School District voters pass new high school bond issue

Voters decisive in their rejection of new pool

The voter turnout for the school bond issue was less than Lowell School Officials had anticipated, but the final results were fulfilling.

At about 8:45 p.m. Lowell school officials learned that Proposal I (new high school and renovations to existing schools) had passed. The final tallies showed that 1,327 Lowell School District voters pulled the "Yes" lever. There were 1,218 registered voters who pulled the "No" lever. (Not included are 73 absentee ballots not available at press time, not enough to influence either proposal).

Voters were much more decisive on Proposal II, the pool bond issue. It was soundly defeated 1,452 to 987.

"This vote gives the district the space to house and to educate the additional 600-plus students expected to come into the district between now and 1995. "I honestly believe that number will be larger than that," Lowell Superintendent Fritz Esch said.

With Bowne and Vergennes Township Precincts in, Proposal I was short of passing by 52 votes. The anxiety of school officials built, in the minutes prior to the call from the Lowell Precinct.

"Vergennes Township has always been a barometer as to whether a school millage passes," said School Community Services Director, Dick Korb. "This is a turning point for this community. This vote says the community wants a quality program and facilities. This will also give students the opportunity to compete equally with students from other schools."

The precinct votes broke down like this: Precinct I (primarily City of Lowell) passed the proposal 764-604. Precinct II (primarily Bowne Township) defeated it 149-97. Precinct III (primarily Vergennes Township) passed the $30-million school building bond proposal 466-465.

The precinct votes for Proposal II (pool bond) broke down like this: Lowell Township voted it down 718-640. The Bowne Township Precinct nixed it 172-69, and the Vergennes Township Precinct defeated the pool bond issue 562-278.

"The community responded to what was needed. The school system needed space, and the Lowell Community heard and understood that need," said Charlie Kohler, Chairman for the "Growing Together" bond campaign. "This puts Lowell a step closer to providing classrooms, labs, art and sport facility space."

A member of the Lowell School Board for 10 years and its current secretary, Linda Beers said the vote means Lowell can now meet the educational needs of children into the 21st Century. "The Lowell community understands the value in education and in doing it right," Beers said.

Lowell Area Jaycees mix and bake 70 pounds of cookies for U.S. servicemen

1,300 cookies baked

David Oliver, Lowell Jaycees, displays some of the 1,300 cookies shipped to some of U.S. servicemen over in Saudi Arabia.

The Lowell Area Jaycees external vice president's internal vision of Navy life helped spark an "Operation Cookie" project for the servicemen aboard the U.S.S. Moosburger stationed near Bahran, Saudi Arabia.

"I was in the Navy on the U.S.S. Thorn," explained David Oliver. "I know how much it means to the servicemen to get a care package."

The 24-member Lowell Area Jaycees Organization mailed out 70 pounds, or 1,300 cookies, to the Navy crew of 250-260 servicemen last Thursday. Oliver said most ships accommodate roughly that many servicemen. The project has also benefitted the local organization. "The project has yielded the organization a few new members," Oliver says.

The cookies were mailed from Lowell to a Fleet Post Office in Miami. From there, the home-baked goodies were put on a cargo plane to Bahran, Saudi Arabia, where the cookies were airlifted to the U.S.S. Moosburger, hull number DDN 980.

"The support put forth for this project has really been wonderful," Oliver said. "I'd like to thank Eberhard Food City for providing us with discount prices on baking goods."

The cookies were baked in two days. On Sunday, the organization took out a little over 700 cookies from Oliver's Valley Vista trailer oven. On Tuesday, nearly 600 cookies were baked between the hours of 5 p.m. and 3 a.m., according to Oliver. The different types of goodies included peanut butter, oatmeal and sugar cookies.

The external vice president said the cookie project went so well, plans are being made to do it again around Christmas time.

Oliver was in the Navy (active duty) for four years, from 1980-84. He then spent two years on inactive reserve. "When servicemen receive cookies or a letter from thousands of miles away it makes their day. It breaks up the monotony," Oliver says. "Sailors look forward to the simple things in life, things that others might take for granted."

Fallasburg Fall Festival set for this weekend

Children are always included in the fun at the Annual Fallasburg Fall Festival, to be held this weekend.

The members of the steering committee of the 22nd Annual Fallasburg Fall Festival hope the sun will be shining on Fallasburg Park this weekend for the yearly festival of arts and crafts, but come rain or shine, at 10 a.m.

the 22nd festival begins. The activities continue until 5 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday in and around the park pavilion.

There will be 67 artists setting up booths to sell their work, while 12 food booths entice customers with pleasant aromas. There is much to do in addition to visiting the booths, however. Beginning at noon each day, entertainment will be offered from the outdoor stage at the center of the festival. Emece Gordon Gould of WOOD Radio will introduce the acts and provide visitors with information on other festival happenings. On Saturday at noon the Down River Players will take the stage. They will be followed at 1 p.m. by Beats Settin' Home. Popular singer Carol Johnson will round out Saturday's entertainment beginning at 3 p.m. On Sunday at noon Quodlibet will kick off the entertainment, followed at 1 p.m. by the Proulx Family Tradition and at 3 p.m. by the Hill People.

At 4:45 the stage will be turned over to the Fallasburg Raffle Committee who will draw the winning ticket for the beautiful handmade quilt designed by Dolores Dey. The quilt will be on display throughout the festival hours and tickets will be available at the information center. In addition to the quilt, items purchased or donated by the artists will be awarded to lucky ticket holders.

In addition to raffle tickets, the information center provides the obvious: information. For sale at the booth will also be Lowell Histories from 1931 to 1981, Fallasburg Commemorative Plates, Fallasburg Quilt Post Cards, and Philatelic items from the Fallasburg Station of the Lowell Post Office, an annual two-day re-opening of the once active Post Office of Fallasburg Village.

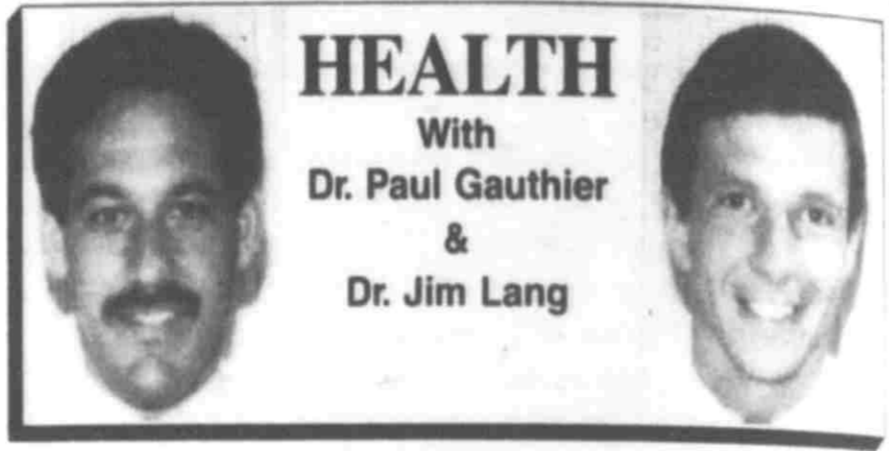

A Children's Activity Area will be provided free of charge. Despite the temptation of the fun the crafts provide, no adults are allowed in the Children's Area except the volunteer workers. Children must be old enough to use a magic marker to participate in the pumpkin decorating. There will be a wooden glue-in and macaroni/seed art. Face painting will also be provided.

As in the Children's Area, volunteers are the heart of the festival. One special group of volunteers are those who enhance the festival's turn-of-the-century theme with skill demonstrations.

Rose Roberts will be demonstrating quilting while the Weaver's Guild provides a chance to see weaving in progress. Chair caning will be done by Karin Eldredge and wood carving will be shown by Jerry Johnson. The Traditional Rug Hookers will be demonstrating their skill and the Lowell High School Art Club will be drawing and painting. Joan Bunn will set up her butter churning display on the pavilion porch.

The VanSlyke antique buggy and sleigh collection will be represented, and, on Sunday, members of the Flat River Antique Auto Club will join the festivities. Parking will be free, and will be supervised by the LHS Teens Involved Club. The Museum of Fallasburg Village will be open across the Fallasburg Covered Bridge. With fun for the whole family and a full day's worth of activities, the Fallasburg Fall Festival should be on your calendar for this weekend.

GIARDIA - CAN IT BE CAUSING YOUR DIARRHEA?

A particular parasite, Giardia Lamblia, has become increasingly more common in the USA, bringing with it cramps, vomiting and diarrhea. Giardia has been turning up in tap water, swimming pools, day-care centers and according to researchers at the Centers for Disease Control, it can be threatening to small children and the elderly.

