Lowell Airport hangar project now in full flight

The construction on Lowell Airport's new 32-foot by 190-foot six-place hangar was started prior to the holidays.

While you were braving the crowds to do your last minute shopping the week before Christmas, the construction crew from Tailored Building Systems was braving blowing snow and temperatures in the -5 to -10 range, and wind chills well below that.

Construction on the Lowell Airport's new six-place aircraft hangar has not been a fun project so far. A three-man crew struggled through the first week or so of construction, driving grade stakes and augering holes into well frozen earth in an attempt to get the project off and running before the bad weather of our Michigan winter beset them. Perseverance paid off and by last week the crew had the skeleton of the new hangar well under control.

The 32 foot by 190 foot, six-place facility has been a project of some controversy between the City of Lowell and Vergennes township since last summer when the request by the city for a zoning variance from the township was denied. After some legal leg work by the City, it was agreed that local zoning regulations do not apply to property owned by governing bodies and the off-again, on-again project was at last scheduled to commence.

The City has obtained a $40,000 low interest loan through the Michigan Aeronautical Commission to cover the cost of construction and, with the shortage of quality hangar space being what it is in this area, has had no trouble at all locating enough lessees to fill the new hangar upon completion. Lease agreements may be secured for up to ten years with the City and lease rates are expected to begin at $90 per month for the four inside stalls, and $100 per month for the two outside stalls.

Sibling Reunion: Dave Noonon celebrates holidays with birth brother

What's there to be gained from a name?

For Lowell's Dave Noonon it meant attaining an identity, a heritage, a family and a peace of mind.

Noonon, the adopted son of Rolla and Alma Noonon, talked to (Dec. 14) and then met with his birth brother, Ron Kitchen, on Dec. 17 for the first time since early childhood.

Due to the secret nature in which adoption was handled back in the 50's, brothers and sisters could be split up and never told of each others location. Dave and Ron have uncovered a fifth of their family. However, they both still two brothers and a sister they have yet to locate.

"Now that the search has been initiated, I'm anxious yet apprehensive. There's that uncertainty of what you might find," Noonon said. "I didn't pursue locating my natural brothers and sister earlier because I didn't want my adoptive parents to think that I felt I was short changed. I was fortunate. I was raised in a good home."

Now that Noonon has located one of three brothers, he admits there is disappointment that they didn't meet sooner.

The Dave and Ron story certainly adds to the adage "near but yet so far" away. Both were raised in Lansing and both attended Lansing Everett High School. Ron was two years ahead of Dave. After talking to one another over the phone, both men searched through their year books looking for a picture to go with the voice. With a tone of hesitancy in his voice Noonon adds, "After looking at the picture it seems to me we were in a physical education class together. I was in the band and he played football." He clarifies that statement by adding, but there were over 1,800 students that attended Lansing Everett.

It doesn't end there. Ron's parents owned a family style restaurant (Kitchen's Family Restaurant), a place Dave patronized on occasion. Through their holiday conversation and information sought out by Dave's step-brother, Bob, it was learned that at one point the two brothers lived less than a mile apart.

"While it's disappointing we didn't meet sooner, I think it's for the best. Had we met at a younger age, it could have put strain on both families," Noonon said.

Noonon was born Joseph Edward Gibson the son of Raymond and Amy Gibson, who at one time during his upbringing, also lived within a mile of their son. "I feel sorry for my birth parents because of the pain they must have gone through in losing their children," Noonon said.

Dave and two other of the Gibson children were dealt away by adoption through the court. As to why they had to be put for adoption, the reason is still not clear to Noonon.

The brothers' holiday meeting came about after Ron wrote a letter to the Probate Court in Lansing. Ron's record revealed the names of two of his brothers (one of those being Dave) and the names of his real mother and father.

The file on Dave (Joseph Edward Gibson) revealed the names of two of his brothers (one of those being Ron) and his father's name.

It also showed that Joseph Gibson's name was changed to David Jack Noonon. After learning the name, the court paged through the Lansing directory looking for the name Noonon. By chance, luck, fate or all three, Bob Noonon was listed. He confirmed that he had a step-brother named Dave that lived in Lowell. Alma Noonon was then called to confirm what they had learned. After the confirmation, Dave was contacted.

"We'd probably still be searching had Bob relocated from the Lansing area," Noonon said.

Although they were separated at a young age, the two brothers had attained similar interests over the years. "We both enjoy woodworking and working on old cars. Dave and Ron also both have three children (two boys and a daughter). "Despite the years we were separated, there was an immediate bond. We met on the 17th at my house for roughly eight hours. I will go to Ron's home on Jan. 4-5," Noonon said. "We plan on getting together regularly after that."

Both will work to locate their two missing brothers and a sister. "We will find them," nods Noonon.

Wintery Skywalk I

Lowell's Judy Tummino is showing her landscaping watercolor exhibit at the Lowell Area Arts Center now through Feb. 11.

While the abstract watercolor exhibit does not have a theme, they all deal with landscapes. Tummino's paintings are not in total detail. "The paintings are recognized by their forms, the subtleties of color change and the linear quality," Tummino says. Linear quality is the softness of the colors and the thickness of the lines. "Line is an integral part of my work. Sometimes Playful, sometimes direct, the lines I use may either harmonize with the colors and shapes or interrupt the flow design," she said. "I endeavor to combine the spontaneous quality of watercolor with the necessary element of control to express the changes which occur in nature."

Tummino loves the freedom of abstract painting. "It serves as a form of relaxation for me," she says. "I've learned to schedule time ahead for my painting because of my busy schedule."

Tummino was born in Washington D.C.. She lived in Maryland, spending winters in the suburbs of Washington and summers at the Chesapeake Bay.

The artist completed her undergraduate studies at Colorado State University, located in the foothills of the Rockies and lived in rural Michigan while completing her Masters Degree at Western Michigan University. She also attended the Chicago Institute of Art.

While she hasn't held her own exhibit here in Lowell, her abstract paintings have been displayed with exhibits from the Harry & Friends (including this past year). Her work was also displayed at the LAAC in 1987, at the second annual West Michigan Regional Invitational.

Some of Tummino's work that is displayed in galleries outside of the West Michigan area include the Plumb Gallery in Kensington, Maryland; Court Galleries in Cincinnati, Ohio; and Aaron Gallery in Washington D.C.

"I view watercolor as a subtle and delicate medium. In my landscapes I have attempted to use both fantasy and reality," Tummino says. "Sometimes one cannot determine where reality ends and illusion of fantasy begins."

A reception will be held for Tummino's exhibit on Jan 7 from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

"My love of natural landscape forms, coupled with the sheer delight of seeing colors change before my eyes provides the focal point of my work," Tummino says. "It is my hope that the viewer will interact with the paintings sharing the various moods that I attempted to portray."

Airport, continued

Thus far, the project is in good shape despite the cold and snow and is expected to be completed and ready for occupancy by mid-January. The only hitch in the works so far has been the rescheduling of the concrete work, which has been postponed until spring because the ground is already frozen at the job site.

St. Mary's presents traditional Christmas program

St. Mary's School decided this year to put on a traditional sacred Christmas program for parents and relatives. The whole school body presented "The Christmas Story" according to the gospel of St. Luke. Different grades performed traditional Christmas carols and readings and reenacted the birth of the Christ Child.

