BOY SCOUTS SAY THANK YOU!

This year's Chicken Barbecue was an enormous success! Using statistics from the past 2-3 years, the troop purchased about 100 extra chicken halves, anticipating this would be enough for this year! They were wrong! The attendance was super --far exceeding expectations!

Thanks to those who bought and ate 450 dinners for their support and for their patience when the supply of cooked chicken slowed down, to those who returned later to eat and we apologize to those who returned later only to find the dinners were sold out.

You can be sure that the troop will be prepared for next year's event and have chicken available for all the community eaters. Thanks for your support of Boy Scout Troop 102.

is often called by his friends, netted a $106,800 pot in a Las Vegas poker game last Friday. The pot came as the result of Stormzand beating out 177 other players in World Series of Poker. The annual three week event consists of various poker games. Stormzand put up his $1,500 entry fee in the fifth event in the series, a game called Omaha Hold'em.

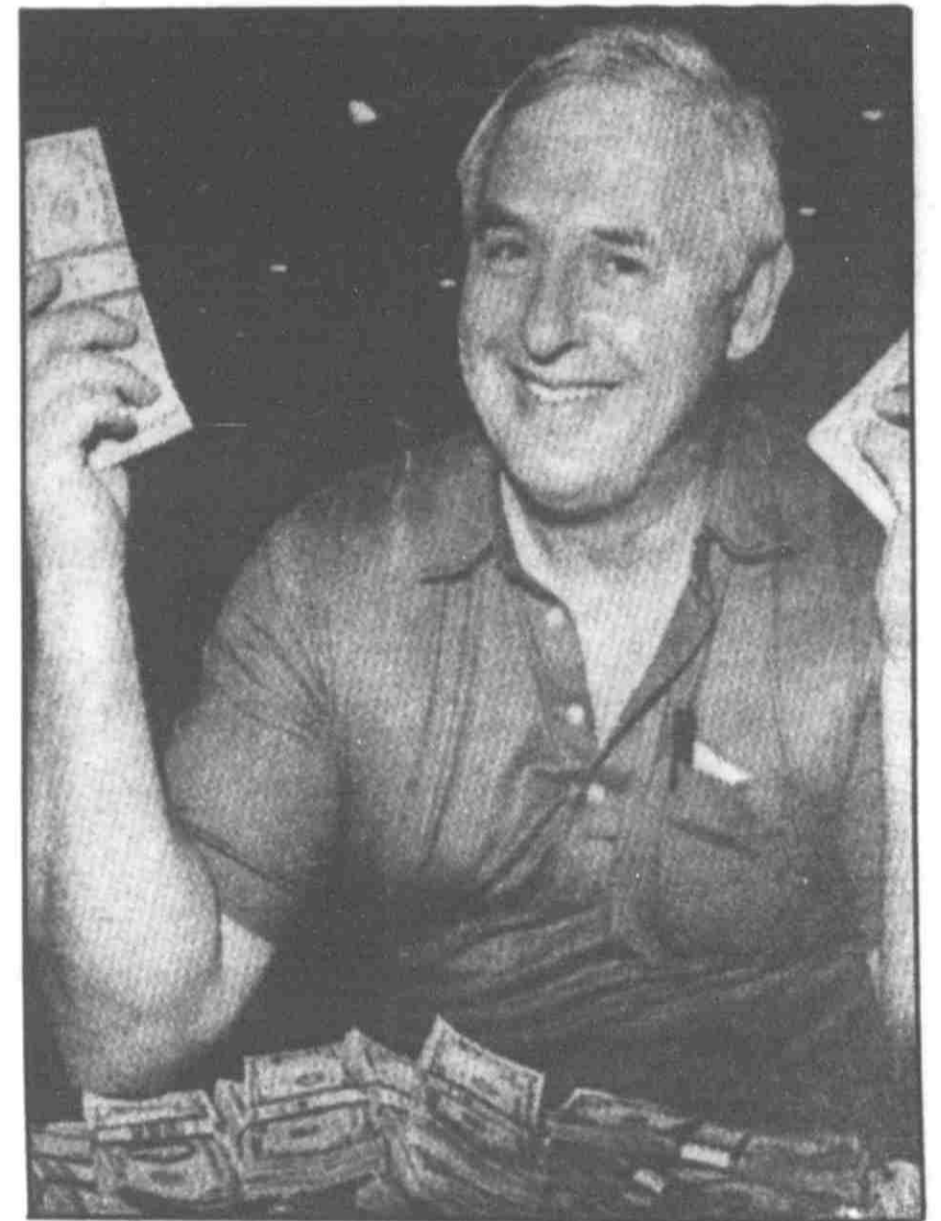

The game began about noon on Friday and ended about twelve hours later. A total purse of $267,000 was given out at the end of the game. Stormzand says he visits Las Vegas about three or four times a year, but this is his first try at the World Series event.

Stormzand told reporters that he had no plans for the money other than buying a few new bats for his Zzano's Pizza baseball team. Stormzand plays first base and is the designated hitter on the team.

Anyone who knows Stormzand is aware of his fondness of gambling. He says he started when a cousin fleeced him of his paper route money back when he was eight years old. Since then he's bet on cards, horses and whatever. A $4,000 prize at the horse track was his biggest win prior to Friday.

The World series event runs through May 17, and nobody but Stormzand knows if the lucky winner will be entered in any more events. Thirteen events are held in the 21 year old series. Total prize money is expected to top $7 million. About 180 players are expected to take place in the last event of the series which requires a $10,000 buy-in to have a chance at first place prize money of about $800,000.

Stormzand told reporters, "I'm very happy. Winning the money is obviously very impressive but winning the title was more important".

Tony Stormzand of Lowell displays some of his winnings. He won $106,800 in a Las Vegas poker game last Friday.

New City ordinance will force drunk drivers to pay police costs

Just in case you think there aren't enough deterrents in place to keep you from driving drunk, you may want to, think again, before doing so in Lowell. At Monday's meeting of the Lowell City Council, an ordinance was adopted allowing the city to collect any costs involved in the arrest. These costs include the time spent by police, dispatchers, emergency crews (when an accident is caused by a drunk driver) and firefighters. These hourly rates range from $7.43 per hour to $18.07. The cost of blood tests, legal fees and operational costs of vehicles will also be levied against the drunk driver.

In all, the bill could amount to hundreds of dollars. Couple that with time in jail, loss of license, heavy fines and the cost for driving drunk becomes very high indeed. Lowell Chief of Police Barry Emmons hopes that the new ordinance will act as a deterrent and reduce the number of drunk driving arrests in the city. The city of Kentwood adopted a similar ordinance several months ago, and Emmons reported to the council that Kentwood's ordinance has produced the desired effect in reducing the number of drunk driving arrests made.

