Bartholomew earns top prize in Ledger "First Buck Contest"

Jack Bartholomew was the Lowell Ledger's "First Buck" contest winner. Bartholomew showed up at the Ledger office at 7:30 with a six-point, 150-pound buck.

The Lowell Ledger's "First Buck Contest" turnout was better than voter turnout on election day.

Well, not quite, but 10 area hunters did walk through the Ledger door between 7:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. on Wednesday.

The point sizes varied from four to eight-point. The weight of the bucks fluctuated from 145-200 pounds and the spreads on the rack were anywhere from eight to 15 inches.

Lowell's Jack Bartholomew was the first hunter to bag and drag his buck to the Ledger office at 7:35 a.m. Bartholomew was out of the house by 6 a.m., saw his first buck at 6:55 and shot it at 7:10.

"When I first saw the buck it was about 100 yards away. It walked toward me and got about 45 feet away before I shot him," Bartholomew explained.

The Lowell man was south of town on Alden Nash when he dropped the six-point, 150-pound buck which had a 15-inch spread.

Bartholomew bagged a doe with a bow a few weeks earlier. "I'm sure I also hit this buck, because there is a mark on its back where an arrow grazed it. I hit a buck with an arrow. I didn't kill it, but I hit it," he said.

For Bartholomew this was his 11th buck in 15 years, although not his biggest. "My biggest buck is an eight-point," he said.

Doc Morgan scored his opening day buck at 7:20 a.m. in the Parnell area. The Lowell man bagged a seven point, 190 pound buck. It had a 14-inch spread. Morgan said his biggest buck was eight points with a 23-inch spread.

Morgan, hunting since the age of 15, used a 12-gauge shotgun to drop his prize.

Kerry Vezino, using his 20-gauge shotgun, dropped a seven-point, 150-pound buck near 36th Street and Snow Road. Vezino, who was up and out of the house at 6:10 a.m., bagged the buck at 7:45 a.m.

On Saturday, Vezino bagged a four-point buck with a bow.

Don Post, Ada, was along the Grand River on the flats, when he used one shot from his 16-gauge to drop a seven-point, 160-165 pound buck at 8 a.m. Post, hunting since the age of 14, said the seven is the biggest point size buck he has ever shot.

Chuck Pfishner, Lowell, fired his winning shot at 7:50 a.m. east on Four Mile. Using a 12-gauge, Pfishner shot an eight-point, 145-150 pound buck with a nine-inch spread.

Randy McIntyre, Lowell, was in Delton when he dropped an eight-point buck with a spread of 15 inches with his 12-gauge. McIntyre said he was out at 6:45 and shot the buck at 7:10 a.m.

Damon Kroskie, Lowell, was in Alto when he blasted a seven-point, 150-pound buck with a 10-inch spread at roughly 8:30 a.m. with his 12-gauge shotgun. For Kroskie it was his first buck.

Steve Whipple, Saranac, dropped a spike buck at 7:15 a.m. The buck weighed 115 pounds dressed. It was Whipple's first buck in his 16 years of hunting. He said he would be hunting some more this year.

Anthony Peckham was south of Lowell when he fired and hit an eight-point, 180-pound dressed buck with his 12-gauge. He hit his prized buck at 10 a.m. Peckham had been out since 7 a.m.

Dale Dawson was into his 18th year of hunting before he bagged his first buck on Wednesday. The prized first buck was a four point. Dawson fired the killing shot at 9:30 a.m.

The Lowell Ledger wishes to thank all the merchants who sponsored the contest and all of the hunters who participated.

School nixes leasing agreement with Township; plans for new addition are put on hold by board

After learning that the construction schedule reduced the administrative relocation needs from the anticipated five years to two years, the Lowell Board of Education asked school administrators to consider other options rather than enter into a rental agreement with Lowell Township for such a shorter period of time.

When talks originally commenced, the lease called for the school to commit to a five-year lease of 5,000 square feet of the new hall edition.

The Board's decision to consider other options increased speculation for both sides rather than answering existing questions.

The school is still confronted with a space crunch for its business office operation. Lowell Township, meanwhile, is back on hold with its plans for putting on an addition to the Township Hall.

"The Township won't need the size of an edition that it would have had the school decided to rent space," Lowell Township Supervisor John Timpson said. "The Township must now use our budget to fulfill its needs. It's very possible we will scale down the addition since there is not a need for all of the previously anticipated space."

Timpson added that the Township would look into other available methods of financing. He used Farmers Home Administration as a possibility "However, the Township would have to qualify for the loan first," Timpson said.

The Lowell Supervisor would not discount the possibility of going ahead with the new addition, leaving undeveloped the part the school would have rented.

"Since the school has decided not to rent space, the Township has no deadline to meet and can slow its approach," Timpson said.

The same cannot be said for the school. It has deadlines. Superintendent Fritz Esch is not sure how much longer the school can make do. Lowell's Superintendent is hopeful the school can make it through June of 1992. "The school will have access to some of the rooms in the new high school by September of 1992," Esch explains.

He also anticipates three additional classes of students next year. The problem is he doesn't know at what level. "If it's at the high school we will be okay, but if it is Kindergarten through the eighth grade we're in trouble. Murphy's Law says it will be K-8. I am hopeful we can squeeze together at least until June of 1992."

