Council votes to shift operation of the Lowell Medical Rescue Unit to Lowell Fire

Lowell Chief of Police Barry Emmons approached the Lowell City Council at its regular meeting held Monday, March 19 with a proposal to transfer operation of the Lowell Medical Rescue unit from the Police Department to the Fire Department. According to Emmons, the proposed shift has been coming for some time. He cited several reasons for the change. Problems with dispatching from the Kent County Sheriff's Department headed the list. Emmons explained that Lowell Medical Rescue is the only such unit in the county, and one of very few in west Michigan, that is still operated by a police department. All others are under the jurisdiction of area fire departments. According to Emmons, this scenario creates confusion at the dispatcher level, and often leads to improper dispatching of police, fire and rescue here in Lowell. Emmons also noted that the new Look Memorial Fire Station would make a better location for the rescue vehicle in that it is heated, highly accessible and is also the location Lowell Ambulance operates from. Emmons said that this situation would allow for the medical rescue unit to operate as a stand-by for Lowell Ambulance, rather than having both units dispatched for every call. Emmons said the new policy would cut costs

1990 Lowell Showboat Pageant is Saturday

The 1990 Miss Lowell Showboat Queen Pageant will take center stage this Saturday (March 24), at the Lowell Middle School.

The pageant gala is scheduled to commence at 7 p.m. The public is welcomed and there will be a $1 admission.

There will be 10 young ladies between the ages of 17 and 21 vying for the crown. They are Michele Christine Chamberlain, Patsy Kay Deans, Lori Esch, Laura Adams, Jennifer Cook, Jenny Horian, Tonya Stepek, Danielle Bundy, Jody Smith and Christine Kenney.

The 1990 Lowell Showboat Queen will be asked to appear at all three Showboat performances, and be a Showboat representative in roughly nine parades and festivals throughout the summer. Lowell City residents with sidewalks that need to be replaced may find it economically wise to take advantage of the final year of a three-year sidewalk construction program.

City residents asked to take advantage of sidewalk construction program

Lowell City residents with sidewalks that need to be replaced may find it economically wise to take advantage of the final year of a three-year sidewalk construction program.

Lowell City Council members voted not to continue the program in 1991. The current program is contracted out to Richard Wheeler. Under the contract, the City and residents split the costs if a sidewalk is replaced. If a new sidewalk is put down, the City covers 25 percent of costs.

Residents can spread their payments out over five years and have it added onto their property tax. For example, if it cost a resident $1,000 to replace an old sidewalk, the City and resident each pay $500. The resident then can have that $500 added to his property tax over a five-year period ($100 a year) without any interest charge.

If it's a new sidewalk at a cost of $1,000, the City then pays $250 and the resident pays $750, with the same five-year payment plan.

After 1990, the program will be dropped, and the cost will fall strictly on the resident with no financial help from the City.

The City of Lowell will also have the right to tell residents to put in a new sidewalk or to replace an old sidewalk.

City officials are hopeful residents will take advantage of the final year of the sidewalk construction program.

TOWN TALK

What do you think about the new entertainment format of the 1990 Showboat?

Laura Leasure, Lowell

I think it's great. It's about time the Showboat did something to bring more people in. This way it will please all the age groups. I would hope that someday the Showboat could have a week of shows similar to the Ionia County Fair. I've gone to the Showboat every year since I was 12.

Lowell Herrington, Lowell

It's a good idea to have a different entertainer every night. This way the Showboat draws different crowds every night. I think the different entertainers will also bring better and bigger crowds every evening. They will be more diversified.

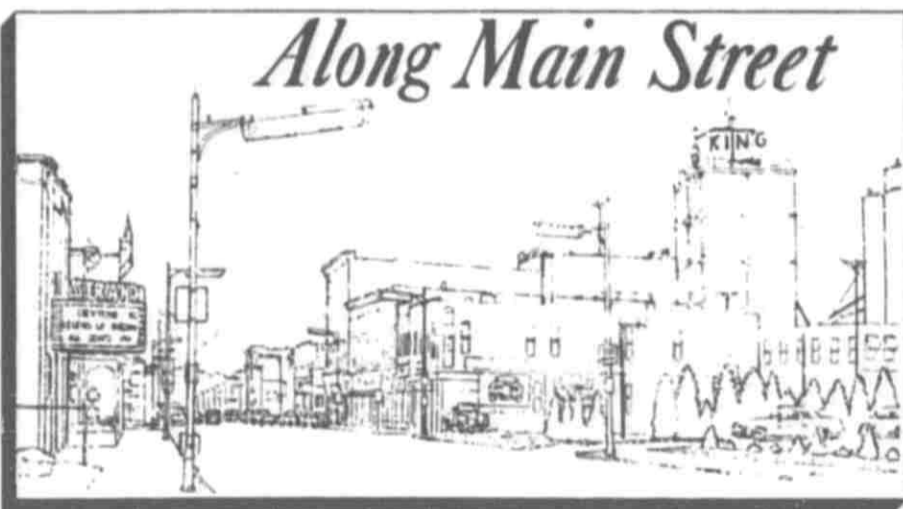

Walter Nickless, Lowell

It's a good idea if the entertainment costs are not greater. If the costs are greater, then it was a bad idea. Showboat doesn't fill up the amphitheatre. Showboat is not the Ionia County Fair, where it has big crowds every night.