Drunk driving arrests have been on the increase here for several years. The record shows 21 in 1987, 28 in 1988, 31 in 1989 and 16 already this year with 11 of those in April alone. In 1989 12 traffic accidents in the city involve one or more drivers under the influence of alcohol. These accidents often include injuries and involve rescue and fire-fighting personnel. The cost of these services will be levied against the drunk driver. A typical drunk driving arrest involves many, many hours of police time in transporting the offender to the county jail and processing the accompanying paperwork.

Councilman Charlie Doyle was alone in condemning the ordinance. Doyle said he had received calls from constituents protesting the ordinance as going too far. "If this is what we're after, why don't we ban liquor sales altogether?" Despite Doyle's opposition a motion to adopt the ordinance was quickly made by Councilman William Thompson and seconded by Councilman James Hodges. Doyle was the only dissenting vote.

St. Mary's Sister Adele will not return in 1990-91

Stating a multiplicity of responsibilities and a need for a lighter work load, St. Mary's School Principal/Teacher, Sister Adele, announced her intent not to return to St. Mary's for the 1990-91 school year.

"After much prayer and thought, I made my decision," Sister Adele said. "After making the decision I felt relieved and at peace. I believe the move will be good for me and healthy for the school."

St. Mary's Principal and teacher Sister Adele works with a student during math. Sister Adele will leave St. Mary's at the end of this year. She's been with the school for 13 years.

For the past 17 years Sister Adele has tackled the responsibilities of both administrator and teacher. She has spent the last 13 years at St. Mary's.

"Both the duties as an administrator and a teacher have increased. They require a lot more of an individual than they used to," she said.

"After 13 years at St. Mary's, I'm most proud of the fact that the school is still here," Sister Adele said. "About nine years ago, the school was in such dire straits there was concern whether we could open in the fall."

Sister Adele's only wish is that the school had the room of a big school. "Because of this we are not able to offer the sports program of some middle schools," she says.

In such a small world the size of Lowell, parents of St. Mary's students have found it comforting that Sister Adele has been there to provide such a positive influence.

A farewell reception for Sister Adele is scheduled for noon on Sunday, May 20 at St. Mary's School, following the 11 a.m. mass.

L.H.S. announces May "Students-of-the-Month"

The last set of Lowell High School students-of-the-month for the school year have been announced. They are seniors Jennifer Afton and Steve Lenger, junior Toni MacMillen, sophomore Brandi Phillips and freshman Julie Fox.

Afton is the daughter of Dan and Peg Afton of Lowell. She has recently culminated her high school art studies with several impressive awards. She is the winner of the Mary Jane Anway Watercolor Scholarship for studies at GRJC in the fall, the Michigan Art Education Association Award, and a Scholastic Art Award. Last summer she attended the State of Michigan's Institute for the Gifted and Talented where she participated in a two-week intensive study of fashion design. She has been a member of Art Club for three years, serving as junior representative last year and vice-president this year. She is also a member of the Forensics Team, the French Speaking Club, and Close-up. She has served as manager of the Varsity Soccer team for two years. She is employed at Hinkley's Drug Store part-time and is a member of St. Mary's Church in Lowell. She will study art history and ceramics at JC next year and eventually attend the Cleveland Institute of the Arts. She also enjoys collecting antiques and has a concern for the environment. Her art teacher calls Afton the department's hardest working student, and says she sets an example that students admire and try to emulate.

Lenger is the son of Fred and Paula Lenger of Lowell. He has been very involved in sports during his high school years, playing four years each on the football and baseball teams, and two years on the JV basketball team. He earned an academic letter in his sophomore year and is a member of the National Honor Society. He recently received a Dean's Scholarship from Taylor University, where he will begin studies in the fall. His goal is to become a high school math teacher and coach. Lenger is also a member of the weightlifting club, Close-up, and Teens Involved. He attends Alton Bible Church, where he is a member of the youth group. His favorite part of the school day is the hour he works in the Student Services Center because he has been able to get to know the counselors and the secretary who he feels are very nice. His teacher nominator describes Lenger as a "quiet leader, an effective behind-the-scenes person who gets the job done either in the classroom or in his extra-curricular pursuits of football or baseball."

MacMillen is the daughter of Sandra and Steve Watson of Lowell. She has been on the honor roll all three years and is a member of the National Honor Society. Her 4.0 GPA earned her an academic letter in her sophomore year. She was also recognized recently as a scholar athlete.

She participates in cheerleading. At LMS she was on the honor roll and the achievement roll all three years. She volunteers as a teacher's aid at Bushnell Elementary and earns spare money babysitting. Her interests include dancing, swimming, and volleyball. Her teacher nominator describes MacMillen as a student with enthusiasm and high standards for personal success and recommended her on the basis of the example those high standards set for classmates, who, he adds, respect her as both a bright student and a nice person.

Phillips is the daughter of Bruce and Bette Phillips of Lowell. She likes to be active, and during her two years at Lowell High School she has participated in basketball and track and served as manager for the boys' basketball team. She is a member of international club and has been on the honor roll. She is a member of the Lowell First United Methodist Church and serves as an usher. Her favorite class is accounting. She has enjoyed all of her classes and teachers at LHS, however, and says she "believes in school spirit, team unity and working to the best of my ability." Her teacher nominator describes Phillips as a student with a "very positive attitude, who works hard and is liked by classmates and teachers alike."

Fox is the daughter of Robert and Grace Fox of Lowell. During her freshman year she has been very active in debate and forensics. She recently competed in the State Forensics Tournament, after taking a third place at the Regional Tournament. Her category is Oratory 9-10. She is also a member of the international club. She goes to St. Mary's Church in Lowell, where she belongs to the youth group. She does volunteer work at the church and recently attended an anti-abortion rally in Washington D.C. Her teacher nominator describes Fox as a student with high standards who lives according to her own beliefs and works hard towards the goals she sets, while consistently being polite, friendly and courteous.

The faculty and staff at Lowell High School are proud of these students, who along with the others honored this year, help to make the school one which upholds its motto, "Pride and Respect." The community is invited to join in recognizing these five young people for their achievements.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

Stablish thy word unto thy servant, who is devoted to thy tear (Psalm 119:38).

"Oh, I'm so tired! You should have seen all the work I did today," a little boy told his mother when he came in from school. His mother listened attentively and then asked, "What did you do?" With an air of importance the lad replied, "We had to write three words."

Immediately after His baptism, Jesus was led into the wilderness where He was severely tempted by Satan. Three times He defeated the enemy with three words - "It is written." Jesus solved the problem of temptation by quoting the Word of God. It is still the best tool for defeating Satan.

