area Schools' Administrative version of "musical chairs" has stopped, and after months of posting vacancies and holding many, many interviews, all the chairs are now filled.

To borrow a line from Don McLean, "The day the music died" was Oct. 26, when Lowell Superintendent, Fritz Esch announced that the Alto Principship position would be filled by Paula Murphy. She has served as a Middle School Counselor for the past five years.

"I am pleased with our selection of Murphy," Esch said. "She has a sensitivity to the needs of children and a desire to see children succeed at what they do. Murphy also has an understanding of how K-12 functions."

Murphy will replace Jim White, who will move to the administration building as the Director of Special Education and Curriculum which will include the coordination of federal programs such as Chapter I & II.

"Lowell Area Schools has a very capable staff. Many of whom are capable of following those of us currently in the administration office," Esch said. "Murphy will help keep a women's perspective at this level."

Murphy, who earned her Bachelor of Science in Biology at the University of Detroit and her M.A. in Counseling (K-12) at Michigan State University, doesn't see her move up to the administration level as vindication for women. "I don't look at it in terms of whether it's a man or woman doing the job, just at the quality of the job being done," she says.

Murphy believes she is prepared for a leadership role. However, she also says it has come about sooner than she anticipated.

The North Pole was flown over for the first time by Richard E. Byrd and Floyd Bennet on May 9, 1926.

A hand brake failed to stop Aero Med after landing south of the truck accident near the Hudson Street Bridge on Friday. The helicopter finally stopped after rolling 10-15 feet into a curb. The tire blew and the landing gear strut was bent.

the vehicle. He was transported to Butterworth Hospital by Lowell Ambulance.

McKinney was believed headed to Michigan Wire Processing Co. He was coming north on Alden Nash and apparently failed to notice signs warning that the bridge over the Grand River was closed.

The Aero Med Helicopter flew back to its hangar at the Kent County International Airport about 9 a.m. after the Federal Aviation Administration investigators visited the scene. The only damage suffered by the helicopter was a flat tire.

Aero Med Director Dr. Ralph Rogers said the mishap is the first involving the craft other than a flat tire in the hangar.

pated. "It's been that way with events throughout my life. Now, I've reached an administrative position before I expected to," she says.

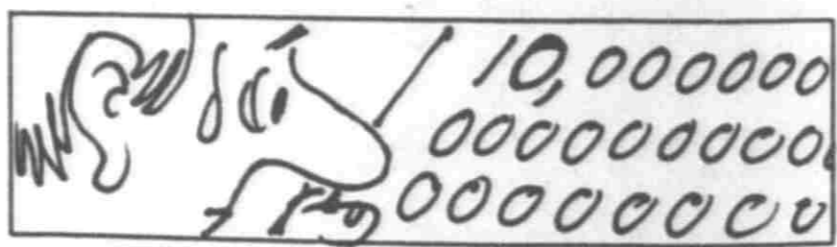

The University of Detroit graduate, points to her organizational and communication skills, her appreciation of children and the satisfaction she derives from working with them as some of her strengths. "One thing about working with children of that age (kindergarten through fifth grade), though, there is no veneer - There's nothing to dig through. They are honest, spontaneous and natural and I find that appealing," Murphy says.

Murphy will inherit a staff that is positive, creative and professional. It is also a group that has been led by White, a man that has received praise for his work as an elementary principal from within the district as well as outside of the district.

"I'd much rather be following someone who has been as effective as White than someone who has been ineffective," Murphy said. "Although I will make my own footprints."

Murphy applauds the vigilance of the Alto Community. "I come into a community that cares deeply about the educational welfare of their children. They are not spectators. They are participants who are really involved with their school."

"The Honey Farm" candle shop makes Ada home

Kathy VanderWulp of the Honey farm in Ada demonstrates how the honeycomb candle is made.

It's not as if Lindhout spent all her days at home making candles prior to September. She also owns and operates the typing and data entry business, The Last Word, which is located across the street from The Honey Farm. It is run out of the same office as Matrix, a computer programming business owned and operated by her husband, Doug.

Matrix also has office space on the floor above the Honey Farm. "It got to the point where I was doing too much work out of the home. Doug had a room downstairs that he was using for storage," Lindhout says. "So I decided that I could use the space for some of my candle products. After painting the walls, I decided work could be done out of the room, so I hired someone in full-time."

Thus, Lindhout hired Kathy VanderWulp. "Right now it's more retail, but I want to direct The Honey farm toward wholesale," she says. "I hope someday this room is not big enough for the business. I'd love to see it outgrow the current location."

Big Ben is not the clock and not the tower, but the bell that strikes the hour. It weighs 13 tons and was named for Sir Benjamin Hall, commissioner of works when it was installed.

Every product sold at the Honey Farm is a bee by-product, which is how Lindhout came up with the business theme "Bounty from the Hive."

"I'm always looking for local bee keepers who want to sell good, light bees wax," Lindhout says. "Currently I get all my wax from local (West Michigan) bee keepers." She is also proud of the fact that the majority of her products are handcrafted.

The Lowell resident credits her mother for the business woman in her. "My mother was self-employed. A good business woman," Lindhout says. "I enjoy being self-employed because you can take the credit for success. You're responsible and have control over your own destiny."

She admits the long hours involved in owning your own business can be a drag, but, for the most part, enjoys every minute of it.

The Honey farm is open Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday from noon until 5:30 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Sandy Lindhout spends time making some Christmas ornaments from beeswax.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

A faithful man shall abound with blessings... (Proverbs 28:20).

Grandma's larder always abounded with good things - big, crusty loaves of bread, pies (no dinner was complete without pie), and cookies. She kept large, raisin-centered sugar cookies in a black iron kettle in her west cupboard. And she kept them for eating purposes. They were there for the asking.

The blessings of the Christian life cannot be calculated. The peace of soul which belongs to the faithful ones who live righteously is a treasure without price. The gift of a clear conscience is worth far more than riches. Freedom from the bondage of sin is far more valuable than the costliest of gems. Release from self-domination brings a satisfaction not procured by earthly wealth. Complete surrender to the will of God brings sublime contentment.

Daily, the Christian is the beneficiary of abounding blessings, for God has promised grace sufficient for every testing place and for the monotony of life. He has promised to supply every need. God's "cupboard" is full and overflowing. We need only to take Him at His Word. "It's there for the asking."

Prayer: Dear Jesus, my heart overflows with gratitude. I thank Thee for all the blessings Thou hast given me. I praise Thee most of all for the abundant salvation Thou has provided for me. Amen.

Oh, the unsearchable riches of Christ! Who would not gladly endure Trials, afflictions, and crosses on earth. Riches like these to secure!

cozy corner

by Roger Brown

Duffy and I went to college again last Monday. If you missed the first episode in this saga, Duffy is the Brown family's pet golden retriever. He's a four-year-old neutered male with a skin problem. He's awfully darned lucky he's such a nice dog, or he'd never have seen his fourth birthday.

His skin problem began over a year ago, and the veterinarians suspect it stems from an allergy to flea bites. The rash from the allergy developed into a bacterial skin infection, and Duffy was a terrible mess before we finally got him into a skin specialist at Michigan State University's School of Veterinary Medicine. Actually, he's more of a mess now than he was before, but hopefully he's on the mend. You'll see what I mean as we go along here.

During the first visit to M.S.U. the specialists diagnosed the skin infection and prescribed six weeks' worth of expensive antibiotics. They couldn't conduct a complete allergy test at that time because of the medication he had been receiving from his regular vet. So, with Duffy's skin infection under control and his system free of drugs that might confuse the allergy test, we made the trip back to East Lansing. If you get the impression I don't particularly like this hassle, you're "right on!"