Other possibilities which Esch said are being considered, would include building a pole-barn and converting it into office space. The newspaper. Quada felt that was an inappropriate way to inform the cable board.

Quada said another determining factor in his decision was the singleness of Lowell's cable company. "It began to come home to me just how unique Lowell's cable system is. There are many other communities that cannot make that claim," Quada said.

The former city manager and Showboat President said the only way goals of the Council, the Lowell Light and Power Board and the community can be met is if people are involved and participating in the ultimate decision-making process.

"It's important that Lowell continue to foster and develop unique answers to problems," Quada said.

The cable company is six-years old and has a debt of $842,000 with 1,845 subscribers.

Cable board members Ivan Blough and Orval McKay said they did not believe the cable system should be sold, citing that it is a perk for the city and the money for operating the system stays in the city as reasons not to sell.

Quada meanwhile stands by his belief that if it's sold to provide funds used to do something as unique as cable, he then could agree to selling it. "But it shouldn't be sold and the money then used for some routine, normal city function of government," he said.

Quada concluded by saying he was very pleased with the Council's decision to rescind its motion to pursue bids so that it could review and give the whole issue more thought.

TOWN TALK

Mrs Lannie Rice's first-grade class at Bushnell sent letter and picture to Lowell's Dan Pipe who is in Saudi Arabia. In this week's "Town Talk" they explain why they sent the letters and pictures and why Dan had to go to Saudi Arabia.

Erin Weber
All the people are going to war. Saudi Arabia is where the people went in the deserts and Iraq and Kuwait. Dan is Mrs. Rice's (Lannie) neighbor and he's away from his family.

John Hauschild
I'm familiar with Saudi Arabia because sometimes I watch the news with my parents. Our Army is over there because one guy is making gas higher and trying to take away land. Dan is in the Navy or whatever you call it and we sent him letters to make him feel good.

Kamie Saldivar
That's where we're fighting from the desert. We're helping children get rid of their disease. We sent Dan letters to make him happy and give him some friends.

D.J. Armstrong
Where we're sending people in case there is a war, but there isn't a war yet. I know because I watch 60 Minutes and they talked about Saudi Arabia. Our class wrote letters to Dan (Pipe) to make him feel better. He's over there and doesn't have any friends.

David Anderson
Dan's in Saudi Arabia in the desert and he doesn't get a lot of mail there.

Katherine Blough
Mrs. Rice wants us to make him (Dan) feel good. He's out there in the desert with the Army.

Zach Stauffer
We wrote Dan a letter to make him feel better, so he'd cheer up and feel like he had a friend. Dan is in the Army. He's probably fighting. It doesn't sound like fun. He will probably be there a year.

Casey Conley
Dan doesn't get any letters. We are trying to make him happy. Saudi Arabia is not cold, it is hot. I don't know how long he will be there. I think he's fighting.

Lowell Township residents not real keen on park development

Where there was talk of a 240-acre light industrial park, there were nearly 50 Lowell Township residents balking at the idea.

Plans for a light industrial park, presented by the Robert D. Grooters Development Company, which would increase the SEV of the Township, helping to pay for schools, increase the township's tax base, and within two years bring an additional 500 new jobs to the area, were paled by Township residents because of their concerns of the park's environmental affects.

The light industrial park plan is for the northwest corner of the Alden Nash Avenue SE and the Interstate 96 expressway.

Grooters filed a request asking the Township to rezone the land from agricultural to light industrial to accommodate the park.

Abraham & Sons Inc. of Grand Rapids and ITM Corporation, an industrial tool and machine company in Vergennes Township attended the meeting to express a strong desire in seeing the site developed.

"The bottom line is I think this could help tremendously. Business will come to the area if we encourage it," Lowell Township Supervisor John Timpson said. "If Grooters can meet the requirements, I think the park would be beneficial."

The requirements Timpson refers to are for water, sewer, contamination control and to insure proper screening. "I think Grooters wants that type of development."

Lowell's Supervisor said four other companies, preferring anonymity, also are interested in setting up at the proposed park.

The Grand Rapids development firm has already purchased 100 acres at the light industrial park site. Grooters has options to buy another 100 with the sales pending upon its rezoning.

A public hearing will be held on December 11 at the Alto Elementary School at 7 p.m. "Public hearings are intended to answer the concerns of the people," Timpson said.

The public's number one concern at the Planning Commission meeting was the environment. Timpson said those concerns will all be covered by the requirements placed on the developer prior to any site being developed. "The Township needs to better accommodate firms interested in such developments. I think Interstate 96 is an ideal place for such a development. Such a site would also help Lowell Township support our schools," he said.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord... (Psalm 92:1).

Thanksgiving - one of the jolliest days in the year. To Mother and Grandmother it means hours of work preparing the turkey and dressing for roasting, candying the yams, baking stacks of pies, and setting the table. But all the back-breaking labor is forgotten when they hear the exclamations of delight from aunts, uncles, cousins, and friends as they partake of the bountiful spread. After the meal, the adults visit while the youngsters, dressed in clothing suitable for the snappy weather, file out of the fragrant house to root for their favorite team at the local football field.