What better way is there to foil the enemy when he tempts one to despondency than to quote God's Word. "My soul shall be joyful in the Lord?" When assailed by one's enemies, "Through God we shall do valiantly; for he... shall tread down our enemies?" When troubled by unhealthy thoughts, "My meditation of him shall be sweet?" When discouraged, "Who satisfieth my mouth with good things?" When tempted to seek help outside of God, "Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel?"

When Satan annoys, remember these three important words - "It is written."

Prayer: Heavenly Father, I thank thee for Thy Word and what it means to me. It is the best tool I have for defeating Satan. Help me to cherish Thy Word. Stablish it in my heart that I may never fail Thee. Amen.

I belong to a few organizations. Rotary, Moose, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association, Michigan Press Association and Travelers Protective Association are just a few that come to mind. Each membership is naturally accompanied by assorted newsletters and/or magazines. In the case of the magazines, the first place I always turn is to jokes in the back. From there it is usually sailed over my shoulder and into the circular file in the corner of my office.

The jokes are always corny, but I'm apparently addicted to reading them. I keep hoping I might stumble across a gem to be used around the office, at home or at a Rotary meeting. That seldom happens. In fact, when I do find something that seems usable, it usually generates more groans than chuckles, but I keep trying.

This month's "Rotarian" was pretty typical. There was a joke about a farmer pulling motorists out of a muddy spot in the road for $20.00 a pop. One motorist quipped, "At that price you'd like to pull people out all day and night?" To which the farmer replied, "Nope, I can't at night... I'm hauling water in to keep the hole muddy." Another one had a father consoling his daughter because the family cat had died. He told the little girl, "Don't worry, Whiskers has gone to heaven to be with God". The puzzled little girl replied, "What would God want with a dead cat?" That's just a sample, but it's enough to give you the idea. Okay! So it is funnier stuff than I write, but I can't go around plagiarizing organizational magazines to fill my column week after week.

All this leads me to where I was heading in the first place... I think. This issue of Rotarian included a list of "Quirky Questions" on the joke page. The questions were as follows: "If the grass is always greener on the other side, could it be that your neighbor fertilized?... What happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable object? (Answer: it goes through without making a hole)... How many people do you know who can explain how those little UPC codes work that are printed on most things we buy? And does the artist who drew those straight parallel lines get royalties?... If you are traveling at the speed of light and you turn on your flashlight, what happens?... If wishes were horses, how would you saddle them?"

After reading that, I thought to myself, "this stuff is REALLY bad! This magazine goes out to hundreds of thousands of Rotarians every month, and these are the best quirky questions they can come up with? Give me a break!" I figure if they can get away with printing a list of quirky questions in a big publication like "The Rotarian", then I can get away with it in a lowly rag like the Ledger. Besides, when it comes to quirky, I rank right up there with the best of them.

Here we go, QUIRKY QUESTIONS: Okay ladies, tell me why there is a "permanent press" setting on your iron?... How come my dogs doo-doo in my yard, and so do all the other dogs in the neighborhood?... We all agree that the stuff on TV is dumb, so why doesn't that little knob marked, "brightness" seem to help?... If your car breaks down and you want it fixed, how come you call a wrecker?... Why do we call them buildings when they are already built? Do you order red or white wine with the "Chef's Surprise"?... Why is it okay to pick a person's brain or bend their ear, but you aren't supposed to twist their tail, even when they don't have one?... Why do we call it life insurance when you can't collect 'til you're dead?... The same with health insurance, it should be sick insurance shouldn't it?... Why don't we just go ahead and spell it "orderves"?... Is the bravest man in history really the guy who ate the first oyster?...

My list goes on and on, but if you've made it this far I'm sure you have had enough "quirky questions" to last until the cows come home. And, by the way, just when do the cows come home?

WALKING

After having survived another long winter, many of us want to enjoy the great outdoors and get a little exercise at the same time. Walking can be a pleasurable experience with many beneficial effects. Besides improving the efficiency of the cardiovascular system, it increases muscle tone, relieves stress and helps one lose weight. Walking is a great exercise for older individuals because the risk of injury involved in more strenuous activities is much less.

If you are beginning a walking program, it is important to set specific goals. Try to walk at least 4-5 times a week. Begin slowly by walking at a comfortable pace for 15-20 minutes. Increase the pace and duration of the exercise as your general fitness improves. You should stress to maintain a comfortable pace so that you can carry on a conversation without being out of breath. Try to walk at the same time each day; it's best not to walk after a large meal. Drink plenty of water before and after walking. In warm weather, try to drink some water every 20 minutes during the walking program. By six weeks, you should be able to walk for at least 30-50 minutes--this gives the cardiovascular system a good workout.

You should purchase a good walking shoe prior to starting the program. A good shoe should be lightweight, breathable, have good ankle support, a wide toe box, and a well cushioned heel. Most supporting goods or shoe stores carry a wide selection. The weather should guide you in proper dress. Lightweight, loose fitting clothing is for warmer days. On cooler days, you should wear a wind-breaker and layered clothing which can always be removed if it gets warmer.

Prior to walking, you should stretch for about five minutes, and after walking, you should cool down by walking slowly and then finish by stretching again for five minutes. Keeping a walking journal is a good way to maintain your commitment to your walking program. If you are not accustomed to regular exercise and are over the age of 50, you should probably see your doctor before beginning a vigorous program.

Many patients have been surprised by how good they feel even after a few weeks of regular walking. They tell us they seem to have more energy, they feel more relaxed and sleep better and along with relieving stress, it helps them with weight reduction.

What are you waiting for???

KRAUSE at the HOUSE

A bill creating a Taxpayer Grievance Council to review documented taxpayer complaints is part of a legislative package that has been introduced in the Michigan House.

I co-sponsored the "Taxpayer Bill of Rights" package that proposes a Taxpayer Ombudsman Office independent of the Department of Treasury. The ombudsman would appoint a 10-member Taxpayer Grievance Council to review complaints, make recommendations regarding procedural changes and award minimal compensation.

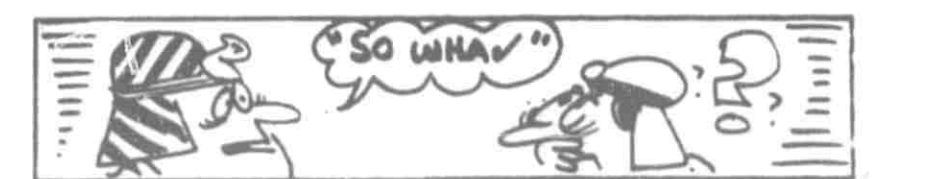

Taxpayers deserve fair and courteous treatment. If citizens are to have confidence in the tax system, they must believe it is balanced and just.

The legislation is based on recommendations of the House Republican Task Force on Taxpayer Rights, which conducted statewide public hearings throughout 1989.

Other proposals in the package include: --requiring "plain language" explanation of tax problems and reasons the Treasury Department believes taxes are owed.