The vets were impressed with Duffy's response to the antibiotics. His skin infection was pretty well cleared up, but he still has a lot of hair to grow back. They checked him over pretty thoroughly, and told me to come back at 4:30 in the afternoon. It was then about 12:30. Talk about your long lunches.

I killed the afternoon by washing the car, driving around, getting lost, eating lunch, shopping and reading. I even caught a little snooze in the clinic parking lot. It wasn't the most productive Monday afternoon I've ever spent, but it passed quite quickly. Especially the nap part.

When 4:30 finally rolled around I went in to collect my dog. I first met with the vet, who spelled out a program to help Duffy along to recovery. His allergy to flea bites was still problem number one, so I was given a detailed program to combat fleas on Duffy and in his environment. At the top of the list was a recommendation to hire a professional exterminator for the house. I haven't checked prices on that yet, but I'm sure it ain't gonna be cheap! Next came an array of sprays, dips, shampoos, powders and instructions for keeping a flealess house, yard and dog. I'm going to need a full time employee to manage the flea control program and a second job to pay for it. Or maybe I should just quit my job and become an exterminator.

Next we talked about the results of Duffy's allergy test. It seems he's at least mildly allergic to just about everything you can think of. I was told we'd receive a batch of various drugs to be injected in Duffy over a period of several weeks. The drugs are prescribed to build immunities to his allergies. I was told to take Duffy to the local vet when the kit arrives, and learn how to give him the injections. Now it's finally I'm to become a medical technician too.

When we were finally through reviewing my lengthy list of instructions, the vet went off to fetch Duffy and I went to the cashier to again lighten my wallet considerably. When he brought Duffy out I was as shocked to see him as he was glad to see me. To perform the allergy tests, they had shaved nearly his entire right side and marked him off with a felt tip in one inch squares. They apparently performed a test in each square. As much as I disliked my afternoon in East Lansing, I'm sure Duffy disliked it even more!

So, if you're interested in this kinda stuff, give me a call. We can give Duffy an antibiotic bath, spray him for fleas, give him a couple of injections and get some antibiotic capsules down him. When we're all through with that, we can roll him over and play checkers on his side.

To The Editor:

As with all legislation that involves a tax increase, both Proposal A and Proposal B on the November 7 ballot have endured a flurry of rhetoric that serves only to cloud the issues in voters' minds. Although neither of these proposals is the ultimate solution to the problems of funding Michigan education, each is a step in the right direction toward school finance reform.

The necessity of educational funding will not disappear. This problem must be addressed immediately in order to keep our students competitive on the national and international levels. While increased funding is no guarantee of success, expecting schools to meet rising demands of preparing students for the future without proper funding is unrealistic. The technological explosion alone has left schools ill-equipped to give their students the training necessary to join the job market. As anyone with a home computer or VCR knows, technology's progress quickly makes state-of-the-art equipment obsolete. Schools, limited by lack of funds for upgrading materials and equipment, find themselves far behind businesses in training competent employees.

Both proposals on the November 7 ballot will earmark much needed monies for education. What voters may not know is that they may vote "Yes" on both Proposal A and Proposal B. The one with the most "Yes" votes will then be implemented.

The Citizens for School Finance Reform encourage a "Yes" vote on both funding proposals. At the very least, citizens should vote "Yes" on the proposal they favor, and not vote at all on the proposal they do not favor. The Citizens for School Finance Reform urge voters not to vote "No" on either proposal.

Letters to the Editor

A "Yes" vote on both Proposal A and Proposal B is a step in the right direction to changing the way education is funded in Michigan. Increased funding for schools will increase the probability that Michigan students will be able to compete with other students for jobs in an ever-changing employment market.

Vote "Yes" to support students and to support education.

Sincerely,
Laurie C. Kuna, President,
Citizens for School Finance Reform
To The Editor:

Out of state residents - tourists - will probably pay for all of the extra money which will go into education if proposal B passes. Sounds preposterous, doesn't it? But it's true.

1,600,000 dollars will be raised by the 2 cent increase in sales tax under proposal B. However, from 10 to 30 percent of that increase will be paid by out of state residents, the exact number to believe depending upon whose estimate one wants to use. If you take the mid-point of this range and say 20 percent of the increased sales taxes will be paid by tourists, then virtually all of the new money going into education under Proposal B, which is 325 million dollars, will actually be paid by out of state residents. The remaining money raised by the sales tax increase, which would be paid for by Michigan residents, would be dollar for dollar offset by the major decrease in property taxes included in Proposal B. The average residential property tax decrease is 38 percent, and the average business property tax decrease is 23 percent.

Besides its tax neutral impact on the Michigan taxpayer, there are at least two other major justifications for voting yes on Proposal B. Tourists and residents in neighboring states, Illinois and Ohio, pay 6-8 percent sales tax. It seems reasonable to increase our sales tax to 6 percent because we'd still be competitive with the large industrial states around us.

Secondly, having a low sales tax rate doesn't help us as much when we are competing for higher paying jobs as high property taxes hurt us in this endeavor. With the decrease in property taxes for businesses, we should endorse Proposal B wholeheartedly. Industries coming into Michigan are very concerned with the amount of property tax they will have to pay. Lower property taxes will make Michigan more competitive in securing industry and creating higher paying jobs instead of the lower paying jobs upon which Michigan's employment increases have been concentrated recently.

In conclusion, by voting "yes" on Proposal B, we will:

1. lower property taxes for the average resident by 38 percent,
2. remain tax neutral for Michigan residents
3. increase funding to schools by 325 million dollars which will be paid for by out of state residents
4. lower property taxes for businesses by an average of 23 percent, making Michigan more competitive
5. make us equal to or less than Ohio and Illinois in sales tax charges,
6. reduce the spending disparity between school districts.

HEALTH COLUMN INCONTINENCE

Over ten million Americans suffer from incontinence; an inability to control urine outflow. This is often a sensitive topic and many patients are afraid to discuss this with their physicians due to embarrassment or a feeling of loss of control.

Incontinence is a symptom of many different disease states including infections, trauma, multiple pregnancies, prostate surgery, stroke, diabetes, Alzheimer's disease and many others. Incontinence often affects the older population but it can occur at all ages.

Incontinence is categorized into three main types: stress incontinence, urge incontinence and neurogenic incontinence. Stress incontinence is the most common type and involves the sporadic leakage of urine when the abdominal pressure increases suddenly while coughing, sneezing, laughing or with straining during lifting. Urge incontinence is seen more commonly in the elderly and is described as a sudden urge to void with an inability to hold the urine prior to getting to a bathroom. Neurogenic incontinence is the most severe and is due to an injury to the central nervous system. This is seen in paraplegics, diabetics, and patients with multiple sclerosis.

The first step in treating incontinence is to discuss the problem openly with your physician. Some diagnostic procedures may be performed to rule out infections, anatomic abnormalities, or other early treatable causes. Often simple exercises will help control bladder reflexes by strengthening the pelvic muscles. Sometimes simple medications can be prescribed that inhibit unwanted bladder emptying. In cases when anatomic problems exist as in a "dropped bladder" or prostate enlargement, surgery proves curative.

No matter what the cause of incontinence, some form of relief or management can usually be obtained. One of the most common consequences of incontinence is the psychological effects. Many patients feel depressed or socially unacceptable due to their feelings of loss of control. Several treatment modalities are undertaken to aid in control of these difficult symptoms and to help those that suffer with incontinence to live a more fulfilling, happier life.