Dennis Brown, and Jacob Stever, from the fourth grade and John Fox, third grade, presented moving solos of "My Three Kings". And the entire student body performed "Silent Night" and other traditional favorites of the season.

Several students shown here portrayed Jerusalem travelers for their part in this year's Christmas program at St. Mary's Church.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

CHURCH PAGE
...he will beautify the meek with salvation (Psalm 149:4).

"I wish I were pretty," I used to say to my mother when I was a teenager. Invariably she'd answer, "Oh, you're pretty enough. If you were any prettier the boys would all be chasing you."

That, I might add, wasn't the consolation I was seeking, although now I understand why she answered me as she did.

"Beauty is as beauty does" - so goes the old saying. A beautiful youngster can cause much unpleasantness if he is rude and unruly. On the other hand, the plainest child can bring joy to many if he has a sunny smile and a loving disposition.

When an elderly Quaker woman with a beautiful complexion was asked what kind of cosmetic she used, she replied: "I use for my lips, truth; for my voice, prayer; for my eyes, pity; for my hands, charity; for my figure, uprightness; for my heart, love."

In answer to her response, another has added, "This prescription can be filled without expense and the supply will increase with continued use."

Prayer: O Lord, I yield myself unto Thee. Let Thy perfect love possess and control me. May Thy beauty be seen in me today and always. Amen.

No life is so lovely and enticing as one that is sweet and mellow and holy with the very elixir of heaven exuding from its daily conduct.

AND HOPE...?

And hope doesn't disappoint us. Confident expectation—one of the meanings of the word, hope. And yet so often I hear others say despairingly about a situation, "Well, I hope it turns out all right." I find myself ever so often picking up on that tone of words also. The sound and the reality of it is not one of hope. It is one of doubt or fear or discouragement. Something has happened to cause a chill in our hearts and it affects our life—the way we think and what we do.

On my reading stand in the bedroom and on my desk in the study, are piles of books that have been read or are in the process of being read. "Aw come on Joan, is that all you do—just read?" Some people have said that to me, inferring that there is more to life than reading. "Get real—life is—-you know—-real!" Yes, I know that, and that is why I read. It is a joy to me, also an avocation (a calling away). It is also a diversion from the immediate business of life, so that when the business of living chomps into my life and begins to eat away what strength I have, I have in my reading some added fortification to stand up against the attack. Even then, sometimes, I fall and am defeated. But come another book, —I am up and I can resume living, perhaps on even a higher plane than before.

Barbara Larriva, a new author of the book "Poppy", says of her goal to write: (I wanted) "to write one book that would touch the hearts of readers." I read books in order to touch the hearts of boys and girls, young people and adults when I share them in reviews, in letters or by buying them a copy of their own. Fortunately, I have a husband who is generous with my avocation. How in the world could I possibly not share all that happiness or instruction and laughter that reading books has given?

And about laughter? This past week it came with a classy covered book of gold and shiny, red lettering, ROBERT FULGHUM: IT WAS ON FIRE WHEN I LAY DOWN ON IT. He explains his book by saying: The principles guiding this book are not far from the spirit of Show-and-Tell. It is my stuff from home—that place in my mind and heart where I most truly live.

On the inside of the back cover, I read that Fulghum has been a working cowboy, IBM salesman, professional artist, folksinger, parish minister, bartender, teacher of drawing and painting, writer and amateur philosopher. I take a deep breath and wonder what the pages will Show-and-Tell. Along with that breath, I smile as I read that he and his wife live on a houseboat in Seattle and is in training to be a grandfather. Now that is a grand truth about grandparenting—a training.

His book has been stimulating and thought provoking and at times, its reality was tear-jerking. It has been good to laugh and listen to a growing man. I appreciate him. And to think I only had to ask for this source of delight at the Lowell Library, and it was given.

There are parts of his book that I intend to share with some friends that will give them hope in their situation, plus the understanding heart of the author.

And what of hope for this new year—this confident expectation? I am reminded that we don't have to be ashamed of having it because hope has been poured out by God into our hearts. I will hold on to that for 1990.

ITCHING AND DRY SKIN

Persistent itching is a common problem that many of us encounter, especially in the winter months. There are several possible causes of itching including allergies, skin diseases, parasitic infestations, and serious internal medical problems, but the most common cause is dry skin. When we heat our homes, we usually decrease the humidity which dries out our skin further, leading to more itching. This is why this problem is more prevalent in the winter. Today we'll make several recommendations that should help relieve persistent itching regardless of the cause.

Using a humidifier in the house during the winter will relieve skin dryness. If you have any dry skin try to shower only a couple of times weekly. When you shower use lukewarm, rather than hot water, as hot water increases itching. When bathing use a bath oil (Alpha Keri®, Lubriderm®, or Aveeno®). Use a non drying soap such as Aveeno® or Basis®. When toweling, pat yourself dry rather than rubbing. After your bath apply skin lotion while the skin is still somewhat moist. Reapply the lotion several times a day.

Wear loose fitting cotton clothing. Wool or synthetic fabrics have a tendency to irritate the skin. Tight fitting nylon underwear does not allow for evaporation of perspiration which can also lead to skin irritation.

If itching at night is a particular problem you could try taking Benadryl® thirty minutes or so before going to bed. Keep your fingernails trimmed to avoid injury to the skin. If a small area of skin is involved, application of .5% hydrocortisone cream twice daily has proven beneficial for many individuals.

If itching persists despite the above measures you should probably see your physician. Some skin diseases may require application of potent topical steroid agents to reduce inflammations. Other causes of persistent itching should be ruled out, such as liver diseases, Hodgkins lymphoma and allergies. In most cases following the simple measures described above will relieve itching due to dry irritated skin.

Sea creatures living at depths below 3,000 feet have been found to be blind or to possess their own phosphorescent lighting system.

Tomatoes, a member of the poisonous nightshade family, are quite a new food for man. A hundred years ago they were not much used. Today, tomatoes are third in rank among vegetables consumed in this country.

Runciman-Riverside students entertain with seasonal sounds

On Wednesday, Dec. 20 the 3rd, 4th and 5th grade students at Runciman-Riverside School performed their Christmas concert for a standing room only crowd.

"The Twelve Days of Christmas" echoed through the halls as the students held aloft their own "five gold rings."

The concert under the direction of the music teacher, Mrs. Stouffer, was enjoyed by all.

Travel advice that may save your life

At last you and your family can afford a vacation in the sunny Caribbean. The travel-agency brochures depict a tropical paradise of swaying palms and gleaming beaches. But wait a minute! Two weeks before your departure you read in the newspaper that political turmoil now threatens the relaxed atmosphere of your island destination. Should you and your loved ones make the trip as planned? Where do you turn for authoritative advice?

Seasoned world travelers often rely on a little-known service of the U.S. State Department. There, in the Citizens Emergency Center of the Bureau of Consular Affairs, trained professionals sift and weigh up-to-the-minute information received through diplomatic and other channels on overseas security conditions. When conditions in a particular country pose a "significant risk to the well-being of travelers," the State Department issues a travel advisory to alert the American public to the possible danger.