--publishing a taxpayer rights booklet to be sent with each letter or notice to the taxpayer --requiring the Treasury Department to provide a receipt regarding any written communication from a taxpayer --a "courteous and un-intimidating" letter of inquiry from Treasury representatives as the first step in any assessment/dispute process.

The Michigan Department of Treasury has developed several helpful new taxpayer assistance programs over the last several years. This legislation is an effort to make the system even better.

Quiz Bowl Champs!

If at first you don't succeed... Lowell High School's O-K Quiz Bowl team did just that in the second annual Quiz Bowl at Grandville High School.

A year ago Lowell got to the finals and lost. This year, the Red Arrows made it to the finals and won as the team defeated Holland 22-16, earning its first Quiz Bowl championship.

Members of the Lowell winning team were Jay VanAntwerp, Tim Lowry, Chris Thompson, Kristina Jefferson and Gregg Gruizenga.

Along with Lowell, 13 other O-K Schools participated in the Quiz Bowl competition. The event was held on Thursday, April 26.

Advisors read the questions, spotted whose hand went up first to answer the question, and kept track of the time, making sure no one got more than 10 seconds to answer the question.

Lowell was coached by Bob Garcia.

TOWN TALK

Who is your "hero", someone you look up to, or have patterned your life after?

Shirley Cornell
The instructors at Lincoln Schools. They do an absolutely unbelievable job with the mentally impaired children. I also look up to my dad because he was honest and fair.

Bertha Callaghan
My mother, Loretta Lopez. She's the kindest person I've ever known. She never said an unkind word about anybody. I just hope I'm half the mom she was.

Cherie Hagen
My mother and father-in-law, for the way they battled through the depression and remained such strong people. I also admire them for their faith in God and their kindness toward others.

Dave Davis
I admire A. Blanche Mullen for charging her students to think creatively and to think for ourselves. She exposed us to many forms of expression and creativity. She is also a wonderful friend as well.

Mike McBride
My daughter, Carrie. My wife wouldn't let her go to school because of a rash. She had two perfect years of attendance and wanted three. I was impressed to see that dedication in a sixth-grader.

Jim Brown
Because I enjoy sports, I look up to Walter Payton (former Chicago Bear running back) because he is the best athlete I've ever watched and because he works to help the homeless and children.

Betty Yeiter
Mother Theresa, because she has spent her whole life giving of herself.

Al Towne
I look to my father. He taught me the value of the dollar and how to get along with people. He treated people like he wanted to be treated.

New books for spring at the Lowell Library

If you are restless as a willow in the springtime, there's entertainment and mental stimulation galore at the Lowell Library. Many new books have arrived in recent weeks. Others are on order and arriving all the time.

Following up Earth Day, you'll find that one new book tells you "50 Simple Things You Can Do to Save The Earth". These are common sense, everyday suggestions to help you do something easy each day to alleviate the pressing and depressing state of the environment.

For the state of your health, read "Nutripoints". Dr. Roy E. Vartabedian and Kathy Matthews provide detailed information on what's good for you - even what's better than good about the food favorites in America. Have you ever wondered which favorite is better for you? Would you choose baked chicken with the skin removed or canned tuna packed in water? A McDonald's hamburger or Kentucky Fried Chicken? (Answers: tuna, McDonald's hamburger.) The Nutripoint diet is the key to optimal nutrition.

Other new books include: "Queen of October" by Shelley Mickle; "Evening News" by Alex Hailey; "Masquerade" by Janet Dailey; "Last Coincidence" by Robert Goldsborough; and a collection of short stories in "Friend of My Youth" by Alice Munro - all for fiction lovers. Margaret Weis and Tracy Hickman's newest fantasy "Dragon Wing" is guaranteed to take you out of this world and into the world of imagination.

"Dear Dad" is funny - if you can read through your tears - as only Louie Anderson can be funny. You've heard and seen him on the talk shows but in "Dear Dad" he brings his life, his family and their mutual problems into focus.

The Lowell Branch of the Kent County Library is open 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Monday, 12:30 - 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday and 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Item No. 1. ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

A. 217 JEFFERSON - JAMES AND CAROLE PONCHAUD - ALLOW CONVERSION OF AN EXISTING ONE FAMILY RESIDENCE TO TWO FAMILY WITH 66' WIDE LOT AND VARIANCE FROM TWO ENCLOSED PARKING SPACES. - CONSIDERATION OF VARIANCES DEFERRED FROM 4/2 MEETING. City Manager Pasquale stated the variance application from James and Carole Ponchaud was deferred to this meeting because only three Councilmembers were present at the April 2 session. Under the zoning ordinance, a concurring vote of four members is necessary to grant a variance. The variances have been applied so that a single family residence located at 217 S. Jefferson can be converted to a two family residence. The first variance involved allowing a two-family house on a 66' wide lot where 100' of width is required in the R-3 district. The second comprised of a waiver of requiring two enclosed parking spaces. Councilmember Fonger stated that the City must stop allowing two-family houses on 66' wide lots. The R-3 district requires 100' width and the City should abide by this. Councilmember Doyle didn't feel that covered parking is needed for two family dwellings. He suggested that the City adopt an ordinance to take care of the covered parking issue. Councilmember Thompson agreed.

IT WAS MOVED by Doyle and seconded by Maatman to approve the variances allowing the conversion of the existing one family residence located at 217 S. Jefferson to a two family on a 66' wide lot and waive the required two enclosed parking spaces.
YEA: 4 (Doyle, Hodges, Thompson and Maatman)
NAY: 1 (Fonger).
ABSENT: 0.

The Council concurred to have an ordinance change on enclosed parking. They directed the Planning Commission to review the need of covered parking on smaller lots for duplexes and provide a recommendation to the Council.

Item No. 2. CONSIDERATION OF THE CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS PLAN. City Manager Pasquale explained the capital improvements plan displaying proposed projects over the next five to six years in the areas of parks, streets, water distribution and capital facilities. This would serve as a blueprint for development of projects.

The Council discussed at some length how soon a new City Hall/Police Station could be built. By consensus, it was felt that such a project would be undertaken between four to eight years from present.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Doyle to adopt the Capital Improvement Plan as presented.
YEA: 5.
NAY: 0.
ABSENT: 0.
MOTION CARRIED.

Item No. 3. DRUNK DRIVING COST RECOVERY ORDINANCE - SET PUBLIC HEARING (5/7). At the request of the Council, a drunk driving cost recovery ordinance was introduced. This ordinance addresses the issue of recovering costs in situations involving emergencies caused by drunk drivers (alcohol and/or controlled substances). Also, arrests concerning driving while under the influence of an alcoholic beverage and/or controlled substance would fall within this proposed ordinance. The costs of providing, sending and/or utilizing police, fire, emergency medical and rescue services by the City or by private individuals or corporations when directed by the City would be assessed against those arrested.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Thompson to set a public hearing date of May 7 for consideration of a drunk driving cost recovery ordinance.
YEA: 5.
NAY: 0.
ABSENT: 0.
MOTION CARRIED.