Lowell receives arts grant

The Lowell Area Schools received a grant from the Michigan Alliance for Arts Education. The grant provides the school with a consultant to work with a local group on planning for Arts Education. On Friday, Oct. 20 a planning session was held, at Lowell area Arts Council Center, working on the ideal vision of what school Arts programs should be like in 1995. At that meeting were, standing from left to right, Jim White and Phil Jenkins, a representative of Bryn Mawr Associates. Joining White and Jenkins were Lori Ingraham, Chris Hodges, Jack Lane, Robin White and Gayle King. Jim White said the all-day sessions are an effort to bring long-term planning for Arts Education to the Lowell Board by June.

Michigan offers wide variety for wintertime activities

Winter makes its mark on Michigan, but Michigan also makes its mark on winter, with more ski facilities than any other state, thousands of miles of cross-country ski and snowmobile trails, winter fishing contests and festivals, and snowmobile, dogsled, ski and snowshoe races.

Every part of Michigan puts its own particular stamp on winter: the western Upper Peninsula with its 600-foot hills and 200-inch snow depths; the eastern Upper Peninsula and northeast Lower Peninsula with thousands of miles of ski and snowmobile trails; and southern Lower Michigan, where a dozen downhill ski areas and miles and miles of cross-country ski trails put both sports within an easy commute for hundreds of thousands of urban enthusiasts.

But the region that has captured the imagination and the fancy of Midwestern skiers is the northwest quadrant of the Lower Peninsula—an area dotted with nearly 20 ski facilities ranging from upscale resorts to community ski hills, and many of the charming resort towns of summer retain their charm all winter.

This is one of those areas in which the "lake effect" really takes effect. The prevailing northwest winds pick up moisture from Lake Michigan and dump it, in the form of snow, on the highlands or northwest lower Michigan.

The state's first major ski resorts sprang up in this area, and the nation's first snow-making machines were employed here to pick up where Mother Nature left off. As a result, northwest lower Michigan has been in the ski business in a big way for more than 40 years.

Today, nearly 20 resorts offer more than 200 ski runs, ranging from 160 feet to 615 feet in height (with many in the 400 to 500-foot range) and up to 7,920 feet in length.

A number of the ski resorts are the summer homes of Michigan's best-known "designer" golf courses: Arnold Palmer "The Legend" at Shanty Creek-Schuss Mountain, Robert Trent Jones's courses and the Donald Ross Memorial at the Boyne resorts, and Arnold Palmer's "The Bear" at Grand Traverse Resort (which does not offer downhill skiing but has developed miles of cross-country ski trails).

One (The Homestead) offers a spectacular view of Lake Michigan stretching away, blue and sparkling, to the horizon. Each has its own character and

Off-street parking recommendations raise eyebrows

When Lowell's City Council approved the off-street parking recommendations put forth by Ed Swanson, a consultant from Swanson and Associates, at an October meeting, it extracted parking from some and raised some questions of a few more downtown business people.

Most heavily hit by the decision seems to be Captain Jack bar owner, Larry J. Wawee. "I'm unhappy about it. Six months ago when I bought this bar, no one told me of these plans," he says. "I'm willing to work with the city. The people want this bar and I don't intend to leave."

Lowell City Manager, David Pasquale adds "Right now, all we're asking is that the bar owner investigate other options and come back to the city and present some reasonable alternatives."

Pasquale did say that parking out in front of Captain Jack's during the evening hours hasn't been disregarded. "If that is an alternative to no parking at all then the City is willing look into it. But, the final and most important agreement must come from the State," he says.

Wawee added that the bar has been in Lowell 37 years and should have some rights. With parking removed from M-21 (Main Street) his customers will be left with side street parking. "Currently I have some people parking on the side streets and walking a half of a block."

Wawee suggested that his lawyers are currently negotiating with Erb Lumber for the use of their lot. "Currently it is out of my hands. I do know that I like this place and want to keep this place," Wawee said.

Where will the customers park? The same question is being raised by merchants located on Main Street between Broadway and Riverside. An unofficial hand count totaled roughly 75 parking spots available on Broadway, Riverside and the City Lot. The new proposed parking plan would increase that number to 91. It was pointed out that on Thursday morning — early afternoon, there were roughly 25-30 employees from the Main Street business section between Broadway and Riverside. "We are going to need help from the merchants so that employees do not fill up the convenient parking spots. We need merchants and their employees to cooperate and park elsewhere," Lowell Police Chief Barry Emmons said.

"If it isn't convenient, people will not shop here," explained a Lowell merchant. "In the city lot behind us, we have cars that are stored (dropped off and left), car pool people that park their cars here all day, and the area is never patrolled."

Emmons said the city lots are checked frequently for car pooling and abandoned cars.

Merchants along Main Street on the north side between Broadway and Riverside will lose some parking in front of the stores, but gain more parking along the sides of Broadway and Riverside.