In times gone by, giardia was diagnosed mainly in international travelers drinking from contaminated water supplies and backpackers drinking from streams tainted by infected wild animals or sewage. Now the ailment is being seen increasingly in cities: in New York City there were 278 cases in 1988, and is estimated that in 1989 the figures rose past 2,000 in that state.

The symptoms of infestation with giardia are much like those of other intestinal diseases - ranging from mild intestinal cramps, bloating, flatulence with foul-smelling gas, diarrhea, vomiting, weight loss - many times doctors mistake the disease for irritable bowel syndrome (IBS), duodenal ulcers or lactose intolerance. One researcher recently found that of 197 patients suffering from chronic intestinal disorders, almost half were infected with giardia, and 31 of these patients had been misdiagnosed with IBS.

Most recent research has shown that 50 to 60 percent of giardia cases comes from the tap. The parasites are seen in up to 20 percent of diaper aged children in some day-care centers; in fact, the Center for Disease Control says 18,000 cases each year are picked up by day-care centers.

Giardia is easy to treat - antibiotics cure it about 90 percent of the time. Your doctor will require you to submit a stool sample to confirm the diagnosis. Work is currently underway to prevent future waterborne outbreaks, which has been established as the most common mode of transmitting giardia.

The largest snake found in the old world is the python. It measures as much as 30 feet.

TOWN TALK

Will the United States and Iraq confrontation end in war or will it be resolved diplomatically?

Rachel Condon

We've got to be over there to protect our oil interest. I'm hopeful it can be solved without a war. I hope Bush sticks with it. I think the longer we're over there, the better chance of no fighting. I just feel sorry for the boys, the wives and their children.

Lynne Kuzmin

I think before it's all over there will be some fighting. I don't think the fighting will last long. If our allies stand by us I don't think we will be there longer than three years. The U.S. is doing the right thing in protecting its oil interest.

Lyle Hansen

I'm a Korean War veteran and I hope we don't go to war. I think it can be settled without fighting. I don't think the U.S. should initiate the fighting. I think the longer the waiting period the less the chance there is of a war. I think our troops will be over in Saudi Arabia a year or better.

Hillary Graves

I hope there is not a war. I think it will be resolved with fighting. I'd like to think that we will only be over in Saudi Arabia a few months. I think the President is doing the right thing in trying to clear up the current problem.

Sally Jernigan

I hope they don't go to war. There's enough fighting already. I think the possibility for war is very realistic. I hope we're out of there in six months. I do think we're doing the right thing.

Richard Nardone

I believe we will end up going to war. I will come down to a military conflict. I don't believe Saddam Hussein will back off - based on his chemical warfare record and his feelings for human life. He's a merciless masochist. I think our troops will be there longer than a year. I hope our ally support doesn't drop off.

Terri Anstett

I'd like to see the men back home where they belong. I'd also like to see the U.S. use other energy sources that are available to it, but you don't hear about it. I hope there isn't any fighting. Although, I think our troops will be in Saudi Arabia a long time.

Andy Wielinga

Fire power will be used. There will be short spurts of fighting. I don't believe Iraq will leave Kuwait. I think U.S. troops will be there quite awhile.

When English chemist Joseph Priestley discovered in 1770 that material made from latex could be used to rub out pencil marks, he named the substance "rubber."

The first mailboxes were erected in Paris in 1653. However, messengers, fearful for their livelihood, put mice in the boxes to destroy the mail.

St. Mary's Health Services and Dy Dee Service begin use of cloth diapers

On Wednesday, September 19, 1990, St. Mary's Health Services and Dy Dee Service, Inc. joined together to begin using cloth diapers in the St. Mary's Birthing Center. This decision will enable a diversion of nearly 22 1/2 tons of waste from our solid waste stream annually.

Dy Dee Cotton Diaper Service is West Michigan's oldest recycling company, having been The Home Town Diaper Service for this area for over 40 years. Due to the conscious decisions of our over 4,000 families who use Dy Dee Service weekly to diaper their babies in cloth diapers, we help divert over 3,100 TONS of solid waste from the area's landfills. By serving Ottawa, Montcalm, Muskegon, Ionia, Barry, and Allegan counties in addition to Kent County, we are reducing the solid waste in the entire West Michigan area.

Our cotton diapers are not only reusable up to 75 times for diapering West Michigan babies, they are then used as rags which extend the reusability and lengthen the time before our diapers reach a landfill. Once there, it only takes from one to six months for a cloth diaper to biodegrade. Compare this to a disposable which is a single use product and takes over 500 years to decompose.

This environmentally sound decision by St. Mary's Health Services should be applauded by the West Michigan community and is a standard for the area to look to.

MYSTERY FARM?

CAN YOU IDENTIFY THIS MYSTERY FARM?

This aerial photograph was taken especially for the Lowell Ledger and is part of a series of Kent County farms.

No one knows whose farm the aerial photographer snapped, so it's up to you, our readers, to identify the mystery farm each week.

If you can identify this mystery farm...merely fill out the entry blank below with your answer, name and address and mail or drop off at the Lowell Ledger, P.O. Box 128, Lowell, MI 49331.

The name of the person correctly identifying this farm will be put in a drawing to be held on Monday, October 1, at noon for a FREE DINNER FOR TWO (excluding drinks) at Sneakers in downtown Lowell, a free car wash at Lowell Auto Wash, a free gallon of Devco flat white latex paint from Lowell Paint & Wallpaper and a free subscription to the Ledger.

The owner of each week's Mystery Farm will receive ABSOLUTELY FREE, a 4x5 color photo of the farm merely by claiming it at the Lowell Ledger office by the following Wednesday noon.

In the 25th week of the Lowell Ledger Mystery Farm, there were 6 correct responses. In week 26, let's see if we can increase the number of correct responses. It should also be noted, that when identifying a farm, the first and last name should be used. Also only entry forms printed in the Ledger will be accepted. Thanks for your cooperation.

Grattan Township denies zoning request

Thomas Byrne's request for rezoning the north side of Five Mile Road approximately 400 feet west of Parnell Avenue was denied Thursday evening at a special Grattan Township Planning Commission meeting.

The Grattan Board of Commissioners denied Byrne's request 4-1. The Rolling Meadows, Ill. residents request was to rezone the parcel of land from 'A' (agricultural) to 'C'-2, commercial.

Bowne Township in need of $30,000 to finish fire station

The new $260,000 Bowne Township Fire Station is 75 percent done, and according to Bowne Township Supervisor, Fred Moss, if the Township doesn't come up with $30,000 the fire station won't be done by the Nov. 15 completion date.

"We don't have $30,000. Unless we come up with that money somewhere, somehow we won't be able to do the paving," Moss said.

Moss went in search of some help last Monday night as he attended the September Lowell Township meeting. Bowne Township provides fire protection for 12 sections of Lowell Township. With this in mind, Moss asked that Lowell Township consider donating some funds to the new fire station project.

"Lowell Township has been generous in helping with various projects in the past, in particular with equipment," Moss said. "Bowne Township does the same thing for Freeport. It provides us with fire protection for five of our sections, and we help contribute to their special projects."

Originally, the fire station building alone was supposed to cost $165,000. In actuality, the building cost $195,000. Construction of the new fire station was contracted out to Stedfast Construction of Alto. Interior work and site work still needs completing.

"The Township will use the same formula/criteria as it did with the City," Lowell Township Supervisor John Timpson said. "Bowne Township is looking for $30,000 and it wants it all at once, but we may have to stretch it out over three years. This is all hypothetical until our Township Board discusses the matter at a Special Township meeting on Oct. 1."

Funding for the project, thus far, has come from a one mill levy. After costs, the levy gave the Township $194,000. Bowne Township received $12,000 in interest from an investment and $20,000 from the Alto Downtown Development Authority.

"If the Township does not come up with the $30,000 it probably can get some of the paving done through its operating cost," Moss said.

Moss added that Lowell Township has always been very accommodating. Lowell's Township Board said it will let Bowne Township know of its decision.

to the north of the parcel is agricultural; to the east it's commercial, and to the west and south it's agricultural.

The Planning Commission Board denied Byrne's request because they felt Byrne did not have the ability to provide necessary sewer facilities. The Commissioners also stated that they believe Byrne needs a market study demonstrating that there is a community need on the property. The planning commission was also concerned with its commercial viability, speculating that it could lead to an empty building and vandalism.

It was also noted, that in the Grattan Master Plan it states the land is to be agricultural, rural and is to be used in that nature.