But Thanksgiving Day is more than a reunion with loved ones, good food, lively conversation, and football games. It is then we especially count our blessings and offer thanks to the One who has provided all this and more. To God we offer praise for a land free from the rule of tyranny where we can worship Him as we choose. We give thanks to God for health, home, loved ones, food, shelter, and all the spiritual blessings we enjoy. Yes, this is the day we offer thanks. But one day in 365 is not sufficient to praise God as we should; every day ought to be "filled with thanksgiving."

Prayer: "Many, O Lord my God, are thy wonderful works which thou hast done, and thy thoughts which are to us: and they cannot be reckoned up in order unto thee: if I would declare and speak of them, they are more than can be numbered."

Thad's Thoughts

It seems Robert D. Grooters Development Company's plans for an industrial light park that would include light manufacturing and distribution firms got a pretty tough pre-public hearing test from more than 45 residents in Lowell Township.

The development proposed by Grooters is for the northwest corner of the Alden Nash Avenue SE and Interstate 96 interchange.

I was not able to attend the meeting (away on vacation), but I understand the environmental effects of such a park, the fact that the township's long range land use plan shows the area as agricultural and that the development would probably entail "hidden costs" which would influence residents' quality of life were reasons given for not wanting the development.

I don't claim to have all the answers, and I don't mind sharing my initial thoughts. To me it sounds like a great way for this community to make some much needed progress.

It would provide a great tax base and help lift some of the financial burden off supporting Lowell Schools.

If it brings in an estimated 500 jobs, the benefit from that will also be felt by other area businesses. Yes, there could be added cost too, but with growth there is risk. If Lowell is to continue to grow and survive it's going to be through advancement.

Wanting to protect the agricultural lands is noble, and I'm not for letting go of Lowell's agricultural heritage, but I don't believe allowing the development of an industrial light park does that.

Lowell Supervisor John Timpson was quoted as saying the Township needs to better serve and accommodate firms interested in such development especially near Alden Nash/I 96, a logical site for an industrial park. From that corner north to the City of Lowell on the west side is trees and homes. It's land that could not be used agriculturally without a great deal of expense.

Timpson also said any developer would first have to agree to meet the guidelines for water, sewer, contamination control and proper screening set by the Township. If these requirements are met, such development could be beneficial.

I also believe if Timpson says there will be strict guidelines and requirements that will have to be met, they will be met.

I think I have come up with a way where I can keep the trust of my news sources, share those quotes with the Ledger subscribers and not get anyone in trouble.

I have longed to start a small column within a column entitled "A Lowell Life" said it." I would use aforementioned quotes. The column will commence this week.

"I understand Lowell will have to wait a year because the City of Grand Rapids, which was contracted out by the state to do the work, has made putting up the light low on it's priority list. Tell me, is this any indication of how the Metro Council would work?"

cozy corner by Roger Brown

you could walk on the concrete without leaving a footprint. I reasoned that I weigh a lot more than most people, and fired up the trowel when I left only a shallow footprint. What a mess! We had poured two sections approximately fifteen feet square. I made one section look something like a moderate chop on Lake Michigan. I shut down the power trowel and attempted to salvage that first section with a hand trowel. I left the second section for either a go at it with the power trowel after it had hardened further, or possibly just leaving it in its floated condition, which looked much better than the section I had botched.

Finally, the concrete gods smiled on me when an acquaintance of mine stopped by, got a little too curious and ended up with a trowel in his hand. It turned out that this guy had gained lots of experience finishing concrete while working in his father's construction business. He did a first rate job of salvaging my training experience with that big power trowel. Meanwhile, the other section hardened to the point where I didn't leave a footprint. I got on it with the power trowel and ended up with a fairly decent looking job. I slept really well that night.

The following Tuesday I scheduled another load, collared my brother, drafted my son and one of his friends, knocked off work a little early and had six yards of concrete poured by 5:00 in the afternoon. I thought I was really slick until 11:00 rolled around and I was just firing up the power trowel. I slept really well that night too, but not very long.

I had the last load coming in on the following Saturday. My meager list of so-called volunteers had dwindled to my son and his friend, but I was confident that we could handle it. As it turned out, a couple of friends just happened to show up a little before the arrival of the concrete. They were drafted and I had more than enough help, especially when the concrete came down the shoot in about the same consistency as spaghetti sauce. It seems the plant hadn't properly compensated for a wet load of sand and there was way too much water in the mixture. The driver was as apologetic as could be, but there was nothing he could do.

The hardest part of a concrete job is screening off the excess concrete with a board. This job is especially tough when dealing with fifteen foot spans like we were on this project. Well, my grandmother could have worked the screed board over this soup. I spent the rest of the day and a good portion of the night getting into a serious wet concrete curing vigil which forced me to sit idly by with a cold brew in hand. This was especially frustrating knowing that I should have spent the day around the house doing projects for my wife. Doggone wet concrete anyway!

I dashed back to the job site where I frantically began shoveling sand back into the area to be poured. I had just recently spent hours shoveling the same sand out. I figured it was better to have the a three inch floor everywhere than a four inch floor almost everywhere. I also prepared a form board to section off part of the floor if I ran short of concrete despite the extra fill.