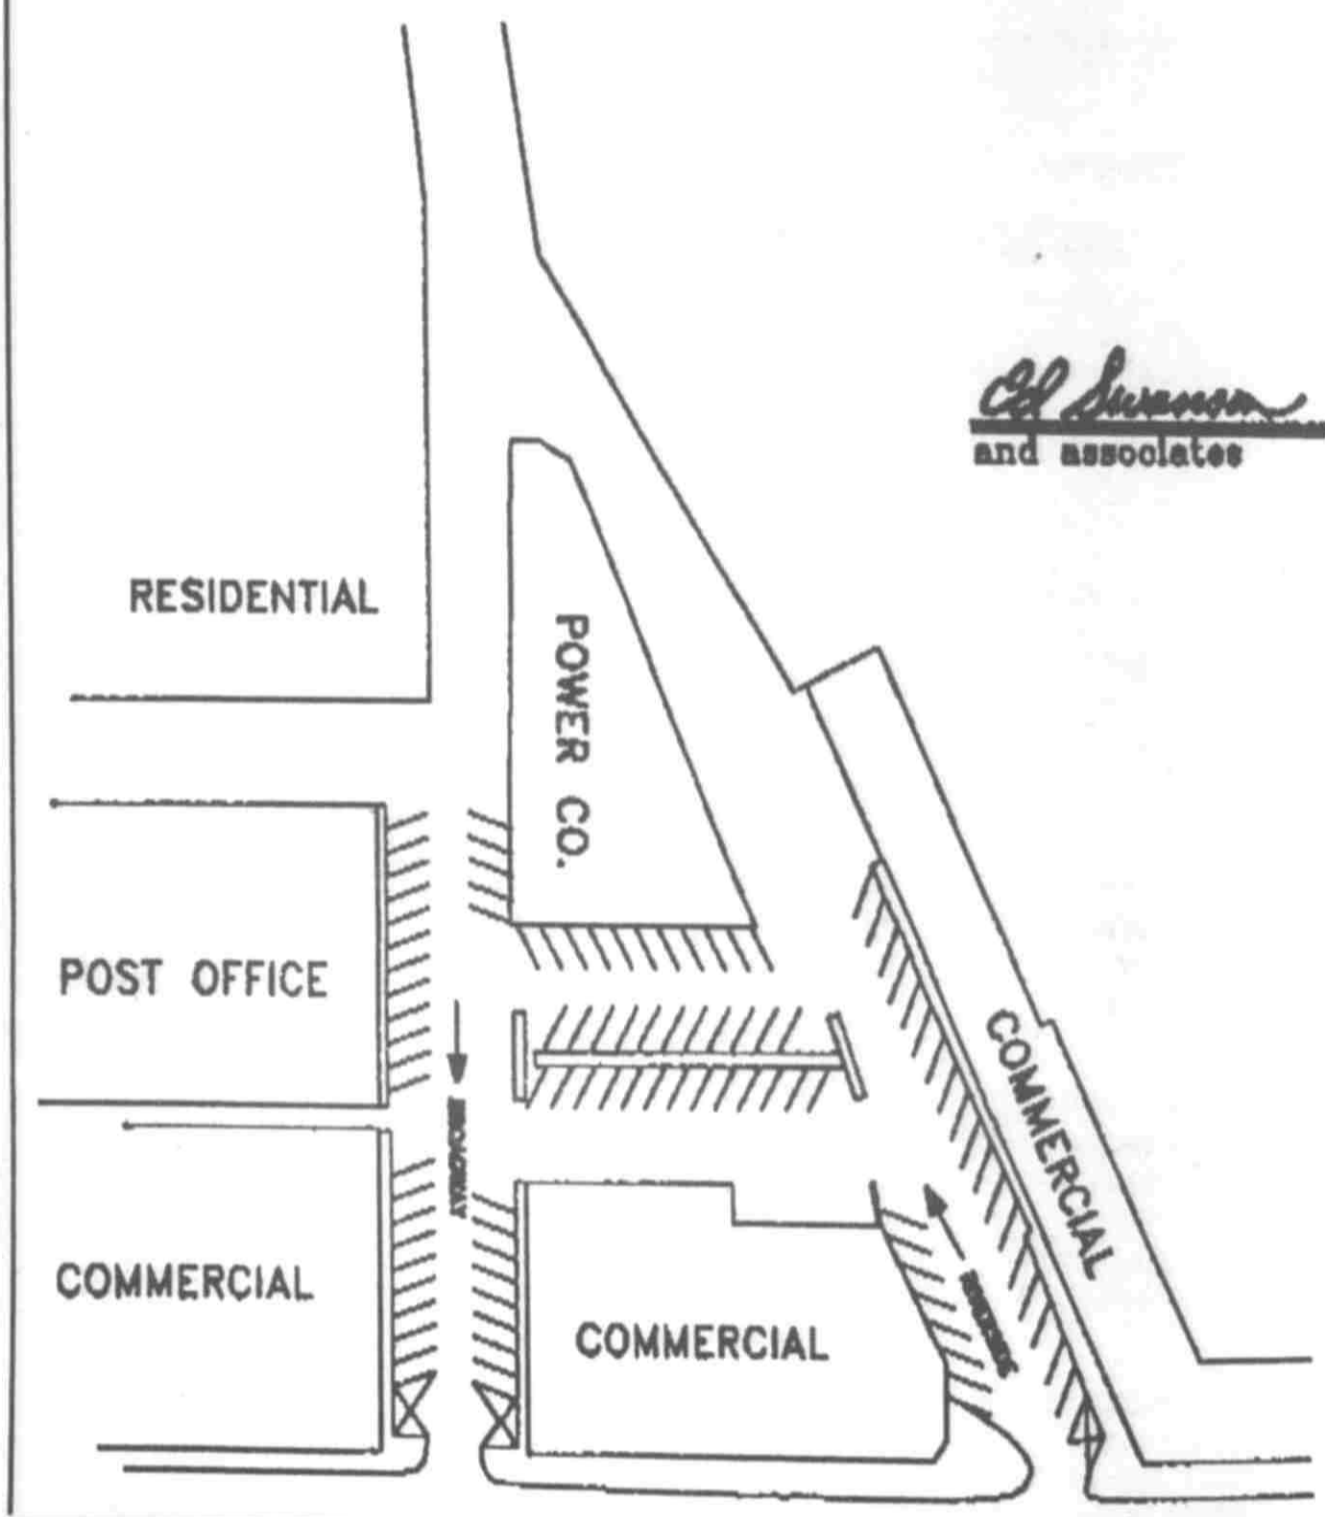

A parking time limit on those streets has been discussed, but according to Lowell City Manager, Dave Pasquale, a decision has not been made on whether there will be a time-limit parking restriction. Emmons said that time-limit parking restrictions are hard to enforce without meters. "But if there are restrictions on the parking time, we will patrol on occasion and see that the parking is cleared for the merchant's customers," he said.

Lambert Variety store owner Duane Lambert added he hates to lose space in front of the store, but understands the problem and realizes this parking plan is better than what the state proposed. "It is definitely better than what might have happened," Lambert said, referring to the state's proposal to remove parking from one side of the street. He added that he felt a parking time limit needed to be enforced along Riverside and Broadway.

Alto students live science

Alto School Media center shares its space with a Star-lab Planetarium.

Recently, Alto students were given instructions during a 45-minute classroom presentation given by the Living Science Foundation. This year marked the sixth year in a row the foundation has brought one of its programs to the school.
Paid for by the Alto Parent-Teacher Club at a cost of $1,100, representatives from the science foundation showed the entire student body, class by class, various constellations in the galaxies which are seen during each season of the year.
The planetarium is a balloon-type, darkened lab on which slide pictures of constellations are shown on the ceiling and side walls. Students, while seated on the floor inside the lab, can view the "sky" with the illusion that they are in their own back yard on a dark clear night.
Previous presentations by the Living Science Foundation have included "Ocean's Edge" and live animal visits.

The word "canopy" comes from the Greek word kanops meaning "gnat." The story goes the fishermen of ancient Egypt would sleep undisturbed by gnats by sleeping under canopies of fishing nets.

Lowell knocks "Fighting Scots" out of playoffs

Holtz's 65-yard 4th-quarter run lifts Lowell to 16-12 win

Caledonia went into Friday night's game against Lowell ranked fourth in Class B Region I. The top four teams in each region qualify for the playoffs.

The Fighting Scots had everything to lose. Lowell was literally playing for the pride and respect of the O-K White Conference. Zealand was ranked fifth in Class B Region I and had everything to gain from a Caledonia loss -- a playoff birth, provided Lowell won and the Chix could defeat Hudsonville on Saturday.

A half dozen or so Chix players were on hand to watch and root as the Red Arrows squeezed out an exciting 16-12 victory.

Literally, the game was decided on one play, 20 seconds of the fourth-quarter scoreboard clock. On first and 10 from their own 35, the Red Arrows had the ball with 5:45 to play. Lowell quarterback, Ryan Holtz faked sticking the ball into the stomach of Brett Knoop, then, delaying a second or two, accelerated through a hole on the left side before cutting across field on his way for a 65-yard, game-winning touchdown run, giving Lowell its 16-12 lead.

"Our seniors bent but did not break," exclaimed Lowell Coach Phil Christensen. "Caledonia had everything to win and we were playing for the pride of the O-K White."

Caledonia Coach Ralph Shefferly added, "We felt fortunate only being down 10 (10-0) at halftime. Our defense was on the field way too long in the first half. We made some adjustments, and did a much better job in the second half, except for the breakdown on Holtz's run. Give Lowell's quarterback some credit. He's a heck-of-an athlete."

The Red Arrows' best defense against the wishbone attack was keeping it off the field. It did just that in the first half. Lowell ran 38 plays from the offensive line of scrimmage, compared to Lowell strung together an 11-play, 51-yard drive in five minutes of the second quarter, increasing its lead to 10-0, when Holtz lit up the Caledonia secondary for a 20-yard scoring strike to Brett Knoop in the right corner of the endzone. In that drive Holtz was 4-of-4 through the air.

For the evening the senior QB was 7-of-12 for 69 yards and a touchdown pass. He also rushed the ball 111 times for 86 yards.

Teammate Kevin Goggins carried the ball 19 times, gaining 85 yards. Knoop totaled 35 yards in seven carries. The Red Arrows rushed for 206 yards in 37 carries.

Caledonia turned the tables in the second half. It ran 39 plays from the offensive line of scrimmage compared to Lowell's 14.