At present there are 50 travel advisories in effect. Of those, only six warn against all travel to such troubled nations as Afghanistan and Lebanon. The rest contain specific and very practical advice to help travelers go where they want to go...while steering clear of trouble. Visitors to Peru, for example, are told to stay away from the central Andean region and avoid traveling by public bus. Those going to Kenya are cautioned to employ responsible safari guides when visiting wild game areas.

Too few travelers know how easy it is to obtain this professional, authoritative advice—for free or almost free. First, your neighborhood travel agent can access the appropriate advisory, should one exist, via the computer reservation system he or she uses to plan your itinerary and reserve your ticket. Second, all travel advisories are available from the 13 regional passport agencies in major U.S. cities. Last, but perhaps most convenient, you can listen to a recording of any travel advisory—or have it sent to you in print—by calling the State Department at (202) 647-5225.

ELECTRICITY. HANDLE WITH CARE

Replace with a bulb of the correct type and wattage. (If you do not know the correct wattage, use a bulb no larger than 60 watts.) A bulb of too high wattage or the wrong type may lead to fire through overheating. Ceiling fixtures, recessed lights, and "hooded" lamps will trap heat.

State programs encourage longer snowmobile travel

Snowmobilers can gear up for longer treks through state and federal forests this winter, thanks to a Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) program expected to provide continuous grooming trails from mid-Michigan to the Upper Peninsula border with Wisconsin by 1990, AAA Michigan reports.

The DNR is constructing connectors that link two or more existing trails to provide long-distance sledding throughout the state. For example, a recently completed 15-mile trail in Marquette County links two existing tracks to form a continuous route between Munising and Marquette.

In the Lower Peninsula, a new 40-mile connector along the western shoreline of Grand Traverse Bay helps form a trail from the tip of the Leelanau Peninsula to Cadillac. And a new 24-mile trail makes continuous snowmobile travel possible between Petoskey and Mackinac City.

In addition, the Mackinac Bridge Authority intends to spur long-distance snowmobile travel between the two peninsulas by providing transportation for riders and their vehicles across the five-mile strait. Four vehicles per trip can be shuttled for $1 per snowmobile each way. To arrange the service, call (906) 643-7600 at least an hour before arriving at the bridge.

Between the two peninsulas, there are more than 5,000 miles of public trails. These trails are included in AAA Michigan's 1989-90 Snowmobile Guide. Officials estimate 90 percent of the trails in state parks and forests will be groomed with funds from a $5 million state maintenance and capital improvement program approved by the Legislature last year.

Last winter there were 205,000 snowmobiles registered in Michigan. With the National Weather Service predicting above-average snowfall throughout Michigan at the start of the season, up to 20,000 machines may come out of storage. These vehicles were mothballed last season due to a lack of snow in the Lower Peninsula.

Weather permitting, snowmobiling usually begins Dec. 1 in the U.P. and two weeks later in the Lower Peninsula. Snowmobiles must be registered if operated on public land. A three-year permit costs $15. A minimum four-inch base is required for snowmobiling.

DNR conservation officers, augmented by state, county and local law enforcement units, will again patrol trails. About 1,000 citations were issued last season for unregistered snowmobiles on public land.

Last winter, 15 persons were killed in 14 snowmobile accidents, compared with 16 the previous year. To make snowmobiling safer, AAA Michigan recommends riders:

Lowell Fire Station project near completion

Lowell's new five stall (10-vehicles) $500,000 station is scheduled to be completed by the end of January.

The new fire station will be filled with perks not currently enjoyed. There will be a workshop for equipment maintenance. There will be storage, an updated hose tower for drying the fire hoses, overhead filling stations, space for ambulance, sleeping quarters for the crew and a 60-person community meeting room which will give the fire department a permanent place for training.

The training will enable volunteers to respond to operations which may include fires, hazardous materials, rescues, water rescues, emergency medical training, use of the extraction tool and search and rescue. The new station will also serve as a command post of operations for natural disaster situations.

According to Siciliano, the station is a foot above the 100 year flood plain.

In due time the fire station will also have control of the Hudson St./Main St. traffic light.

Although its location has come under scrutiny, Lowell Fire Chief, Frank Martin says the station is now centrally located.

Ron Anderson, J.W.K. Construction, far left, stands with Lowell City Manager, Dave Pasquale; Lowell Fire Chief, Frank Martin; and Department of Public Works Director, Tony Siciliano in front of the new Lowell Fire Station. The $500,000 structure is expected to be completed by the end of January.

The balance will be paid over a five-year plan. The construction of the Fire Station is being done by J.W.K. Construction. Landscaping for the fire station will be completed in the spring by Dorrocks Nursery out of Lonia.

Work still to be completed over the next month includes the garage area, the ceiling work, the installation of the heating unit, the water lines for the apparatus room, interior painting, installation of ceilings, installation of floor-

Department of Public Works Supervisor, Tony Siciliano says the new fire station will help meet the "growing pains" of the Lowell Fire Department and its technology.

"The railroad tracks have never been a problem. There are several ways to get around. The response time would not vary a whole lot. Even when the bridge was out, our response time was not affected enough to make a difference."

Kimble honored as Lowell's "Rescue Person of the Year"

Lowell's Bryan Kimble was both surprised and honored after being named the recipient of Lowell Rescue's 1989 "Rescue Person of the Year."

Kimble is the second to have the honor bestowed upon him. Last year Paul Roderick was given the honor.