Item No. 4. MONTHLY REPORTS. No comments were received from materials presented.

Item No. 5. CITIZENS SUGGESTIONS. Keary W. Sawyer, Attorney at Law, introduced himself as a candidate for 63rd District Court Judge and asked for the endorsement of the City of Lowell. This position is currently held by Hon. Joseph B. White, who has indicated that he does not intend to seek reelection in 1990.

Item No. 6. COUNCIL COMMENTS. Councilmember Fonger stated that he would like to see emphasis put on curbing the dogs in the City. He also mentioned that he was against the closed session because of the lack of time and information in the agenda, therefore he will not be attending. Councilmember Doyle stated that he had talked with a salesman from Chevron at the Legislative Meeting in Lansing about a product to replace road salt. The cost of this product is 24 times greater than salt. He gave some literature on the product to DPW Director Siciliano to review.

He also said that the Police should patrol and ticket cars that park in fire lanes, such as in front of Food City on West Main Street.

Item No. 7. MANAGER'S REPORT. City Manager Pasquale reported on the following:

1. At the May 7 meeting, the proposed 1990-91 operating budget will be presented to the Council. There will be two public hearings on the budget before adoption. 2. Birgit Klohs and Tom Pilot of the Right Place Program will be present at the May 7, 1990 meeting. They will explain their program and solicit funds.

Eleven attend "Young Authors"

On Saturday, May 5, eleven children from Alto School attended the county-wide Young Authors' Festival at Calvin College. The stories they had written, illustrated and bound into books, were chosen from several hundred entries at Alto School.

The festival began with a group sing-along. The students then had an opportunity to share their books and listen to Jose Aruego, a famous author and illustrator of children's books. Aruego discussed where he gets his ideas for his books and kept everyone entertained with his whimsical animal drawings.

All of the Young Authors had refreshments on the lawn at Calvin College and listened to the Dorian String Quartet. Alto Young Authors returned home with a rich variety of ideas for their future publications.

How did New York's Coney Island get its name? In early days it was overrun with rabbits. One of the earlier words for rabbit is coney.

Letters...

Dear Editor:
On Monday the Artrain left Lowell after a very successful four-day visit. Despite some rainy weather, a sunny weekend culminated the visit and over three thousand visitors made their way through Treasures of Childhood.

Letters...
City Manager Dave Pasquale said it will be late May or early June before the state begins work on Main St. (M-21) running through Lowell.
When the work is completed there will be turning bays at the intersections of Jefferson and Main Street; Washington and Main Street, Monroe and Main Street, Lafayette and Main Street, Water and Main Street, and at Broadway and Main Street.
There will also be a road constructed to run from Bowes Road north to Valley Vista. It will run between Curtis Cleaners and Showboat Automotive. A light is scheduled to be put in at Valley Vista and M-21. Pasquale said he is hopeful that the light can be installed close to the time the street is put in. Stop signs will be used while waiting for the light to be put in. Plans call for Bowes Road to be widened and upgraded from West to Valley Vista.

Connie Roth wins Mystery Farm

The Lowell Ledger's fifth Mystery Farm belongs to the Sherman I. Levin family of 9451 Bailey Dr., NE, Ada.

The winning entry selected in the fifth week of the Mystery Farm contest was turned in by Connie Roth of 1328 Sibley, Lowell.

Roth will receive dinner for two from Sneaker's, a free car wash from Lowell Auto Wash and a year's subscription to The Lowell Ledger for correctly identifying the farm.

Baseball team loses two

What do you tell a team that's giving 100 percent and playing good ball, but coming up short? You can think of the cliché: "Good things come to those who wait." "Good guys finish..." "If at first you don't succeed..." but none of them turn the losses into wins.

"All the boys can do is keep going after them," Lowell baseball coach Kris Kropf said. "We've taken the top three teams in the league either into extra innings or have lost by a run. We've been that close."

That was the trend for the Red Arrows' two games last week. Lowell lost by a run to Wyoming Park and then lost in extra innings in East Grand Rapids.

In both games, Lowell grabbed an early lead. Against the Vikings, Lowell built a 3-2 and 4-3 lead before finally falling 5-4. Park scored the winning run in the seventh on a lead-off single, a dropped pick-off attempt and an RBI single plated the winning run.

Steve Malone started the game for Lowell, and went five innings, giving up three runs on five hits with a strikeout and no walks. "Malone pitched well against a good ballclub," Kropf said.

Ryan Holtz, Kirby Carpenter and Pete Gerkin powered Lowell's offensive attack with two hits apiece.

The Arrows' biggest inning was the third when they plated two runs. David Stencel reached base on an error, went to third on a Scott Nagy single and then scored on a Holtz single to left. Nagy then came home on an RBI single by Carpenter.

Against East Grand Rapids, Lowell erupted for five runs in the first two innings against the Pioneers, building a 5-0 lead.

The Red Arrows scored two runs in the first on leadoff singles by Toby Alderink and Ryan Holtz. With men on the corners, Carpenter singled home Alderink. Pete Gerkin then doubled home Holtz.

The big hits in Lowell's three-run second was an RBI double by Holtz and a two-out triple by Dave Organek. He later scored on an error by the Pioneer shortstop.

East Grand Rapids chipped away from there, scoring two runs in the third, a run in the fifth (as did Lowell), two in the sixth, tied the game with a run in the bottom of the seventh and then won the game in the ninth on a walk, two wild pitches and a slow dribbler past the mound in which Alderink could not field in time for a play at the plate.

"Morel Madness"

"Morel madness" strikes Michigan in May, with an estimated half-million gourmets scurrying to state woodlands in search of the savory wild mushroom, AAA Michigan reports.

As always, spring weather determines the success of the morel crop. Ideal conditions are warm, humid days with adequate rainfall.

But if nature fails to do the job, Michigan grocers may soon offer indoor-grown morels.

Company M, a Lansing-based firm, has developed methods to grow morels indoors year-round and is selling the technology worldwide. Domino's Pizza Distribution Corp. in Ann Arbor recently acquired exclusive North American rights to produce, market and sell the cultivated morels. A pilot plant is being built in Mason, Michigan, and the first crop should appear this summer at a price yet to be determined.

For those who prefer to gather spring morels the old-fashioned way, black morels fruit first, usually in late April or early May, followed by white morels about a week later. Giant morels appear in mid-to-late May and are the largest of the species. Michigan's morel season ends in early June.