The concrete truck, my volunteers and the tools all arrived at about 10:30. I was already pooped from shoveling all that sand, and we still had five yards of concrete to pour, much of which was out of the reach of the truck's shoot and had to be hauled with a wheelbarrow. It was a cool November morning, but I was stripped down to a T-shirt before that concrete was in place. Luckily I had prepared that emergency form board as we ran a little short of concrete. I figured that area into the next pour, but there is a goofy little 1 1/2 foot by 15 foot section of concrete floor that will forever serve as a monument to my stupidity.

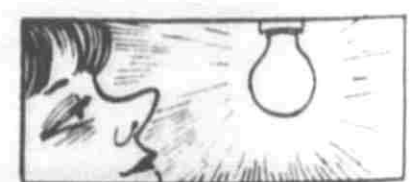

The only volunteer in my group with any experience in finishing concrete was a farmer who happened to be very busy trying to get his corn crop in. He gave me a few tips, soloed me out on starting the borrowed power trowel and left. I waited nervously for the concrete to set up enough to trowel. Several hours later I had waited long enough and attacked that concrete with the power trowel.

I had been told the power trowel shouldn't be used until cost would be the same as what it would have cost the school to rent space from the Township for two years. A Lowell teacher suggested that at the end of two years the pole barn could be used for much needed storage space. Funds for the pole barn would have to come out of the general fund. Esch said that with the new Governor, the uncertainty of legislative action, and the $1.5 billion state deficit, he is not willing to commit general fund monies to be spent when state aid finances are uncertain.

Another possibility would be the early construction of four additional classrooms onto the high school - two for special education and two for science. For the past 10 months, Lowell Area Schools administrators have been looking at places to rent as administrative offices when its current location is remodeled into classrooms for the district's increasing student population. Three possible locations within the City of Lowell were considered as possible temporary locations.

"The Lowell Board of Education wishes to extend its sincere appreciation to the Lowell Township Board of Trustees and Supervisor John Timpson for their sensitivity and interest in the Board of Education's dilemma with space needs for its administrative unit," Esch said. "Their offer to assist the district is only one example of Lowell Township's depth of understanding of the inter-relationships and importance of local governmental cooperation to provide the best possible expenditure of all tax dollars. The spirit of cooperation between governmental units to achieve common goals is why so many people are moving into the Lowell area."

Blood demand high during deer season

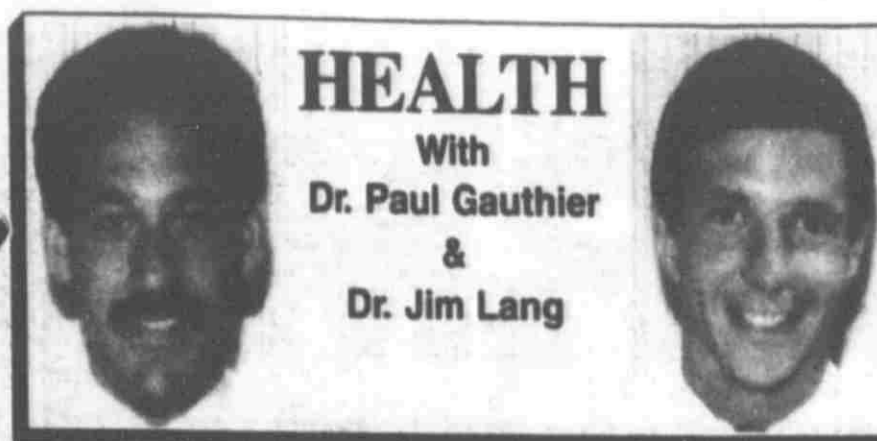

The Grand Valley Blood Program (GVBP) reminds you to donate blood. During deer hunting season accidents can happen and the need for blood increases. After deer hunting, the Thanksgiving holiday can cause another increase in the need for blood.

So, as you enjoy the cooler, colorful days of fall remember others may need your help. Please donate blood.

Holiday hours for the Grand Valley Blood Center, 1036 Fuller NE, Grand Rapids are Monday, Nov. 19, and Tuesday, Nov. 20, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 21 and Friday, Nov. 23, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 24, 8 a.m. to noon.

The GVBP is the sole supplier of blood and blood components to patients in Kent County hospitals. This year approximately 35,000 pints of blood will be needed for major surgeries, trauma cases and in the treatment of disease.

CHRONIC FATIGUE SYNDROME

Chronic Fatigue Syndrome has had many other titles: Chronic mono, Chronic Epstein-Barr virus, "Yuppie flu" etc. The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta has now formally labeled this malady as Chronic Fatigue Syndrome (CFS). CFS usually begins suddenly as a flu-like illness, with sore throat, cough, fever, and swollen glands, and progresses to severe fatigue that can linger or reappear for several months or years. This disorder tends to affect active women in their thirties, although men can be affected as well.

It should be pointed out that there is considerable debate over just what CFS is. Currently no lab tests can actually detect it - the illness is diagnosed by ruling out other possible causes of prolonged fatigue like thyroid disease and cancer. Because it is an elusive diagnosis, we do not even know how widespread CFS is.

The CDC has established guidelines for diagnosis of CFS. The symptoms required are as follows: after an abrupt onset of flu-like symptoms, fatigue must persist or recur for at least six months and be severe enough to reduce the patient's activity level by over half. Other disabling symptoms such as headaches and joint pain and a variety of psychological complaints such as depression and sleep disturbances must be present as well.