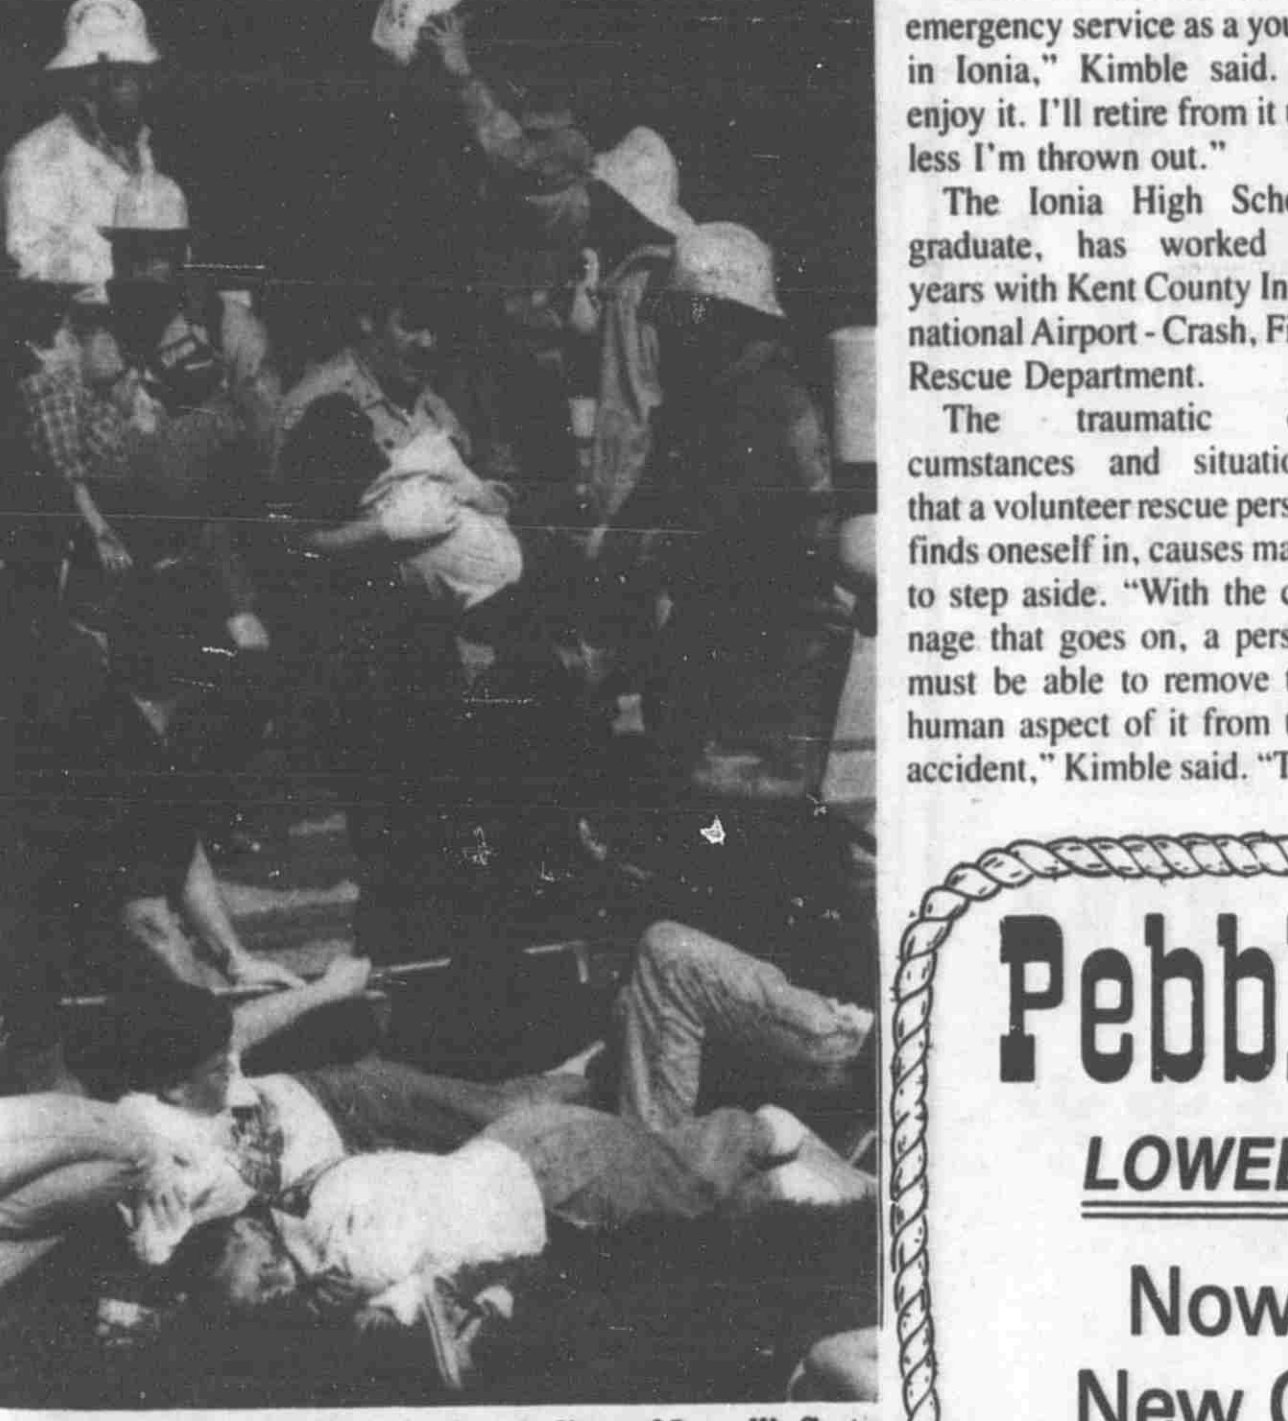

Kimble first joined Lowell

Rescue in 1981. He has been a rescue person from '81 until 1985. Four years ago (1985), Kimble became a lieutenant. This past year he has served as captain.

"I first became involved in emergency service as a youth in Ionia," Kimble said. "I enjoy it. I'll retire from it unless I'm thrown out."

The Ionia High School graduate, has worked 11 years with Kent County International Airport - Crash, Fire, Rescue Department.

The traumatic circumstances and situations that a volunteer rescue person finds oneself in, causes many to step aside. "With the carnage that goes on, a person must be able to remove the human aspect of it from the accident," Kimble said. "The most difficult part of rescue for me, is the unknown rescue because you're not sure what you will find once on the scene. those can be horrifying."

Kimble, center holding child, coordinated Lowell's first disaster drill in April of 1989. The drill called "Operation St. Mary's" took place at St. Mary's School with a mock explosion involving multiple victims. The drill was the first of its kind in the Lowell area.

The volunteers are trained so well as to what to concentrate on once at the scene, rescue personnel don't have time to concentrate on or realize the scope of the trauma and/or tragedy. "When I first started, I was called on a few fatalities. At that time I questioned whether I wanted to continue on rescue. I've continued because I enjoy helping people who need help the most."

Lowell Rescue's award is given in an effort to say thanks to one of its members for the dedication, and for the amount of personal time given to rescue. Lowell rescue volunteers must be willing to sacrifice their own time, detach oneself from the trauma, and remain updated on new medical techniques. As a captain, Kimble is to oversee what goes on in the emergency, and to make sure equipment is replenished. "I have highly trained people working with me. These people do their jobs well. It's a team effort - it must be. All the volunteers are deserving of this award," Kimble says. Currently, there are 18 volunteer rescue personnel.

Healthy Lifestyle Trends:

Americans rate drinking water quality as important to diet as low cholesterol and high fiber

Most people think quality drinking water is just as important in maintaining their family's health and well-being as other more highly publicized diet practices, such as lower cholesterol and higher fiber intake, according to a new study.

Seventy percent of those polled said that the consumption of clean, quality water is essential in maintaining a healthy diet compared with common practices like lowering cholesterol (55 percent), lowering fat intake (52 percent), eating foods high in fiber (52 percent), and lowering sodium consumption (42 percent).

The findings are contained in a survey of 1,001 households nationwide conducted by market research firm R.H.

Bruskin Associates for Culligan International Company. The study was aimed at determining the public's level of concern, attitudes and knowledge about drinking water quality.

Sixty-nine percent of those polled voiced concern about their household drinking water quality. Many of those worried cited water pollution and environmental land contamination as factors behind water quality problems. Overall family health and safety also surfaced as an underlying concern.

This trend is closely supported by a May 1989 Issue Watch study, conducted by Opinion Research Corporation (ORC), which found that as many as four out of five of those polled are anxious about the quality of their water.

When asked who should take responsibility for maintaining drinking water quality, seventy-five percent of the respondents to the Culligan survey pointed to the government. Half mentioned state or local government. One-quarter responded that the federal government should be responsible for overall water quality.