Byrne, who would not comment on the commission's decision, did infer that his plight for a rezoning change was not over.

Helping Byrne present his case was WW Engineering and Science, Inc. out of Grand Rapids. Byrne said the site is not suited for agricultural use due to its size. He added that its desirability as a single family home site is diminished by the adjacent commercial uses without a suitable natural buffer in between.

While Byrne said he had no specific use in mind at this time for the parcel of land, the analysis study by WW Engineering and Science Inc. shows that Byrne's request corresponds to the uses permitted in the C-2 zoning district, which are general retail uses, personal service establishments, service stations and other similar uses designed to serve residents of the surrounding neighborhood.

The report stated that providing additional land for convenience center uses also makes sense for the following reasons: Such uses will save fuel for motorists; convenience uses also provide opportunities for nearby residents to meet each other at a type of "village center" which currently exists in Grattan, Cannonsburg and Lake Bella Vista; and additional convenience uses will likely serve the parishioners of St. Patrick's Church across the street further contributing to the identity of the Parnell area and helping to create a village community atmosphere which is beneficial to residents of the area.

Byrne said he believed that the value of the adjacent properties would be improved by the change.

Bowne Twp. seeks Lowell Twp. support for library in Alto

Seeking help with the total value of the Kent County Library building amenities, Bowne Township went to one of the system's beneficiaries, Lowell Township.

Bowne Township provides building space, utilities and furnishings for the 720 square foot Kent County Library branch in Alto. Each municipality has annual assessments to cover the cost of books and materials.

The total value of the building amenities is $5,040 per year. Bowne Township uses 56 percent of the circulation materials from the library. Lowell Township uses 29.4 percent of the circulation of materials from the library, according to Bowne Township Supervisor Fred Moss.

Moss told the Lowell Township board last Monday night that he felt it was reasonable to ask the Township to provide 29 percent of the cost to maintain the library because of its use of the library branch.

With the total value being $5,040, Moss asked that Lowell Township contribute $1,500 annually.

Lowell Township told Moss it would have to let him know of its decision.

"We're going to have Joe Garcia from the Kent County Library attend our special meeting on Oct. 1 so that he can lay out and/or determine what the Township's obligation is," Timpson said. "Hopefully this will help us better understand how the system is funded."

Timpson said the Township is not looking for a free ride, but wants to make sure it understands how the numbers Moss presented to them were determined and that they are valid.

Forest Hills Elementary teacher named "Teacher-of-the-Year"

LANSING---Katherine Afendoulis, a third grade teacher at Collins Elementary School of the Forest Hills Public Schools in Grand Rapids, is Michigan's 1990-91 Teacher of the Year.

The runner-up is Michael D. Bergeon, a physics teacher at Jenison High School. Both Afendoulis and Bergeon will be honored by the State Board of Education at a banquet in Lansing in April. In addition, Afendoulis will represent Michigan in the national Teacher of the Year competition in the spring.

Afendoulis has 17 years of teaching experience, ten of which have been in Forest Hills Public Schools. She received her bachelor's degree in 1957 from Western Michigan University and a master's degree in elementary teaching, also from Western, in 1975.

Of her love for teaching, she says, "My rewards are simple. For nine months out of the year, I'm surrounded with children I enjoy, watching them grow. I watch frowns of frustration dissolve into glows of discovery. I watch children who thought they couldn't write, write. Children who were hesitant readers gain confidence. Those who were shy and uncertain become assertive. It gives me pleasure to watch flowers bloom just a little bit. And when, years later, they come back to see me, I take pride in knowing I nurtured them--just a little bit."

Bergeon, who has been teaching for 13 years, is a 1977 graduate of Grand Valley State University. He also has a master's degree in physics from Michigan State University.

His idea of what a teacher should be is summed up in these words of his, "An outstanding teacher must love to teach. He did not become a teacher because teaching is an easy eight 'til three job. In fact, the energy spent in trying to do one's best sends the teacher home exhausted with a briefcase full of things to do before the next day! Nor did he become a teacher because he gets his summer off. He spends a significant portion of each summer in school because his desire to teach is closely linked to his desire to learn and to improve.

Sponsors of the annual Michigan Teacher of the Year recognition are the Michigan Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, Association of Middle School Educators, Association of School Administrators, Association of School Boards, Association of Secondary School Principals, Congress of Parents, Teachers, and Students, Michigan Education Association, Michigan Federation of Teachers, Elementary and Middle School Principals Association, and the State Board of Education.

Kent County adopts READS system for blind & handicapped

The Kent County Library and Delivery System) automatically matches patron preferences with available titles. The more than 900 patrons of the Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped are enjoying greatly improved service since READS went on-line last March.

READS is funded through grants made available by the Library Services and Construction Act. Kent County LBPH has applied for funding to continuously upgrade and improve the system.

Patrons may select materials by title or indicate specific areas of interest. The READS system can handle very specific information: the types and format of material a patron uses, particular patron preferences such as author or subject matter, and any exclusion criteria - no sex or strong language, for example. When a patron returns a book, the computer alerts the staff that the patron is in need of another book and searches the data base for appropriate titles. The entire process of materials selection is greatly expedited.

"The system is something we have needed for a long time, since most of what we do is labor intensive," explains LBPH coordinator Linda Fox. "The computer is

WHEN JUNE IS PAST
May and September! Will I ever learn to accept the fact that these two months have always been "rat-race" months? Every year I tell myself that I must just accept the fact. work through the maze and not go under. Sometimes I succeed-other times I go under-almost three times.

When June is Past
When June is past, the greenest growing is done. Wilted leaves form velvet folds in the long afternoons. Dry earth seams like turtle shells. Squirrels and chipmunks grow more alert.

When English chemist Joseph Priestley discovered in 1770 that material made from latex could be used to rub out pencil marks, he named the substance "rubber."

Denmark is said to have used the same national flag—a white cross on a red background—for more than 750 years.

Lowell holds off surging Northview, 21-14

In a span of about 12 seconds, Lowell's Friday night encounter with Northview turned from a walk in the park to a near-miss mugging. The Red Arrows were all-world on their first two possessions, building a 14-0 lead, and then the Wildcats struck lightning in the form of 5-7 153 pound halfback Jody Fox as he returned a Lowell kickoff 81 yards at the start of the second quarter.

The return also commenced with a whole new ballgame, as Lowell scraped and scratched its way to a 21-14 O-K White Conference victory over an aroused homecoming Northview squad.

"This is the best game we've played all year," Northview first-year coach Bob Dailey said. "I'm very proud of the way our kids came back from the beating it took against a good Rogers team."

Dailey's team is now 0-3 in the league with losses to Sparta, Rogers and now Lowell. The Red Arrows after losing its opener to Catholic Central, have recorded three straight conference wins against Wyoming Park, East Grand Rapids and Northview.

Lowell's victory Friday night sets up a showdown in the O-K White with league arch-rival Forest Hills Central, on the Ranger's home turf. FHC stunned Zeeland Friday night 21-0.

"We'll take the win," Christensen remarked following the Northview game, knowing his club had dodged the arrow on this night. "It was ugly. That kickoff return by Fox took the wind out of our sails and gave Northview confidence."

Lowell got the ball on the Northview 48 to start its first drive of the evening, following a fumbled pitch by Fox. Owen Smith recovered the loose pigskin for the Arrows.

It took Lowell six plays to drive 48 yards in 2:58 before Brett Knoop scampered in from 21 yards out.

Lowell got the ball late in the first quarter after holding Northview to one first down on the Wildcats' next possession.

From its own 47, Lowell drove the ball 53 yards in six plays taking 2:48 off the clock and a 14-0 lead. Shawn Smith did the scoring honors from one-yard out.

Leading 14-8 at halftime, Lowell drew first blood in the second half, as it scored late in the third quarter. The Red Arrows' John Rupp recovered a Northview fumble at the Lowell 42 to set up what would end up being the winning touchdown.

The drive took 10 plays covering 58 yards in 4:15. Again it was Smith with the scoring honors, giving Lowell a 21-8 lead.