CFS is truly a dilemma, for both patients and physician. Many doctors are not convinced that CFS even exists - some simply regard it as the latest in a long line of fashionable diseases. Because CFS is so difficult to accurately diagnose, and because there is no proven treatment to eliminate it, it may well emerge as one of the more common, but most frustrating illnesses of the 90's.

ITEM NO. 1. PRESENTATION OF CERTIFICATES OF APPRECIATION FOR FLAT RIVER RESCUE. City Manager Pasquale said that a rescue was performed on September 21 when Barbara Jernigan drove her car off the boat ramp at Avery and Lafayette into the Flat River. Through the efforts of several civilians and two police officers, Mrs. Jernigan was rescued from the sinking vehicle.

Certificates of Appreciation were prepared and given to Stephen Cridler, Derrick Luft, Gene Sturgeon III, Police Officer Jim Valentine and Sgt. Al Eckman. Also, it was noted that Mike McGirr, Bryan Kimble and Polly French will receive certificates for their assistance in the rescue.

ITEM NO. 3 STREET VACATIONS:

A. SOUTH HALF OF PINE STREET 137.6' WEST OF MONROE STREET - PUBLIC HEARING. Michael and Vicki Schmidt of 622 N. Monroe petitioned the City to provide a vacation of the south side of Pine Street from Monroe running west of Lafayette. It is noted that the adjoining property west has already had its portion of street right of way vacated. The Schmidts also stated that additional space was needed to build a garage. Several area residents were present stating concerns of the street vacation. They asked if this would affect City services on that portion of the street, such as snow removal and garbage pick up. Also, the question was raised as to should the City ever decide to widen the street, would both north and south sides lose footage. The Council responded by stating that the portion to be vacated is in the unimproved right of way, not the roadway, so it would not effect City services. At this time the City has no plans for the widening of Pine Street.

IT WAS MOVED by Doyle and seconded by Fonger to grant the vacation of the south half of Pine Street 137.6' west of Monroe Street.

Center for the vacation of a portion of Center Street just north of West Main Street. This triangular piece of property by the medical offices used for off-street parking was never abandoned or vacated by the City and remains public right of way. In order to clear title, Drs. Gauthier and Lang have thus requested vacation.

IT WAS MOVED by Fonger and seconded by Doyle to set the public hearing for Monday, November 19, 1990 for the vacation of a portion of Center Street, just north of West Main Street.

Cheryl Scales of WBDC explained the change orders involving the contract with Ken Shaler & Son Excavating for the Valley Vista and Bowes Road Improvements Projects. Thus, a total of $19,017.92 in change orders would be accumulated. Also, it was requested that $111,683.85 be paid to the contractor at this time. Ms. Scales also mentioned that additional engineering costs with WBDC were incurred totalling $5,800. This would increase these costs to an overall amount of $29,460.

ITEM NO. 11. POTENTIAL SALE OF CATV - REVIEW OF SPECIFICATIONS OUTLINE LETTER. In response to previous Council action, City Manager Pasquale received a quote of $5,000 from R.W. Beck and Associates for assembling the specifications for the potential sale of CATV. He also determined that City Attorney Richard Wendt could coordinate the writing of specifications with the assistance of the City staff. A specifications outline letter was prepared by the City Attorney for review by the Council. The letter summarized such considerations minimum sales price, terms of sale, and level of service to be provided. After discussion, the consensus of the Council was to meet with the Lowell Light and Power/CATV Board together on the second Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall. During those times, discussion can be centered on the future of Lowell Cable and weighing the advantages and disadvantages of selling.

ITEM NO. 13. COUNCIL COMMENTS. Councilmember Fonger stated that Dick Watters of 135 S. Center asked if there are any plans on correcting the winter water service freeze ups. Public Works Director Siciliano explained that Center Street was lowered when the sewer separation program took place in the 70's. This left the water services more exposed. Siciliano mentioned that the services will need insulation or lowering. No schedule has been determined as of yet. Councilmember Doyle asked if the sidewalk contractor will be coming back in the Spring of 1991 to complete the rest of the work for those who have signed up. City Manager Pasquale said that Richard Wheeler will finish these jobs next Spring. Councilmember Doyle also requested that the City Manager get quotes on a blower for leaves. Councilmember Hodges stated that the Parks Commission requested that the City consider a three way stop at the new Bowes Road and Valley Vista intersection as well as crosswalks.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Thompson to have crosswalks and a three way stop at the Bowes Road and Valley Vista intersection.

ITEM NO. 14. MANAGER'S REPORT. City Manager Pasquale reported on the following:

1. The Close-Up program sent a thank you to Chief Emmons and myself for speaking to approximately 30 high school students from Lowell local government on October 17.
2. As a matter of information, each Councilmember was contacted about the four trees in the Hudson Street right of way which were scheduled to be cut by Wolverine Power. None had an objection and Wolverine was informed on Friday, October 19 to go ahead. These trees have been cut down.
3. A letter from Jan Baker, Police Clerk Dispatcher, was enclosed giving an update on the billing of those convicted for OUIL. So far, seven have been billed. There have been 28 OUIL arrests through September.
4. Officer Jim Valentine has been appointed to the Citizens' Advisory Council of the Kent County Juvenile Court.
5. A copy of the Library Board minutes of September 16 meeting were provided.
6. A copy of the Lowell Light and Power and Cable TV minutes were provided.
7. In discussions with the State officials, the City of Grand Rapids will install the new traffic light. The City of Grand Rapids has estimated that the installation of the new W. Main Street traffic light will take place next fall.