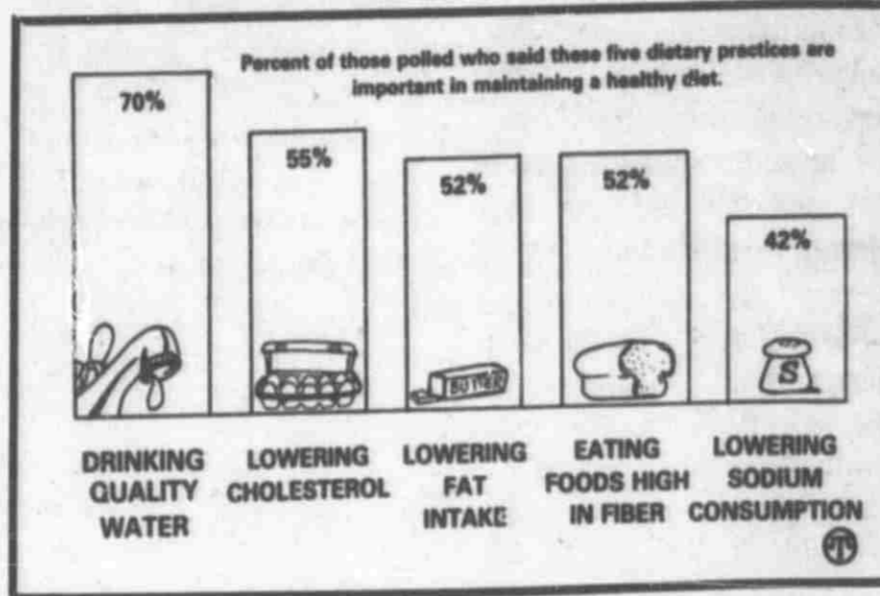

The respondents' desire for government intervention may explain the fact that, despite a growing uneasiness, nearly two-thirds have yet to take specific steps to safeguard their family's drinking water supply.

Nearly one-half of the respondents were unable to name specific substances that may affect water quality. Also, opinions varied widely on possible impurities. However, when presented with a list of contaminants, including oil, gasoline, lead, fertilizer and pesticide, the majority realized that they had heard of those contaminants.

"The findings of this study reveal a need for increased awareness and education about the quality of home drinking water, what it means to your family and the solutions available to combat potential water quality problems," says Don Mahlstedt, Culligan vice president of household marketing.

In general, women seem to be more concerned with water quality than men. However, men indicate more knowledge of specific impurities in drinking water. Yet, fully one-quarter of those polled did not know where to go to find someone to test their drinking water.

"Information is needed on how people can get their water tested through consulting a laboratory or water treatment professional listed in the Yellow Pages," says Barbara Liukkonen, water issues specialist for Culligan. "Individuals can have at hand simple, effective measures to help protect their family's health right now. They needn't wait for more stringent government regulations."

Homeowners can get free information on a number of water issues and the name of a local dealer who can arrange for water testing by calling the toll free WaterWatch Hotline at 1-800-792-0092.

Red Arrow grapplers secure Grandville Invitational

Lowell knocks off Grandville, Sparta & Lansing Eastern in team tourney

Lowell's varsity wrestling team ended the decade of the 80's in majestic fashion, winning its second consecutive Grandville Invitational.

The tournament, which in the past has been an individual, was changed to a team format. "Prior to the season I was disappointed because I felt we had five wrestlers who could have done well in an individual tournament," Rivers said. "He's filled a void for us."

Instead, Lowell's Coach had to settle for another Invitational Championship. Rivers has said throughout the start of the wrestling season, that he doesn't know what to expect from the 1989-90 squad. Following the Grandville victory, that changed to "We're right where we want to be (8-0) and maybe a little ahead at this point."

The Red Arrows drew into the toughest bracket of the eight-team tourney. A championship would only come if it could beat Grandville, Sparta and Lansing Eastern. Lowell did just that in systematic fashion 36-24, 38-28 and 33-28 respectively. Leading the charge with victories in each of the three matches were sophomore Dave Stouffer, Rob McGee, and Nate Nauta.

Stouffer, 13-1 on the year, posted a second-period pin against Grandville in the opening match against Grandville; a first-period pin against Sparta; and a second-period pin in the title match against Lansing Eastern. "Stouffer is doing better than I anticipated. He only wrestled in one varsity match a year ago and lost," Rivers said. "He's filled a void for us."

McGee, 13-3 in 1989-90, was as impressive. The Arrow recorded a first-period pin against Grandville; he came off the mat with a pin in the second period against Sparta; and in the championship match against Lansing Eastern, he notched another first-period pin.

"McGee wrestled a lot at heavyweight last year, but he's better built for 189," Rivers said. "He wrestled well at Grandville."

Nauta, 13-1 this season, while not posting any pins was every bit as impressive with a 9-2 victory against Grandville; a 14-1 win over his Spartan counterpart; and a 23-6 win against Eastern.

"Nauta has always had the ability. This year he's wrestling at a lighter weight and it seems to be making a difference," Rivers said.

Completing the day at 2-1 was Rich Depew. The Red Arrow posted victories in his first two matches before losing in the Lansing Eastern title match.

At 160 pounds, Joe Depew also finished at 2-1. He won a 5-2 decision against Grandville; was pinned in the first period against Sparta and recorded a first-period pin against Lansing Eastern.

Scott Nagy wrestling at 112 pounds earned a third-period in the opener against Grandville and won an 11-3 decision against Eastern. The senior did not wrestle against Sparta.

Providing a lift at 103 pounds was Chad Chertos. He posted a third-period pin against Sparta and an exciting 16-11 decision in the championship match.

Jeff Hoffman, 140 pounds, lost his first match by way of a 13-10 decision, but bounced back with a first-period pin against Sparta and then ended the day with a 4-2 decision. John Rupp charted two victories to go against just one defeat. He posted a pin against Grandville, a 7-0 decision against Sparta before losing a 15-3 decision against Lansing Everett.

"It was a strong team performance," said an elated Rivers.

Lowell nets season's first victory Holtz & Adams lead Arrows to 16-point win

It was an inauspicious beginning, but the ending was timely, as Lowell's boys' basketball team earned a 62-46 win over Forest Hills Northern.

Good things come to those who wait. Well, the Red Arrows got tired of waiting and went out and won their first game of the year against the O-7 Huskies.

"I'm happy for the boys. They've worked hard all year, but have been coming up short. Tonight their work paid off," Lowell Coach Mark Thomas said.

Lowell entered the game at 0-5, and if that wasn't bad enough the Arrows found themselves trailing 2-0 before the first ball was tossed or before a second was ticked off the clock. It also lost its starting center, Steve Malone to an ankle sprain in the pre-game warmups.

Lowell's Jim Bowen was called for a technical in warmups for forcing the ball through the cylinder. Thomas laughed, "I don't have a guy on this team that can dunk the basketball."

Despite being down before getting started, Lowell traded baskets up until the 6:53 marker of the second quarter. Trailing by two, 17-15, the Arrows went on a 9-0 run, building a 24-17 lead. The advantage would never dip below four the rest of the contest.

"We did a good job of clearing out on the boards and getting out and running the floor," Thomas said. "When we do that we're able to create problems for our opponent."