Carol Wissman, Lowell

I also like the idea. I think the change will help bring in bigger crowds. I don't think people were real happy with B.J. Thomas last year. However, the year before, the Lettermen were great. Different people like different types of acts.

GOVERNMENT COMMODITIES - MARCH 29

Commodities will be distributed March 29 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Moose Lodge, 210 1/2 E. Main, Lowell.

To be eligible you must have proof of all total household gross income. Copies of check stubs, bank statements, ADC, Social Security, Food Stamps, GA, etc. will be accepted.

I think it's a good idea. It allows people to choose from a variety of acts. With just one act you're not going to please everybody. I especially like the choice of Ricky Skaggs. I definitely will go see that show.

Kathleen Thomas, Lowell

The more entertainers, the more people who will attend. I've been to probably one Showboat in 30 years, but with Ricky Skaggs coming on June 23, I'll be sure to go again.

Mike Hayden, Lowell

Three different entertainers make for a better variety. The Showboat can now satisfy the older and younger crowds.

Ray Miller, Saranac

It seems to me that three entertainers are better than just one. The Showboat should attract more people now.

Lowell High School students' art works entered in West Central Michigan Scholastic Art Show

Three ninth grade students' art works were selected for the juried West Central Michigan Scholastic Art Show. These art works were completed in their eighth grade advanced art class at the Middle School with Karen Lambert last spring semester. Angie MacMillan won an honorable mention on her Byzantine Mosaic. It was displayed in Plainfield Department Store window of North Kent Mall.

Wendi Dudeck and Denise Lang each received blue ribbons for their primitive animal clay plaques. Dudeck's stylistic bear was darkened with candle smoke. Lang's lion was colored with vegetable oil and chalk. They were displayed in William Klein Both plaques will go to New York for judging for the National Scholastic Show.

An awards ceremony was held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 27 at North Kent Mall which hosted the show.

for the city and townships by reducing the number of runs made by the medical rescue unit.

Emmons elaborated further on the future of Lowell Medical rescue operating independently from their own vehicle, a 1983 Ford McCoy-Miller ambulance type vehicle with more than 116,000 miles on the odometer. Emmons questioned the safety and dependability of the rescue unit, known as "840". After meetings with Fire Chief Frank Martin, Emmons said that both he and Martin recommend that 840 be deactivated and the rescue equipment be put aboard a fire department vehicle known as unit 10. Unit 10 is a former fire tanker truck that was deactivated a few years ago because the tank and high pressure pumps were beyond reasonable repair. The cab, motor and chassis were still in good condition and were fitted with a crew cab. This unit now houses the fire department's extraction equipment and serves as transportation for personnel to fires, auto accidents and other emergencies. Martin feels there is room for the medical rescue equipment now on-board 840, to be loaded in 10. Several members of Lowell Medical Rescue, to include Captain Jerry Despres, were on hand at the meeting. Despres and other rescue personnel did not disapprove of the shift in operation or the move to the Look Memorial Fire Station. However, they were uniformly opposed to moving the rescue equipment from 840 to 10.

Despres and others cited problems such as the lack of climate control in unit 10. One example given was in the case of heatstroke victims needing a cool place to recover. Another problem was noted in the fact that a gurney would have to be lifted two to three feet higher to get it into unit 10 as opposed to 840. Unit 10's ability to get into tight spots, such as exist in the trailer parks, was also questioned.

After hearing all the arguments, the Council voted to shift the operation of the Lowell Medical Rescue Unit to the Lowell Fire Department, and let the logistics of vehicles and location become staff decisions. This move will be effective April 1.

Vergennes Board approves preliminary sub-division plan

The above photo depicts the property line between the Lowell Airport and property owned by William Schreuer. A trainer aircraft owned by the Grand Rapids School of The Bible and Music is making a landing approach to the airport's main runway 30/12. The approach path to 30 brings planes in low over property proposed as a sub-division.

The Vergennes Township Board recently granted preliminary approval to two sub-division plats proposed by William Schreuer of 12209 Bailey Dr. The recent action taken by the board is the first of many steps necessary to establish the properties as sub-divisions under the Michigan Sub-Division Control Act. Both proposed sub-divisions abut the Lowell Airport.

The idea is to have the developer come before controlling governmental bodies to discuss his intentions, so that any holes in the plans can be dealt with before going to the state.

One of the plats would be at the north end of the east line of the Lowell Airport property and the other plat would be located at the east end of the north line.

The preliminary plan for the scenic view plats have already been examined by the Michigan Aeronautics Commission. Planning Board member Gil Wise said the Commission had no objections.

In a letter to Schreuer, Robert Addy, Administrator from the Airport Development Division of the Bureau of Aeronautics, wrote that the Bureau is cautious about residential development being planned next to an airport.

"Over the years an airport will attract corporate and industrial users because of the convenience and utility it contributes to their livelihood," he says.

Addy also made mention of covenants being imposed on the properties adjacent to the airport boundary which would restrict the land use within a 70' zone from the property line.

The Federal Aviation Administration requires a notice from any individual proposing to erect or alter an object which may affect navigable airspace.

This gives the FFA an opportunity to recognize potential aeronautical hazards in order to attempt to discourage or prevent construction or minimize the adverse effects to aviation.

The notice must be filed at least 30 days before the construction or alteration is to begin; and before the application for a construction permit is filed.

At the March 12 meeting, Schreuer was given five years to acquire approvals and to compose a detailed layout.

In other Vergennes Township news, Supervisor, Jim Cook, was authorized and directed to file an application for $7,500 for the Fallsburg Historic Preserve Project.

