Keech enters plea of guilty to 2nd degree murder in boy's death

Charles Edward Keech, a 34-year old Lowell man, entered the plea of guilty to the charge of second degree murder in the Aug. 11, 1989 death of five-year old boy David Dickerson in exchange for the prosecutor's recommendation that Circuit Judge Charles Simon Jr. stay within the five-state's sentencing guidelines, which call for a minimum sentence of 4 to 15 years, according to Ionia County Prosecutor Gary Gabry.

The prosecutor added that sentencing will be in six to eight weeks.

Gabry said that some people feel that 12½ years is far too short. "I didn't feel we were giving away anything. The public tends to minimize the impact of 15 years. Fifteen years is a long time to be locked up if you haven't been locked up before. But when you look at it from the standpoint that a little boy's life is gone, it doesn't seem that long."

Keech was to face trial on Tuesday (Feb 6) on the second-degree murder charge, which carries a maximum penalty of life in prison.

Keech, awaiting trial on the charge, admitted to Ionia Circuit Judge Charles Simon Jr. that on the morning of Aug. 11 he was angry at the young Dickerson boy and shoved him into the bathroom. He then threw David into the tub. The Dickerson boy struck his head. Keech then tried to get the boy to stand up, but Dickerson fell, striking the toilet.

Keech then moved the boy to the couch where he attempted resuscitation efforts.

City awaits approval on matching grant

This drawing shows the lake with its developed shoreline on the north, and the natural, wooded area on the south. The possibilities for development of the lake, river-bank and surrounding woods are many.

Pending final approval from the state, the City of Lowell will receive $47,000 in a matching Recreation Bond Grant.

The money will be used to help assist in the development of Stoney Lakeside Park.

The monies will be provided for establishing a beach area, bath shelter, picnic area and parking lot with access drive.

There is over $57 million requested through the grant process, but only $14.4 million is recommended.

The grant which is a 50-50 match totalling $94,000. To make up the City's local share, the City will seek $27,000 from the Lee Fund (monies distributed by the City) and $20,000 from the LOOK Fund. A recommendation will have to be made to the committee before approval can be granted.

In order to update the park master plan and initiate the construction process, the council agreed to contact Fishbeck, Thompson, Carr and Huber since the firm initiated the project work. The proposal from Fishbeck will total $6,150 to perform these services, coming from the Lee Fund. The landscaping plan proposal would be forwarded to Lowell Light and Power for consideration.

Lowell received letters of support in its effort to make application for funds to provide improvements to Stoney Lakeside Park from State Representative Vic Krause; Lowell Township Supervisor John Timpson and Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce President Denny Thomet.

Lowell City Council approves several items regarding airport

The Lowell City Council approved several items regarding the Lowell Airport at their regular meeting of Monday, February 5. The council members unanimously approved a loan of $8,308.00 to fund the city's portion of a proposed master plan for the airport. The Michigan Bureau of Aeronautics (AERO) proposes to formulate the master plan, using their staff, at a cost of $16,617.00. AERO will fund half the cost. The loan from the city will be paid back from hangar rentals, tie-down fees and fuel sales.

AERO has shown considerable interest in helping to improve the Lowell Airport, but has insisted that a master plan is the first step in any work that they would become involved in. AERO has grant money available to fund most airport improvements on a 50/50 basis. The Lowell Airport Board is interested in improvements such as a paved main runway, paved taxiways, runway lighting and cleaner approaches to the runways. The master plan will determine how and when these types of improvements could be completed.

The council also approved a recommendation by City Manager David Pasquale to establish an enterprise fund for the airport similar to other funds in the city which generate income. Such an account would show revenue and expenses much more clearly than the current system does and the council would get a monthly report similar to the water fund, cemetery fund, etc. The council also agreed to help develop an airport zoning ordinance and airport zoning board in conjunction with Vergennes Township. The primary purpose of the ordinance would be to protect airport approaches from obstruction by development on neighboring property. Pasquale said Lowell Township Supervisor James Cook had expressed endorsement of the idea.

A four place hangar currently owned by Gary Miller will soon become city property under the terms of a 20 year lease between Miller and the city. Following a recommendation by the Airport board, the council opted to set the rent for bays in the hangar at $75 per month, generating $300 per month total. The city recently leased a large maintenance hangar to Tom Speerstra for $350 per month. A new six place hangar on the west side of the field is near completion. The new hangar will generate $560 per month, though much of that income will be needed to pay back a ten year construction loan from the Michigan Bureau of Aeronautics.

Ski survey shows uphill business

Winter's early cold snap and a snowy December helped boost Michigan ski business above last year's mid-season level, prompting many operators to predict a record-breaking season, AAA Michigan reports.

A survey shows 22 of 44 downhill facilities opened in November, compared with five last winter. The greatest area of growth was in southern Michigan. All of the areas surveyed by AAA Michigan reported business increases ranging from five to 150 percent.

This year, if weather allows, Michigan's winter tourism is expected to top $4.1 billion, compared with $3.95 billion the previous year. An anticipated 2 million lift tickets will be sold this season, up from 1.3 million last year.

Business was brisk over the December holidays, when up to half of the season's ski business traditionally takes place. However, January's fluctuating temperatures caused some northern and Upper Peninsula ski operators to view current patronage as just "average," after a strong start.

"The mid-winter thaw hasn't negatively impacted profit, because December revenues--especially during the holidays--were well above recent winters," said AAA Michigan Touring Services Manager Bob Tellier. Tellier noted that many re-

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me (Psalm 66:18).

"Every year I say we're not going to do this," a good-natured lady said as we stood in line waiting to get our license plates.

The wind turned our noses red and made the shivers run up and down our spines. This was the price we were paying for procrastinating. The line grew. While we waited, people grew friendly, chatted, and exchanged good-humored remarks. When a gentleman came up from behind and tried to by-pass us by going directly to the door, we looked after him in wonderment. "Maybe he's the boss," someone said, trying to be funny. But the lady guarding the entrance was adamant. "Go to the end of the line," she ordered. Grumbling, he obeyed; and like the rest of us, he waited until his turn came.

Some people wonder why their prayers aren't answered. There must be a reason. Perhaps they are endeavoring to "cut into the line." Maybe they are trying to use short-cuts. This cannot be done. If one regards iniquity in one's heart, God will not hear that individual's prayers. His ear is turned away. God always listens to the pure in heart, and He always answers. But He allows "no short-cuts."

Prayer: "Let the words of my mouth, and the meditations of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord. Keep me watchful and prayerful and always alert to the enemy. Let me never permit iniquity to find lodging in my heart. Amen."

Oh, watch and fight, and pray: The battle ne'er give o'er; Renew it boldly ev'ry day; And help divine implore. George Heath

cozy corner by Roger Brown

I received a "letter to the editor" last Friday. Well, sort of. It was a large manila envelope containing a cover letter from Alto Elementary second grade teacher Gary Goff, and a brief letter from each of his students. It seems Mr. Goff took notice of the problem I've had the past two weeks in conjuring up material for my column. So, he put his class to the task of giving me a helping hand. To further explain the project, I'll re-print Mr. Goff's cover letter:

Dear Roger,

With all the fuss about aging, writer's block and teenagers, the second graders at Alto thought you might need a little assistance. They figured you have enough ailments, and you shouldn't have to add mental anguish to the list just because the creative juices have temporarily slowed. So next Tuesday morning when you sit down to write your column, relax instead and let these young writers handle your three major dilemmas!

The first batch of letters concerned aging. I pretty thoroughly covered the topic of my fortieth birthday in previous columns, so these letters explain what it's like to be seven or eight years old and in the second grade:

Shelly Van Camp says, "It's fun to be seven years old and spend a lot of time swimming". Danny Landis says, "Eight year olds wish they were nine. When I'm nine I can grow up and babysit myself. Eight year olds get teased a lot about being too little". Amy Osterhaven has this to say about being eight years old, "It's fun and I like it because I can do whatever I want". Nick Bergy says, "Being seven is not fun when I have to do a lot of math". Brad Jackson likes being eight years old because, "You get to go to the second grade. Once we dissected cow's eyes. You can ride your bike to school". Cherie Gillman isn't sure about being seven. She says, "I go to bed at eight o'clock. I have lots of homework. I read a lot. I draw a lot". Katie Balaam says this about being seven, "My sister is a pest. We eat good food. We have good parents. We get to play games". Shauna Nighsonger lists several things she likes about being eight and sums it up with, "It is very fun being eight years old". To Rebecca Brander being eight means, "I do like school. I don't like the bus. I can do my work faster". And finally, Megan Mendez says, "It's fun to be seven years old. We like to act cool. We like new kids on the block. We like to chase boys".

I have also written to some extent about the trials and tribulations involved with raising teenagers. Some of the second graders offered suggestions as to how I should deal with them. Here goes:

THE FEAST OF HEARTS

I wondered what was in the little box that the postman dropped off. I knew it was from a friend; the one who has a special touch for "making a difference" and that in itself made me unwrap the package more quickly.

I drew from the box a tin box. I looked at it with disbelief--wondering how she always found just the right gift. The memories poured from my mind into my heart, as I turned the gift around in my hands. The cream colored container had blue edging around each side and in the middle of each was a symbol of remembrance.

My friend and I had taken a writing class together at Emeritus of Aquinas College in Grand Rapids. Our teacher was one of those special instructors that you know you'll never forget. She was quiet, poised, refreshingly humble and so gifted in her teaching that you would never know about her twin gift of poetry, unless someone told you that she was a published poet. She seldom mentioned her work. She pulled from each of us a special memory that we in turn wrote about. Later, we shared our experiences by reading aloud our papers. It was an exceptional class, and the offerings shared only served to strengthen the bond we had so quickly established. This doesn't happen in every class, as most teachers know, but the experience for the teacher and the class is always an elegant keeping.

As this is the month of the "feast of hearts," Valentine's Day, perhaps you might want to try your hand at making a remembrance - a memorable gift to someone that you care for. Something uniquely you. Happy Feast of Hearts to you all.

THE COMMON COLD - HELPFUL HINTS

We are currently in the middle of the cough, cold and flu season. The vast majority of individuals suffering from Dennis Smith says, "You can yell at them if they pick on little kids. If they are good for a month you can take them out to lunch". Denny McClure says, "Make them go to bed at 6:00 until they are good". Nicole DeVries suggests, "Do not let them go out when they're not done with their homework. If they are punished and sneak out then punish them longer". Elizabeth Roudabush offers, "If your teenagers are not behaving and if your teenagers love talking on the phone and they love boys then ground them from that". Bob Shindorf says, "If they get four F's on their report card send a note to their boyfriend or girlfriend". Steve Adams says, "Wake them up at 9 o'clock and make sure they eat healthy foods". Jim Shutte says, "You ought to get them a job. Tell the job manager to not let them have a day off". Ben Kaeb says, "If you have problems with hair spray, don't buy any more until they use it up". Jessica Peasley says, "Tell them to do certain chores and let them go out three times a week". And finally, David Korb says, "Ask them to behave and then pay them three dollars a week".

The last group of students tackled the problem of my frequent writer's block, and suggested these topics:

Tashia Shattuck suggests, "Write about your mom when she was little, and your dad". Danny Burton says, "Write about the scores of sports or poems. Write nice things. Don't write bad things. You can write about what you do". Stephanie Ellison says, "You could write about you. Or you could write about your house so people would know what it looks like. You could write some jokes". Ian Corey says I should write about, "Places that need help, like high schools with the cooking". And last but not least, Nicki Deters says, "You could write about the McDonald's in Russia because it is the first one they opened and everyone in Russia is going there".