Lowell resident wins breeders futurity in Detroit

A Lowell area horseman has proven to be the best at the world's largest breeders' futurity. Sandi Thompson of Twin Tradition Farms won the Get of Sire class with the get of her horse Indelible Image at the Michigan Quarter Horse Breeders' Futurity held September 20 to 23 at the Michigan State Fairgrounds in Detroit.

Competing against four entries, Indelible Image came out on top in the composite scores of the two judges. The victory netted Thompson $70 and the right to boast Futurity Champ in the above class for 1990.

The American Quarter Horse Association is the largest breed registry in the world. Historically the Quarter Horse is known as the cowboy's horse, capably working cattle on the western plains then going to town on Saturday night to take on all comers, even thoroughbreds, in short quarter mile sprint races. The Twentieth Century has seen the Quarter Horse become America's family horse. It's docile temperament and athletic ability have made it ideal for virtually any type of rider or riding.

Thompson has been raising these fine horses for the past 13 years. Indelible Image stands to outside mares at Twin Tradition Farms in Lowell.

"YOU DON'T SAY... NOW DON'T SAY..."

"HE DIDN'T SAY!"

"WHO SAYS IT?"

The first president to use the telephone was James Garfield, who had a phone installed in 1878 while he was a member of Congress.

Auditors give City's books a clean bill of health

The City of Lowell has received a "clean" audit from their accounting firm of Biggs, Hausserman, Thompson & Dickinson of Saranac. Tom Dickinson was on hand at Monday's council meeting to review the annual audit and explain comments and recommendations listed by his firm.

Dickinson explained that the audit is conducted and prepared each year using guidelines established by the state. "Tests on various funds have assured us that there are proper checks and balances in place to guarantee city funds are being handled properly", Dickinson said. Dickinson told the council he is very impressed with the way the city's budget is prepared and said the general fund is expended in a very efficient manner. He also praised the City Treasurer Judy Noonan for her work on the city's budget noting that she had submitted the document for a possible award. City Manager Dave Pasquale was quick to note that the budget is a team effort and the entire staff at City Hall is involved.

Recommendations regarding the past year included the following: the city should conduct an annual review of user service charges to insure that proper rates are being charged. The city should establish an equipment reserve fund for the sewer department. The city should either forgive or collect on an old loan to the Lowell Showboat. Written policies on equal employment, related party transactions, investments and conflict of interest should be established. Finally, a consistent means of computing sewer usage charges for commercial and industrial accounts should be established.

Councilman Charlie Doyle instigated some discussion of the Showboat debt. The $13,303.31 loan was made to the Showboat in the early seventies for the purchase of bleachers for the new amphitheatre project. No interest or principal has been paid. There is some question as to whether the city can legally forgive the loan. Doyle indicated that he would be in favor of forgiving the loan stating, "We might as well forgive it (the loan) because we're not going to collect it anyway". Pasquale said he would take the matter up with City Attorney Richard Wendt and come back to the council with a recommendation.

Several recommendations were made for the coming year. A deferred compensation plan has been established for all city employees. The auditors are concerned that Light & Power and Lowell Cable TV employees have not been informed of the benefit. A 1989 decision of the Lowell Light & Power Board to provide free electrical service to the Lowell YMCA may be in violation of the same board's operating ordinance. The auditors recommend funding be provided in lieu of taxes rather than a free service. It was noted that the Lowell Airport has been added as a new enterprise fund now that there are significant revenues coming from hangar rentals. Despite increased rates, water and sewer revenues are down due to less usage. The auditors recommend that very close attention be paid to that account. It was also noted that delinquent payments be collected for pretreatment of industrial sewage. The city auditors are currently computing depreciation schedules on city property and equipment. The auditors feel it would be beneficial for the city to handle these schedules in-house.

In other business a sign variance was granted to Jim Sowle, owner of Water Works Car Wash at 1941 West Main. Sowle wants to place five, four foot square signs along the entrance to his pull through car wash explaining services available. A small portion of city right-of-way near Lowell Family Medical Center on Center St. was vacated by the council. Doctors Lang and Gauthier are buying the property and a discrepancy in the property description was delaying the transfer of the title. The council voted to again collect summer taxes for the school district. The city is not paid for the service but is allowed to keep interest earned on payments made prior to the date the funds are turned over to the school.

Lowell FFA members compete in Poultry contest

Lowell's FFA chapter went to the National Convention in Kansas City, MO. The chapter departed on November 5.

On the long drive to Kansas City they visited The Gateway Arch, St. Louis, MO and the Meramac Caverns, Stanton, MO.

From the estimated 500 attending from Michigan, 11 were from Lowell. Those members were Alicia Richmond, Dave Hildenbrand, Randy Grieser, Hayley Murphy, Jennifer Brown, Jenny Oesch, Niki Gurney, Stacy Tousignant, Danielle Scott, Heidi Kaeb, Melanie Kaeb and the Chapter Advisor, Pete Siler.