Cook was also given permission by the township to sign the contract and any necessary amendments to the contract.

The grant, which comes through the state by way of the National Historic Preservation Commission, will help to cover a number of items.

Fallsburg Historical Society President, Priscilla Lussmyer said the matching $7,500 grant will be used first for an historical archaeological survey of Fallsburg.

Lussmyer said the grant should be available by the first of April. "The work must be done before we get the money. However, if you do the work then apply for money, you're out of luck," she said.

The grant funds will also be used for the nomination to the National Register of Historical Places. Lussmyer said the decision of whether to accept or deny a nomination is made an archaeological historian expert.

The Fallsburg Historical Society will also look to have an historic preservation plan done by an expert.

The Vergennes Township Board renewed Rick Tichelaar's special exception use for his mobile home. Tichelaar received an extension to leave his mobile home on his property for one more year.

The application for the Kent County Community Development Block Grant, totaling $36,900 for the Vergennes Historical Commission, was also approved by the Vergennes Township Board.

The commission must submit an application by March 30 stating its intention to use the money.

The Commission's president, Judy Baird said $4,800 of the funds will be used to match the Federal Historical Preservation Planning Grant from the state; $1,200 will be put toward the purchase of an historical site marker for the Tower Farm in Fallsburg; Approximately $5,000 will be used for engineering plans and specifications for various buildings in the Fallsburg Village; and the balance of the funds will be used for restoration projects in Fallsburg Village.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

Jesus saith unto them, Fill the waterpots with water. And they filled them up to the brim (John 2:7).

Saturday was cleaning day at home. Usually Mom worked in the kitchen baking bread, beans and desserts for Sunday, while we girls thoroughly swept and dusted the house. Throughout the week, we gave the house what we called "a lick and a promise" - dusting the table tops and sweeping the middle of the floor, leaving the corners until the end of the week.

Jesus gave a task to the servants at the wedding feast. He asked them to fill the waterpots with water. They obeyed, filling each container not half full, nor to within a couple of inches from the top, but to the brim.

Are we like those servants? When God assigns tasks to us, how do we respond? Are we quick to do His will? Do we give whole-hearted service? Or, do we try to get by in doing as little as possible?

If we truly love the Lord, we will do our very best. We will want to do as much as we possibly can instead of trying to get by on "a lick and a promise."

Prayer: Dear Jesus, it is a privilege and pleasure to work for Thee. Show me what Thou wouldst have me do today. I shall obey and give Thee my best instead of trying to get by on "a lick and a promise." Amen.

The task Thy wisdom hath assigned, Oh, let me cheerfully fulfill; In all my works Thy presence find, And prove Thine acceptable will.

LIVING -- BEAUTIFULLY DONE

"Eating. Sleeping. Bathing. Chores. These are the things we do every day, yet few of us stop to consider HOW we perform the routines that occupy 95 percent of our lives; in chaos or serenity; with irritation or with joy."

If I hadn't accidentally come upon the name of Alexandra Stoddard, I wouldn't have known about her book, "Living A Beautiful Life," and I wouldn't have had the pure joy of reading it, nor the excitement of sharing it with other women. Having had all of that -- my life seems richer and more beautiful in some ways.

cozy corner by Roger Brown

As much as I hate to admit it, the ploy is working. Our new dog, Thor, is winning his way into my heart despite my best efforts to ignore him. Notice the use of the word, "our"? That's a bad sign. Two weeks ago it would have been Terese, Angie and Casey's dog.

In case you missed the announcement earlier, the aforementioned trio conspired to buy a new puppy against the loudest and staunchest protests I could muster. The plot was well thought out. The pup is a grandson and spittin' image of my old yellow Lab, "Thor of the Millpond". Thor was my, Old Yeller, Lassie, Rin Tin Tin and Flipper (Flipper?) all rolled into one.

When Thor died about five years ago, I knew there could never be a replacement, and I was dead set against getting another dog. We ended up with Duffy any way. He's a big, well-behaved, docile, loving golden retriever. Duffy and I have this agreement, and it has worked out real well. He doesn't pretend to be a replacement for Thor, and I don't Springtime is one of those seasonal changes when we want to shed the trappings of winter and get into the start of something new. Weight loss, a new outfit, fixing up the house or yard, or both sometimes, some new form of exercise or a different style of hairdo is usually a sign to the world around us that something has gotten into us. What was good enough in the winter, now calls for a change.

Alexandra has worked in the decorative arts for over twenty-five years and says, "I've become convinced that only by paying careful attention to the simple details of daily tasks and to our immediate surroundings can we live vitally and beautifully all the days of our lives. It takes a commitment to enjoy each day fully. And it takes respect for the significance of grace."

"The significance of grace." I like that--and to help us to understand that, she has a section called GRACE NOTES at the end of each chapter. These notes are the ones that excite me most. When I first got the book, I began to sneak preview the rest of the GRACE NOTES throughout the book. Some were usable--others were not--but the choices were abundant and for the most part usable and delightful.

In a NOTE TO THE READER, Alexandra states: "My aim is to inspire you, by useful examples, to go ahead and create expect him to be. We've gotten along just fine under those conditions for nearly five years. Now we've got this pup to deal with.

Like I said, Thor's namesake has got a lot of his grandad in him. He's about twice as strong as you'd guess him to be. He's at least three times as determined to get his way than he ought to be. He's at least four times smarter than he lets on to be. He yelps, potties, chews and acts up in general about five times more than he should. And, when it comes to "bullheadedness" (is that really a word?), we're talkin', squared to the tenth power . . . at least!