The Scots opened the second half with a 77-yard drive, capped by a one-yard plunge by Caledonia quarterback, Brad Walbridge. The two-point conversion failed and Lowell led by four, 10-6.

Lowell's offense was in and out in four plays, setting Caledonia up for its next drive. This time the Scots drove 69 yards with Bill Kowal doing the scoring honors from four yards away. The touchdown gave Caledonia a 12-10 lead. Again, the two-point conversion failed.

Kowal led all runners with a game-high 142 yards on the ground. The Fighting Scots rushed for 225 yards in 42 carries.

"Our boys came out in the second half and showed why we were the O-K Gold Conference champs against a well coached Lowell squad," Shefferly said. Caledonia ends its season at 7-2. Lowell ends its season at 6-3.

Lowell's Brett Knoop looks for some running room against Caledonia's defense. The Red Arrows managed 206 yards in 37 carries.

Lowell soccer team "roughed" up by Saxons

Red Arrows knocked out of tournament

On Wednesday the Red Arrows traveled to Hastings in the first game of the state tournament.

Hastings' Saxons have a reputation for being extremely physical and demonstrated it while upsetting the Arrows 4-3 in overtime.

Even though the Arrows clearly dominated the game with their passing and play-making, the Saxons took advantage of the loosely called contest to rough up the Arrows.

Jason White started off the scoring for the Arrows and Brian Ray followed up with a goal as Lowell scored first only to see Hastings tie the score 2-2 at the half.

The game was tied at 3-3 when regulation time ended. In overtime the game continued at its furious pace until Hastings scored on a controversial play and the Arrows were eliminated.

Coach Turkal's thoughts on the game were reinforced by Middleville's scouts, in that with three starters out, the Arrows were at a disadvantage if the game wasn't closely called.

Middleville's Coach Steve Evans however, had only high praise for the officials provided at the Finals played in Lowell. Having previously suffered the same fate at Hastings during its regular season, Middleville came to Lowell on Saturday expecting the same sort of game they watched on Wednesday.

Instead, Middleville's offense executed its passing game and led 1-0 at the half. They jumped to a 3-0 lead before Hastings scored with less than a minute to play. The tempo of this game was tightly controlled by what Coach Evans of Middleville and the Arrow's Turkal considered to be the best officiated game they have seen this year. The officials were Referee Rick May, and Linesmen, Bill Wagner and Tom Weaver. May has been selected to work in the State C-D Semi-Finals.

The team award banquet is to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 7, 1989 at the Middle School.

Lowell's boys' cross country team finished sixth at the Class B Regional in DeWitt. Red Arrow Clay VanderWarf was the only runner to qualify for state competition.

The Arrows however, have a lot to be proud of in 1989. The first winning soccer record for Lowell, 10-5-3; conference 5-3-1 (3rd in the O-K White) and an excellent chance to have more than one player named to the first team All Conference squad. The Arrows have outscored their opponents this year 33 goals to 21. The first time the team has scored more than 30 goals in a season and held their opponents to 21 goals this year, 16 less than 1988.

According to Varsity Coach Turkal, the record of this team of juniors and seniors from last year's JV through this year is 2-12, 8-10 and 10-5-3. Coach Turkal reflects "We have started a winning tradition and we are already planning our 1990 schedule."

The team award banquet is to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 7, 1989 at the Middle School.

VanderWarf qualifies for State

Lowell's boys' cross country team finished sixth at the Class B Regional in DeWitt. Red Arrow Clay VanderWarf was the only runner to qualify for state competition.

VanderWarf finished third with a time of 16:35.10. Finishing ahead of the Lowell runner was Gary Loubert of Hemlock and Eric Gelino of Lansing Catholic Central with times of 1:38 and 16:36 respectively.

Perry won the regional with 98 points. It was followed by Lansing Catholic Central 144, Ionia 148, Corunna 166, Alma 197, Lowell 226, Durand 228, Portland 239, Hemlock 245, Central Montcalm 247, Mason 263, Linden 284, Hartland 295, Haslet 319, DeWitt 329, Midland Bullock Creek 386, Belding 394, Lakewood 422, Fowlerville 433, Chesaning 470 and Ovid-Elsie 478.

Definitely missing the strong performance it had received from Jason VanderWarf throughout much of the year, Lowell's boys' cross country team placed sixth in the O-K White Conference meet and tied for fourth overall. XC, continued pg. 19

Lowell girls crowned cross country regional champs

The Red Arrow girls' cross country team placed five runners in the top 23 positions at the Class B Regional in DeWitt Saturday, as it became the first Lowell girls' club in the school's history to race home with the regional crown.

XC, continued

VanderWarf, who has been struggling with a stress fracture the last part of the year, was Lowell's fifth runner home. This, coming from a harrier who was placing second with regularity, behind his brother, Clay VanderWarf, earlier in the year. Going into the meet there wasn't a whole lot of doubt that Forest Hills Central would win. Why not - it went unscathed during the regular season meets.

The Rangers ran according to their billing, out in front. The conference meet standings were as follows: 1. FHC 63; 2. EGR 86; 3. Sparta 87; 4. Northview 99; 5. Rogers 104; 6. Lowell 105; 7. Zealand 123; 8. Wyoming Park 218.

Sparta's Andy Wilson was the first harrier off the Johnson Park Course. He finished at 16:46. Lowell's Clay VanderWarf was second at 16:49 and East Grand Rapids' John Turkal placed third with a time of 17:11.

Following Turkal in fourth place was Northview's Greg Toole in a time of 17:19. Matt Kenney of FHC was fifth at 17:48. Walter Roundtree of Sparta stopped the clock at 17:49, placing sixth for Sparta. Zealand's Mike Tubergan was seventh in a time of 17:50. Jon Fortney was eighth at 17:50 for FHC. Eddy Copiel of Rogers was ninth at 17:54 and FHC's Aaron Jenks was 10th, coming each girl where I thought they should finish. But, we never discussed times.

His pre-race talk proved prophet-like. Harper talked to Hillari Kirsch about placing in the top five. The Red Arrow finished second.

He chatted with Rhea Bundy about coming off the course as a member of the top 10. The sophomore placed seventh.

He told Betsy Dommer and Karen Bussler he thought they could finish with the top 20. The two harriers finished 17th and 20th respectively.

"If a club places four girls in the top 20, the team automatically qualifies for the state competition. Otherwise a team must finish within the top three to qualify," Harper said. "Usually when a club has four girls in the top 20, it finishes in one of the top three spots, unless the field is extremely strong."

Harper came close to having all five of his girls in the top 20. Lowell's fifth runner was Sara Lesky. She came home in 23rd. "Sara ran her best race of the year. She was superb."

Harper wasn't sure if his club would finish first at the regional, but after seeing all of his runners home after 23 places had been filled, he knew it would be tough for a team to beat Lowell.

"I was feeling pretty good knowing we had five runners in the top 23," Harper said. "I knew it would take a super race by another school to beat us. Watching the race, I didn't see that happening."

Lowell's individual times follow: 2. Kirsch 19:52.4; 7. Bundy 20:29.2; 17. Dommer 21:13.2; 20. Bussler 21:31.3; and 23. Lesky 21:42. The Red Arrows sixth and final harrier home was Chris Decke (41st) 22:20.

The Class B Regional standings looked like this: 1. Lowell 66, Corunna 96, Fowlerville 132, DeWitt 139, Mason 158, Alma 202, Perry 211, Linden 232, Ionia 273, Lansing Catholic Central 282, Hartland 291, Chesaning 293, Durand 295, Ovid-Elsie 318, Central Montcalm 323, Hemlock 325, Belding 400.

Midland Bullock Creek 422, Lakewood 469.