A big, "Thanks" and a tip of the hat goes out to Mr. Goff and his second graders for getting me through another Tuesday morning.

On top of the tin box was the letter A and an apple painted close to it. B was in another square with a bear snuggled to the side of it. A white cat sat in the middle of the letter C. A note enclosed explained the last square -- a large heart: "H is for heart, mine missing yours." We are both busy with our homes, husband, children and grandchildren, but there are times we work on just being friends. Her work is one of elegance in the small gifts of the heart. I turned the box over in my hand and remembered the poem I had written:

First Grade Playmates
A (I know is for apple)
B (of course, is for ball)
C (my cat belongs here)

Over and over and over again,
My fingers pressed their shapes onto the lined paper.
Letter perfect - and when it wasn't,
I cried-
and crumbled the paper only to begin again.

A (I know is for apple)
B (of course, is for ball)
C (my cat belongs here)

And on where forever in black and white stripes the last letter stood, victoriously -
Z is for Zebra (The End).

I wrote them.
I sang them.
We played together -
The alphabet and I.

As this is the month of the "feast of hearts," Valentine's Day, perhaps you might want to try your hand at making a remembrance - a memorable gift to someone that you care for. Something uniquely you. Happy Feast of Hearts to you all.

These syndromes have been affected by viruses. The dilemma facing both patients and physicians alike is "does this infection require more attention than just home remedies?" Today's article touches on both prevention and treatment of common upper respiratory tract infections.

Many "colds" are accompanied by fever, especially in children. Fever is an excellent immune response to infection - in other words, it's the body's way of "ventilating" the infection. Most low grade fevers require no medical therapy. In fact, we do not recommend using medicine to treat fever unless the temperature is greater than 101° F orally. At that point it is advisable to use acetaminophen (Tylenol®) to reduce the temperature. We still advise against the use of aspirin in any childhood fever - associated illness, due to its link with Reye's Syndrome.

 Fever in adults is quite another matter. Viral colds usually do not cause much of a fever in the adult population, and when present it usually alerts the physician to the possibility of a more severe infection, usually caused by a bacteria. Bacterial upper respiratory tract infections require antibiotics as therapy.
 In children, signs that may alert you to the fact that your child is suffering from more than just a routine cold are these: earache, persistent sore throat, pain around or behind the eyes or abdominal pain, especially associated with fever over 101°. Any child with these symptoms should be seen by your doctor.
 Prevention of the common cold remains elusive. Most authorities now believe that taking large doses of vitamin C, zinc, onions or garlic does nothing to prevent colds. In fact, very large doses of vitamins can irritate the digestive tract or adversely affect the kidneys. A single daily multiple vitamin is probably the most sensible approach, but there is little proof that it is necessary or beneficial.
 Regular exercise, good nutrition and efforts to lower your stress level will probably exert the most protective effect in warding off these types of infections. Hand to hand contact is known to be a common means of transmission of colds, so wash your hands frequently when in contact with individuals with colds. Lastly, ask your doctor if you or anyone in your family should receive annual immunizations against influenza.

Smit works to change Ranch House's reputation

Convincing Lowell residents not to make their first "Ranch House" impression a lasting one, Jane Smit is looking to venture where others have failed.
 Smit is confident she can change the Ranch House reputation by providing customers with cleanliness, good service, good homemade food, coziness and friendliness.
 "Most important though is making sure that you're serving people good food," Smit said.
 Ranch House will serve both breakfast and lunch. Its lunch menu will offer sandwiches, soups and salads.
 "We put a lot of work into cleaning and brightening the place up. We've put up blinds and shades and have fixed and improved the air filter system," Smit adds.
 Smit opened the doors to the Ranch House for the first time on Feb. 1. "I was terribly nervous, but also very much excited about the venture," she said.
 Smit decided against serving dinner because of its unpredictability. "I didn't think I was ready to contend with that yet," she says.
 Smit will be helped with her new restaurant venture by her husband, Jack Smit, mother-in-law Donna Smit, Loretta Miller, George Black and Bonnie Clossen.
 Smit brings with her 13 years of restaurant experience from a variety of businesses. "I realize what I am battling here, but I truly believe I can make it work," she says.

L.H.S. announces "February Students-of-the-Month"

The faculty of Lowell High School has named the February students-of-the-month. They are seniors Aaron Corcoran and Michelle Lucas, junior Tracy Antcliff, sophomore Clay Pelon, and freshman Rachel Neile-McGrew.

Corcoran is the son of James and Sandy Corcoran of Lowell. He has been active in sports while at LHS, playing four years of soccer, three years of tennis, and two years of basketball. He is also a member of the YMCA Boys Leaders Club, of which he is vice president, and referees YMCA beginners basketball and soccer. He belongs to the service club, Teens Involved, whose sponsor says, "He is always part of the core in planning activities for T.I. I can always count on him to help with a smile and a great sense of humor." Corcoran was chosen for Boys State last summer as well as for the State of Michigan Gifted and Talented program. He is a member of the National Honor Society. He plans to attend WMU and study business. In his spare time, Corcoran works as a DJ at The Other Place.

Lucas is the daughter of Mike and Barb Lucas of Lowell. She has been very active during her four years at LHS. She is a member of the ski club, Teens Involved, the International Club and Forensics. She is serving as president of the International Club this year and the sponsor comments, "She is enthusiastic and motivated, and the club benefits from her organizational skills." Lucas has been a basketball cheerleader and was selected as a homecoming attendant. In forensics she participated in the multiple division last year which placed first in the district and the regional, and 7th at the state competition. She has been on the honor roll and has been accepted at MSU, where she plans to pursue a career in environmental concerns. She sings in the Calvary Church High School Choir and is a member of the church youth group which traveled to New York last summer on a mission trip. She will repeat that experience this summer.

Antcliff is the son of Gary and Susan Antcliff of Lowell. He reports that he enjoys sports, every sport, and has been involved in sports throughout high school, including wrestling, baseball and three years of football. This year Antcliff was awarded the Coach Burch award and earned his varsity letter. He also rides motorcycles and skis in his spare time. He is member of the International Club and Teens Involved. For the past two years, Antcliff has been employed in the bakery at Family Fare. His teacher nominator comments on his enthusiasm in class and his active participation each day, adding, "Tracy takes great pride in his work and treats each person in class with respect."

Pelon is the son of Lawrence and Carrie Pelon of Lowell. He has many activities to fill his time, yet still manages to maintain a place on the honor roll each quarter. He is a member of the marching, symphonic and pep bands, taking part in Solo and Ensemble as well. He has earned a letter as a member of the LHS Equestrian Team. He is also a member of the 1st place Judging Team at the state level. Pelon runs cross country and participates in fencing. He is an Eagle Scout. Interests also include horseback riding, reading, art, and music. His teacher nominator appreciates not only his hard work in class, but also his attitude, commenting, "His sense of humor is lighthearted and appropriate for the class. His positive attitude keeps the entire class in an upbeat mood."

Neile-McGrew is the daughter of Robert and Nancy McGrew of Lowell. She has had a busy semester during her first year at LHS. She is treasurer of the freshman class, and a member of both the debate and forensics clubs. She played on the girls' varsity tennis team this fall, and was a member of the marching band. Other organizations she supports are Greenpeace and the Better World Society. Her teacher nominator praises McGrew for her enthusiastic involvement in class and her desire to challenge herself. The latter is evident from the fact that her favorite classes are Honors English and Honors Geometry. Despite a difficult schedule, she has made the honor roll both quarters so far. Her other interests include the theatre, ballet, travel, music and poetry.

These five young people help to uphold the ideals of Pride and Respect at Lowell High School. The faculty, staff and administration ask the community to join them in honoring the February students-of-the-month.

The lowest point on land is the Dead Sea, 1,296 feet below sea level.

The first successful appendectomy was performed in Iowa in 1885.

Follow these tips for safety on frozen lakes

An average of seven people perish in ice-related accidents each year in Michigan, Department of Natural Resources (DNR) marine specialist report.

Last year, eight Michigan residents lost their lives, with the majority of ice fatalities involving snowmobiles, three or four-wheel all-terrain vehicles, people ice fishing and children playing on the ice.

"The real tragedy is that these accidents are preventable," said Sgt. Eric Olsen, DNR marine safety rules specialist. "People should be aware of ice conditions, and take proper safety precautions. Never driving on ice, regularly checking ice depth with an ice spud or heavy bar, and wearing a life jacket are important safeguards."

Extreme caution on ice is advised particularly during the early and late winter months of January, March and April, added Olsen. During these months, temperatures often fluctuate, freezing then thawing the ice and rendering it unsafe in many instances.

"A safe depth of ice varies with the body and movement of water," added Olsen. "While three inches of ice on a farm pond may pose little danger, currents, springs and turbulent waters can turn that same depth into dangerously soft and thin spots on streams, rivers, inland and Great Lakes."

Ice Safety Precautions

- * Never drive a motor vehicle on ice.
- * Know the condition of the ice. Regularly test ice thickness with an ice spud or heavy bar.
- * Avoid gray, dark or porous spots in the ice, these spots indicate soft ice. Remember ice deteriorates first around stream mouths, lake inlets and outlets, shorelines and around tree stumps, pilings and docks.
- * Have rescue gear handy during any ice activity. Life-saving equipment can include a ladder, 50 feet of rope or hose, tree limb, spare tire or an article of clothing.
- * Make it a practice to wear a personal flotation device or life jacket when participating in any ice activity.
- * Assist ice victims from solid ground. If a rescuer must assist from ice, lie flat with body weight spread evenly across the ice.

* Cold water drowning victims can often be resuscitated. Administer cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and immediately transport victim to the hospital.

Procedures for Unassisted Ice Victims

- * Turn on your back and kick to work yourself out of the hole.
- * Get out of the ice in the direction you walked on, where you know the ice will hold your weight.

- * Do not stand, rather roll away from the hole until you can safely stand.
- * Work fast, it takes only minutes before the cold water will affect your reasoning and grasp.
- * Your clothes will soon freeze; walk to safety quickly. Remove your car keys before they freeze inside your coat or pants pocket.

Mr. Biernacki's 3rd hour history class at Lowell High School found much to pique their interest in their recent investigation of the 2nd floor of the City Hall building.

Historical finds at City Hall

A group of historians otherwise known as Jerry Biernacki's Third Hour Lowell High School history class, received some first-hand field experience by beginning an inventory of local history memorabilia located in the second floor of Lowell's City Hall.

As an archaeological site, the storage facility impressed the first-time visitors with its light and open spaces created by its high ceilings and huge window exposures from the south and west. Also a large stage, a balcony, and a vast dance floor suggested that in its prime the room must have been the scene of many a fine ballroom dance.

The students desire to start dancing was quickly dissuaded by the instructor's survey of historical artifacts.

Most impressive were the wall size portraits of the 1876 and 1908 Board of Trade. Other notable primary sources included the numerous surveys that a city in its normal course of business collects.

The class project will involve organizing this collection by year and category, and then studying the various stages of growth of the city.

KRAUSE at the HOUSE

A fundamentally new approach to environmental cleanup would help Michigan meet the challenge of reclaiming a growing number of contaminated sites with limited public and private funds.

As Chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, I established the House Republican Task Force on Environmental Cleanup, which studied the problem of cleanups in Michigan. Our research revealed the federal Superfund law and the Michigan Public Act 307 cleanup responses have failed to make more than token progress.

Only six complete cleanups occurred from 1982 through September 1988. The Act 307 list of sites of known or suspected contamination grows by several hundred per year and now is at 2,687.