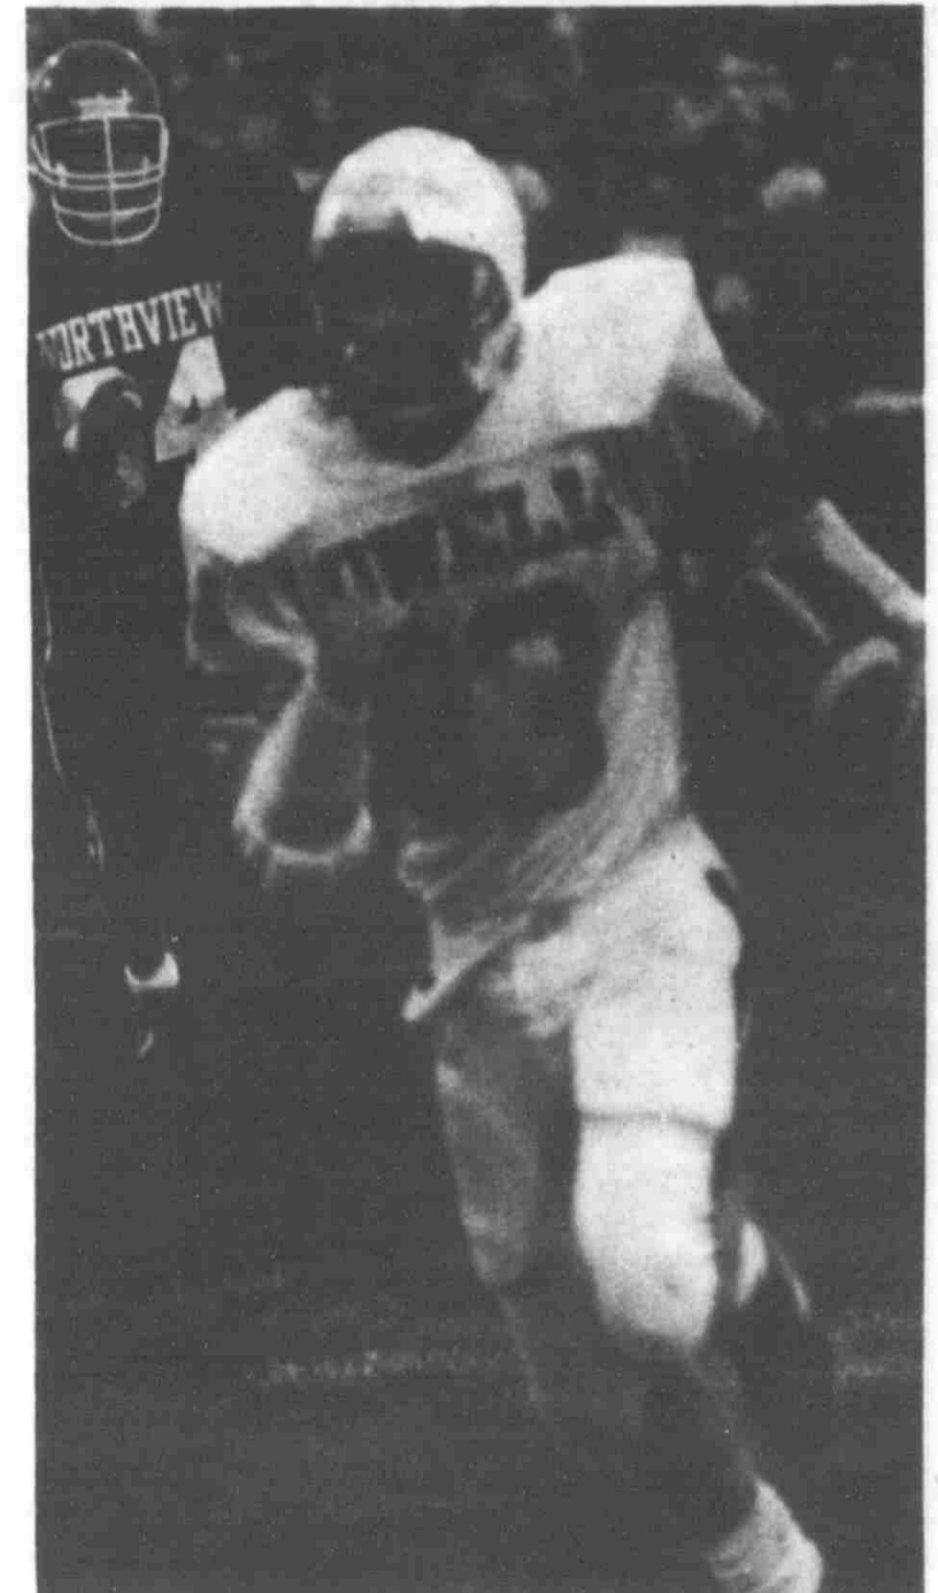

The pesky Wildcats did not quit as they answered with a wonderful 16-play 74-yard scoring drive. The touchdown drive chewed up 6:39 of the fourth-quarter clock, and brought Northview within seven at 21-14. The extra point was missed.

After stopping Lowell on four down, Northview got another chance. However, the Wildcats had to start from their own 21. A huge third down sack by Lowell's Mike DeBold, dropped Northview into a 4-and-20 from its own 11. Northview punted and Lowell then ran the clock out.

"Our offense played well," Christensen said. But it was the coach's defensive line that got pushed around in the second half. Lowell's coach said they had some work to do before Friday's game with Forest Hills Central. A year ago Lowell had an offensive explosion as it beat the Rangers 39-29.

The world's best source of borax, a water softener, is in the Mojave desert, California.

Brett Knoop rushed for 112 yards and scored one touchdown in Lowell's 21-14 win over Northview.

Lowell's defense received a strong challenge from the Wildcat offensive front line.

Red Arrow girls drop home-opener to Park

Both Lowell girls' basketball coach, Ken Akers and Wyoming Park girls' basketball coach, Bob Copeland, were jockeying all night for an advantage in a key early season matchup between two of the better O-K White girls' basketball teams.

The Lowell center didn't play a whole lot of the second half either, before fouling out of the game with 4:10 to play in the fourth quarter. The Red

Arrow scored 11 points and grabbed 8 rebounds. "Hackenbruch is a tough ballplayer," Copeland said. BB cont'd pg. 21

Lowell's Eric Hackenbruch tallied 17 points in the Arrows' win against Delton.

Lowell Equestrian team edges past Holland Christian in MIHA

District V of the Michigan Interscholastic Horsemanship Association opened its season in Lowell. Eight teams competed, and the points were close with the lead changing hands several times throughout the meet. Lowell endured as it finished atop the leaderboard with 69 points.

After the fitting and showing classes, Holland Christian's 17 points gave it a three-point lead over Lowell.

The lead was short-lived, as Cedar Springs came from fourth place using key wins in the saddleseat division to propel itself into the lead with 25 points.

The hunt seat classes scrambled the leaderboard some more as Forest Hills took its turn at the top. Holland Christian then took three firsts in the western division and gave Holland Christian the lead back.

Lowell took two key placings in trail to edge to within three of the leader. Lowell gained the lead and hung on for the victory in the final four speed events.

Lowell finished with 69, followed by Holland Christian 60, Cedar Springs 58, Rockford 47, Forest Hills Central 40, Zeeland 30, Comstock Park 25, and Byron Center 16.

Scoring for Lowell were the following: Western Fitting and Showing - Heather Pelon, third; Adam Johnson, seventh.

Saddleseat Fitting and Showing - Deborah Biggs, fourth. Hunt Seat Fitting and Showing - Clay Pelon, first. Saddleseat Pattern - Biggs, third.

Hunt Seat Equitation - Biggs, third. Hunt Seat Bareback - Johnson, fourth, Biggs, fifth. Equitation Over Fences - Tammy Jeske, fourth.

"You can tell how much she means to Lowell and how much Roberts (Janice) means to us. In the first quarter, the two teams each scored 19 points. With those two players on the bench for most of the second quarter, Lowell outscored us 7-6."

The Red Arrows led 26-25 at halftime. Wyoming Park opened the second half, outscoring Lowell 7-0 in the first four minutes, grabbing a 32-26 lead. The Red Arrows rebounded as they out scored the Vikings 10-6 in the final four minutes of the third quarter pulling within two at 38-36 to start the final stanza.

Lowell suffered deju ve to start the final period as Wyoming Park went on a 6-0 run to start the quarter, opening up a 44-36 advantage. During that stretch, Tonya Czarnopis, playing with four fouls, picked up her game-exiting fifth foul. Czarnopis tallied seven points while in the game.

Buckets by Estrella Calvo, Angie Arnett and a foul shot by Hackenbruch kept Lowell to within three at 44-41. However, Park answered with a 5-0 spurt, increasing its lead to 49-41 and in doing so fouled out Hackenbruch and with it Lowell's chances for a victory. Two minutes later, Arnett was tabbed with her fifth foul.

"Arnett played well," Akers said. "She plays hard and really works the boards." The Lowell senior led the team with 12 points and a team-high 10 rebounds.