Edible morels can be recognized by their pitted caps. Other, sometimes poisonous, morels are not pitted, but ridged or wrinkled in appearance. First-time pickers should hunt with an experienced guide who can select edible mushrooms.

Best sites to seek the delectable, nutty-tasting morsels of fungi are hardwood forests, especially under moist aspen, ash and elm trees, and near streams and lakes. Apple orchards also are good places.

Hunting mushrooms is an inexpensive spring activity, requiring only patience, a knife to cut the morel stems and a paper sack or basket to carry the harvest.

When hunting, wear comfortable clothes with long sleeves and long pants to avoid insect bites and poisonous plants.

Wild mushrooms should be cooked and only a small amount eaten at first to test for allergic reaction.

This spring, fresh morels will sell for $13 to $20 per pound, depending on abundance.

Tourists are welcome at four events celebrating Michigan's morel season: The Mesick Mushroom Festival, May 4-6; Harrison Mushroom Festival, May 5; Boyne City National Mushroom Hunting Championship, May 12-13; and Lewiston Morel Mushroom Festival, May 12.

Girls start week with win then lose two

Here today, gone tomorrow. That is pretty much the story of what happened to the Lowell Red Arrow bats and defensive play this past week.

Lowell, a team that has been playing, at the very least, steady defense, broke out with 15 errors over three games. "We did not play well and in doing so wasted some fine pitching performances by Stacy Mulder," Lowell coach Bob Rodenhouse said.

Mulder got the win against Wyoming Park, despite the club's eight errors. She then lost a 6-3 decision to Grand Rapids Central, despite giving up only two hits.

Mulder lost later in the week against East Grand Rapids, 3-1. She gave up only two hits, but lackluster play and a case of the disappearing bats handed Lowell a most bitter defeat.

"I'm extremely disappointed with the loss to East Grand Rapids. I don't remember the last time we lost to the Pioneers," said a dejected Rodenhouse. "The girls were going through the motions."

Rodenhouse added that to EGR's credit, it got a key hit when it needed it and Lowell did not.

Lowell's only run against the Pioneers came in the fourth on a one-out triple by Heather Peckham. She later scored on a grounder off the bat of Cheri Hendrick.

The Red Arrows only other hit was a one-out triple in the sixth by Kathy VanBelkum, but a strikeout on an attempted bunt and a grounder and to first stranded Van Belkum.

Lowell's only win came at the start of the week against Wyoming Park. Some dreadful play in the first three innings accounted for Lowell falling behind 8-4. "We played poorly in the first three innings, but answered the challenge in the fourth and fifth when we scored four and six runs respectively," Rodenhouse said. "It was a good come-from-behind victory."

Of the 11 runs Park scored, only two were earned. Eight Lowell errors were responsible for those numbers.

Lowell's four-run fourth inning was ignited by three consecutive hits to start the inning. Tanya Czarnopis, and Heather Ormiston started the inning with singles. Jennifer Murphy then cleared the bases with a two-run double. Three consecutive Park errors scored Murphy and Van Belkum.

Lowell scored six runs on three hits in the fifth inning. The singles were furnished by Tonya Hobbs, Elisa Peel and Niki Kline.

"Mulder has been pitching well, but poor defense hurt us against Park," Rodenhouse said.

Grand Rapids Central scored four runs in its half of the fifth inning to overcome a 3-2 deficit and to eventually earn a 6-3 win.

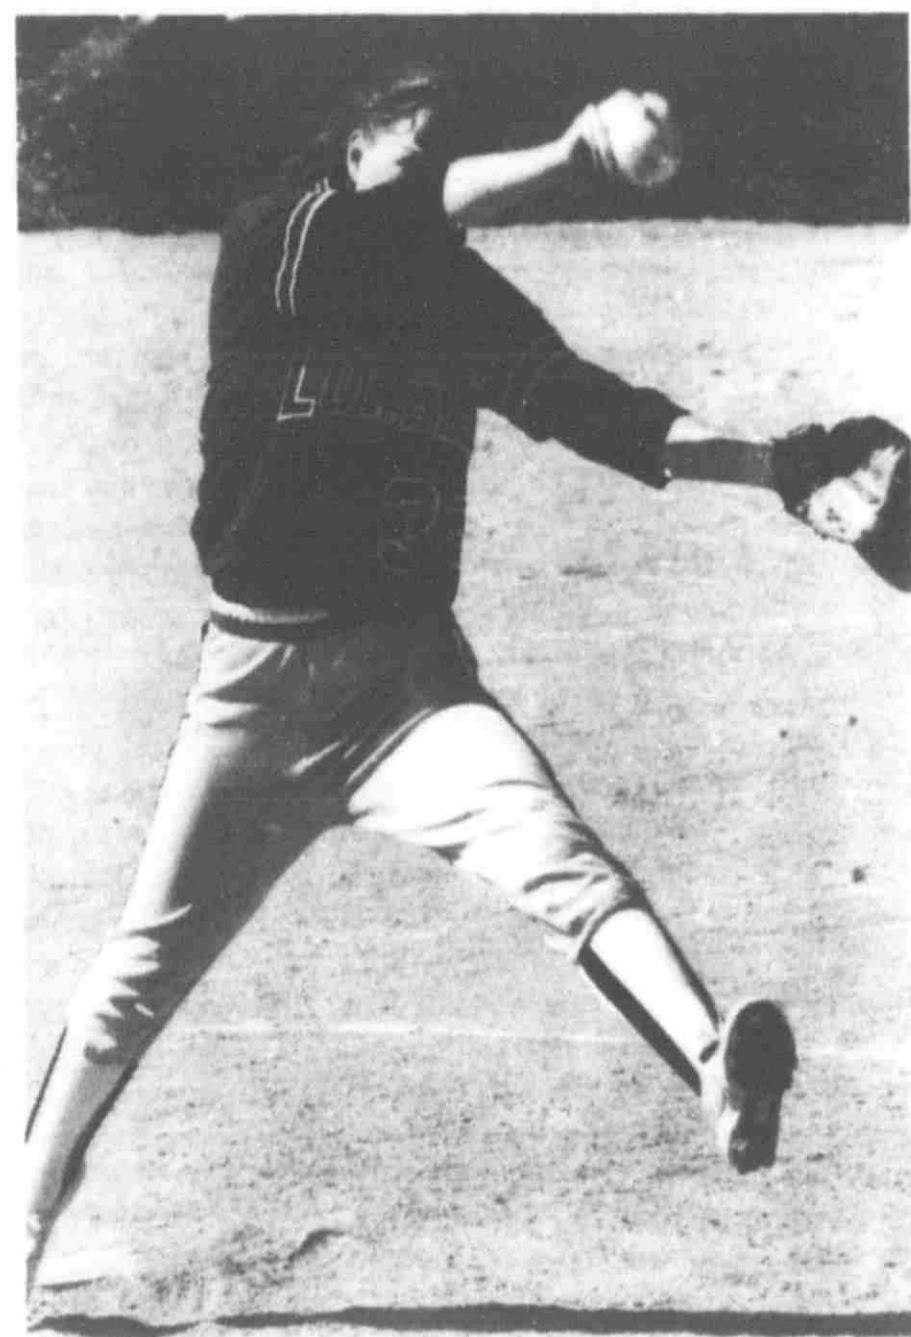

Lowell's silent bats proved to be the difference. Four times the Red Arrows had the bases loaded but could not break through with a run. "We just could not get a key hit to break the game open. It was a tough loss," Rodenhouse said.