Lowell led 32-28 at halftime, but their full-court man-to-man pressure and quickness wore the Huskies down in the second half, most noticeably in the third quarter.

Ryan Brinks puts up a baseline jumper against the Huskies. Lowell won the contest 62-46.

Basketball, continued

ter. Lowell outscored FHN 18-8 in the third stanza.

"I was pleased with the way we held our composure late in the game. Having a lead gave me an opportunity to play more people," Thomas said.

The Lowell Coach was pleased with the efforts he received from Ryan Brinks and Bowen off the bench. "Brinks is gaining confidence and Bowen did a nice job on the boards."

Thomas' counterpart, FHN Coach Jeff Hartel, in his first year, is playing people who have little or no varsity experience. In his opening varsity season he has taken his lumps.

"We're improving. We were in the game for once," he says. "Our day is coming." Senior Ryan Holtz again led all Lowell scorers with 23. "He has consistently put in over 20 points a game for us."

Fellow senior, Bob Adams has also been a key offensive contributor. "Adams is much more comfortable this year on the offensive end," Thomas says. Thomas netted 14 points. John Borg and Todd Phillips each netted 7 points apiece.

Forest Hills Northern was led with a club-high 15 points from Dan Berg. Scott Savin contributed with eight.

Lowell plays host to Northview on Friday.

Lowell City Council Proceedings

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS of the CITY COUNCIL of the CITY OF LOWELL, MICHIGAN

For the Regular Meeting of Monday, December 18, 1989.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by Mayor Maatman.

The Pledge of Allegiance was recited and the Clerk called the roll.

PRESENT: Councilmembers Doyle, Hodges, Fonger, Thompson, and Mayor Maatman.
ABSENT: None.

IT WAS MOVED by Thompson and seconded by Doyle that the minutes of the December 4, 1989 meeting be approved as written.
YEA: 5.
NAY: 0.

ABSENT: 0.
MOTION CARRIED.

IT WAS MOVED by Doyle and seconded by Fonger that the bills and accounts payable be allowed and warrants issued.

YEA: Councilmembers Doyle, Hodges, Fonger, Thompson, and Mayor Maatman.
NAY: 0.

Item No. 1. ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS.
A. 306 E. MAIN (SOUTHEAST CORNER OF E. MAIN AND MONROE) LOWELL GRANITE COMPANY SETBACK, PARKING AND LOADING AREA VARIANCE - PUBLIC HEARING. Mark Scobell, architect from Dan Vos Construction on behalf of the Lowell Granite Company, stated that a 24' x 65' addition to the rear of the Lowell Granite building has been proposed. The following variances were needed: (1) rear yard setback 25' required, 0' provided, (2) side yard setbacks, 50' (west) required, 20' (east) required, 0' provided to both side yards, (3) a loading area should not face, or be visible from the frontage street. With the proposed area off Monroe, a variance is needed and (4) the site requires 19 paved parking spaces. A waiver of this requirement was requested because the customer traffic is small and an area across Monroe is available if needed. There were no public comments regarding the petition.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Fonger to grant Lowell Granite Company (306 E. Main) the following variances: rear and side yard setbacks providing a zero lot line and waive the provisions requiring a loading area not to face or be visible from a frontage street and off street parking for the 24' x 65' addition.

Item No. 2. LOWELL AREA SCHOOLS AND THE KENT INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL DISTRICT-COLLECTION OF SUMMER TAXES FOR 1990. The Lowell Board of Education and Kent Intermediate School District had requested that the City collect each district's summer property taxes. As part of a continuing resolution, the City collects the school's property taxes at no fee but is able to keep the interest earned during bank deposit before distributing these monies to the Schools. At the December 4 meeting, a question arose from Council whether the townships charge fees for collection.

It was noted that Lowell and Vergennes townships charge a fee. But these are the only taxes collected for the summer. Thus, an additional burden has been placed on them. The City already has collected taxes during the summer. The extra work needed to collect the school's taxes is compensated by the interest.

IT WAS MOVED by Thompson and seconded by Hodges to approve the resolutions to collect the school district's summer taxes, ratifying the established policy between the City and the Lowell Area Schools and Intermediate School District.
YEA: 5.
NAY: 0.
ABSENT: 0.
MOTION CARRIED.

Item No. 3. REQUEST FOR LEACHATE DISPOSAL TO THE WASTEWATER TREATMENT PLANT FROM PITSCH SANITARY LANDFILL. Gary Pitsch Pitsch Sanitary Landfill (Orleans Township, Ionia County) had requested to dispose leachate (storm water which filters through the landfill) at the City's wastewater treatment plant during the months of December to March. He stated that the City of Belding had been allowing them to haul the leachate into their facility. But, Pitsch is restricted to hauling only when their lagoons do not freeze over. It was further mentioned that Grand Rapids Wastewater Treatment Plant took the leachate last winter. Pitsch was restricted to that one season since the landfill was out of Grand Rapids service area. Since Dennis Goodsell, the City's solid waste contractor utilizes that landfill, it was recommended by staff that Pitsch be allowed usage of the plant for leachate disposal during this winter (1989-90) on a trial basis. The following contingencies were proposed:

- charge a flat fee of $100 per load which also covers the cost of lab tests
- limit to 50,000 gallons of leachate per month
- have an agreement spelling out bill calculations and immediate discontinuance if any adverse impact is discovered.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Fonger to allow Pitsch Sanitary Landfill to dispose of its leachate at the Wastewater Treatment Plant on a trial basis this year from December 1989 to March 1990 with conditions as proposed.
YEA: 4 (Doyle, Hodges, Fonger and Maatman).
NAY: 1 (Thompson)
ABSENT: 0.
MOTION CARRIED.

Item No. 4. COMPLIANCE PROGRAM FOR UNDERGROUND STORAGE TANKS. City Manager Pasquale said that Federal and State regulations necessitate a strong scrutiny of all underground fuel tanks. The City has three underground tanks behind the DPW garage that need an evaluation and a program to insure compliance. This will determine whether to upgrade the existing tanks or remove and replace. It was recommended that the City enter into a contract with Williams and Works to carry out this project for $2,500.

IT WAS MOVED by Thompson and seconded by Hodges to award contract to Williams and Works to evaluate the underground storage tanks behind the DPW garage to insure compliance with Federal and State regulations for $2,500.

Item No. 5. CONSUMERS POWER GAS FRANCHISE ORDINANCE - PUBLIC HEARING. The current gas franchise with Consumers Power expired on November 12, 1989. A new thirty-year agreement for franchise renewal has been proposed for ordinance adoption. The ordinance format was reviewed and approved by City Attorney Richard Wendt. There were no public comments received regarding this ordinance.

IT WAS MOVED by Fonger and seconded by Doyle to adopt the ordinance extending the Consumers Power gas franchise thirty years.
YEA: 5.
NAY: 0.
ABSENT: 0.
MOTION CARRIED.

Item No. 6. JUNK VEHICLE ORDINANCE - SET PUBLIC HEARING (1/2). Chief of Police Emmons stated that problems have arisen concerning the enforcing of junk vehicles and storage. A new ordinance was written by the City Attorney which remedies the problems experienced by the existing statute. The proposed ordinance prohibits the keeping of dismantled, partially dismantled or inoperable motor vehicles, boats, machinery, equipment or parts on any parcel of property within the City except where it is allowed by the zoning ordinance. An exception is also made where such equipment is kept entirely within an enclosed building.