Here's where you ask, "If this pup is so wild, crazy and apparently just plain nuts, how can he be winning his way into my heart?" Say now, that is a mighty good question. And, I don't think I have a very good answer. I guess it's just his irrepressible nature that appeals to me. Now who's nuts?

I'll give you a couple of examples of the determination and/or bullheadedness that won his grandad a place in my heart.

When we lived in Saranac our house was situated on a steep bank overlooking the millpond, (hence the name I referred to earlier). I would throw a stick, ball or retrieving dummy as far out into that pond as I possibly could: Thor would watch until he had a fix on the point of impact, then hurtle down the bank, dive into the water, swim for all he was worth to the object to be retrieved, beeline it to shore and run back up the bank. He'd then drop the object at my beauty and ease in the areas of life that mean the most to you, day after day. I'm trying to provoke and inspire you to set up your daily life for effectiveness and grace."

When I looked over those words, I thought how seldom, if ever, we hear anyone say that to us or hear ourselves inspire others to effectiveness and grace. How sad! And yet the thrilling part of the sadness is the gladness of actually hearing someone say that to us, personally, in this book. Books have faces--books have heart--and there is always a means by which we can learn about living a beautiful life.

I began this article with a quote from the front fly-leaf of the book and I now end it with the last paragraph in which Alexandra quotes the words of Ruth St. Denis, the great American dancer: "How, in the end, can one possibly hold anyone responsible for our own underdeveloped visions, or underdeveloped strengths of character." Reading the book, one understands how potent those words are.

And from Samuel Johnson: "To improve the golden moment of opportunity and catch the good that is within our reach is the great art of life."

The Lowell Library has this inspiring book on its shelves--waiting for you in this new spring season.

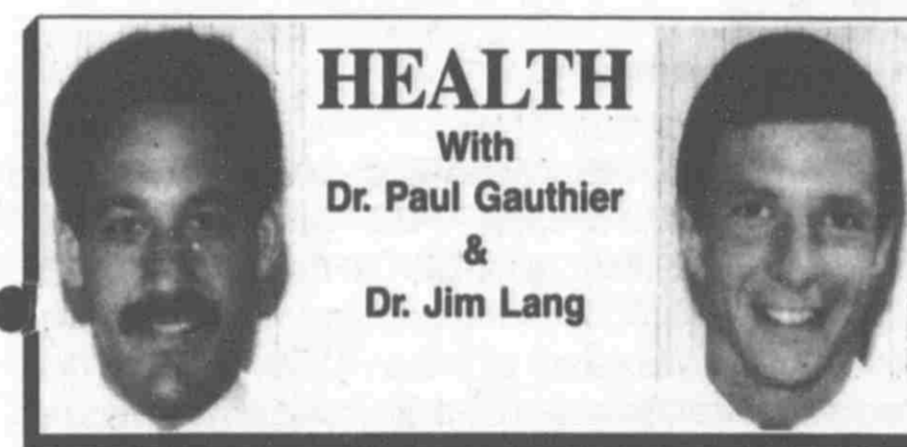

feet and beg me to throw it again. That's no big deal because that's what a retriever is supposed to do. The big deal was, he'd go through that gruelling routine thirty, forty, fifty, even more times, and still beg me to throw it again. You'd swear he was going to keel over from exhaustion, but still he'd beg for more. That's a good example.

Here's a bad example. When I'd get up in the morning to let him out he'd always take a couple of steps onto the patio, stop, stick his nose into the air and take a good whiff. If he got that weird look in his eye and set his ears just so, I knew he was up to something. It might have been garbage day in the neighborhood, or maybe there was a female scent in the air, whatever, Thor was gone. If I wasn't quick enough and lucky enough to latch onto him immediately, there wasn't any amount of whistling, screaming, yelling or cajoling that would bring him back. He was once gone three weeks in the dead of winter. There must have been a particularly choice attraction at the end of that airborne fragrance. That same determination made him a good retriever and a lousy pet. But, it's the kind of stuff great tales are woven from.

Well, as I said, Thor Jr. is full of his grandad. Let's just hope that between what we've learned about raising dogs, Duffy's shining example and an honest effort to properly train this guy, he'll turn out to be better behaved than his namesake. On the other hand, considering my continual need of material for this column, I hope we aren't totally successful.

HEALTH With Dr. Paul Gauthier & Dr. Jim Lang

LEGIONNAIRE'S DISEASE

Legionnaire's disease is an acute respiratory infection caused by a relatively new strain of bacteria called Legionella. In 1976 there was an abrupt and explosive outbreak of severe respiratory infections in Philadelphia. These infections occurred chiefly among the delegates of an American Legion convention. Confusion existed as to why these individuals were specifically at risk, and an intensive search ensued to identify the cause of this curious outbreak. It ultimately became apparent that at least 220 cases of pneumonia - 34 of which were fatal - resulted from a common airborne source of infection which had been present for several days in the immediate vicinity of one of the convention hotels. A new bacteria was thusly identified and is now known as the agent responsible for Legionnaire's disease.

Legionnaire's disease is now known to occur worldwide. Its primary means of transmission is via droplet infection - i.e. coughing, sneezing, kissing, etc. Initial symptoms include fever, cough, muscle aching, and headache. In many cases this progresses to shortness of breath, increased respiratory rate and pneumonia which so compromises the patient that hospitalization is often required. If this infection is aggressive enough or is not recognized and treated on a timely basis, respiratory failure (as happened with the fatal cases in Philadelphia) can occur.