"I told our girls at halftime we had to do a better job of rebounding," Copeland said. "I thought they did in the second half. I also thought going into a zone defense turned the game around. As did their front line getting into foul trouble."

Akers was not pleased that in the foul department his club was called for twice the number of fouls as was Park. Lowell heard the whistle 28 times, the Vikings were only called for 14 fouls.

To Wyoming Park's credit they made the Red Arrows pay at the foul line. Lowell did not get to the line as often, but when it did, the Arrows were unable to capitalize.

"We didn't get the outside shooting from Calvo that we have been getting," Akers drained in a 52-32 defeat at the hands of Ionia.

"We had a complete breakdown in second half," Akers said. "There was not one part of our game that was productive in the second half."

Lowell trailed 27-24 at halftime and managed just eight points in the second half. The Red Arrows scored four in the third and four points in the fourth quarter as the Bulldogs outscored Lowell 25-8 in the final 16 minutes.

Early in the week, Lowell played just well enough to win in a non-conference game against Delton.

"It was a sloppily played contest," Akers said. Hackenbruch led all scorers with 17 points and 12 rebounds. Tonya Czarnopis added six while Amy Stauffer netted five points. Arnett tallied three points and grabbed seven rebounds.

Lowell harriers have big day at DeWitt Invntl.

In a week where the cross weight if Lowell lost, the Red country meets only carried Arrow boys' and girls' teams enacted their version of the "Executioner's Song" with decisive victories over Northview, Saranac and Belding.

Jason VanderWarf finished 22nd in teh DeWitt Invitational

In the O-K White victory against the Wildcats, the Red Arrow boys laid claim to six of the top seven spots. The Lowell girls, with the help from a last mile spurt by Rhea Bundy, took the top three spots and four of the top seven positions.

"The boys ran a real strong race," Lowell coach Tom Harper said. "The girls ran well. Give Northview credit though, it ran a strong race."

In the boys' meet, Clay VanderWarf was the first harrier off the course in a speedy 17:37, leading Lowell to a 19-43 win. Northview's Jeff Parsons was nearly a half-minute behind at 18:03.

The Red Arrow's strength and depth dominated the race from that point on. Five Lowell runners finished in succession. Jesse Davidson was third, stopping the clock at 18:05. Challenging him for that third spot was teammate, Jason VanderWarf, who completed the run in 18:14.

David Stouffer and Tom Mull were not far behind, six seconds to be exact, as they came home in 18:20. Sergio Saldivar capped off Lowell's succession of five straight Arrow finishes (3-7) with a time of 19:19.

Northview's Pat DuVall was eighth at 19:50. Lowell's James Chertos was ninth at 19:56. He was followed by Northview's Jason Gruendyk, 20:47; Brian Skudre, 21:07; and Sam Quantz, 21:09.

Going into the meet, Lowell had five runners in the top 14 of the O-K White individual point totals. Clay VanderWarf had 40 points to lead the entire conference. Jason VanderWarf had 29; Davidson, 26; Mull 13; and Stouffer had seven.

In the Red Arrow girls' race, Harper continued to get solid, steady performances from Hillari Kirsch and Michelle Oliver. "Kirsch and Oliver have been running real well," Harper said. "We've also been getting steady performances from Sara Lesky."

The race against Northview, however, was won in the final mile of the 3.1 mile course. Bundy jumped over two Wildcats in the final mile to grab third place and thus helped Lowell to a 25-32 win.

Kirsch came home first at 20:06.5. Oliver was second at 22:18.4, and Bundy finished at 22:54.5.

Northview followed Lowell's threesome with one of its own. Courtney Hartmann was fourth at 22:58.9; Monica Stevens, fifth, 23:08.9; and Stephy Gallant placed sixth at 23:09.3.

Lowell's Lesky broke up the streak, racing home in 23:34.5, placing seventh. Northview claimed spots eight and nine. Julie Beam finished at 24:10.7 and Stephanie White stopped the clock at 24:11.3 respectively.

Lowell's fifth runner home was Kristen Shuster in a time of 25:17.6

Kirsch leads all O-K White runners in point totals with 40. Oliver is fifth with 26 and Lesky is 13 with 10. The point totals are used to determine All-Conference selections.

In a triangular meet later in the week, both Lowell squads made quick work of Saranac and Belding.

Kirsch and Oliver again took the top two positions. Kirsch recorded her best time of the year with a mark of 19:02. "The course was flatter than what we normally run on, but 19:02 is still a great time," Harper said.

Oliver broke the tape at 20:42. Lesky came home in fifth at 22:36; and Bundy was sixth in 22:58. Decker was Lowell's fifth runner off the course in a time of 24:04.

The Red Arrows beat Belding 18-37 and defeated Saranac 19-36. Belding defeated Saranac in the battle of Redskins 25-30.

For the boys, the story remained the same, Clay VanderWarf was the first runner home in a swift 16:45, leading Lowell past both Belding and Saranac by the identical scores of 15-47.

The top five runners in were clad in red and white. Davidson was second at 17:09; Jason VanderWarf was third in 17:15; Stouffer finished fourth at 17:22 and Tom Mull was the fifth Red Arrow home at 17:25.

"With these kinds of times, it will take a real good team to beat us," Harper said. "The boys are running real well as a team right now." The races last week were just in preparation for the big race Wednesday (Sept. 26) at Sparta against league foe Forest Hills Central.

"It will be a big race for both the girls and boys teams," Harper said.

DEWITT INVITATIONAL

Lowell coach Tom Harper was surprised about two things at the DeWitt Invitational on Saturday. First, the weather was wonderful. Second, how well both of his Red Arrow clubs did.

There were 16 teams that participated at the invitational, with the top 25 boys and girls receiving medals.

The Red Arrow boys finished third with 122 points behind Lansing Catholic Central, second, 110; and Fowler finished first with 30 points. Fowler is the three-time defending Class D state champion in cross country.

The Lowell girls placed second (70 points) behind Alma which finished with 62. Fowlerville was third at 136.

Hillari Kirsch came off the course in a first-place time of 19:50. The Red Arrow was 40 seconds ahead of her closest competitor, Alma's Kathie McGiuv (20:32).

"Kirsch ran real well. She had to finish so far out in front," Harper said. Teammate Michelle Oliver came home in fourth overall and was the second Red Arrow off the course. She stopped the clock at 21:18.

Rhea Bundy was Lowell's third runner in. She finished 12th in a time of 21:54. SaraLesky was 14th at 22:24 and Kristen Shuster was 39th in a time of 24:24.

Running for the Arrows, but not scoring was Chris Decker, she finished 46th at 24:49.

"I was pleased with the race that Rhea Bundy ran," Harper said. "Shuster and Decker also improved their times."

Lowell's boy harriers ran without the assistance of one of their top runners in Jesse Davidson.

Fowler's Tom Becker was the day's top runner, completing the course in 16:34. Lowell's Clay VanderWarf was sixth in an even 17 minutes.

Jason VanderWarf, led the pack after the first half mile, but finished in 22nd at 17:45. David Stouffer was on his heels, coming home in 17:46 and just a couple steps ahead of Tom Mull who stopped the clock at 17:48. Red Arrow's Sergio Saldivar was the fifth Lowell harrier home, breaking the tape at 18:51 (46th).

Running the race but not placing were Pete Wills and Eric Shelby finishing at 20:13 (74th) and 20:18 (75th) respectively.

"It was a tough boys' race, but I was very pleased, especially since we ran well on the course where the regionals will be held," Harper said.

Arrow netters lose three; edged by Lakewood 4-3

It may have been the toughest week of tennis Lowell's girls will have all year. Northview, Forest Hills Central and Lakewood.

Lowell coach Wendy Ackerman said the scores may not have reflected it, but the Red Arrows played against two of the league's elite teams was competitive. "I thought the girls played well against quality competition," Ackerman said.

Unfortunately for Ackerman and the girls, their play dropped off against Lakewood, a team Ackerman felt they could be beaten.

"We lost 4-3, but had the girls played as well as they are capable, I believe we could have won..." she said. "We've had a lot of matches in a short period of time, including weekends. I think the girls are in need of a break."

Lowell opened the week with a 7-0 loss to Northview. Two days later, Forest Hills Central handed Lowell a similar defeat.

In its match against the Wildcats, Lowell got its best performance of the year from its number one singles player, Kathie Abel, according to Ackerman.

Abel played well in losing 1-6, 0-6 to Wildcat Adriana Baretta.

The longest game of the match was a battle between Lowell's number four doubles team, Tara Sterly/Rachael McGrew and Mary-Lyn VandeKopple/Priscilla Tobar. The Red Arrows lost 6-3, 0-6, 2-6.