Because there never will be enough public money to pay the estimated $3 billion to $5 billion to clean up all of Michigan's contaminated sites, the primary obligation must rest with the private sector. However, government must establish the policy and procedures to effect private sector participation.

The task force report recommends five ways to achieve a more effective cleanup strategy.

1. Alternative Dispute Resolution. Litigation is time-consuming, costly and often fails to address the complex technical and scientific issues. In addition, legal fees take 50 to 70 percent of all cleanup dollars.

Alternatives include third-party intervention, voluntary arbitration and binding arbitration. These methods could quicken the pace and reduce cleanup costs.

2. Limited Amnesty from Environmental Fines. Companies that might otherwise acknowledge and clean contaminated sites often are reluctant to do so because of the added and uncertain costs of fines and penalties. The report recommends a limited period of amnesty from environmental fines and penalties to offer private parties an incentive to clean their contaminated sites. They still would be responsible for cleanup costs.

The plan is similar to the amnesty offered by the Michigan Department of Treasury and the Michigan Employment Security Commission to collect delinquent taxes. Those failing to utilize this positive incentive would face even higher penalties at the end of the amnesty period.

3. Revolving Loan Fund. A revolving loan fund could help remove financial obstacles to well-intentioned individuals and companies. The state has an interest in helping them, since many of the contaminated sites might otherwise become the state's responsibility.

4. An Expedited Process to Encourage Faster Cleanups.

Entries open for Old Kent Riverbank Run

Entries are officially open for the Old Kent River Bank 25-K Run on May 12.

The 25-K is the largest of its kind in the country and over 4,000 runners are expected.

Interested participants who would like an entry form

Contaminated sites named the 307 list often remain untouched for years. This happens because "making" the list does not start any meaningful cleanup process. Many of these sites are subject to years of quareling between the Department of Natural Resources and responsible parties as to what constitute an adequate cleanup plan.

The report stresses the need to establish a new process, using all three of the above recommendations, to encourage cleanups to begin within a specific period of time.

5. Cleanup Standards. Arbitrary and inflexible cleanup standards unnecessarily have increased the cost of cleanups. The task force recommends adoption of the federal Environmental Protection Agency's Superfund standard as the basic guide for cleanups at most state sites. Recognizing that special circumstances might merit more stringent standards in some situations, the task force suggests establishing a panel of qualified individuals to determine when tougher criteria are necessary.

Cleanup efforts undertaken during the 1980s were unnecessarily costly, unduly time-consuming and largely ineffective. In the 1990s, Michigan must develop fundamentally new approaches to this serious, widespread situation. I believe the report's recommendations provide those new and necessary approaches, and I will work toward their implementation.

INSURANCE Notes

Why is My Teenager's Auto Premium So High?

The reason for higher rates for youthful drivers is fairly simple...they have more accidents! In fact, one out of every five teenagers drivers will become involved in an accident this year, compared to only 7% of middle-aged drivers. Moreover, these accidents tend to be more severe and expensive than among other age groups. If this system were changed, all other drivers would face premium increases to make up the difference.

Bushnell students treated to "Salute to

All of Bushnell's eyes were on Carole Howard at the dance show on Wednesday.

It's time for you and your partner to do-si-do.

Bushnell students were quick to pick up the various dances.

Bushnell Elementary students "Salute to America's Dance" through a two-day workshop hosted by Carole Howard.

Emeritus, Physical Education and Dance at Central Michigan University. The voyage through the country's dance history, included the minuet, the cakewalk, clogging, the tango, square dance, the chicken and rock 'n roll.

Howard held a two-day workshop with music and physical education instructors, Rachel Niemi and Mark Russell. The workshop culminated in a one-hour dance show involving the entire school.

"The workshop is intended to teach students a little bit about the history of music. It is also supposed to show students that dancing is alright, it's fun and it's good for them," Howard said.

Howard and a few of the Bushnell students ended the show with a patriotic routine.

Howard took early retirement from CMU after spending 20 years as an instructor at the Mid-American Conference university.

"This is the first year I've gone on tour, so-to-speak," Howard explains. "I taught at the elementary level in Benton Harbor and St. Joseph areas for seven years prior to going to Central Michigan. Younger children are a better audience. They appreciate what you're doing more."

Howard adds that dancing is a good, social and physical activity that's being left out of schools.

"Dancing can be wonderful. In my first year, I have found that younger students are 'tuned on' and not 'tuned out' by dance."

The Central Michigan instructor has made Michigan her limit as to how far she will travel.

"I've been as far north as Petoskey," she says.

Niemi added that Howard may take her program to the Runciman/Riverside School later in the year.

Item No. 1. LOCATION OF THE LIGHT AND POWER SUBSTATION AT STONEY LAKESIDE PARK. City Manager Pasquale stated that a letter was submitted to the Light and Power Board concerning its view of the circumstances involving the location of the new substation at Stoney Lakeside Park. The Light and Power Board discussed this matter at their January 8 meeting and responded that the error was not intentional or malicious. James Schaut, project engineer from Greiner, Inc., stated in a letter that the substation location was moved south 55 feet because of the proximity to existing overhead distribution lines, proximity to Bowes Street, underground electric circuits, overhead line maintenance and vandalism. A new survey was completed and reviewed by the Board with the relocation of the substation approved.

The consensus of the Council was to accept the explanation submitted by the Light and Power Board. To avoid similar problems in the future, any construction built in Lowell must be inspected by Michigan Township Services. It was noted also the landscaping, fencing and parking recommendations by the Parks and Recreation Commission will be carried out by Light and Power.

Item No. 2. ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS A. 1004 W. MAIN - FARO'S PIZZA - SIGN VARIANCE - SET - PUBLIC HEARING (2/5). Faro's Pizza had requested a variance so that a second wall sign could be erected on the west side of the building. Two proposals were received based on an initial estimate of $30,000 of construction:

Robert Lee Wold and Associates, Grand Rapids	$3,750
The WBDC Group, Grand Rapids	$4,500

It was noted that both firms are highly competent and have worked with the City. Based on the cost figure estimates, City Manager Pasquale recommended that the City Council award the architectural services contract to Robert Lee Wold and Associates for the Police Department renovations.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Thompson to award the contract to Robert Lee Wold and Associates for the Police Department renovations for a cost of $3,750.

Item No. 4. CONSIDERATION OF LEASE AGREEMENT WITH THE KENT COUNTY AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION (4-H) FOR USE OF FAIRGROUNDS. City Manager Pasquale stated that during the discussion with the 4-H Association, it became apparent that the existing agreement with the Association had to be altered to accurately reflect the City's relationship regarding the fairgrounds. The new ten year agreement drafted by the City Attorney outlined the leased property as it is presently used and its upgraded insurance requirements. Red Snyder stated on behalf of the Association that the Foreman building and campgrounds is needed three weeks prior to, during and two weeks after the fair. He also mentioned that the buildings are used for storage of vehicles with the 4-H carrying the insurance. Any taxes on the leased property levied would be the 4-H responsibility.

IT WAS MOVED by Thompson and seconded by Doyle to award a ten year lease with the Kent County Agricultural Association (4-H) for use of the Lowell Fairgrounds at Recreation Park.

Red Arrows shoot down Vikings in O-K White tilt, 56-49

More times than not during the 1989-90 high school basketball season it's been the opposing coach that has said in the postgame interview. "We held Lowell to just one shot each time down the floor."

Lowell's Mark Thomas found some comfort in the fact that he finally got his turn following Lowell's 56-49 O-K White victory over Wyoming Park.

"I haven't been in this spot very often this year, but a key tonight to our victory was we were able to hold Park to one shot," Thomas said.

Another important key was Lowell's quickness in the transition game, allowing it many easy buckets.

"Lowell's quickness hurt us. They beat us in transition," said Wyoming Park Coach Kelly McEwen. "I also thought our boys got a little tired in the second half."

McEwen added that he didn't think rebounding was much of a factor in the first half because his Vikings shot the ball so well. "In the second half our shooting dropped off and Lowell did a better job on the boards."

The Vikings jumped to a 22-14 first-quarter lead. Behind the fine offensive of Bob Adams and John Borg, Lowell opened the second stanza outscoring Park 13-4 in the period's opening six minutes, cutting the deficit to one at 27-26.

The Vikings, however, rallied in the final two minutes with seven unanswered points and took a 33-26 halftime lead.

"That was disappointing, but in the second we came out and did a good job of beating Park's shooters to their spots," Thomas said. "Good defense leads to good offense and vice versa."

Thomas was also pleased with his club's ability to get the ball in good shooting areas. "A lot of that comes from displaying good interior passing," he adds.

In the first five minutes of the third quarter, Lowell saw its deficit balloon to 10 points (41-31). A 9-2 Red Arrow run cut the margin to three at 43-40.

"We had Lowell down a couple of times and didn't put them away," McEwen said. "We were also hurt by the fact our leading scorer, Kory Moore had an off night shooting."

Moore averages a club-high 18 points a game was held scoreless by the Arrows.

"Basketball is fun when a team plays the way we did tonight," Thomas said. "I'm excited for the boys, they did a lot of good things on the floor tonight."

Bob Adams led all scorers with 23 points. John Borg added 16. Derek Schmidt led Park with 19.