The diagnosis is made by culturing the sputum of the infected individual. Treatment is then begun with Erythromycin, an antibiotic which has emerged as the drug of choice in treating Legionnaire's disease. If treatment is begun early, the overall prognosis for recovery is generally good, and the patient infrequently develops any long-term respiratory difficulties after the infection has cleared. Again, early diagnosis and treatment is essential in the successful management of this new disease process.

Classroom crunch turns hallway into computer lab

Second, third and fourth-grade classrooms at Bushnell Elementary have enrollments that by contract are over-capacity.

Hmmm... where have you heard that before?

"I believe people are aware that there are currently too many children in the classrooms," Bushnell Principal Dave Burdette said. "I'm not sure they are aware that there are no other classrooms in which to put students in."

Burdette says Bushnell has five sections of first-grade classrooms and four sections of second-grade classrooms. Burdette said he knows in 1990-91 five sections of second-grade classrooms will be needed. "I just don't know where that classroom will come from. It's either going to have to be office space or the teacher's lounge," Burdette surmises.

There are 22 self contained rooms at Bushnell. There is presently a self-contained room (formerly an old hallway) and a resource room being used to house 24 special education students.

Burdette says Bushnell has 550 students this year. It was projected to have only 542 pupils. Burdette is expecting an additional 15 students for the 1990-91 school year.

"If there are five sections of both second and third-graders next year, then I feel we can handle a few extra students at those grade levels," Burdette said.

There are also a half dozen or so computers without a room to put them in. Because of the insufficient number of rooms, the computers have been set up in a hallway.

Along with the classroom crunch, Bushnell has had to deal with a leaking roof. However, with the help of metal troughs the water has been run into white plastic buckets. There is a solution to this problem. Over the summer, Bushnell will have a new roof put on. The work will be funded through the 1.4 mills tucked away from the energy and maintenance program.

Burdette points to new carpet in the music room and replacing ceiling tiles that have been ruined by the leaking roof as other improvements that are needed.

Yes, there are some re-deeming qualities at Bushnell. Unlike Runciman, Bushnell's library serves the school adequately. Burdette says there is room for free-standing shelves if book space is needed. The playground cont'd. pg. 20

This resource room is used for special education purposes. The student total is currently at 15.

A Bushnell hallway serves as a home for these computers.

There are 28 students who fill up this room. This is one of many rooms that are at capacity or over capacity at Bushnell.

Item No. 1. ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

A. 1601 W. MAIN - BERNARD'S TRUE VALUE HARDWARE - STORAGE OF BULK PETROLEUM PRODUCTS NOT PERMITTED BY RIGHT IN THE C-2 (GENERAL BUSINESS) DISTRICT - SET PUBLIC HEARING (3/19). Bernard's True Value Hardware has requested to install propane filling services for its customers. In order to do this, a variance is needed because this use is not mentioned in the C-2 (General Business) district.

B. 611 N. JEFFERSON - MARK DENTON - ALLOWANCE OF PLASTIC INJECTION MOLDING BUSINESS IN A RESIDENTIAL GARAGE. Mark Denton stated that he wishes to use his garage at 611 N. Jefferson for a plastic molding business. In reviewing the proposal, it was determined that the business does not fit within the definition of a home occupation, and thus a variance has been requested. Also, Mr. Denton sought the entire use of the garage, where home occupations limit to 25% of floor area for such accessory buildings. It was also noted that a 4' x 14', 75 ton molding machine would be present along with a chiller and products in the garage. Mr. Denton would do all the work himself.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Doyle to set the public hearings for March 19, 1990 to consider variances for Bernard's True Value Hardware, 1601 W. Main for storage of bulk petroleum products and for Mark Denton at 611 N. Jefferson for a plastic molding business in a garage in a residential district.

Item No. 2. LOWELL GRANITE COMPANY (306 E. MAIN) - APPLICATION FOR AN INDUSTRIAL FACILITIES EXEMPTION CERTIFICATE - SET PUBLIC HEARING (3/19). At the February 5, 1990 meeting, the Council established an Industrial Development District for Lowell Granite. The district status has enabled the company to apply for a 50% tax abatement on the new expansion (24' x 66' addition) and equipment. In reviewing the application, it was noted that Lowell Granite would qualify for two years of abatement under the point system adopted by the Council. The cost of the building improvements plus machinery and equipment has been calculated at $209,718. Five current jobs are to be retained with one new job expected to be created.

IT WAS MOVED by Doyle and seconded by Hodges to set a public hearing for March 19, 1990 to consider the application for an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate of two years for Lowell Granite Company located at 306 E. Main.

Item No. 3. COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT - ADDITIONAL ALLOCATION FOR THE WATER WELL PROJECT. City Manager Pasquale said that the City had been recently informed of funding allocations from the Federal Community Development Block Grant through Kent County. In discussing projects with Jack Nienhuis (Grant Coordinator), the continued funding of the well west of the Water Treatment Plant was considered a priority. Thus far, $50,000 of Community Development funds have been allocated toward this $120,000 project.

It was recommended that an additional $12,000 be allotted toward the well project. These funds would greatly assist the Water Fund in completion of the work. The project has received previous approval from the County therefore no public hearing is necessary.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Doyle to use the $12,000 in Community Block Grant funds from the 1990-91 and 1991-92 allocations for the west well at the Water Treatment Plant.