"McGrew and Sterly's match was a long and tight one. Their overall play was good," Ackerman commented.

In other singles matches, Nancy Wingeier, number two singles, was on the short end of a 6-0, 6-1 score to Northview's Britt Wilkes.

Third singles Diedre DeBoer lost to Kellee Dixon 6-1, 6-0. Fourth singles Connie Colburn was shutout by Mary Wyngarden 0-6, 0-6.

In the top two doubles matches, Allison Zillmer and Heather Tap lost 6-0, 6-3 in straight sets to Sandy Adams and Sarah Scholten. In the second doubles match 'Wildcats' Wendy Saurman and Laura Adams topped Lowell's Sara Kelley and Jenny Langridge, 6-3, 6-0.

Quilt raffle Sunday

The late Louise Harper didn't know it 12 years ago, but her involvement at the Fallsburg Fall Festival in 1978 has become a much savored tradition.

Harper is responsible for the commencement of the annual Fallsburg Fall Festival Quilt. Harper and her husband, John, designed the first four quilts, and for each of the next eight years that have followed a quilt has been designed, pieced and quilted together for the fall gathering by Dolores Dey and various Lowell Area Arts Council members and friends.

The one constant throughout the years has been the appearance of the Fallsburg Covered Bridge on each of the quilts. "No matter what the color or design, the bridge must be included in it somewhere," Dey says.

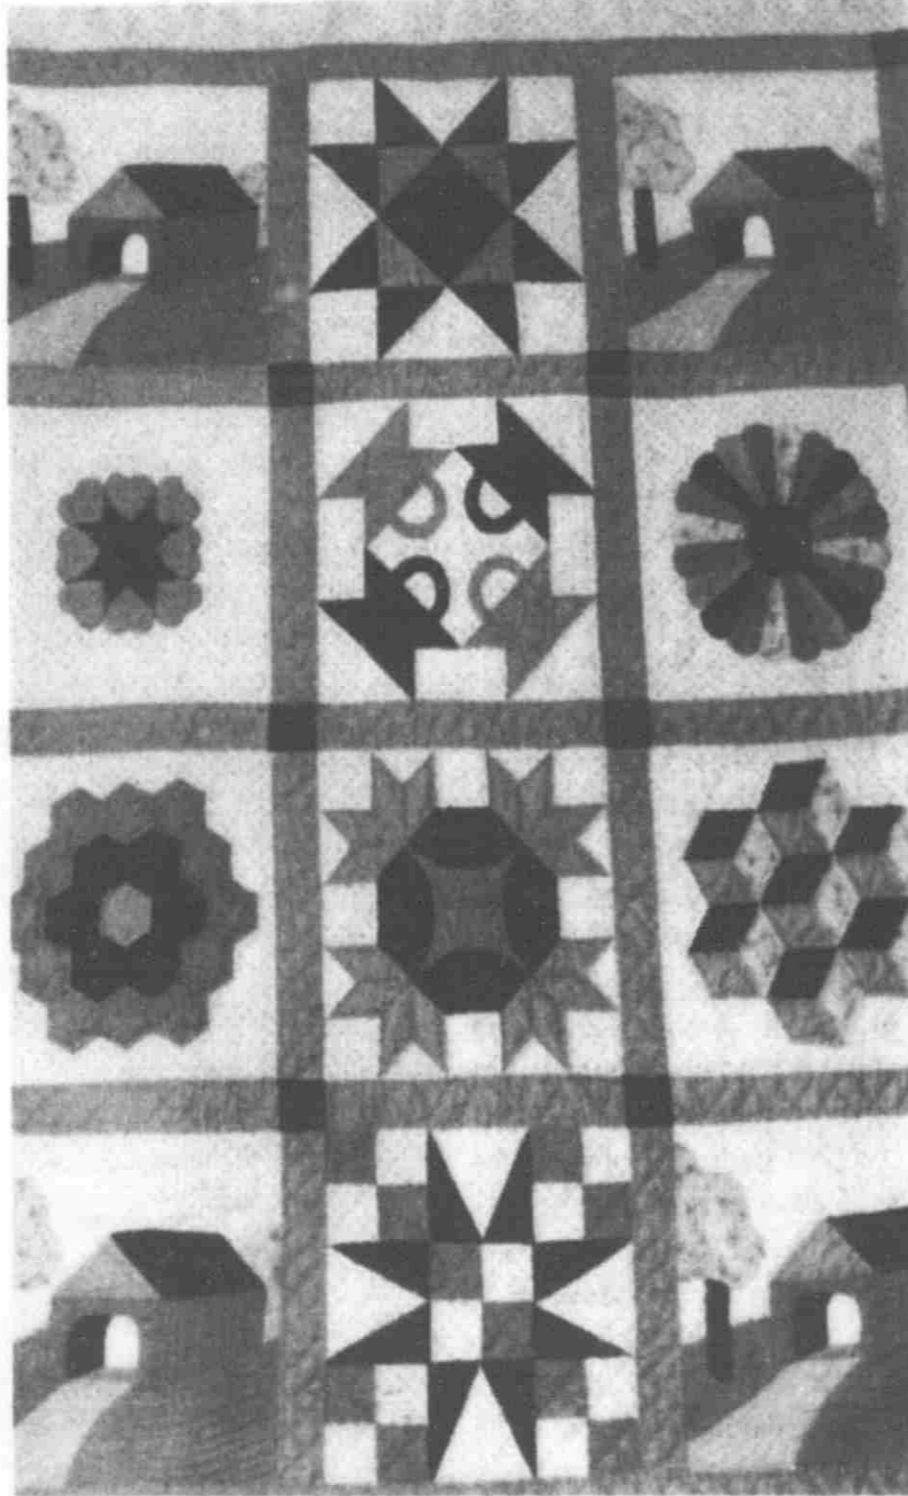

The theme, "Turn of the Century," for the 1990 Fallsburg Fall Festival has pretty much remained the same according to Dey.

Dey said work on the actual design of the quilt is started in March. She adds the actual quilt work is done over June and July.

Unlike in the past, this year Dey taught a quilting class for those interested in learning the skill. "There were two classes, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. They were six weeks long, some of the people that who the class helped with the making of the quilt," she says.

Incorporating four blocks of the Covered Bridge, the 1990 Fallsburg quilt was pieced and quilted by Kathie Biggs, Barb Davis, David Davis, Dey, Hellen Kwant, Karen Lambert, Laura Leasure, Nancy Mersman, Mammie Stahl, Gert Steffens and Jeanne Wise.

Tickets for the quilt raffle may be purchased at the Lowell Area Arts center, the Flat River Antique Mall, Cousins' Gift Shoppe and from Arts Council members. Tickets will also be available at the Festival up until Sunday at 4:45 p.m. An heirloom style rocking horse made by Bob and Norma Ford will also be raffled off, as well as other selected art and craft works.

The 12th annual Lowell Fallsburg Fall Festival quilt will be raffled off on Sunday.

Rangers hand Arrows' linksters their first loss

There was good news, bad news and terrible news this week if you're a Lowell golf fan.

The good news is Lowell defeated Wyoming Park, Rogers and Northview. The bad news is it lost to Forest Hills Central. The terrible news is Jerud Joynt strained a muscle in his back against the Rangers and could not complete his round of golf in the Arrows' match against the Rangers. "He'll probably be out an extended amount of time," Lowell coach Jack Ogle said.

Lowell completed the week at 4-1, finishing its first round of conference matches at 6-1 and 7-1 overall. "You've got to be happy at 6-1 in the league, but we would have preferred 7-0," Ogle said. "I really think we should have been 7-0. Many of our second round matches are on the road. It's going to be tough."

After Joynt had to withdraw from the Ranger match, teammate, John Borg, stepped and filled in nicely, as he stroked the round for a 40. Chris Elzinga finished up with a 42. "Borg did a real good job of stepping up after Joynt withdrew," Ogle said. "Elzinga was again steady, coming home with a 42."

A key to Lowell's success in the first half of the season has been the good play from its four, five and six players. At the par 36 Forest Hills Country Club, Lowell's Arrows came up short. Craig Coleman shot a 48, Chad Laux carded a 49 and Chad Dunn finished with a 49.

"Overall, we did not play that well as a team," Ogle said. "We also didn't get good play from our four, five and six players. We've been getting 42's from them most of the year. A team doesn't win in this league with scores of 45 or higher."