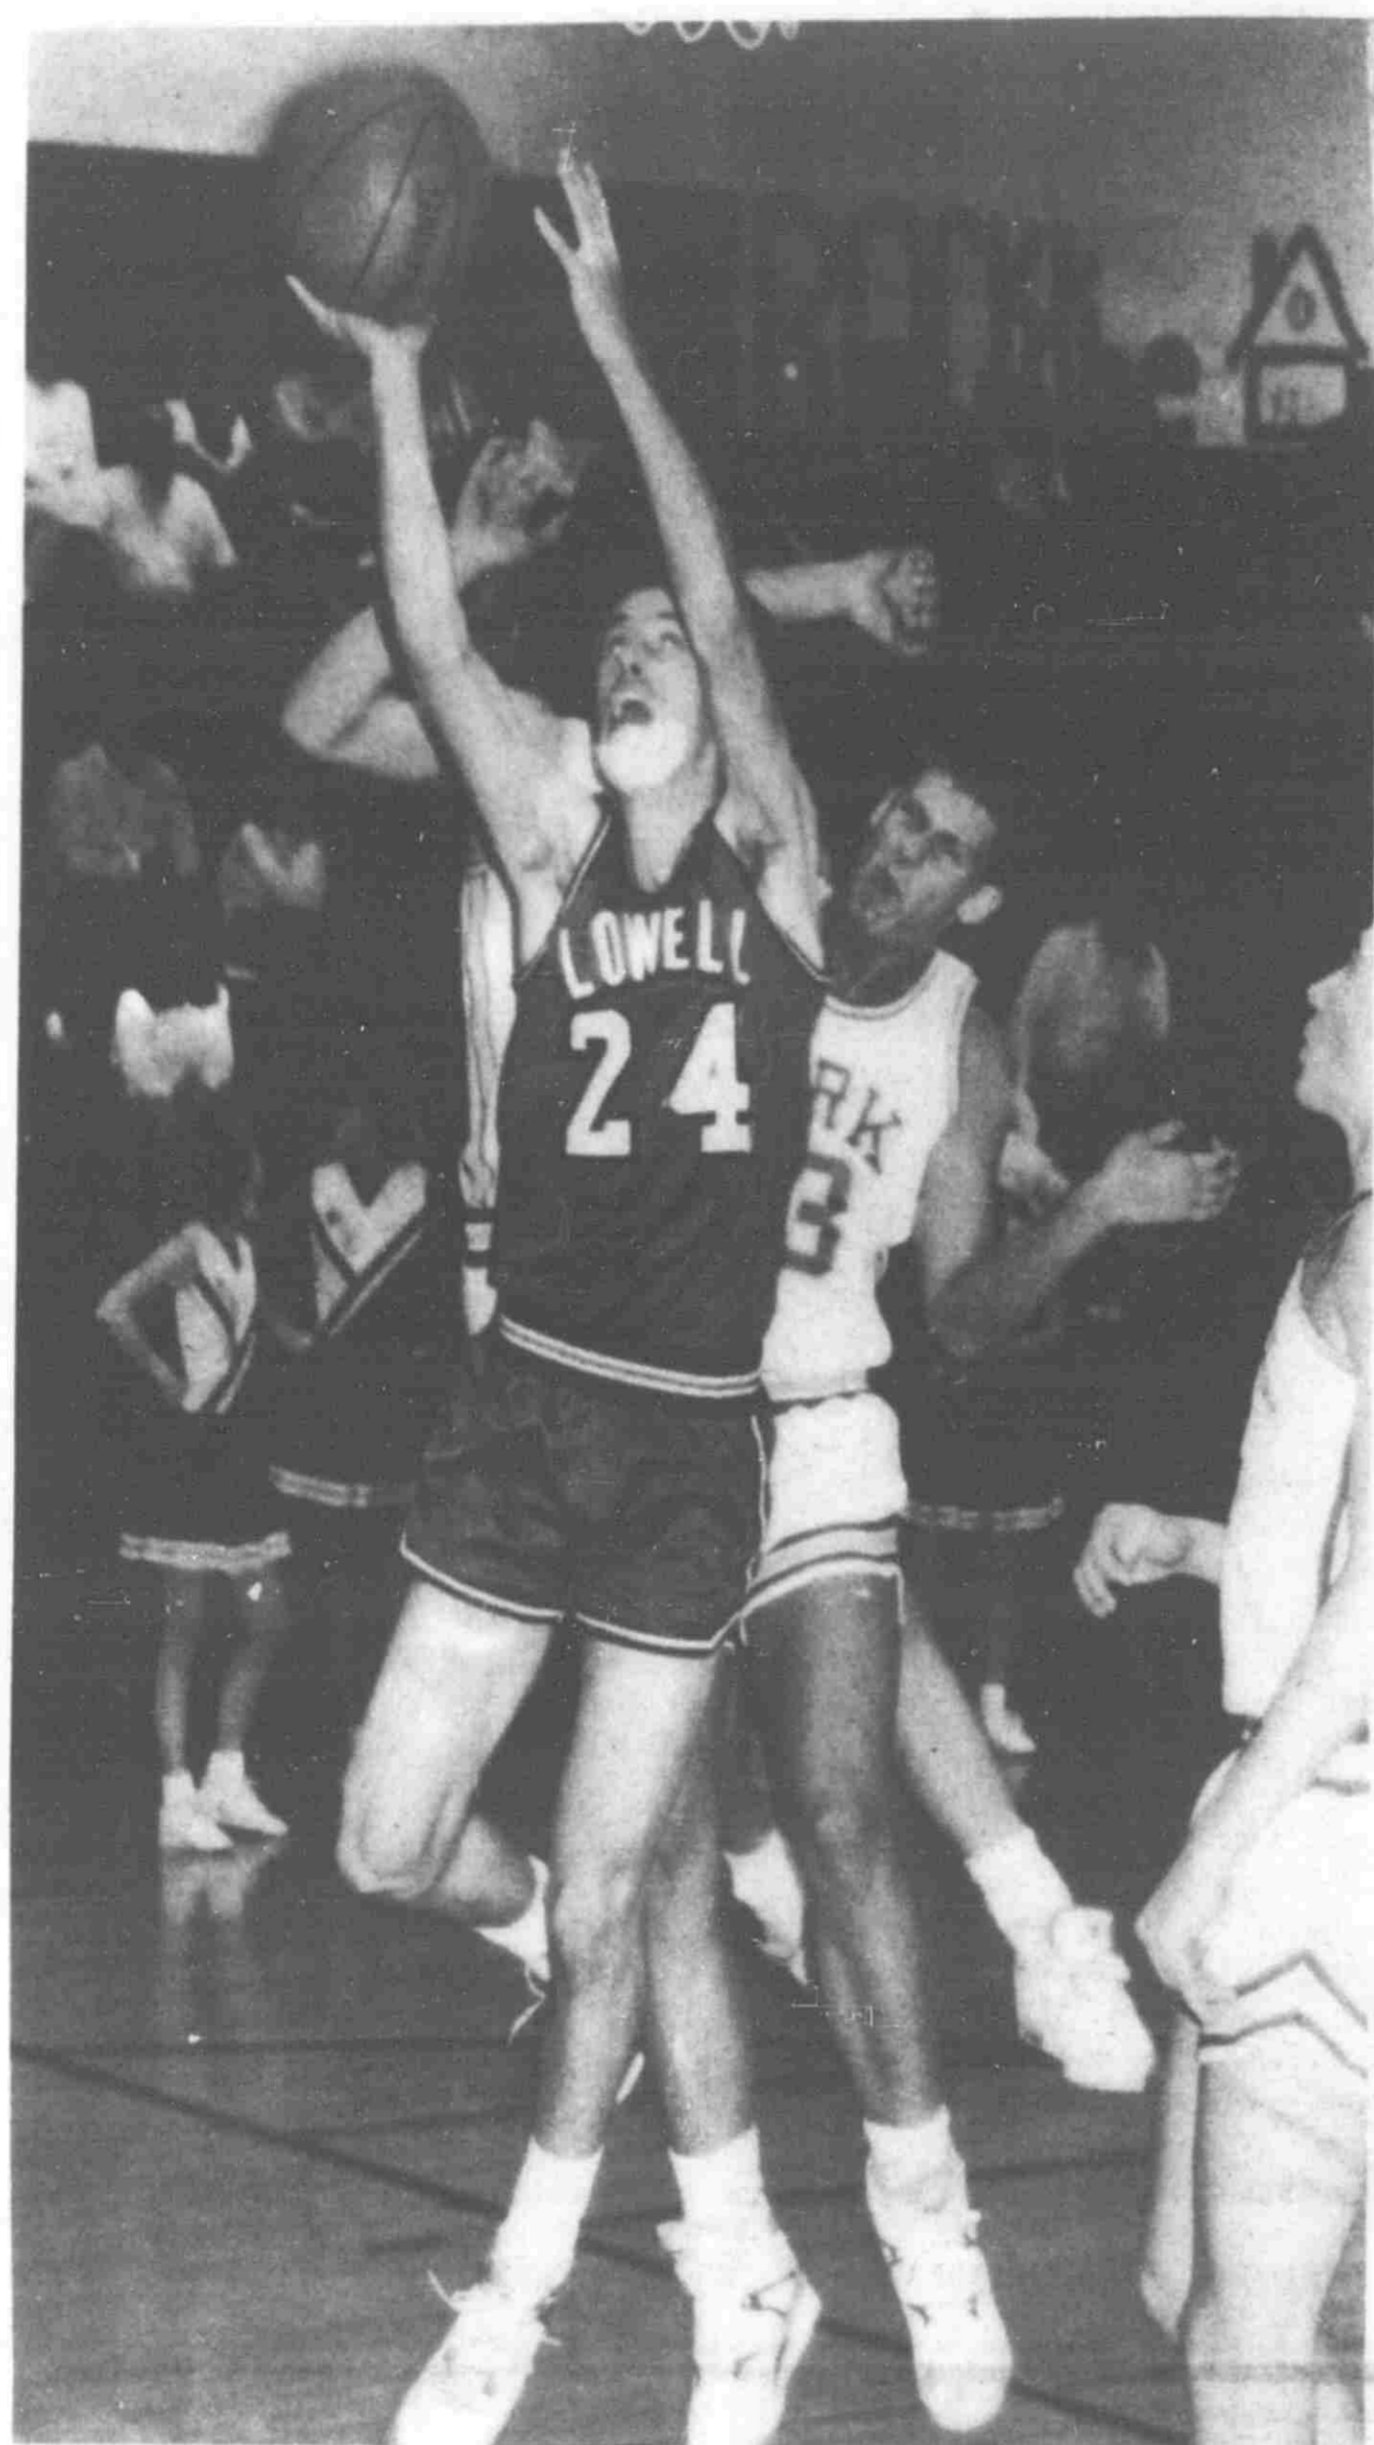

Lowell's junior varsity was a 60-53 victim to Wyoming Park.

The Red Arrows were outscored 18-11 in the final quarter. The teams were tied at 42-42 at the end of three quarters.

Matt Kemp led Lowell in scoring with 15 points. Jon Amundsen followed with 12 points and a club-high seven rebounds. Jon Hutfilz and Jason Dykhouse contributed with 11 and 10 points respectively. Hutfilz, Dykhouse and Kemp also gathered six rebounds apiece.

Lowell's freshman team was a 54-49 loser to Wyoming Park.

Dave Jones led the Red Arrows in the losing effort with 19 points and nine rebounds. Matt Craig followed with 13 points and eight rebounds.

Ryan Holtz uses solid inside position for a putback in action against Wyoming Park. Lowell defeated the Vikings 56-49.

His club had just secured its sixth victory of the year in an 11-point, 69-58 victory over Lowell.

There sitting on the south end of the visitors' bleachers was winning Coach, Rick Albro, staring at the floor.

Congratulations Coach on your victory. "That was an ugly ballgame. The first quarter was the only real quarter of basketball played," he said.

"Our basketball teams have never played well over here at Lowell. I think it's because the gym is so compact, we have a tough time with our spacing."

While the Pioneers floor spacing may be disrupted with their visit to Lowell, it was their big bodies underneath that disrupted the Red Arrows.

For Lowell it's imperative that it uses its speed in transition. "If we're not effective on the glass however, there is no transition," Thomas understates.

For the first 12 minutes the Red Arrows and the Pioneers were hooked up in a tightly contested ballgame. EGR, leading 22-21, went on a 12-2 run in the final four minutes of the first half, building a 34-23 halftime lead.

The Pioneers opened the third period the same way it ended the half, this time with a 7-0 run, extending its lead to 41-23.

The third quarter, owned by EGR, ended with the visitors ahead 52-35.

"We played terrible in the final quarter," Albro said. "I'd like to think it was just us, but I'm smart enough to know that Lowell's quickness and defense had something to do with our fourth-quarter play."

Lowell, who had trailed by as many as 21 in the third quarter, and 17 to start the fourth stanza, used an aggressive full court man-to-man pressure to pull to within nine at 59-50 with a little less than four minutes to play.

"We did a good job of pressuring the basketball in the final quarter. We just dug ourselves too big a hole," Thomas said.

Albro added, "It's a good thing we put some distance between us and Lowell because we needed it in the fourth quarter."

Bob Adams led all Lowell scorers with 16 points. John Borg tallied 15 and Ryan Holtz added 13 for the Red Arrows.

East Grand Rapids got a game-high 33 points from Brendan Tully.

EGR is now 6-7 overall and 5-5 in the O-K White. Lowell falls to 3-10 overall and 2-8 in the league.

Lowell's junior varsity basketball avenged an earlier season defeat at the hands of the Pioneers as it defeated EGR 61-48.

The Red Arrows led by four at the half, 22-18, and extended the lead to 14 with a 19-9 third-quarter run.