Item No. 4. CREEKSIDE PARK CONCESSION STAND PROPOSAL FROM DON AND LYNN GREEN.

Don and Lynn Green (226 N. Center) requested the opportunity to operate the concession stand at Creekside Park during all scheduled events from April 15, 1990 thru April 14, 1991. They will sell prepackaged food and canned pop, keeping the restrooms open during events. While the City would be responsible for providing the supplies for the restrooms, the Greens would ensure that the facilities are clean and supplied. They did stipulate that the concession stand would be used during weekend tournaments that are marginally attended and non-profitable for the time required to keep the stand open.

City Manager Pasquale stated that since there was difficulty in securing non-profit group operators, it has been recommended that Don and Lynn Green be given the opportunity to run the concession stand. Mayor Maatman questioned if additional insurance would be necessary and if so it should be the responsibility of the Greens to provide it. City Manager Pasquale said he would check with the City Attorney. Also, a letter of understanding is to be drawn outlining the requirements with the City.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Doyle to allow Don and Lynn Green to operate the concession stand at Creekside Park during all scheduled events from April 15, 1990 thru April 14, 1991 subject to reviewing insurance requirements needed for the Greens.

Item No. 5. POLE LICENSE AGREEMENT WITH CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY FOR CABLE TV.

The pole license agreement with Consumers Power Company for Cable TV has provided an annual fee of $4.95 per pole used as is currently assessed. The City utilizes 164 poles paying $811.80. Also, a cost of $1.00 per pole is charged for review of proposed expansion of the City system by Consumers. City Attorney Richard Wendt stated in his letter that it is important to note that as this rate schedule increases, the City automatically becomes obligated under the Agreement to pay the increased rates. Also, it was noted that Article XVII provides that the term of the Agreement continues indefinitely until one party gives the other at least 6 months' advance written notice of termination. The Light and Power (Cable TV) Board recommended approval of this document at their February 12 meeting.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Doyle to adopt the pole license agreement with Consumers Power Company for Cable TV as presented.

Item No. 6. CITIZENS SUGGESTIONS. None.

Item No. 7. COUNCIL COMMENTS. None.

Item No. 8. MANAGER'S REPORT. City Manager Pasquale reported on the following:

a. The Light and Power and Cable TV Board minutes were provided in the agenda packet. Also, Light and Power needed to know if Council was interested in attending a March 20 (10 a.m. to 4 p.m.) meeting concerning a power supply and capacity purchase agreement. No Councilmembers present were available.

b. The Look Committee approved $20,000 for the Stoney Lakeside Park project, $2,000 for the Artrain (thru Lowell Area Arts Council) and $2,500 for 20 personal alert safety systems for the firefighters at their February 21 meeting.

The Board is still reviewing a request from Jerry Bier-nacki for the purchase of a microfilm reader and printer to assist in the establishment of a Lowell History room.

c. The Planning Commission approved the site plan for renovations to accommodate a machine shop within an existing metal building at 2264 W. Main (Dan Mosher) and warehouse addition at 2335 W. Main for Admiral Petroleum at their February 26 meeting.

d. In talking to Linda Odom of the American International Adjustment Company about insurance claims concerning the January 8 gas leak, she mentioned that the firm will respond to those filing claims within the next week.

Item No. 9. APPOINTMENTS. Mayor Maatman appointed Thomas Reedy (714 Hillside Court), James D. Phillips (818 Lincoln Lake) and Antonio Siciliano (806 Lafayette) to the Construction Board of Appeals. Their terms expire in January 1, 1992.

IT WAS MOVED by Doyle to adjourn at 8:00 p.m.

Approved: March 19, 1990

Kent County Road Commission publishes new road map

The Kent County Road Commission has recently published their new and updated 1990 Kent County Highway map.

The map is now available free of charge to the public and may be picked up at all Road Commission garages, Kent County Sheriff's Department and at the Kent County Clerk's Office - County Building, downtown Grand Rapids.

Willem Pols, cartographer for the Road Commission says, "The new map has numerous changes including the addition of 15 sections of newly blacktopped roads, the relocation of 28th Street in Cascade, the expansion of the Kent County International Airport, the newly developed

"North County Trail" a 7 plus mile long non-motorized trail through the Rogue River State Game Area in Northwest Kent County. Eventually, the trail will cross all of Kent County according to Steve Warren, Kent County Road Commission planner. Also, all private streets and drives are now included in the map index."

If anyone would like to have a map sent to their home or business, please send 50 cents to cover postage and handling to: Kent County Road Commission, 1500 Scribner Avenue NW, Grand Rapids, MI 49504-3299.

Eighth-grade drama class presents play ripe with action

On Thursday, March 22, the Lowell Middle School Eighth Grade Drama Class will present the comedy melodrama, "Hurricane Smith and the Garden of the Golden Monkey." The play follows the adventures of Hurricane Smith, Jr., as he tries to find his father, who disappeared while searching for the Garden of the Golden Monkey. Hurricane survives a plane crash and encounters Cobra people, a cobra pit and villainous traders along the way.