The loss dropped Lowell into a first-place tie with Zeeland. FHC got a medalist performance from Jim Lomparens, who shot a 38. Curtis Leigh finished with a 41; Brian Schiffelbein came home with a 43; and Mark Styczenski fired a round of 44. The Rangers finished with a team score of 166.

The third team participating in the triangular meet was Northview, who finished the round at 182. The Wildcats top score was 44, carded by both Rob Armstrong and Bob Jonio; Eric Anderson and Jason Durr shot rounds of 47.

Early in the week Lowell played an excellent team match in its disarming both Rogers and Wyoming Park. The Red Arrows won the match with a round of 159 at the par-37 Ironwood Golf Course. Rogers finished with a 169 and Park shot a 173. The Golden Hawks had defeated FHC early in the season. "Rogers is up and down. When Rogers is hot it can beat anybody. The Golden Hawks didn't have a good day and we were able to grab a victory at their place," Ogle said. "We played the kind of golf we're capable of playing."

Joynt paced the Arrows with a stirring round of one under par, 36. Borg carded a 39 followed by Elzinga's and Dunn's rounds of 42.

"Dunn is a good iron player," Ogle said. "He's not as long off the tee, but hits the ball well with the irons."

Rogers was steady and consistent as its first three players, Dan Hendrickson, Kevin Koets, John Ostrenko, scored 42's. Joe Ostrenko followed with a 43.

For Park, Les Williamson led the way with a round of 42. Robb Talsma and Ryan Schultz fired 43s, and John Turkopp came home with a 45.

Lowell holds off Zeeland in OT, 1-0

It was a physical, ugly soccer game. "No, it wasn't a soccer game, our match with East Grand Rapids was soccer. This was closer to football than soccer," Lowell coach John Turkal said.

Turkal was not happy with the physical beating his team had to endure, but the Red Arrows overcame the aggressiveness of Zeeland with 1-0 overtime win, maintaining its spot atop the O-K White Conference.

The winning goal was booted in by Brian Ray with assists to Jason White and Andy Williamson.

Lowell outshot Zeeland 26-12. Goalkeepers Aaron Snell and Doug Sanford netted seven saves. Zeeland's Mike Schreuer tallied 22. The victory improved Lowell's record to a perfect 9-0.

Ray and White hungry to bring Lowell a title

Brian Ray and Jason White stood between vehicles outside the Ledger building, to its north, each consuming a hamburger and drinking a coke following an afternoon of soccer practice.

The scene, in somewhat of the same manner, reflected the seniors' attitude about soccer. Ray and White, combined, have been "eating up" soccer for well over 10 years. They both started playing as youths in the YMCA and have continued their student-of-the-game approach right through high school.

"Their approach is almost scientific. They watch videos, go to soccer camps, they pay attention and they are intelligent," said Lowell coach John Turkal.

Ray and White are in their third year on the Lowell varsity soccer team. Their presence has helped the team attitude evolve from that of an underdog to one expecting to win. "Our sophomore year no one took us real seriously. Last year our attitude was let's see what we can do. This year, we enter each game expecting to win," White said.

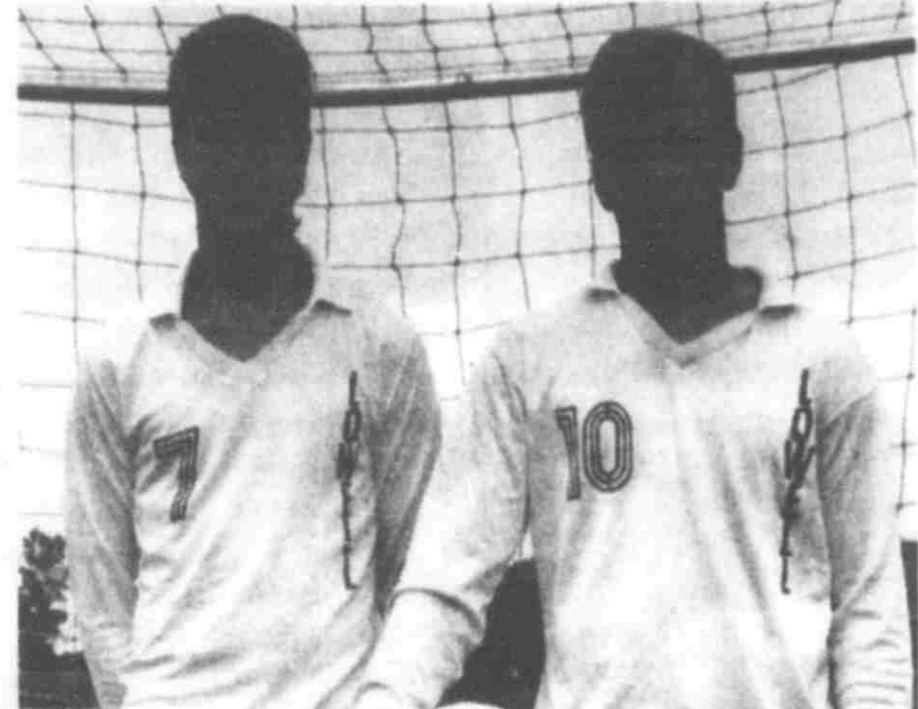

What has been the core of this evolution. The seniors believe it is because the basic skill level of the team is a lot higher. Ray adds, "We're dribbling and trapping a lot better this year."

Speaking of evolutions, four years ago if someone had mentioned dribbling or trapping, depending on the season, a person would have thought you were talking about girls' or boys' basketball. But a 9-0 start and atop the O-K White conference has basketball fans, at halftime, asking how the soccer team did earlier that day.

Not unlike tennis, soccer is not a sport where a team can show up every fall and just expect to do good. The good programs practice and play over summer. Ray and White give coach Turkal credit for getting the team more involved with soccer year-round. "Coach has us playing indoor soccer, playing in tournaments, and attending team camps," White said. "A team not only needs good players but players that work hard to get better."

White, Ray and 15-20 other members of the team

also got together for a couple hours over each weekend and practiced at the soccer field. "During the week, it's up to the individual to work on the basic skills," Ray said. "This year we had 15-20 people practicing. The year before we only had 6-8 people practicing."

Somewhere in-between all of this, Ray and White spent three weeks abroad as members of the East-West Soccer Ambassadors. The two Lowell seniors were a part of the 14 teams from 30 different states that toured Holland, Germany, Austria and Italy.

Their tour began with a five-day training camp in Holland with some of the finest American and Dutch soccer coaches. After the training camp in Holland, the East-West Soccer Ambassadors traveled to Wels, Austria to participate in the Upper Austria Cup. Following the Upper Austria Cup, the Ambassadors traveled through the Alps to the medieval city of Verona, Italy to participate in the Italy Cup.

"I found out about the Tour through my brother, who had read about it in a magazine," Ray said. Ray and White attended a tryout camp in Bloomfield Hills. "We had no idea what to expect. There were three or four tryout camps throughout the state," White said. "I believe roughly 20-25 players were selected from Michigan."

The seniors said the players and teams overseas are better because they play together longer and they play soccer everyday, all day. "Over in Europe players move when they don't have the ball. You don't see that here. The passing game over there is more precise. Players don't just pass up the field, but also pass across," White said.

Ray said playing against the higher caliber player made him better. "I learned a lot from the Dutch coaches. They helped build my confidence to use the foot more often. They also helped me with drills and different moves," he said.

It cost each of the players $3,000 to take the tour. Both White and Ray said they'd do it again in an instant.

"There's no doubt that the European experience taught them a lot," Turkal said. "The skills they learned and brought back with them have helped to upgrade the Lowell soccer team. Because of their skill level, other players on this team look up to White and Ray."

Both players are hopeful that their skill will earn them All-Conference honors and will help to bring Lowell conference and district titles. White earned All-Conference honors in his junior year.

Both players are most proud of the fact that this year's club has allowed just one goal in nine games. "That means our goalie and our defense has been playing well," Ray said.

Just following its leaders,

Arizona woman rescued from sinking vehicle in Flat River by three civilians and Lowell Police Officers

Derrick Luft, Clarksville, was preparing to celebrate his 21st birthday on Friday, Sept. 21, when he saw a most bizarre occurrence - a car, with a driver inside, slowly sinking into the Flat River.

Luft got out of his car, called the police and then swam out to the vehicle. Shortly thereafter, Luft was joined by Gene Sturgeon III, Lowell, who was looking out a window at the Pool Gallery II when, in amazement, he watched a vehicle being driven into the river. Sturgeon yelled for Pool Gallery II employee, Dan Taylor to call the police as he ran out the door to go try and help the driver.