Matt Kemp led all Arrow scorers with 11 points. Brett Knoop netted nine, Jon Amundsen chipped in with eight and Mark Lyon contributed with seven.

Amundsen and Knoop also were the team's leading rebounders with seven caroms apiece.

Bob Adams feels a little pressure from behind in action against Wyoming Park.

Spartans halt Red Arrows' conference title string at four

Over 1,000 fans watched O-K White titans battle for league championship.

Lowell and Sparta fans know good wrestling.

The final O-K White dual meet for both schools was every bit as good as the 1,000-plus fans expected and then some.

"The community support for this dual meet was tremendous," Sparta Coach Ron Helmboldt said. "This is what high school wrestling and athletics is all about."

Lowell entered the match with a streak of 39 consecutive O-K White dual meet victories. The Red Arrows were also looking for their fifth straight Conference Championship.

"The crowd was something. That's good for high school wrestling," Lowell Coach Gary Rivers said.

Sparta, meanwhile, has had to play the bridesmaid since the commencement of the O-K White. "We've had some quality clubs, but we've always been good but not quite as good as Northview or Lowell," Sparta Coach Ron Helmboldt said. "It's been frustrating."

The Spartans long wait ended Thursday night at Lowell High School as Sparta claimed its first dual meet O-K White Conference Championship, defeating the Red Arrows 32-20.

"We've waited a long time. It is a very happy and proud moment for us," Helmboldt said.

Both coaches new where the other clubs strengths lied. Lowell was stronger in the lighter weight classes and Sparta was stronger in the heavier weight classes. The club that would perform stronger in their weaker weight classes would wind up the O-K White dual meet championship.

The Spartans answered that question early. As sophomore, Blair Kerr, did what neither his coach nor Lowell's Gary Rivers thought he would. Kerr decisioned Lowell senior tri-captain, Scott Nagy 5-2. "That was definitely a big plus," Helmboldt said. "Kerr has improved tremendously this year."

The Spartan Coach said going into the match that he thought if his club could win two of the first five matches they would win the dual meet. Well, it took just 12 minutes and/or two matches for that prophecy to be realized.

Prior to Kerr defeating Nagy, Ryan Witte decisioned Chad Chertos 15-7. The 103-pound grapplers were tied 5-5 at the end of one period, but Witte controlled the match from that point, outpointing Chertos 10-2.

Trailing 7-0, Lowell's Brad Whalen gave a strong performance in his 12-8 decision over Chris Liscombe.

The Red Arrows grabbed their first lead at 9-7 and their only pin of the evening when Nate Nauta (125) came off the mat with a pin at 3:30 of the second period.

Jon Pratt increased the lead to 12-7 with a 10-5 decision over Scott Bitley. Sparta's Nate Barr then shutout Lowell's David Stouffer 6-0 bringing the Spartans within two at 12-10.

In one of the closer contested matches of the evening, Jeff Hoffman earned a tough 6-4 decision over Rob Kirkland.

Sparta's Chad Kik recorded Sparta's first pin of the evening in the second period at 3:01 against Jeff Compton.

At 152 pounds Rich Depew scored a reversal with less than 30 seconds to go in the third period, pulling out a come-from-behind 6-5 decision over Dan Carter, giving Lowell its final lead of the match at 18-16.

Sparta then won three of the final four matches. Al Howland controlled Lowell's Joe Depew in a 7-2 decision, igniting Sparta to a 20-18 advantage. John Rupp and Tom Wilcox battled to a 6-6 tie in the 171 pound weight class.

Sparta's big hammers followed, Dave Andrus and Steve Zurek. Andrus was dominating in his 19-5 victory and Zurek took little over a period to pin Lowell's Chad Hull.

"Sparta wrestled very well tonight," Rivers said. "They have a darn good club. It was a good dual meet and that's what people pay to come and see. We will have a chance to tie for the overall title on Saturday at the conference tourney."

It wasn't the type of finish to the O-K White Conference Lowell's wrestling team would have liked, but only after a team had won four consecutive conference titles would placing second seem no better than finishing last.

Sparta, proving Wednesday's dual meet victory over Lowell was no accident, came back on Saturday and did it again, this time at the O-K White Conference Tournament.

The victory landed the Spartans the overall top spot in the league for the first time since the commencement of the O-K White.

"Sparta did a nice job," Rivers said. "None of the other schools helped us and that's to Sparta's credit. However, those same schools beat us."

Lowell trailed 159-1/2 to 153 going into the consolation and championship rounds. Both the Arrows and Spartans had 12 of their 13 wrestlers competing in the final rounds.

Sparta placed seven grapplers in the championship round, four of whom left the mat champions. Lowell placed six wrestlers in the champions' round with three earning the title.

"I think Sparta has a great chance to be one of the final four teams at state," Rivers said.

Lowell's firsts were won by Brad Whalen, Dave Stouffer and Jeff Hoffman. Whalen (119, 2-0) defeated Northview's Chris Doucette 11-9 in overtime.

Stouffer (135, 3-0) was a 14-6 winner over Forest Hills Central's Matt Tidd.

Hoffman wrestling at 140 pounds was 3-0 with a 10-3 victory over Sparta's Rob Kirkland.

Winners in the other weight classes were Dave Carpenter, Northview, 103 pounds; Dave Cole, Northview, 112 pounds, defeated Lowell's Scott Nagy with a pin at 1:39 of the first period.

At 125, it was Northview's Clark Edson, who defeated Lowell's Nate Nauta 8-4. At 130, the champion was Sparta's Scott Bidley. Chad Kik, Sparta, won at 145 pounds. In the 152-pound weight class Sparta's Dan Carter defeated Lowell's Rich Depew 9-5. Wyoming Park's Jason Roelofs was the winner at 160 pounds.

Mike Westfield, Zealand won at a 170; Northview's Joe Klomparens was victorious at 189 and Sparta's Steve Zurek won the heavyweight title.

Nagy and Depew both finished with records of 2-1 for the day. Nauta, meanwhile, was 1-1.

Finishing third for Lowell were Jon Pratt (3-1); Rob McGee (1-1); and Chad Hull (3-1). Fourth place finishes were secured by Red Arrows' Joe Depew, 2-2; and Jon Rupp 1-2.

"We got some good performances from Whalen, Pratt, Stouffer, Hoffman, Hull and Rich Depew," Rivers said.

Lowell will host the team district tournament tonight (Wednesday, Feb. 7) at 6 p.m. Joining Lowell at the district will be Ionia, Caledonia and Portland. Lowell will wrestle Portland first with the winner taking on the Caledonia and Ionia winner.

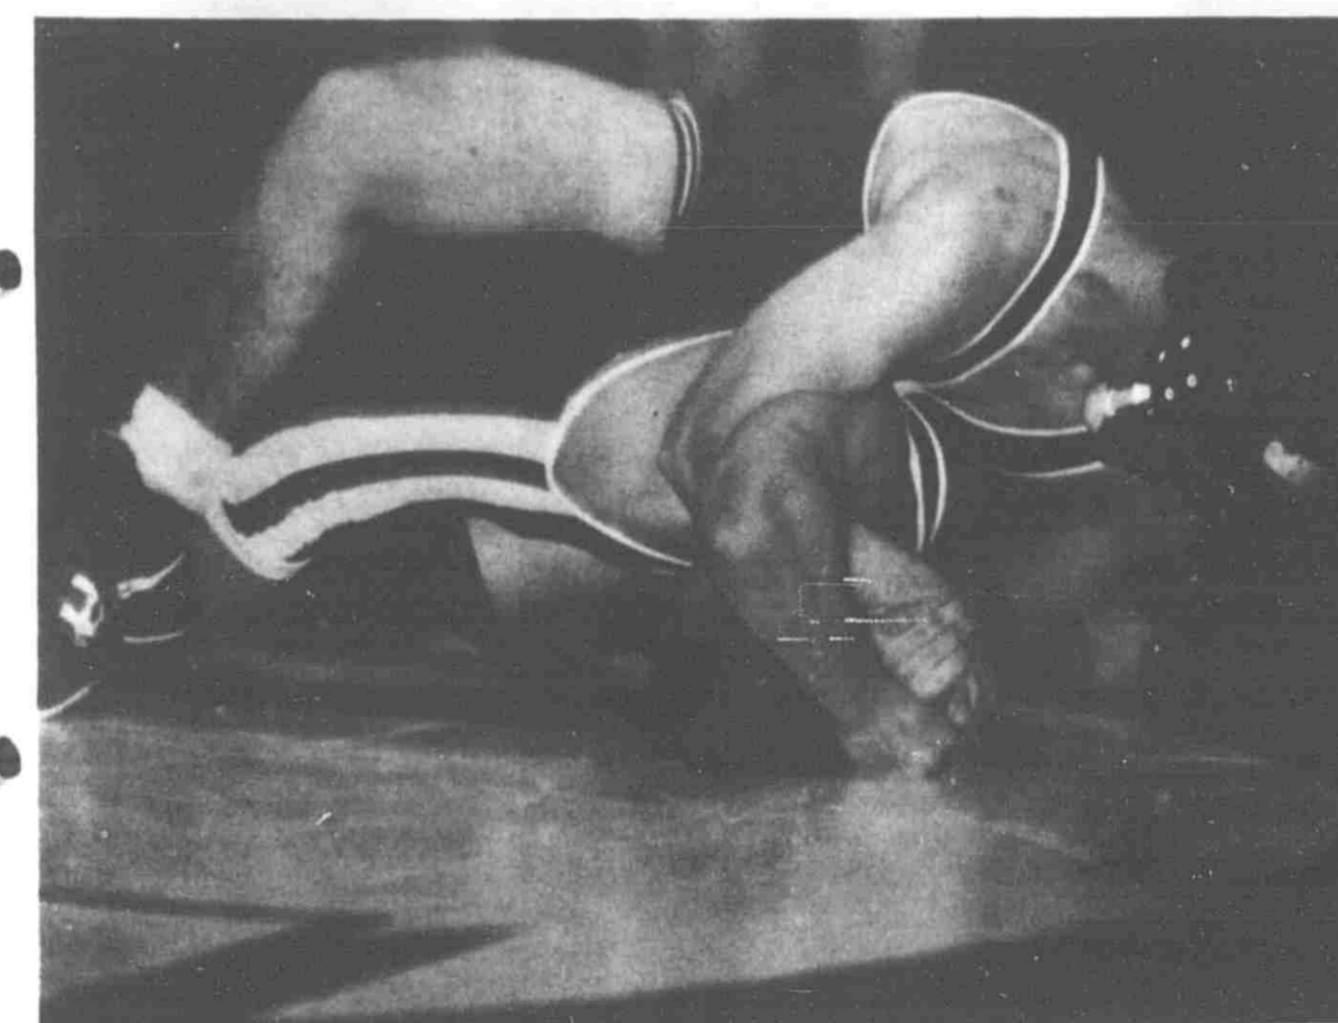

On Saturday, Lowell will host the Individual Districts.