IT WAS MOVED by Fonger and seconded by Doyle to set a public hearing for January 2, 1990 for consideration of the proposed Junk Vehicle Ordinance.
YEA: 5.
NAY: 0.
ABSENT: 0.
MOTION CARRIED.

Item No. 7. LOCATION OF THE LIGHT AND POWER SUBSTATION AT STONEY LAKESIDE PARK. At its January 16, 1989 meeting, the Council granted Light and Power the right to reserve a 45' x 55' parcel at Stoney Lakeside Park to construct a substation. The land would be adjacent to the Bowes Road right-of-way at no compensation involved. It was brought to the Council's attention that the site was moved back 55' from the right-of-way line.

In response to the action, the Parks and Recreation Commission at its December 9 meeting proposed that changes should occur in the landscaping and provision for installation of a locking gate along the fence line and pavement of the service drive because it would be impractical to move the substation. The consensus of the Council was to have a letter from the City Manager explaining what happened and who is responsible for the error. Then they will further discuss what action to take.

Item No. 8. REPORT FROM THE LOCAL ELECTED OFFICERS COMPENSATION COMMISSION. The Compensation Commission met on December 11, 1989 to consider any adjustments in Mayor and Council's salary as must be done every two years. The Commission recommends no changes at this time, (currently $20 per meeting to a maximum of $500 for Councilmember and $25 per meeting to a maximum of $600 for Mayor).

Item No. 9. APPROVAL OF 1990 CITY COUNCIL MEETING DATES. The Council reviewed the proposed list of 1990 meeting dates. As established, the first and third Mondays have been scheduled each month for meetings. When holidays occur on Monday, the meeting would be set for Tuesday.

IT WAS MOVED by Fonger and seconded by Hodges to approve the 1990 City Council meeting dates as proposed.
YEA: 5.
NAY: 0.
ABSENT: 0.
MOTION CARRIED.

Item No. 10. MONTHLY REPORTS. No comments were received from materials presented.

Item No. 11. CITIZENS COMMENTS. None.

Item No. 12. COUNCIL COMMENTS. Councilmember Fonger stated that the handicapped sign in the parking lot by the Rescue Barn is too high. It would not be noticed until the driver is out of the vehicle. DPW Director Siciliano said that the sign will be adjusted. Councilmember Doyle questioned if parking on the south side of M-21 between Jackson and Division is allowed. Chief of Police Emmons stated that there was no parking there during the construction of the Hudson Street bridge. Further he mentioned that this would be investigated whether parking should be limited. Mayor Maatman stated that several trucks are using Chatham Street, where such traffic is prohibited.

Item No. 13. MANAGER'S REPORT. City Manager Pasquale reported on the following:

1. The State Boundary Commission ruled on December 5 that the annexation petition from Attwood (a 20 acre parcel north of the plant) to be technically sufficient. A Boundary Commission public hearing has been scheduled for April 24, 1990 at 1:30 p.m. in Lowell.
2. Roger Morgan stated that the Frey Foundation of Grand Rapids has granted $5,000 toward construction costs of the Lowell Ambulance's share of the Fire Station. So far, the following has been pledged toward the

$35,000 cost:

Steelcase	$15,00 challenge (if $20,000 is matched)
Rotary Club	$1,000
Little Caesars	$1,000
Trash bag fundraiser	$2,500
Thus,	$10,500 still needs to be raised

3. Utility Contracting will be installing conduits and cable for Michigan Bell during the coming weeks in the City. Equipment will be stored on Tom Nagy's property (E. Main).

4. City Hall will be closed on Friday, December 22 and Monday, December 25 for Christmas.

5. The Light and Power and Cable TV Board minutes were enclosed.

6. The monthly budget report was presented at the Council meeting.

7. John Dubridge had contracted for installation 600 feet of water and sewer mains from Ridgeview Drive east to the Lowell Car Wash in 1987. Under an agreement with the City, he would be reimbursed his costs per front foot as the vacant land is developed.

It was noticed that 478.35 feet of assessable frontage existed, with the remaining 21.65 feet in the public right-of-way and the City's cost. Thus, the City would reimburse Mr. Dubridge $1,316.53 ($60.81 per lineal foot). The Council concurred with this action.

8. On December 18, 1989 a meeting was held with the City and Lowell Township officials to discuss the Township sewer billings.

Item No. 14. APPOINTMENTS. Robert Christiansen (2535 Gee Dr.) had verbally resigned his position on the Board of Light and Power during the Board's November 13 meeting. Ray Quada (517 N. Hudson) expressed interest in serving on the Board.

IT WAS MOVED By Doyle and seconded by Hodges to appoint Ray Quada to the Lowell Light and Power Board for the remainder of Robert Christiansen's term that expires June, 1990.

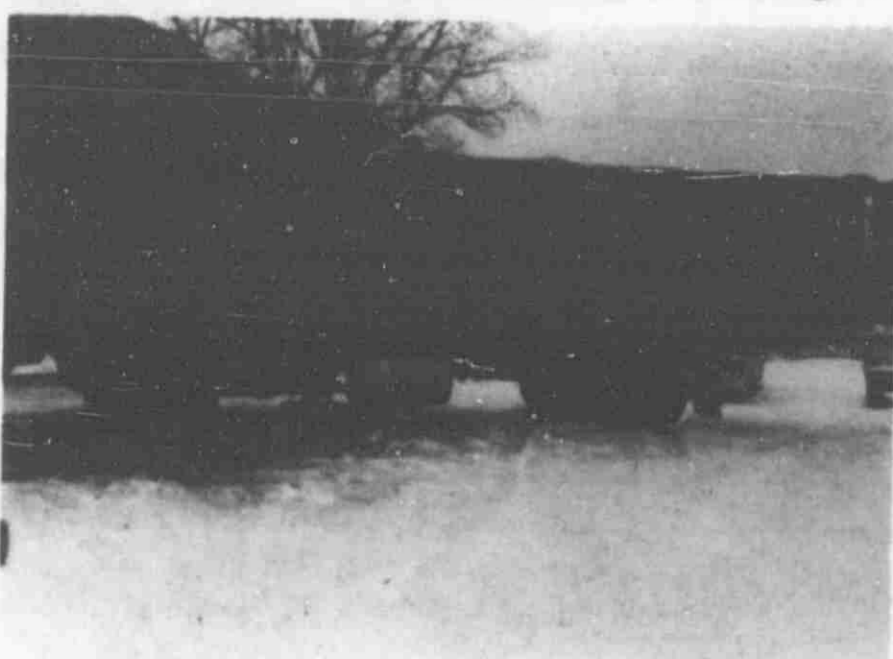

YEA: 5.
NAY: 0.
ABSENT: 0.

IT WAS MOVED by Doyle to adjourn at 8:35 p.m.