Three of the members went to compete in the National Poultry Contest. They whipped past districts, regionals and state and headed for Kansas City placing 14th out of 34 teams. The Poultry team contestants were Melanie Kaeb, Heidi Kaeb, Danielle Scott and alternate Dave Hildenbrand.

The convention consisted of many motivational speakers including Zig Ziglar, Joe Clark, "Lean On Me", Miss America' 1990 and retiring addresses from the National officers.

Other attractions in Kansas City were the American Royal, Truman Library, and many traffic jams.

Lowell FFA Chapter was also honored to have their advisor, Pete Siler, receive the Honorary American Degree, the highest degree available through the FFA.

Overall, the week was motivating for the members and also gave them a chance to meet over 24,000 other FFA members from around the nation. "It was an experience I will never forget," stated Heidi Kaeb.

Every year, foreign visitors spend about $14 billion in the U.S.

Bushnell first-graders send Pipe some friendly greetings.

Students from Lannie Rice's first-grade class are Heather Pretzel, Kamie Saldivar, Erin Weber, John Hauschild and D.J. Armstrong.

Lannie Rice's first-grade Bushnell Elementary classroom holds up its letters to Dan Pipe. The students spent a morning writing letters and drawing pictures. They were mailed to Dan on Monday.

Dan Pipe, the son of Dan and Deb Pipe, was shipped to Saudi Arabia two weeks ago. He, like hundreds of thousand of other servicemen, suffers from the uneasiness of what the future holds.

Lannie Rice's first-grade class at Bushnell may not fully understand just how volatile a place Dan Pike now resides. They do however understand, in their youthful, way the significance of being happy opposed to sad and the human need for friends.

Friday morning Rice explained to her class where Dan and other servicemen have been asked to go, and that it is not a very happy time for them or their families. Rice asked the students to write Dan a letter and to draw him a picture that would help him and other servicemen smile.

Examples of those letters follow:

Dear Dan,
My name is Kamie Saldivar. I am 7 years old. I like red. I like to read. Have a nice day. Your friend, Kamie.

Dear Dan,
My name is John Hauschild. I am 6 years old. I have a dog. I like blue. I like cherries. I like to play football. Have a nice day. Your friend, John.

Dear Dan,
My name is Erin Weber. I am 7 years old. I have no pets. I like tan and red. I like to be in school. Have a nice day. Your friend, Erin.

Dear Dan,
My name is Heather Pretzel. I am 6 years old. I have a cat. I like yellow fish. I like Snupe. I like to ride a buck. Have a nice day. Your friend, love Heather Pretzel.
Dear Dan,
My name is D.J. Armstrong. I am 7 years old.

I have 2 cats and 1 puppy. I like red and applesauce, and the Ugly Duckling. I like to play with my friend Andy. Have a nice day. Your friend D.J.
Rice is a neighbor to Dan and Deb Pipe, Dan's parents. "Dan used to babysit for my two children," Rice said. "In talking to his parents, I told them I wanted to do something for Dan. So I asked them if it would be alright to have my first-grade class write him letters and draw him some pictures. He could also share them with other servicemen."

Pipes were very open to the idea, but told Rice the pictures could not be of women or hint of a war. "I think the letters are really special. I know it will mean an awful lot to Dan. It's so nice to know so many people care," Deb Pipe said.

"I had just one student that started to draw a plane with bombs dropping from the sky," Rice said.

Dan left from his Fort Hill, Lawton, Oklahoma base on Nov. 1. He arrived in Saudi Arabia on Nov. 4. "He wrote us a letter his first day there and it was dated Nov. 4," explained his father.
Pipe's son joined the Army in July as a member of the Field Artillery. Dan is a 1989 high school graduate of Lowell.

"The letter we received did not have a whole lot of news information in it," Dan Pipe Sr. said. "We did, however, talk to him everyday leading up to his departure."

Pipe says Dan was kind of excited about the trip and was looking forward to going to Saudi Arabia. "Deb and I had mixed emotions, but Dan's positive attitude helped us a lot."
Deb adds, "I try not to think about him and where he is all the time, but nighttime is difficult for me. "We just hope all of the servicemen can come home without serious injury."

Pipe says the couple watches a lot of news and hope war is not needed, as do Dan's friends at Bushnell Elementary.

Bursley starts "Operation Desert Shield" for husband and other U.S. servicemen Waiting on a war may be the most difficult fight the 400,000 United States servicemen over in Saudi Arabia have to battle.

The wait for the loved ones left behind is both unnerving and arduous.

Lowell's Melissa Bursley, her six-year old son, Andrew; and her 10-year old daughter, Megan, will begin that fight on the 23rd of Nov. as their husband and father, Randy Bursley will be shipped from Aschaffenburg, West Germany to Saudi Arabia for the duration of Operation Desert Shield.

"I'm both scared and nervous," explained Melissa Bursley. "Randy was upset at first because he hasn't seen me, or the children, in quite a while. We had been working on setting some time aside in December."

Randy has been in the Army for 10 years. He serves as a tank crewman. He was shipped to Aschaffenburg in August from Fort Larson in Colorado.

"When Randy was sent to Aschaffenburg, the children and I moved back to the Lowell area," Bursley said. "This is where I grew up and went to school."