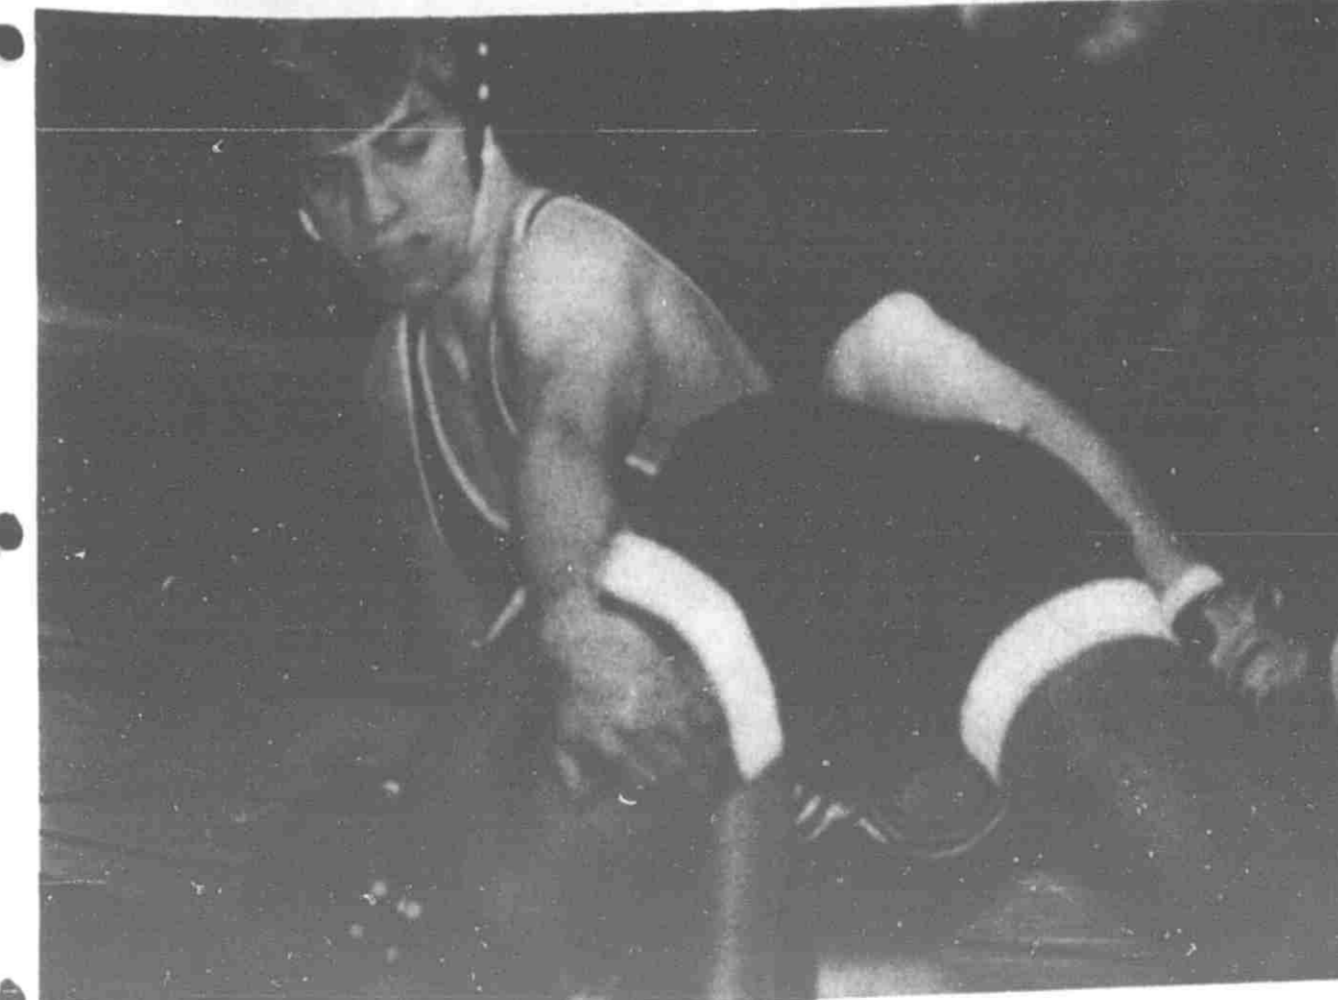

The Red Arrows lost an O-K White dual meet for the first time in 40 outings. Sparta defeated Lowell 32-20.

Sparta's victory earned the Spartans their first O-K White title since the league's commencement.

Lowell's Scott Nagy was on the short end of a 5-2 decision in a dual meet against Sparta.

FAMILY FARE

Athlete of the Week

basketball cheerleader for three years, two years at the varsity level. "She has a great attitude and is easy to work with," McDaniel said.

Beute says she enjoys being out in front of people. "I like getting the crowd pumped up," she says. "Cheerleading is a lot of fun."

The varsity squad practices 4-5 days a week, 2-3 hours a day, according to Beute.

Beute is also a member of the Future Farmers of America, Teens Involved, the Equestrian Club and the National Honor Society. She has decided to run for the FFA state office this year.

Beute plans on attending Michigan State University in the fall to study medicine. She is currently carrying a 3.97 grade-point average.

"Cheerleaders don't get a lot of credit for being athletic," said first-year Lowell Varsity Basketball Coach Christine McDaniel. "Which is unfair, because all of our girls are athletic."

The first-year coach points to senior basketball cheerleader Stacy Beute as a prime example. Beute has run cross country for four years and will participate in her third year of girls' track. "I run the mile, the 800 run and the two mile," Beute says.

Congratulations Stacy

Red Arrow gymnasts improve record to 3-1

To qualify for the regionals, Lowell must reach the 115-point plateau three times during the regular season. The Arrows have reached this total twice this year and have five meets remaining.

As far as meet performances go, Lowell has done better. As for opponents, they don't get much better than Holland Dutch.

Holland, a Class A School, is ranked second in the state in gymnastics, and after seeing Holland in action on Wednesday (Jan 31), Lowell won't argue.

Holland defeated the Red Arrows 132.50 to 113.90. "As their score would indicate, the Dutch are a terrific gymnastics team," Lowell Coach Tammie Fitzpatrick. "Our score doesn't reflect how well we can do. We get to go home for a couple matches and that excites us."

Fitzpatrick and her Red Arrows are still eyeing the magical 115 point total. Lowell has reached it once already this year. If Lowell can attain that mark twice more in its remaining six games it will qualify for the regionals.

Holland's Teresa Blauwkamp took top individual honors as she finished first in three events. The Dutch gymnast was uno numero on the uneven bars, in the floor exercise, and on the vault.

Blauwkamp earned a mark of 9.05 on the uneven bars. Laura Kropf was fourth with a team-high mark of 8.40. Teammates Carrie Lipkea and Tammy Jeske were fourth and sixth respectively. Lipkea scored an 8.25 and Tammy Jeske tallied a 7.35.

In the floor exercise Blauwkamp posted a mark of 9.05. Lowell's top score was handed in by Kropf at 7.95. Lipkea placed sixth at 7.50.

The average American ingests about a ton of food and drink each year.

On the vault Blauwkamp's 8.85 was tops. Kropf was again fourth at 7.8 and Jeske placed fifth at 7.7.

On the balance beam Val VanLiere took top honors with a mark of 8.2. Lowell's Jody Smith was fifth at 6.95 and Jeske was sixth at 6.9.

"I thought despite not placing, Becky Hovey performed well on the balance beam," Fitzpatrick said. "Stacie Stickney also did well in her first competitive performance on the beam."

Lowell will participate in the Kenowa Hills Invitational on Saturday. The Invitational starts at 10 a.m.

LOWELL 120.70
IONIA 102.65

Nothing like a little home-stand to pick up the old momentum.

Lowell, coming off its loss to Holland, welcomed the familiar sights and sounds of home in earning its third victory of the year. The win marked the second time this year the club has scored 115 points or more. The Red Arrows will qualify for the regionals if they can accomplish that feat one more time in the final five outings.

"The girls put it all together tonight. I knew they could," Lowell Coach Tammie Fitzpatrick said.

Lowell, led by the talents of Laura Kropf, who won the all-around honors with a total of 32.20, got plenty of help from other gymnasts.

In the past, Kropf has been Lowell's top performer in each of the four events. That hasn't been the case in 1990.

Carrie Lipkea and Tammy Jeske have provided consistent support. Lipkea earned a first on the uneven bars against the Bulldogs with a score of 8.65. She did this despite a torn ligament in her big toe.

Kropf was second with an 8.2 and Jeske came in third with a 7.7.

Jeske, though, proved solid on the balance beam, as her mark of 7.5 earned her a first. Jody Smith was second with a 6.9; Kropf finished third at 6.85; Kimberly Pullen put together a strong routine in tallying a 6.65; and Rebecca Hovey came off the beam in fifth at 6.0.

Kropf rang up first on the vault and in the floor exercise. The junior's 8.35 gave her top billing on the vault. Jeske was second at 7.8 while Hovey (4th) claimed a 7.5 and Angie Fox (6th) earned a 6.9.

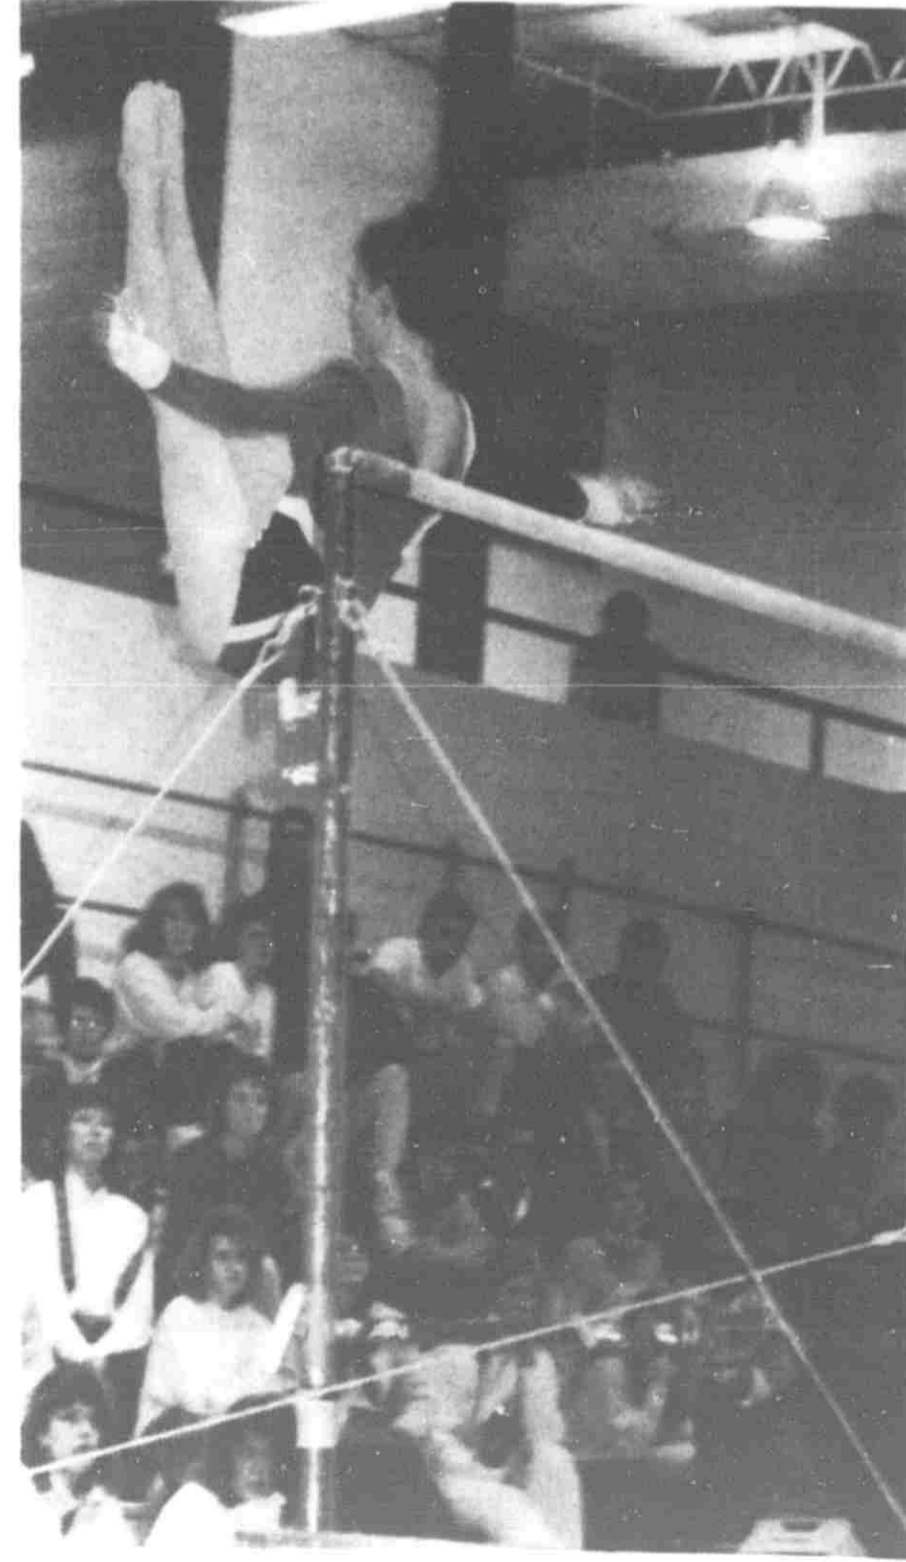

In the floor exercise Kropf got an event-high 8.8. Lipkea followed in second at 7.95. Hovey (4th) posted a 7.85 and Pullen was sixth with a mark of 7.3.