Lowell scored a run in the first on a one-out double by Ormiston who late scored on a stolen base and wild pitch. Central tied the score with a run of its own in the bottom of the first.

Lowell took a 2-1 lead in the second on two walks and two singles. The Arrows added a third run in the fourth on two walks and an error.

Central scored its four runs in the fifth on one hit, two errors and a walk.

After its loss to EGR, Lowell dropped to 8-10 overall.

Stacy Mulder, a much improved pitcher for the Lowell Red Arrows, prepares to deliver a pitch in a recent contest.

Aspirin was invented by Felix Hoffmann as a way to relieve his father's pain. A basic constituent of the analgesic comes from the spirea plant, which lead to the trade name aspirin.

NOTICE!!

LOWELL SCHOOL OPINION SURVEY RESULTS RESCHEDULED TO MAY 15

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the results of the Community Survey to the Lowell Board of Education which was scheduled for April 30 by Mr. Ned Hubbell, of the State Department of Education, has been rescheduled.

The new date for the Community Survey presentation will be at the Board of Education meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, May 15, 1990, at 7:30 p.m. in the Middle School Cafetorium.

All interested citizens of the Lowell School District are invited to attend this open meeting.

NOTICE TO KINDERGARTEN PARENTS

As you may recall from our meetings when we first decided to go to an all day/alternate day kindergarten, we were very concerned about seeing that both the "A" and "B" sections received an equal number of days of school. In fact, we promised you that if there was a need to make-up any days, we would do that toward the end of the school year. Well, here we are at the end of the school year, and we need to make an adjustment. Here's how it will work.

Our school district has scheduled a total of 181 days of instruction. For Kindergarten this means that the "A" group was scheduled for "91 days" and the "B" group for "90 days". During the course of the school year, we had two snow days, both of which came on "B" group days. This means that the "B" group is now short three days of instruction.

We intend to make this up by taking Friday, May 18, from the "A" schedule and adding it to the "B" schedule. This will mean that during the week of May 14 to 18, the "A" group will go to school on "Monday" and "Wednesday". The "B" group will go to school on "Tuesday", "Thursday", and "Friday". The remainder of May's schedule will not change. Both groups will now be as close to equal as we can possibly get.

Please make this change on your calendar. If you have any questions, please give the school office a call.

Louis J. Dudeck

FFA wins state contest

Six teams from Lowell High School traveled to Michigan State University in East Lansing to participate in the Annual FFA Agricultural Skills Contests on Saturday, April 21. The purpose of the contests, according to Pete Siler, agricultural education instructor, is to evaluate achievement and provide recognition for agricultural education students through agricultural contests.

"Gold" awards are presented to teams that achieve the highest level of excellence in the contests. The Poultry Judging team consisting of Melanie Kaeb, Heidi Kaeb, and Danielle Scott, received a Gold Award and was the State Winner. Also receiving Gold Awards were the Dairy Judging team consisting of Earl King, Jody Smith, Jim Hale and Renee Nugent; and Dairy Showmanship, Jennifer Cook.

Although the majority of lillies thrive in moist, marshy climates, an extraordinary specimen—the yucca lily—grows its spectacular blossoms in America's arid southwest.

Artrains' sidetrack to Lowell is a big hit

Objects children play with become toys, thus everyone who plays with toys becomes a child.

Lawrence Scripps Wilkinson collection of toys allows everybody to stroll through the history of their own lives through the trinket treasures of childhood.

If you made the effort to journey through the Artrain and its Wilkinson's exhibit of toys, you may still be enveloped by that "forever young" feeling that carries you away in the "Treasures of Childhood: 150 Years of American Toys."

From rattles to marbles, teddy bears to dolls, horse-drawn carriages to fire trucks, the Artrain brings this exhibit to outlying smaller communities such as Lowell, that might not otherwise be exposed to art, box car loads of toys (300) from the 6,000-piece Wilkinson exhibit kept in Fort Wayne. Plans are currently underway for a permanent site in the Detroit area.

"I believe the Artrain helps people to realize that toys are a reflection of our morals, beliefs and society," said Artrain Train Manager, Randy Maiers. "For the young children, it points out that it hasn't always been Nintendo and Transformers."

Maiers used the 1800's business game of Life as an example. "The game was a precursor to Monopoly. The game was based on chance and morals, but if a person landed on a bar (tavern) it went back two spaces. If it landed on a church, the person got to move ahead two spaces," Maiers said. "The game is a great reflection of those times. Monopoly, which was put out on the market back around the time of the depression, was based on chance and money. That too was an active reflection of the times."

Maiers points to the 1940 wartime game entitled "Salute." "It had Uncle Sam on the box cover. That was to help people keep the faith in our government," he said.

The toys displayed from the late 1800's and the 1940's reflected different morals and priorities than today's toys. The quality of the toys has also changed - for the better and for the worse. "The fire trucks produced back in the early 1900's lasted a long time. More so than today's," Maiers said. "But today's toys, through the help of technology, are safer. Years ago they used to stuff teddy bears with straw, which would burn in an instant. In 1990 we use non-flammable products to stuff teddy bears."

The Artrain was founded in 1971 by Helen Milliken, the wife of former Governor, William Milliken. Helen Milliken, involved heavily in the arts, wanted to expose the arts to smaller communities that might not be exposed otherwise. Thus, the birth of the Artrain.

The Artrain has visited over 28 states. Three weeks ago, during a stop in Traverse City, the two millionth person walked through the Artrain doors. Maiers said the Artrain spends 15 weeks of Summer in Michigan, and then 10 weeks touring other states.

Artrain is comprised of five cars: three passenger cars, one baggage car and a caboose. The tour begins with a four-screen audio-visual introduction to the objects and themes of the exhibition. It continues through three gallery cars housing the exhibit with a small museum shop. Finally, there is a studio car for live demonstrations by artists. The caboose is only used by the staff.

Artrain has no admission charge, but a donation is requested.

Maiers, who is responsible for getting the Artrain exhibit to and from places on time, is completely dependent on the railroad system. "It took the participation of three railroads to get from St. Louis MI to Lowell," he says. "The Artrain adheres to their schedule."