The Lowell girls will travel to Linden (South of Flint) on Friday. They will run at 1:30 on Saturday at the Tyrone Hills Golf Course.

CONFERENCE MEET
"The girls didn't run poorly but they didn't run a strong race either," said Lowell Coach Tom Harper, following the Arrow harriers' third place finish in the O-K White Conference meet.

Lowell placed third in the conference meet and tied for second overall with Wyoming Park. East Grand Rapids won the league championship outright for the fourth consecutive year.

Rhea Bundy

"Athlete Of The Week"

Rhea Bundy started the cross country season with her times in the low 23s and high 22-minute marks.

Over the last three weeks of the season the sophomore has improved her time by roughly a minute-and-a-half. Her steady improvement continued Saturday at the Regional in DeWitt. Bundy ran a personal best of 20:29, placing her second to Hillari Kirsch among Red Arrow runners.

Bundy has made enormous strides in her first year out for cross country. "I think my times at the beginning of the year were slow because I wasn't in the best of shape." She attributes some of her cross country success to track. Bundy ran both the mile and two mile events.

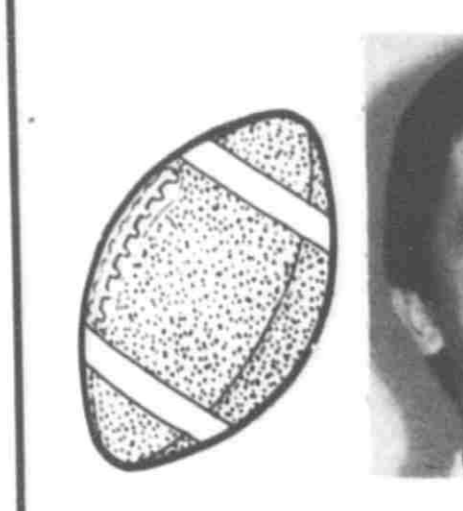

"My track teammates suggested to me that I run cross country this year. So I did. I've enjoyed it and I've been happy with the way I've run," Bundy said.

The sophomore said she finds cross country more difficult than track because of the hills and the longer distance. The daughter of Walt and Ernestine Bundy says she's a little nervous about running at the state meet in Linden, but is also excited about qualifying. "I'm going to try to stay as close to Hillari (Kirsch) as I can."

Harper realizes just how valuable Bundy has been. "She's one of the reasons we've been as successful as we are," he says. "Bundy did not run cross country a year ago. As the season has progressed she's run herself into better and better shape."

Lowell, Marvin sparkle in 57-46 win over Wyoming Park

Outstanding bench play from Tanya Czarnopis and a radiant 25-point performance from senior Kim Marvin elevated Lowell to an important O-K White 57-46 win over Wyoming Park.

The victory coincided with Forest Hills Central's 42-32 loss to Rogers, leaving Lowell atop the O-K White Conference at 9-1 and 13-3 overall.

"Good teams make the big plays and big shots come crunch time" Wyoming Park Coach Rich Pullen said. "Lowell made all the big plays and big shots tonight."

While no one player or one play glowed brighter than the victory, there were many by-products of the victory that produced beams of light.

*Lowell earned sole possession of first place in the O-K White. * Marvin saved her best individual game of the year for the Vikings. Her 25 points and 13 rebounds provided a sparkling display of her talent. "Numbers aside, the hustle she displayed the entire game was marvelous," Akers said. "When Marvin wants to be, she can be one of the best players in the league."

* Tanya Czarnopis relieved an ailing Jennifer Murphy in the second half. She scored four points, but was in on many key, momentum saving defensive plays.

* Lowell saw an 11-point, fourth-quarter advantage cut to four when Park's Marian Bentley hit one of two foul shots with less than two minutes to play. However, Czarnopis had an answer, a five-foot shot from the left baseline. "I'm not sure what made her decide to put the ball up, but it probably was the bucket that finalized our victory," said a relieved and happy Coach Akers.

* The win was also Akers' 100th as a varsity basketball coach.

"Our players really wanted this one. They were hustling at both ends," Akers said. "I knew early that if we lost, it wasn't going to be because the girls were not executing or hustling."

Park raced to an early 19-12 first-quarter lead. Lowell responded by opening up the sec-

Lowell's Tonya Stepek puts up a jumper in action against the Pioneers. Lowell won the contest 46-16.

GXC, continued

"It was disappointing to place third at the conference meet, but Parks' girls running so well, the best they have all year, had more to do with us finishing third than the way we ran," Harper said.

Lowell's Hillari Kirsch was second to the sensational Kim Blouw of Wyoming Park at the league meet. Blouw came off the Johnson Park course in 19:30, Kirsch followed in 20:17.

The only other Lowell runner to place in the top 10 was Rhea Bundy who finished in ninth with a time of 21:19.

Following Blouw and Kirsch were Angie Thomas (Sparta) 20:25; Tiffany House (Wyoming Park) 20:48; Stefanie Oatis (EGR) 20:57; Missy Hilton (Rogers) 21:02; Leslie Budde (EGR) 21:15; Bundy; and Emily Travis (EGR) 21:30.

Team standing went like this: 1. EGR 50; 2. Wyoming Park 54; 3. Lowell 60; 4. Rogers 126; 5. Sparta 131; 6. Forest Hills Central 134; 7. Northview 165; 8. Zeeland 165.

The third Red Arrow to come home was Karen Bussler. She was timed at 21:49. Betsy Dommer followed at 22:10 and Chris Decke was fifth for Lowell at 22:55.

The Red Arrow girls finished at 6-1 in the league.