Fitzpatrick made special mention of freshman Alicia Benson's 6.95 in the floor exercise. "That was her highest ever," Fitzpatrick said.

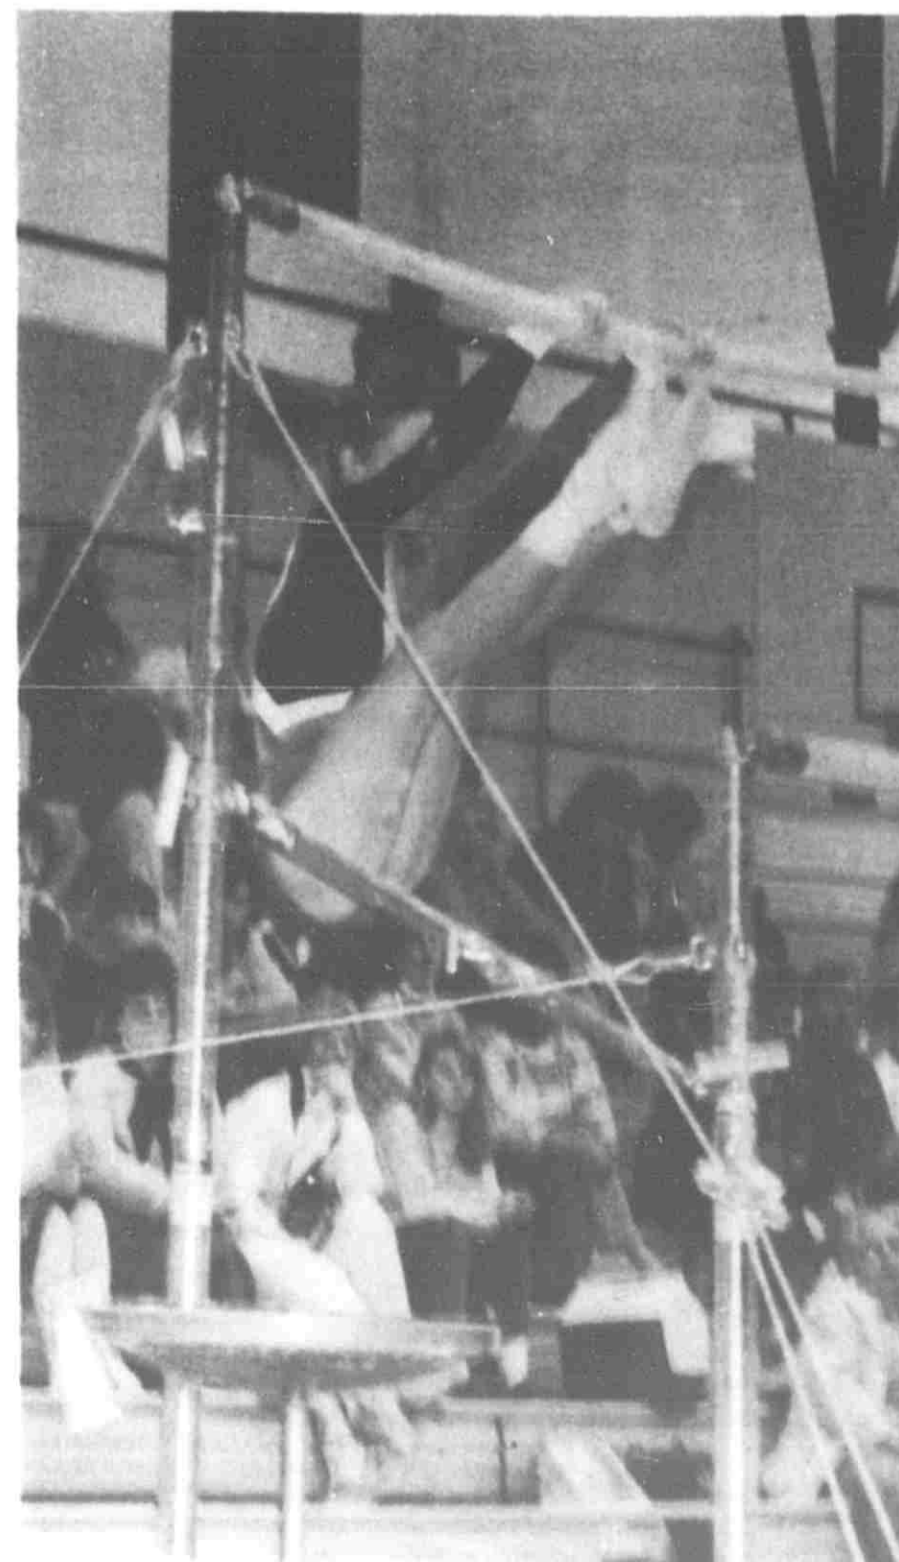

Lowell's Coach was also pleased with the performances of sophomore Jennifer Shuster on the uneven bars and junior, Lisa Rinks, on the balance beam.

Lowell's Kimberly Pullen on the balance beam.

Red Arrow Laurie Kropf executes her dismount.