All of the guides on the Artrain are community people that have been trained. "This is done so people relate to them better and feel more comfortable in the setting," Maiers said.

An Artrain museum tour takes approximately 45 minutes to complete.

The majority of the work, once the Artrain has arrived, is dependent on the community. Lowell's Jill VanAntwerp, chairman of the Artrain committee and a member of the Lowell Area Arts Council's Board of Directors, was responsible for providing the Artrain crew with board and transportation.

The last stop on the Artrain tour, is an Operation Life Save video which speaks to the topic of train accidents. It also addresses safety steps to help avoid accidents.

A toy is what the imagination creates it to be. Maiers concludes, "It's a universal bond which brings people together."

Alto School Carnival is a huge success

It was the biggest carnival ever at the Alto School last Friday evening. A crowd of 1,700 people attended and took part in the Shower Soak, Wheel to Win, Treasure Chest, Duck Pond, Down In The Valley, Flush-A-Fish, Cake Walk and many other fun games, a silent auction and raffle. A record 1,300 were served food from the kitchen. Sandy Schutte, Carnival Chairman reports that of the $8,000 deposited from receipts, approximately $5,000 is expected in profits.

The carnival is a joint effort of the parents, students and faculty of the Alto School to raise funds for classroom needs.

Many enjoyed the festival and congratulations and a big thanks is due all those who contributed time and made donations for the Alto Schools classroom funds.

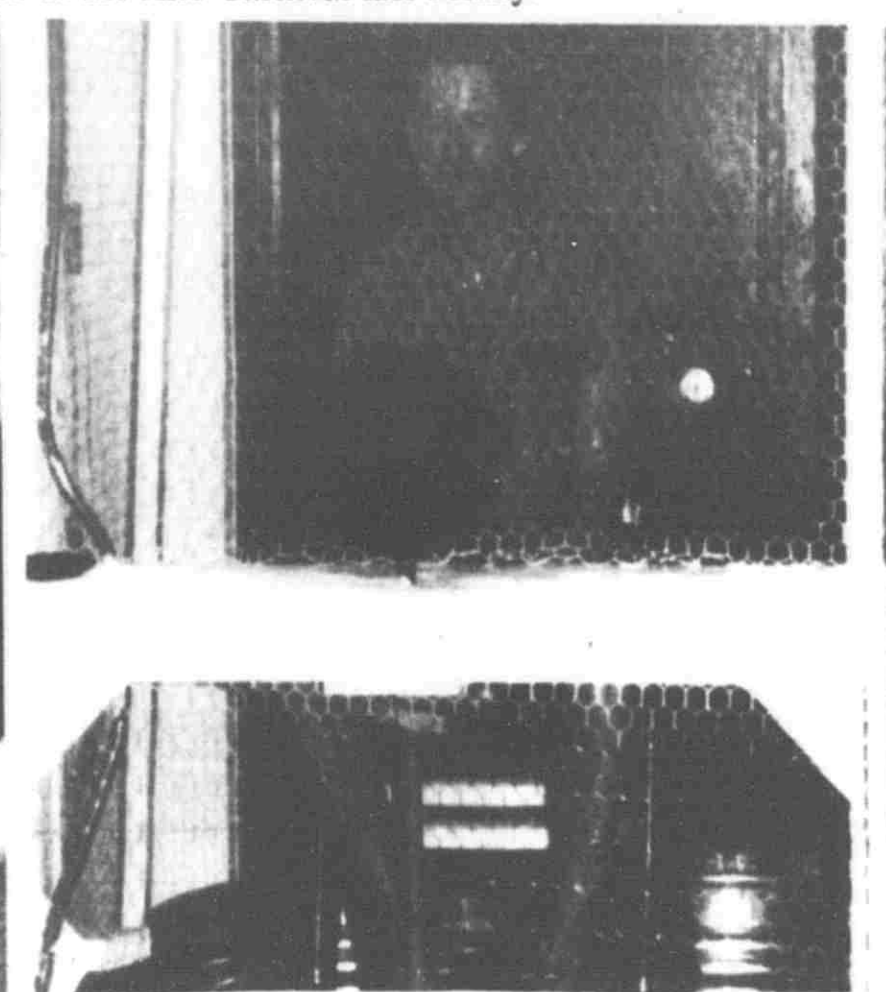

Cotton candy was a big hit at the Alto Carnival last Friday.

Thirteen hundred people enjoyed dinner

There were a variety of games and activities to please everyone at the Alto Carnival Friday.

Fallasburg Hist. Society learns about dowsing

by: Priscilla Lussmyer

Dowsing: Do only a few have the ability, or practically everybody? Is it a figment of the imagination or the interaction of electromagnetic fields? A group of interested members of the Fallasburg Historical Society tried dowsing last Saturday, and came up with some surprising conclusions.

New members Rodger and Myrna Timmer of Ada are dowsers, and were our teachers. Surprise No. 1: as long as there's a concentration of minerals deposited in the earth, dowsing can be used to locate it, for instance, buried foundations, veins of water, or, in this case, the remains of bodies. I hasten to say that we were in Fox's Corners Cemetery on Lincoln Lake Road, attempting to find lost graves. Records are missing, some stones have been moved and some graves never had headstones.

We had been instructed to bring plenty of wire coat hangers, and Rodger proceeded to cut off the hooks, straighten one end, and produce an L-shaped device. One holds the short end of the Ell. with the long ends parallel with the grounds if the ends cross, or swing back as if to cross backwards, a mineral deposit is indicated.

over, trying out the new skill with uneven results. Some gripped the wires tightly, so drinking straws were slipped on the handles so the wires could rotate freely inside. Sometimes the wires would swing randomly, usually because they weren't parallel and gravity could take over.

Finally some organization was called for, and we mapped the back row of graves next to the east fence. Mapping where stones are and where graves were indicated by dowsing, we found that the graves were placed in a straight line and fairly regular placement. In one area the graves were closer together, and in two places there appeared to be gaps in the placement. In all, there are 19 gravestones in the back row, and 59 graves counted.

Mr. Timmer recently determined where a small local cemetery is that had been completely vandalized, and its location disputed by both residents and the county.

We all took our suddenly - valuable coat hanger wires home with our own agendas in mind: finding the lost septic tank field, or an alternate water supply or which way the water line comes in or where the old building that burned was or ---. I'm sure we'll test this new skill, first seeing if it works on known

Other dowsers may use a forked stick off a certain tree, or metal rods; there are many variations.

At first we scattered all deposits, then proceeding to the unknown. And maybe you will want to be on hand when another dowsing lesson happens.

Fallasburg Historical Society members learned many a dowsing lesson from Ada dowsing teachers Rodger and Myrna Timmer of Ada. Above, Judy Baird, listens and learns about the dowsing process.