LOWELL 19, IONIA 42

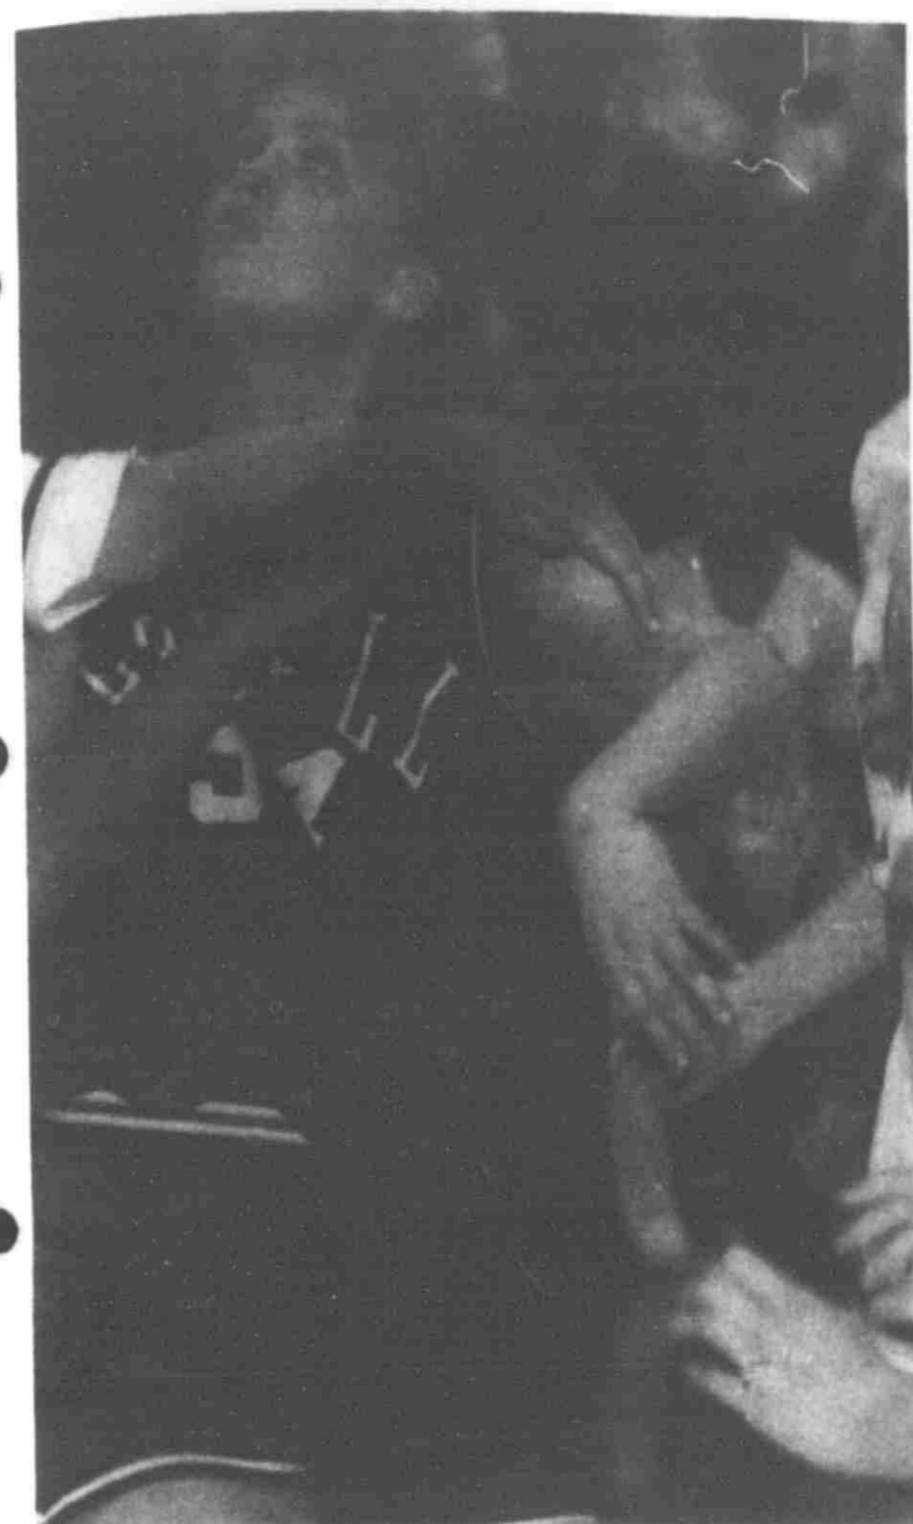

The Red Arrows took out their conference meet frustration on the Bulldogs from Ionia.

"The girls ran a strong team race," Harper said. "This was good preparation for the regionals at DeWitt."

Lowell grabbed the top three positions. Hillari Kirsch earned top honors with a time of 20:13. Rhea Bundy continued her strong second half surge with a second-place time of 20:58. Betsy Dommer was third at 21:26.

Lisa Wittenbach and Jenny Patera of Ionia were runners four and five with time of 21:38 and 21:45 respectively.

Lowell took the next four positions starting with Karen Bussler's sixth-place finish at 21:47. Kristen Shuster was seventh at 22:04. Sara Lesky was eighth at 22:14 while Chris Decke was ninth at 22:15.

ond quarter with eight unanswered points. Five of the eight were netted by Marvin.

That was the start of a 16-5 second-quarter run by the Red Arrows, giving them a 28-24 halftime lead.

Lowell increased its lead to 11 (42-31) in the third quarter, outscoring its guests 14-7.

"We committed too many turnovers and missed too many easy shots," said Pullen. "Take nothing away from Lowell, but I don't think we played very well."

Wyoming Park averaged right around 60 points a game and Lowell's defense held it to 46. "I knew going in that we had to keep Park at 50 points or less if we were going to win," Akers said.

Park's All-Conference player, Janice Roberts, who averages right around 25 points a game was held to 16. "I thought Deb Adams and Renee Nugent did a terrific job defensively on Roberts," Akers said.

LOWELL 46, SPARTA 16

Coming off an emotionally high-strung victory against Wyoming Park, Lowell lacked that same charge against the less talented Pioneers of East Grand Rapids, at least in the first half of its 46-16 victory.

EGR held a sleepwalking Red Arrow club to 16 first half points and trailed only by six at half, 16-10.

Lowell's lackluster first-half play wasn't solely responsible for the halftime score. EGR's aggressive zone defense and hustle played contributing roles.

A fiery halftime talk by Akers put the red back into the Arrow eyes as they pounded the Pioneers 30-6 in the final 16 minutes.

The game gave Akers an opportunity to play some people that haven't seen much playing time throughout the year, and they contributed. Elizabeth Shelby netted six points and Tera Kropf added four. "I thought both girls played well in the first and second halves."

Lowell was lead in scoring by Kim Marvin with 13 points, Erica Hackenbruch added nine points and 10 rebounds and Nugent led the club in rebounds with 12. "Nugent can score in double figures for us if we can do a better job of getting her the ball," Akers explains.

November Students-of-the-Month

The faculty of Lowell High School has recently named the first group of students-of-the-month for the current school year. The student-of-the-month program was established to recognize students who uphold the standards of pride and respect both in and out of the classroom.

These are students who set an example, whether very quietly by consistent display of standards and values, or very actively in classes, clubs and teams. The November students-of-the-month are Senior Randy Hunter, Junior Rachel Cilley, Sophomore Jonathan Kohler and Freshman Andrew Breimayer.

Hunter is the son of Wes and Joan Hunter of Lowell. For the past two years he has taken part in LHS's Co-op Program, in which a student attends school half a day, and then gets on-the-job training with a cooperating employer the rest of the day. Hunter is employed by King Milling Company. The Co-op Director reports that all of Hunter's job evaluations have described him as a responsible, positive employee who has consistently done a good job. Hunter plans to join the Navy upon graduation. His teacher nominator describes Hunter as "very conscientious and courteous—a real plus to my class."

Cilley is the daughter of Bob and Brenda Cilley of Lowell. She is involved in softball and International Club during the school year and continues both types of interests in the summer by traveling and participating in water sports. Cilley was recently selected as member of the National Honor Society. She participates in the community by babysitting at Alto PTC meetings and working part-time at Thomet Chevrolet and Buick. Cilley's teacher nominator describes her as a hard worker whose perseverance sets an example for others, and as a student who is polite and friendly.

Kohler is the son of Charlie and Sue Kohler of Ada. In his just over one year of high school Kohler has been very active. Participating in all three seasons. Kohler is a member of the soccer, basketball and track teams. He has earned academic honors and has been elected as a student council representative. He is also a member of the debate team and the international club. Interests which will carry over from his involvement at the Middle School include band, drama, and academic achievement. At the high school his favorite classes are Honors English and Honors Geometry. His teacher nominator reaffirms that his leadership skills are well developed, due in great part to his friendliness, energetic enthusiasm, and respect for others. Breimayer probably sums up the attitude of these four students when he says, "Those who give one hundred percent will receive even more." The faculty, staff and administration at LHS invite the community to join them in congratulating the LHS November Students-of-the-Month.

Thanks

The Bushnell P.T.C. would like to say thank you to all of our families for their great support during our fundraiser. We truly appreciate everyone's efforts during the sale, and with the promptness of picking up their orders.

We also would like to thank the following businesses for their support with our prize program. Our prize for our 1st place family in sales was a two night stay at President's Suites with spending money for meals. We'd like to thank President's Suites for donating one of those nights. Lowell Engineering made a donation to our prize program that paid for the lunches of our students from the top ten selling families at McDonald's, plus enabled us to send our second place family for a one night stay at President's Suites. The Southwell family let us use their chauffeur driven limousine to take our McDonald's winners to lunch.