Approved: January 2, 1990

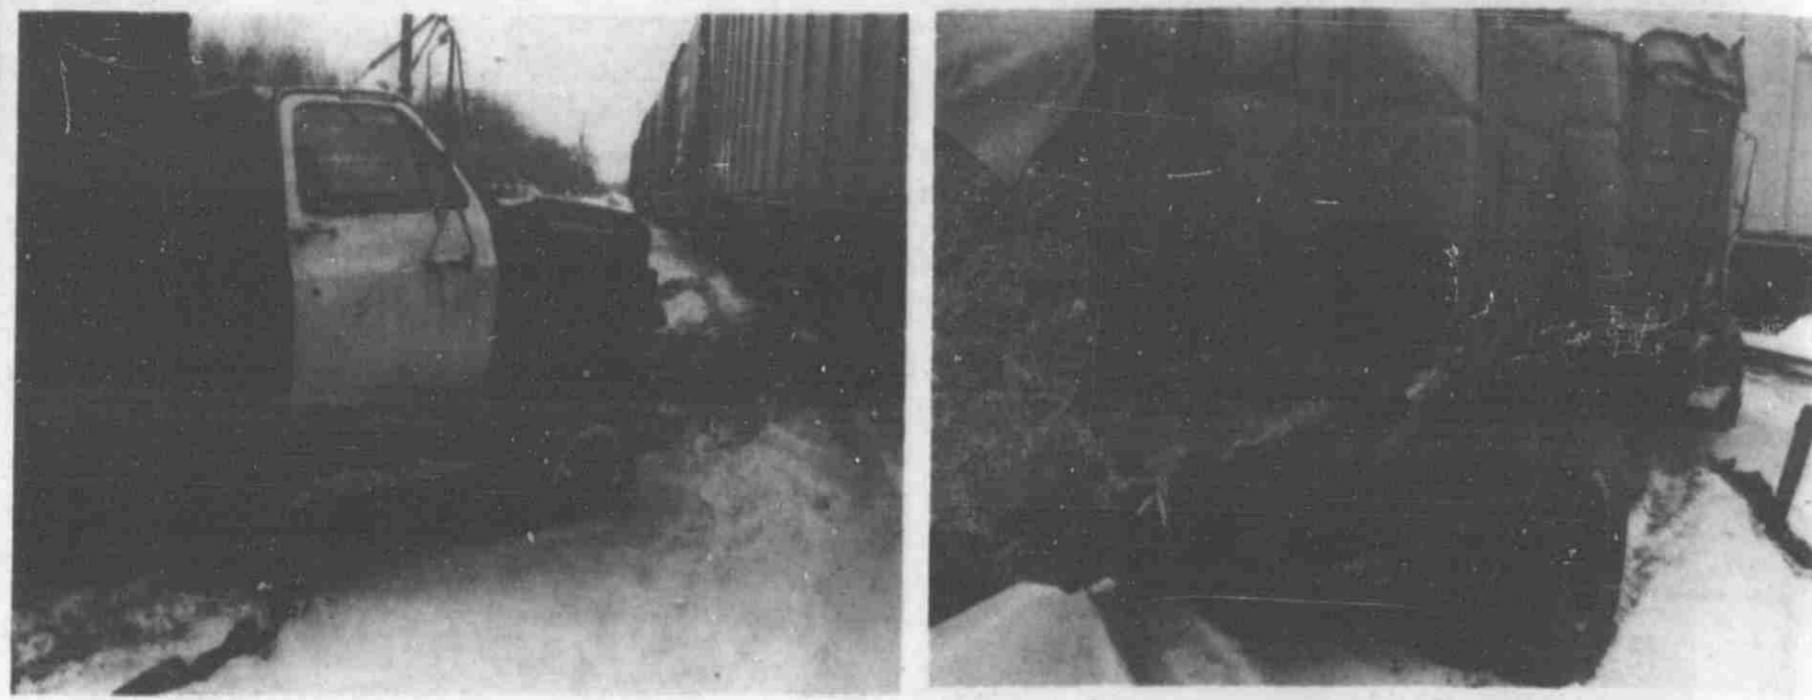

James D. Maatman, Mayor
David M. Pasquale, City Clerk

Clare Eash, 76, of Freeport, was north-bound on Alden Nash, on Thursday, Dec. 28, when the brakes of his 1975 pickup truck failed as he was approaching the tracks north of Grand River Drive.

No injuries in train/truck accident

Eash swerved to avoid a vehicle stopped for a train, and attempted to get across the tracks, avoiding the train traveling at 15-20 miles an hour. The dump truck loaded with six tons of shredded bark did not make it. The west-bound train struck the right rear corner of the truck, spinning it around and off the track. No injuries were incurred. Eash was cited for defective equipment and violation of the basic speed, according to the Lowell Police report.

Elzinga is leaving FMB for Caledonia State Bank

Bob Elzinga, Executive Vice President and Cashier at FMB State Savings Bank, announced on Wednesday, Dec. 27 that he'll be leaving FMB

FMB State Savings Bank of Lowell will be losing its Vice President and Cashier, Bob Elzinga come Jan. 19. Elzinga will leave the local bank to fill the Senior Vice President position at Caledonia State Bank.

ing FMB, is that the philosophies and decision making process of Caledonia State Bank, is controlled from within the institution," Elzinga said.

The 1965 Lowell graduate has been with FMB since 1975. He worked four years under the title of Vice President and Cashier; and has been Executive Vice President and Cashier for the past six years.

"I'm proud of the fact that when I arrived here at FMB 14 years ago the total assets were at $25 million. Today, the assets total stands at roughly $85 million," Elzinga says.

Elzinga draws parallels between Caledonia and Lowell. "Caledonia is primarily a rural, agricultural community. Both towns are in close proximity to Grand Rapids, which has brought about rapid new housing and business in both communities," he says.

The Lowell native would like to remain in the school district until his children graduate, but move closer to Caledonia. Elzinga is currently a

CARD OF THANKS

"THANKS" I would like to say "THANKS" to everyone who stopped by and for the cookies, candy, coffee and cards given to "Santa" and to whoever left the pictures. It was a great experience to be "Santa" Also, my wife and I greatly appreciate the concern from so many with regards to the trouble we had, but all three times the damage was taken care of because we get so much out of the lights.

Sincerely,
John Erickson

New Help For Heart Attacks

There's new hope for the 1.5 million Americans who will have a heart attack this year. Many will follow a program of cardiovascular protection—that is, they'll go on a diet, quit smoking and/or take medication to protect the heart from cardiovascular disease.

Recently the drug most frequently used to treat high blood pressure, hypertension and angina, has proved to help save lives during and after heart attacks.

During a heart attack, blood flow to the heart is drastically reduced because of an obstruction and heart muscle cells don't get enough oxygen. However, when early treatment includes a beta blocker such as atenolol, known as TENORMIN®, possible damage to the heart muscle may be averted since the heart slows its work, the beat is reduced and less oxygen is needed. Studies show TENORMIN has been proven among the most effective beta blockers in providing cardiovascular protection. A major research study involving over 16,000 people supported using TENORMIN in the first 12 hours after a heart attack. Deaths were reduced by 15 percent during the first week.

Medicines known as beta blockers offer heart patients added cardiovascular protection.

Remember: early detection and treatment save lives. If you think you're having a heart attack, or are with someone who is, get medical attention immediately.