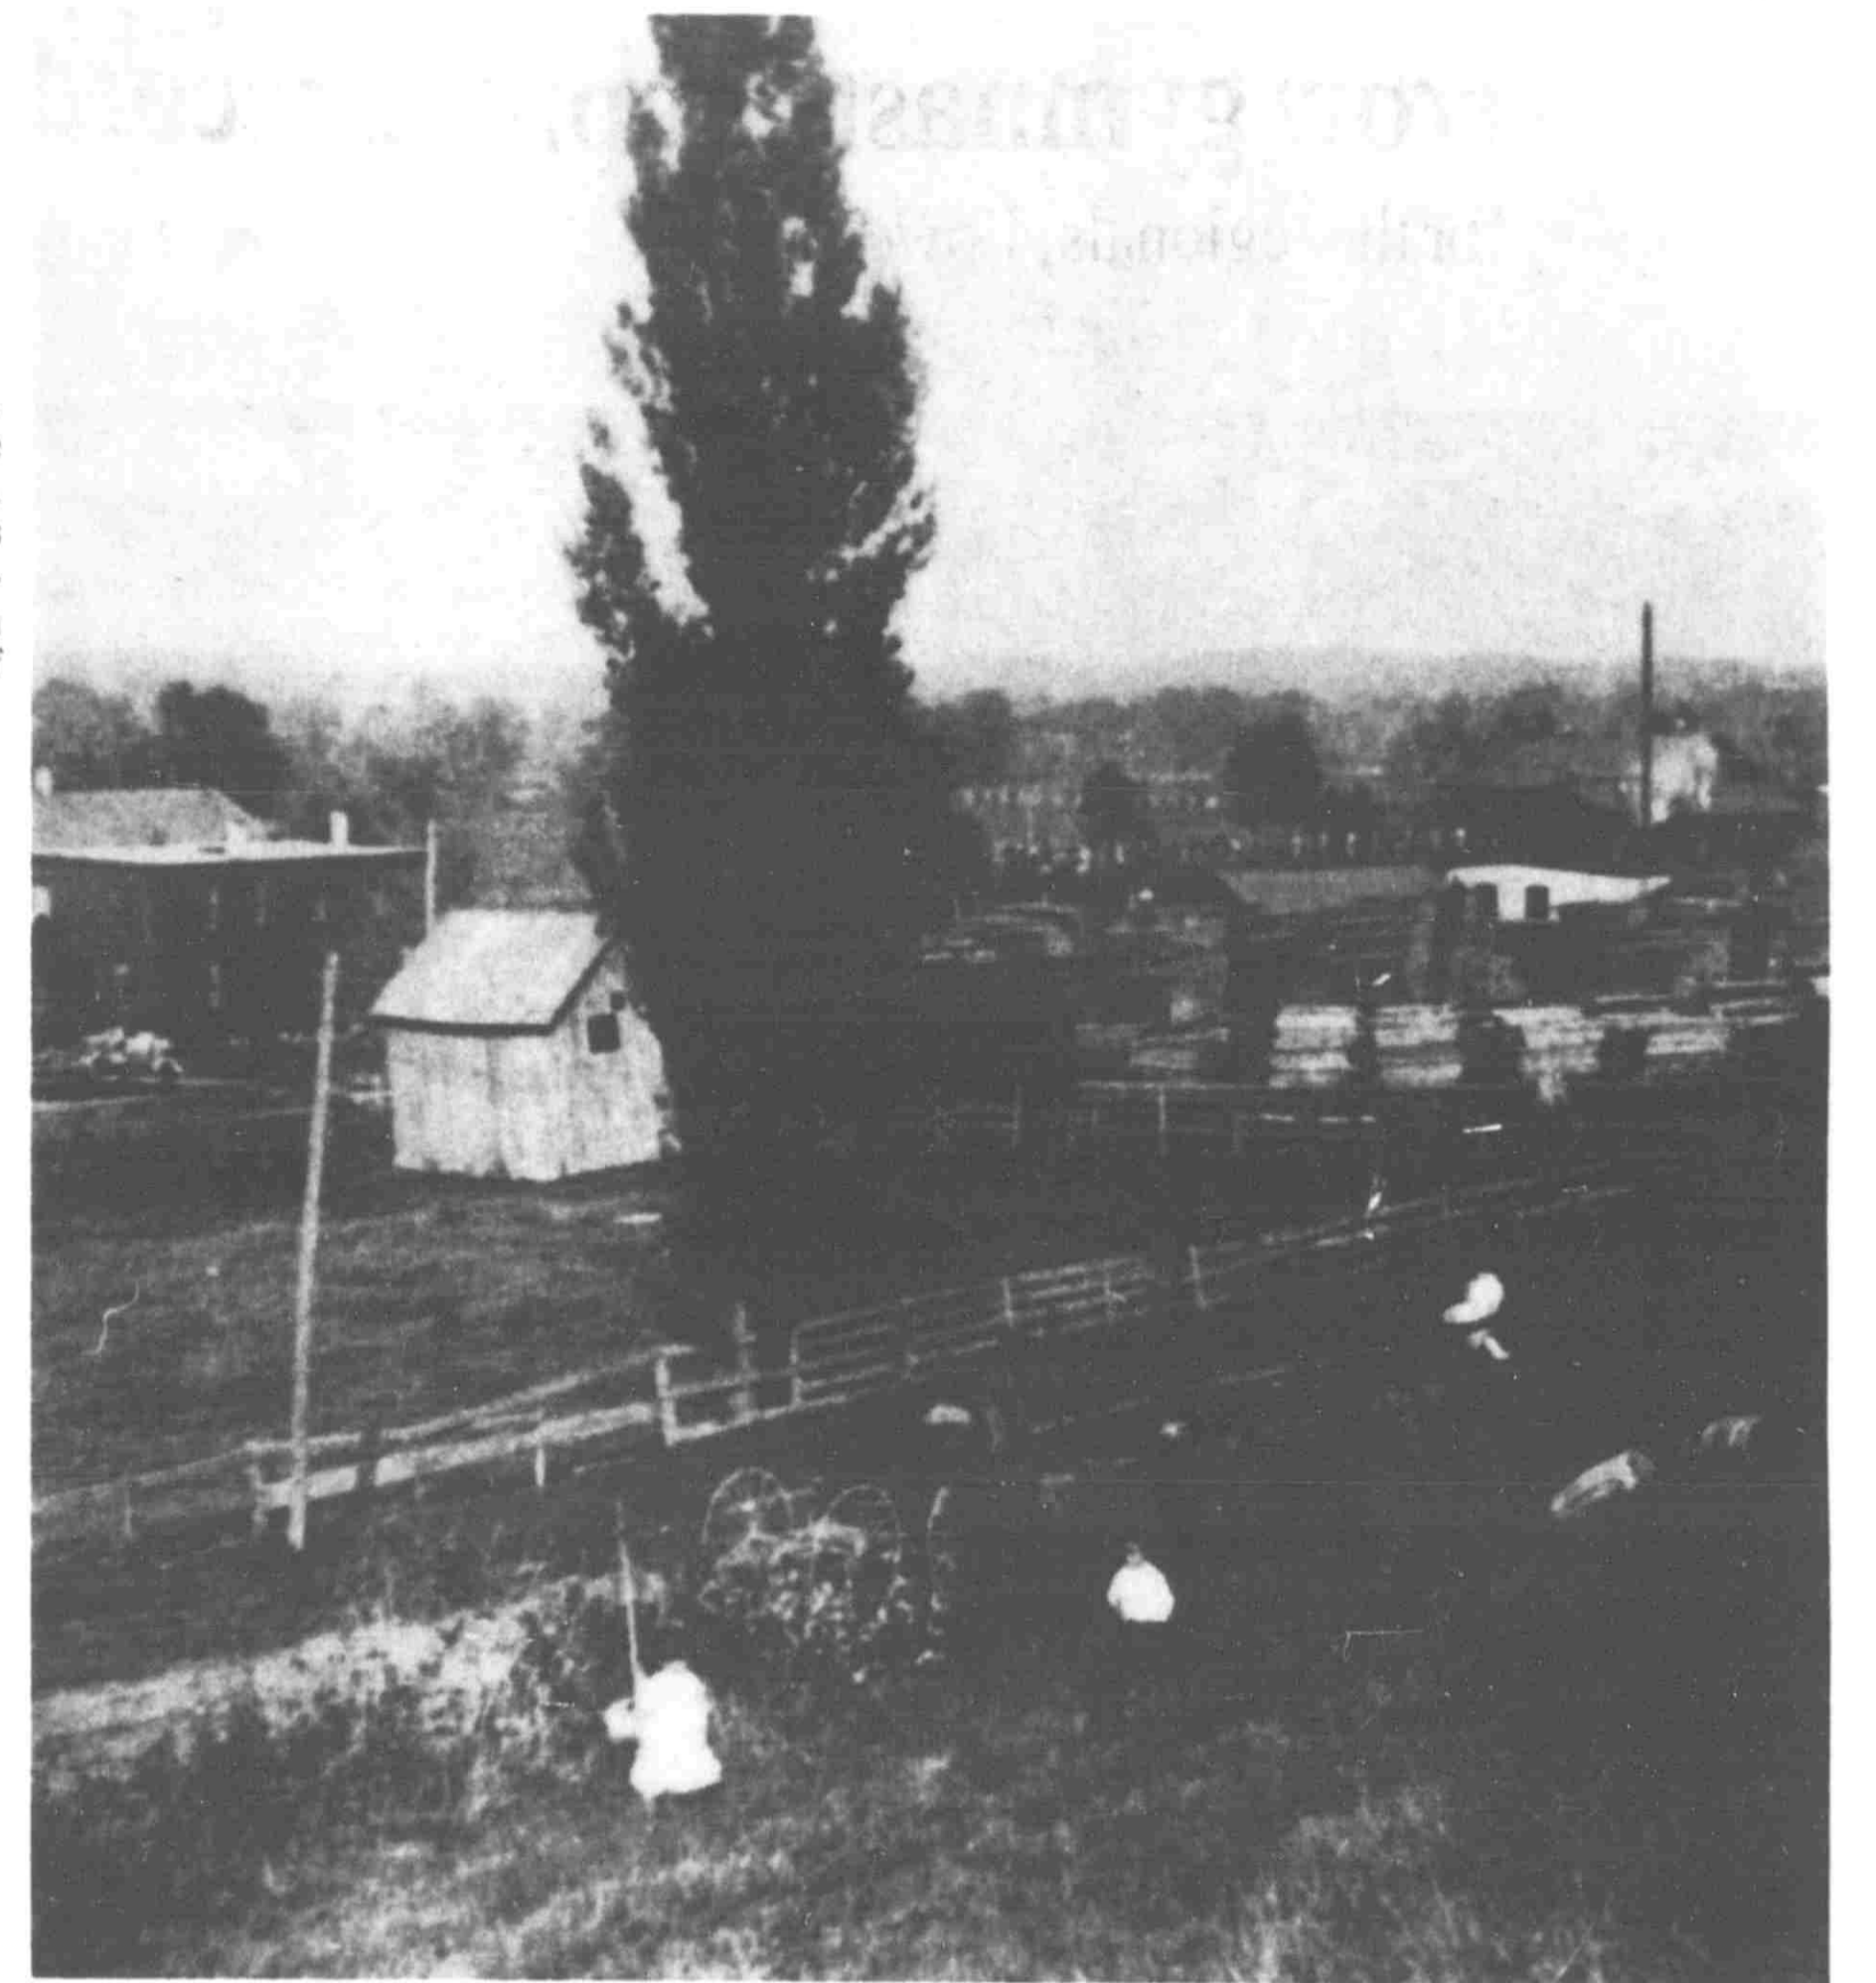

Carrie Lipkea took a first on the uneven bars.

A pictorial look back at Lowell's history.

We are looking Northeast at the Lowell Furniture Co., which is located just south of the Grand River. To the right we see stacks of lumber and the main factory. A trestle tramway connects it with a warehouse which is adjacent to the Detroit, Grand Haven, Milwaukee Railroad. It looks like a group of employees is standing on the tramway for the photograph. HEALTH HINTS
Tips For Terrific Teeth And Gums

An invisible invader can turn smiles into frowns. The enemy? Plaque—a film of bacteria that forms continually on the surface of teeth. Plaque build-up can cause gingivitis, an early form of gum disease. If unchecked, gingivitis may lead to periodontitis—one of the primary causes of tooth loss in adults today.

• Visit your dentist regularly.
• Eat a well-balanced diet and avoid sugary snacks.
• Brush your teeth at least twice a day.
• Floss daily to remove plaque from between your teeth.
• For extra protection, rinse with Listerine, twice a day for 80 seconds.

Lastly, Dr. Ross suggests that consumers look for the American Dental Association (ADA) Seal of Acceptance when choosing dental products, since this is their assurance that the product is safe and effective for the claims it makes.

Zoning Board of Appeals denies Johnsons' variance

A request by William and Fay Johnson to have a variance granted for the development on roughly 90-acres of land on the Flat River at the end of Beckwith was denied by the Vergennes Township Zoning Board of Appeals at a public meeting held at the Vergennes Township Hall on Monday evening.

Vergennes Township Supervisor, Jim Cook, said that, in effect, the board does not have the power to change zoning when the primary reason for the request is economical.

"The request was for economic purposes to advertise sites and make money," Cook said.

Johnson's architect, Mark DeVries added that making a "profit" is not a dirty word. "It is okay to make a profit."

DeVries said he thought the primary reason for the denial was that the rezoning does not comply with the R.A. (Residential Agricultural) District and that the width and acreage did not comply with present zoning.

R.A. District calls for a minimum of three acres per site. The development, as planned would have a site as large as 4 1/2 acres and as small as 1 1/2 acres.

In order to comply with the R.A. District, Johnsons would have to reduce their sites to 15. "Cutting the number of sites to 15 makes it pretty thin," DeVries said. He added the project's economic viability would then be in question.

The size and shape of the land DeVries described as a limiting factor and is a major reason for requesting a zoning change. "The shape is an economic hardship. If the land was square, the new road and the service (utility) expenses could be limited."

Johnsons and DeVries were not only denied by the Zoning Board of Appeals but roughly 30 residential people from the area levied their disapproval against new development. The most common and overriding reason was the residents did not want more traffic and houses in the area.

The denial leaves Johnsons with at least two choices: going to the planning commission for a zoning change and/or let the courts decide. DeVries said that their attorney would mill over other options and a decision would be made. He would not comment as to what those options might be.

The decision as to what to do next could take as short as a week or as long as a month, he added.

The architect said prior to the date with the Zoning Board of Appeals the question of whether land inundated by water is legally land was a legal question - one that would have to be answered in court. Following the appeal, he added that going to court would not be the primary option.

In the year 1880 the population of the United States was 50,155,783.

Beer Store closes; renovations start Feb. 11th and 12th

Gary Laux, owner of the Lowell Beer Store, announced that the business will be closing its doors Feb. 11 and 12 so that renovations may be completed.

Laux, a silent partner for 12 years, has been sole owner of the Lowell Beer Store for the past nine years.

"We're going to be putting in a commercial linoleum floor, reorganizing stock, redecorating and painting," Laux said. The $5-$6,000 worth of renovations will be completed by gentleman out of Grand Rapids. Laux said a new floor was last put in 6-7 years ago. "It's crumbling and pulling up in spots. We're also going to put carpet down near the two door entrances," he says.

The Lowell Beer Store was opened in 1941 and run for 27 years by Jack Fonger. In 1968 it was purchased by George King in partnership with Laux. Extensive remodeling was done in 1981 and its inventory expanded until it had the largest selection of liquors and wines in the area.

"The Lowell Beer Store, I believe, is one of the oldest licensees in Michigan," Laux says.

Lowell's Beer Store will re-open on Feb. 13 at 9 a.m.

Keech continued...

24, was working when she got a call from Keech that David was having problems breathing. She testified in October, that when she got home they tried to revive David through mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

In accepting the plea, the trial court noted that the lack of provocation for Keech's anger and the size differential between the 29 pound five-year old and the 275 pound Keech.

The Lowell man will be held in Ionia County Jail pending completion of the pre-sentence investigation.

Back on Aug. 11 Dickerson was pronounced dead from blunt force injuries to the head in an autopsy done by Dr. Stephen Cohle, the forensic pathologist at Blodgett Memorial Medical Center.

Keech was picked up on Sept. 1 for the death of the Dickerson boy.