First United Methodist Church presents fifth of the "New Celebrations for Lent"

The fifth of the "New Celebrations for Lent" will take place at the First United Methodist Church on Sunday evening, March 25 at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary. Child care will be provided and refreshments will be served in Fellowship Hall at the conclusion of the program. Gordon Gould will announce the program. Four soloists will perform, including Bill Zinke, synthesizer; Bunny Rice, handbells; Jennifer Amundsen, flute; and Ken Gregersen, trumpet. In addition two groups will play "BZ Plus Three" Acapella Quartette of Carol Briggs, Diane Barnes, Priscilla Lussmyer and Bill Zinke; and "No Refund", trio of Rob Schatte, Lindsay Combs and Rick Chandler. All are invited to this special Lenten program. A free-will offering will be taken to help defray the expenses of the series of six programs.

The Showboat Garden Club, in cooperation with the City of Lowell and funds from the Look Memorial Fund, offer an "Adopt A Tree" program.

A free tree is available to anyone within the City limits who wishes one, and will be planted between the sidewalk and curb in front of your home by experienced personnel. In return, all that is required on your part is frequent watering and T.L.C. It is expected that locust, maple, and white ash of approximately 2" + size will be available.

This is a positive approach to making our City more beautiful to the eyes of the residents and visitors alike. Help us by volunteering a few feet of ground and a little of your time to maintain the tree. It is a WIN, WIN offer to add beauty to our City at no cost to you.

Please return coupon by March 25th.

Carburetor fire destroys woman's car

A fire that started in the carburetor, according to Lowell's Fire Chief Frank Martin, destroyed the vehicle owned by Debra Murray Friday. The Lowell woman was driving on Lincoln Lake Road when she noticed smoke coming from under the hood. Murray was in the process of going to get her stolen license plate replaced. According to Martin, Murray attempted to put the fire out with gravel, but it was already well involved.

Lowell City Council approves zoning variance request

Acting as the Zoning Board of Appeals the Lowell City Council approved a variance request from Charles Bernard, owner of Bernard's True Value Hardware at 1601 W. Main. Bernard requested approval to install a 1,000-gallon propane storage tank at the southeast corner of his property for the purpose of filling smaller propane cylinders. The storage of petroleum products in the commercial district is not a listed use in the ordinance. The request was unanimously approved.

several shade trees on the fairgrounds located in Recreation Park. The group wants to establish a shady resting area near the poultry building as well as several other plantings strategically located about the grounds. The proposal had previously been recommended for council approval by the Lowell Parks and Recreation Commission. The council wholeheartedly approved the proposal.

A $4,250 bid from North Garfield Excavating of Wyoming, MI was approved by the council for the removal of three underground fuel storage tanks at the Lowell Airport. Though Garfield's bid was the highest of three received, both Lowell City Manager David Pasquale and Lowell Airport Manager Dean Peterson felt it was the only one meeting all the criteria set forth by the D.N.R. and E.P.A.

Two 1,000 gallon tanks are owned by the city. The third tank holds 3,000 gallons and is owned by the Grand Rapids School of the Bible and Music which manages the airport and operates its missionary aviation school there. G.R.S.B.M. will pay $1,466 of the total cost while the city will pay $2,784. Underground fuel storage tanks have recently come under very strict guidelines dictated by the E.P.A. and D.N.R.

A public hearing was set for April 2 to hear a variance request from James and Carole Ponchaud of 217 S. Jefferson. The Ponchauds want to develop their residence into a two family dwelling. Their home is situated on a 66 foot lot and the ordinance requires at least 100 feet of frontage. The request also asks that a requirement for a two car garage be waived.

The Lowell Granite Company of 306 E. Main was granted a two year property tax abatement on a $210,000 addition to their facilities. The two year period was arrived at using a formula which takes into account project size and cost as well as new jobs created.

Rash attends real estate convention

Marge Rash of AJS Realty recently attended the National Sales Rally sponsored by the Residential Sales Council of the Realtors National Marketing Institute. It was held in Nashville, TN, and featured nationally recognized experts in the residential real estate field.

The Residential Sales Council of the Realtors National Marketing Institute, an affiliate of the National Association of Realtors, is a leading educator and publisher in the residential real estate field. This National Sales Rally is held annually to supplement the educational offerings of the RS Council as well as to motivate the participants for another year of selling.

"During the Sales Rally, I not only picked up marketing tips from the pros, but I also made personal contacts with other residential real estate associates from around the nation", commented Rash. "I am better equipped now to serve both my clients and my customers to move their residential real estate transactions along more efficiently."

Rash is dedicated to improving her professionalism in the real estate field. She has been a sales associate with AJS Realty for a number of years. Rash has been involved with Cascade Christian Church, Stephen Ministries, League of Women Voters, Director of Finance and is currently serving on the Government Affairs Committee at the Grand Rapids Association of Realtors.

the DuPage County Health Department to determine health needs of the deaf population in the collar counties of Chicago. In the first study of its kind, Hagen will survey the estimated 6,000 deaf residents of DuPage County to determine medical, dental, and access to care problems that may exist (Phase I).

Phase II of the investigation will be to determine actual services that exist and the level of training and knowledge of the professionals that serve the deaf population. Phase III will then be to work with several agencies, including Gallaudet University for the Deaf in Washington, D.C., to organize educational efforts for both deaf citizens and professionals. In this way, major deficiencies may be corrected, and the deaf population will be made more aware of existing services.

Lowell's Hagen receives research grant

James C. Hagen, Ph.D., M.P.H., son of Mrs. Carl Hagen and a 1968 graduate of Lowell High School, has recently received two research grants to further his studies in areas of dental and public health. Hagen is currently Associate Professor of Microbiology and Assistant Dean for Research at Loyola University Medical Center in Maywood, IL.