Luft, Sturgeon and a third unidentified person grabbed ahold of the vehicle as they tried to keep the vehicle from sinking any further until emergency help arrived.

"The civilians are to be commended. They did a good job in keeping Jernigan calm and having her get into the back seat where there was an air pocket. It was smart thinking on their part," Lowell Police Chief Barry Emmons said.

The 68-year-old Prescott, Ariz. woman, Barbara Jernigan, was in Lowell visiting relatives and was on her way back from having her hair cut at New Creations. According to authorities, she apparently missed a turn at Avery and Lafayette just before 3 p.m. and drove into the river at a boat ramp.

"We understand that the driver had been at a beauty salon and was driving west on Avery, apparently became confused and instead of making the right angle turn south onto Lafayette, continued into the river," Emmons said. "She was not familiar with the area, and it was raining. It's a good thing the accident occurred during the day. If it had happened in the evening there's a good chance no one would have seen it. A minute or two more and it would have been a different story."

After emergency rescue personnel arrived, Officer Jim Valentine and Sgt. Al Eckman swam out to where the three civilian rescuers were attempting to keep the car afloat. After failing in their effort to unlock a back door, Eckman shattered the back window with a hammer, unlocked the door, opened it and then slipped Jernigan out of the vehicle. Eckman and Valentine then took her safely in to shore.

Jernigan was transported to Butterworth Hospital by Lowell Ambulance where she was kept overnight for observation.

"Sgt. Eckman and Lowell police officer Valentine did a good job in getting Jernigan out of the car and then getting her to shore," Emmons said.

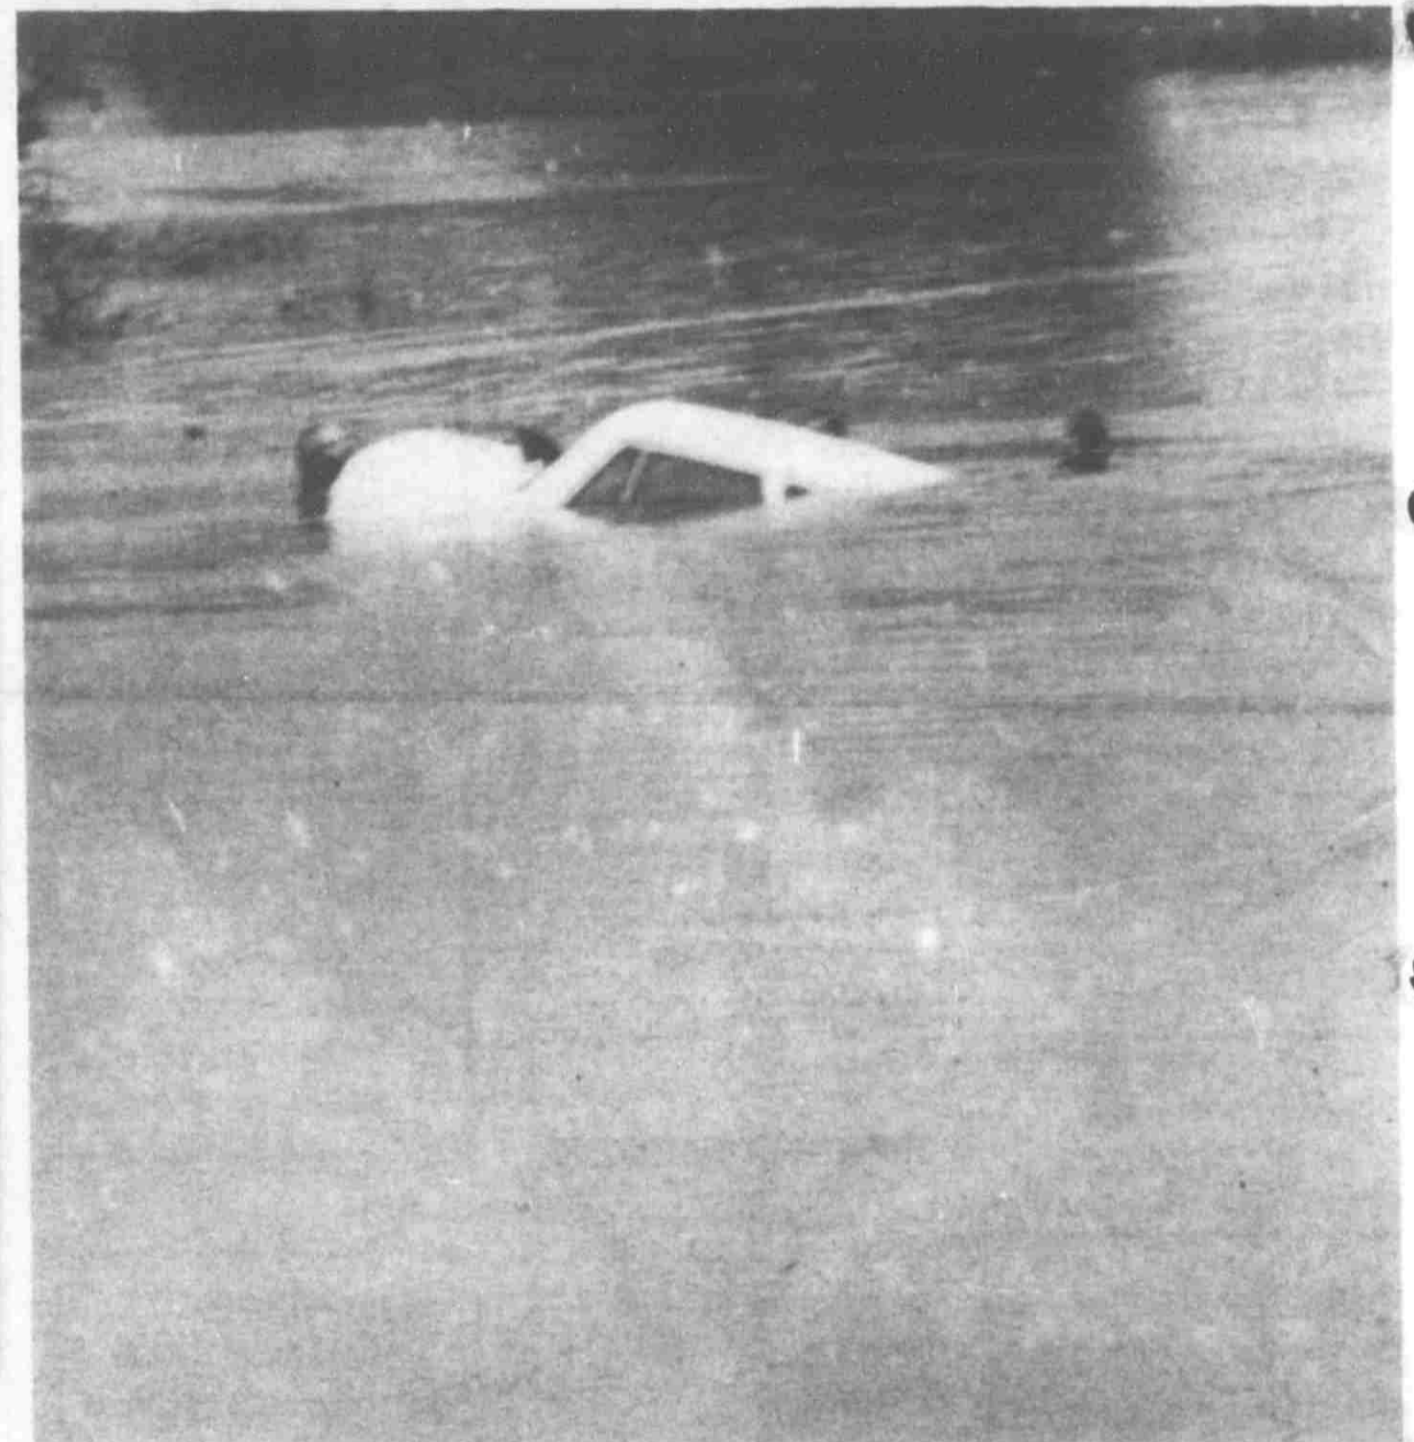

Sgt. Al Eckman, second from the left, and Officer Jim Valentine, help bring Barbara Jernigan to shore. Civilians Derrick Luft and Gene Sturgeon III were also helpful in the rescue.

Fish can become seasick if kept on board a ship.

It took a little bit of tugging, but Barbara Jernigan's car was finally pulled from the Flat River Friday.

Luft and Sturgeon along with a third, unidentified civilian helped to keep Jernigan's car afloat while waiting for rescue personnel to arrive.