To top off our prize program the following merchants donated articles to be used for drawing prizes. So we would like to extend a big thank you to Cousin's Card & Gift Shop, Rock Bottom, Lamberts, Lowell Graphics, Hobby Stop, Family Dollar, Anderson Shoes, Pfalters, 7-Eleven, Hinkley Drug Store, Lowelectronics, and Bernard's True Value.

Any Bushnell student whose family sold 15 items or more had their name put into our drawing, and this added even more excitement to our awards assembly.

Many thanks to all involved with the Bushnell Fundraiser.

Voice of "Old High School" bell resounds melodiously

In a constantly changing and growing society, many times people are caught rushing and looking to the future and thus forgetting the past.

On Wednesday, Oct. 25 at 2:30 p.m. at the Lowell Middle School, a group of 50 or so, including school administration, school staff, residents, students, past principals and Lowell alumnae paused a moment to focus on the richness that Yestyear left behind.

That richness is embodied in the "Old High School" Bell which rang for 52 years before its voice fell silent. The voice was heard again at the dedication of the "Old High School Bell" in remembrance of Ken Smith.

"Ken Smith was the cornerstone of what was happening at Lowell Schools for many years," Lowell School Board President and 1957 graduate, John Haggai said. "I remember

The bell was rung in the morning, at noon and for special occasions according to then Lowell High School Principal, Stephen Nisbet, who came from St. Joseph with his wife, Norma, to be at the dedication.

"When I think of Lowell now, I think of what a nice community it was to be a part of and to grow in," Stephen Nisbet said.

Norma adds, "I can remember sending one of the boys downtown so that Mr. Coons (Frank) could fit them with a pair of jeans. I can also remember sending them to the Hill's Shoe Store for a pair of shoes."

The "Old High School Bell" project was started in early August when Gil VanWeelden drew up the prints. Jim Schafer, Rick Briggs (1967 Lowell graduate), Terry VanderWarf (1964 Lowell graduate), and Mike Smith (1967 Lowell graduate) were responsible for the construction of the brick base and the installation of the bell. The work was completed on October 12.

A time capsule was buried beneath the old school bell. Both will serve in memory and dedication to Ken Smith.

The custodian and maintenance supervisor at Lowell Schools for 34 years passed away in 1985. In memorial to his hard work and dedication, the old school bell first used when both the Middle School and high school were located on Monroe Street, was put back up in front of the Lowell Middle School.

In attendance at the ceremony were Smith's wife, Anne and her three grandchildren.

"The dedication was real nice and the weather was perfect," Anne Smith said. "The family is grateful for the time and effort the school personnel put into the dedication. I'm sure Ken would have appreciated it."

The school bell was originally purchased in New York City at a cost of $68.88. For 52 years it rang faithfully, not only calling students to their daily work, but for a time it also served as a fire alarm, and it also sounded for all joyful and patriotic occasions.

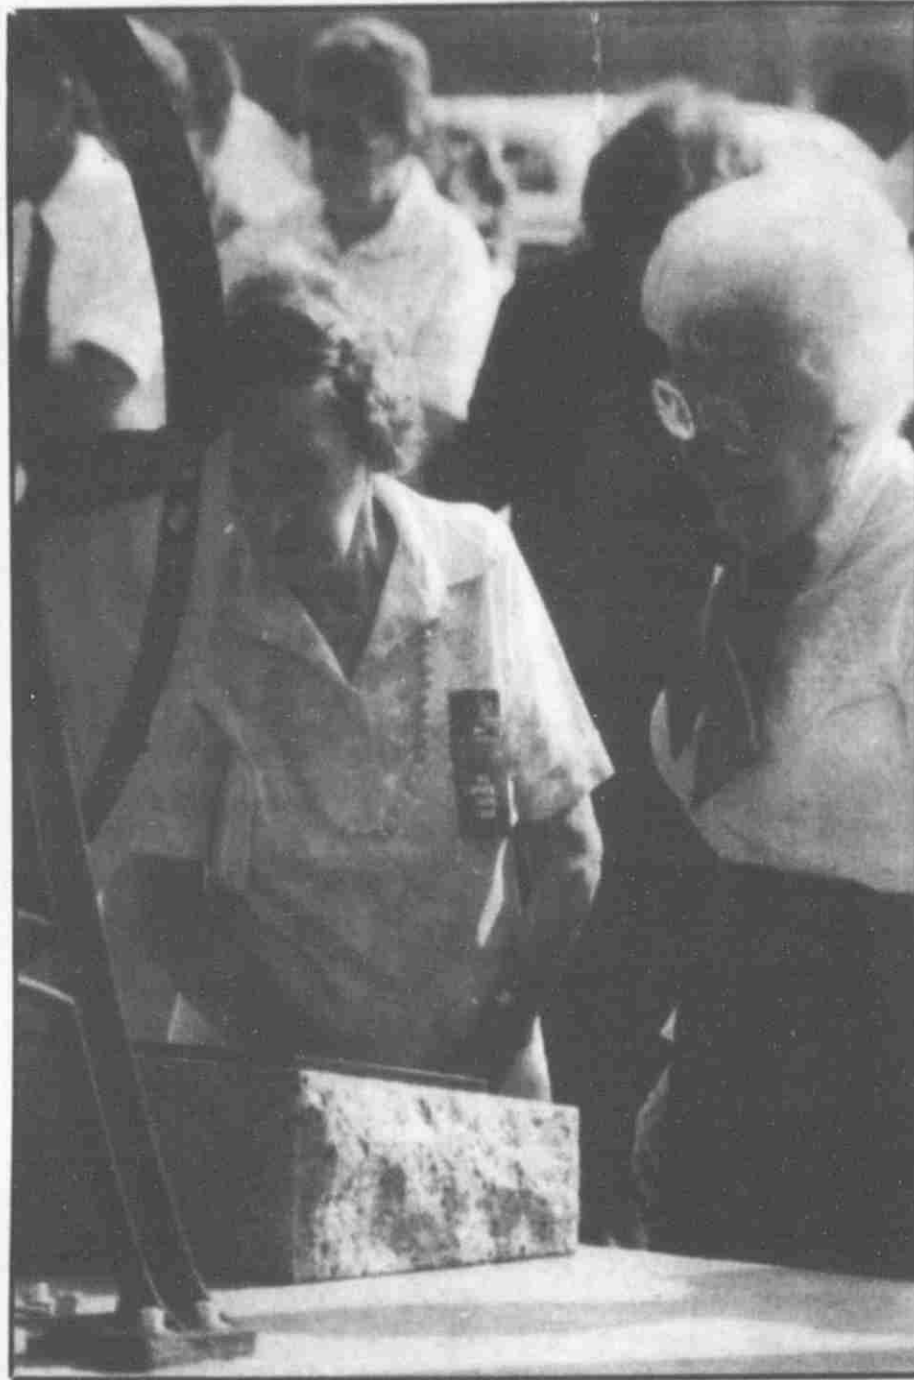

It was used to ring out the full tones at the fall of Richmond during the Civil War, for the death of Abraham Lincoln, and it was used "When Johnnie Came Marching Home again."

Everybody in attendance was given an opportunity to ring the bell. Smith's grandchildren had an opportunity to ring the bell a few times for Granddad.

"Everybody loved Ken Smith. He was a friend of everyone's," Norma Nisbet said.

Stephen Nisbet, former Lowell Superintendent, and his wife, Norma, drove from St Joseph to be at the the "Old High School Bell" dedication in remembrance of Ken Smith.

Roughly 50-plus people attended the bell dedication.

Jim Schafer, Rick Briggs, Terry VanderWarf, and Mike Smith were responsible for the brick base and the installation of the bell.