The National Institute for Dental Research has awarded

Hagen $75,000 to study various aspects of gum disease (periodontitis). Specifically, he will study how an oral bacterium (Treponema denticola) may play a vital role in the disease process. It is hoped that his work will lead to more targeted and effective treatment for this very prevalent and damaging disease.

In a second research effort, Hagen is working jointly with

Engstrom tells Bushnell students ways to protect the earth

Bushnell Elementary commemorated the 20th Anniversary of Earth Day last Thursday. The occasion was used to embark on the school's month-long preparation for its April 26 Science Fair.

The theme for this year's fair, "The Earth is Everyone's Responsibility" was chosen in hopes of raising the students' consciousness on how to save the earth and its natural resources.

Donna Engstrom, from Recycle Unlimited, made presentations to classes throughout the entire building. The charge of Engstrom's presentation was the value in recycling man's natural resources. "It's not that difficult, it doesn't take a lot of work and it will help to keep our earth clean," she said.

The idea behind this year's fair is to provide students with an opportunity to explore an area of interest and to develop a project to be shared with other students. Lanie Rice adds, "Research and projects can lead to a realization that science is important and relevant to a student's daily life." Rice said.

The school and classroom activities will be focusing upon environmental issues in topics, suggestions for first-grade projects include a rock collection; different types of soil; plants; seeds; roots; recycling; air, water, and noise pollution.

Some of the second-grade project suggestions are erosion, endangered animals, endangered plants, water conservation and strip mining and reclamation.

Third grade suggestions include acid rain, rain forests, pollutions, recycling and alternate energy sources.

Thoughts and ideas suggested for fourth grade projects include the use of land fills and dumps; transportation (noise control & pollution); oceans and rivers (oil spills - Grand River pollution); preserving public parks and wildlife; research on biodegradables and deterioration of the ozone layer.

Thoughts and ideas suggested for fifth-grade projects are animal classification - mammal, fish, reptile, amphibian, bird; vertebrate, invertebrate; habitat.

Weather - air masses (clouds, fronts, moisture); climate (humidity, hurricanes, tornado, thunderstorm, temperature, rainfall).

Health - body systems (skeletal, muscle, digestive, Earth cont'd. pg. 21

Other needs that would be filled include a music room, two special education rooms, a science lab, resurfaced parking lots and additional playground equipment.

Lowell YMCA nears Invest in Youth Campaign goal

The Lowell YMCA 1990 Invest in Youth Campaign has edged ever so close to its goal of $12,500.

Lowell YMCA Director Doug Ybema said the Invest In Youth Campaign has received pledges amounting to 91 percent ($11,375) of its 1990 goal.

The funds raised from this campaign will help pay for scholarships to Lowell families, children, and young adults who cannot afford to pay for the cost of programs.

The Invest in Youth Program has garnered over 239 pledges from Lowell residents, businesses, and service organizations since it kicked off its campaign on Feb. 1 in conjunction with five YMCA branches in the Kent County area.

Attwood Corporation opened its office for two phone-a-thons on Feb. 13 and 16. The two phone-a-thons together raised over $900.

Lowell High School Students compete in Business Day

There were 300 students from Kent, Ottawa and Allegan counties at Grand Rapids Junior College for the 17th annual Business Competition Day last Thursday.

Lowell High School had 11 students competing and they tied for second for the second consecutive year, finishing two points behind Rogers High School.

Students from the 300 schools competed in 11 different written and oral contests, earning two firsts, two thirds and four honorable mentions (4th-6th).

The first, second and third-place winners in each category as judged by personnel directors, recruiters and managers from area businesses, received Grand Rapids Junior College scholarships of $300, $200 and $100 respectively.

Lowell winners in the individual categories were: Jennifer Cook, first, Job Application; Jason White, first, Typewriting Speed and Production; Jay VanAntwerp, third, Business Math; Stacy Beute, third, Sales; Jody Smith, honorable mention, Filing; Jen Wieland, honorable mention, Accounting I; Gregg Gruizenga, honorable mention, Accounting II; and Betsy Dommer, honorable mention, Transcription.

Other Lowell students who competed included Becky Price, Word Processing; Jennifer Langridge, Typing I; and Kirsten Amundsen, Spelling. Lowell faculty advisors for the group are Phil Christensen, Christine McDaniel and Jeanne Christenson.

"The competition creates a lot of enthusiasm," said James Skidmore, Director of the Business Division at GRJC. "The students are well prepared. They come to take care of business and win."

Dommer wins O-K white March Madness competition

Lowell's Betsy Dommer won the O-K White Division "Staffing Inc." March Madness Competition.

Dommer will compete against other league competition at Davenport College on Thursday, March 22.

This is the first year for the college and local businesses' competition for senior year business students and entails a speed and accuracy typing exam.

According to Staffing Inc.

President, Daniel Barcheski, it is meant to generate enthusiasm in the business classroom by providing teachers with an instrument to "pump their students up" and to encourage them to improve on their basic typing skills.

The competition was held under a tournament format. Each school had an inner classroom competition providing an individual champion. The champion then represents its school in a league playoff.

Once each league has determined their own champion for the City, O-K Red, O-K White, O-K Blue, and O-K Gold, a finals will be held at Davenport College (March 22).

The five finalists will compete for a number of fine prizes and local media recognition.

Two U.S. capitals preceded the District of Columbia: New York and Philadelphia.