In an effort to take away some of the hurt and to prevent dwelling on where her husband is, Bursley has decided to do something that will be both satisfying to her and useful for her husband and other servicemen in Saudi Arabia.

She has started an "Operation Desert Shield" program in Lowell to help collect everyday items needed by servicemen in Saudi Arabia.

Bursley said dropoff boxes would be put out in stores and businesses by Friday (Nov. 16). "I'm looking for donations from businesses, merchants, the community and help from the schools," Bursley said. "I hope to fill an estimated 300 boxes to ship by Dec. 14. This way the goods will arrive in early January, just after the Christmas rush."

The Lowell woman wants to fill the boxes with everyday items such as razors, shaving cream, toothpaste, shampoo, toothbrushes, toilet paper, bar soap, sun screen, chapstick, combs, wet wipes, white socks, cotton swabs, mouth wash, zip lock baggies, Gatorade (packets), Kool Aid (pre sweetened), books (word search - reading), ink pens, paper, pencils, envelopes, candy (bags), Band-aids and Roman Noodle Soup.

Bursley also added that she hopes to encourage students and others to write letters to the men in Saudi Arabia.

"A project like this is very satisfying," Bursley said.

Melissa Bursley, Lowell, has started an "Operation Desert Shield" campaign to help collect everyday items for the servicemen over in Saudi Arabia.

mas." The Jaycees are collecting warm items (coats, hats, mittens, sweaters, blankets, boots, etc.) for the needy and will be participating in this year's Christmas Parade.

Jaycee members will be walking beside their float to gather articles along the parade route. Drop off boxes will also be located at Family Fare, Food City, West Side Deli and FMB State Savings Bank through Saturday, Dec. 1.

Donations will be distributed by Access 6 through their distribution centers.

HOLIDAY CRAFT AND BAKE SALE

The Lowell Woman's Club will be holding a Holiday Craft and Bake Sale. The proceeds will go toward high school scholarship programs.

The sale will be held at FMB State Savings Bank on November 30, December 1 and December 3 during banking hours.

OFF THE BLOTTER

Arrested and taken to the Kent County Jail for Driving Under the Influence of Alcohol Nov. 13 was Glenn Averill, 46, of Lowell.

Arrested and taken to the Kent County Jail for Driving While License Suspended, Second Offense, Nov. 18 was Eugene Greco, 19, of Jenison.

Elizabeth Dawson, 17, and Danny McMahon, 39, both of Lowell, were involved in a property damage accident Nov. 19 on West Main just west of Hudson St., when both attempted to make a right turn into a private drive at the same time.

Arrested for Driving Under the Influence of Alcohol Nov. 17 was Tanetta Burdick, 35, of Lowell.

Thomas Beggs, 36, of Lowell was arrested by Lowell officers for Driving Under the Influence of Alcohol Nov. 19.

Bruce Yeiter, 27, of Ada was arrested on a warrant issued out of Grand Rapids for Failure to Appear in Court, Nov. 17.

Alto's Senator Dick Posthumus is elected Senate Majority Leader

Senator Dick Posthumus (R-Alto) was unanimously elected Senate Majority Leader by members of the Republican caucus who will take their oath of office in January. Posthumus, who has served as assistant majority leader for four years, was unopposed for the position.

"I'm pleased and honored to have my colleagues' support. We have an excellent and extremely talented caucus that will continue to take the lead on many important issues in our state," he said. "With the election of John Engler as governor, our caucus' role in public policy will be even more enhanced. Almost half of the Senate Republican Majority caucus will be new. It's going to be an exciting time with some major policy changes in the months to come."

Following last Tuesday's election, Republicans continue to hold the majority in the Senate with 20 seats. In addition, the new lieutenant governor, Senator Connie Binsfield (R-Maple City), will preside over that chamber.

All other Senate leadership posts, which are also two-year terms, were also decided.

Senator Fred Dillingham (R-Fowlerville) will be the new Assistant Majority Leader; Senator Phil Arthurhult (R-Whitehall) will continue as Majority Floor Leader; Senator Bob Geake (R-Northville) will retain his post as Assistant Majority Floor Leader; Senator Vern Ehlers (R-Grand Rapids) will be the new President Pro Tempore and Senator John J.H. Schwarz, M.D. (R-Battle Creek) will be the new Assistant President Pro Tempore.

Senator-elect Joanne Emmons (R-Big Rapids) has been elected Majority Whip; Senators-elect Mat Dunaskiss (R-Lake Orion) and David Honigman (R-West Bloomfield) will serve as Assistant Majority Floor Whips; Senator Doug Cruce (R-Troy) will serve as Majority Caucus Chairman and Senator Harry Gast (R-St. Joseph) will serve as Assistant Majority Caucus Chairman.

Bieri & Sons given the okay to prepare site

Lowell's Township Board approved a motion to allow O.E. Bieri and Sons to prepare the site for the new township building site and to grade the sides so there is no hazard.

Bieri said it would prepare the site at no cost to the township if it was given six months to do it. This would allow it to remove the sand as it was needed.

At first the Board balked at the idea, because it thought it would be better if Bieri could find a project and use it all at once, but then okayed the motion. Lowell Supervisor John Timpson said he would ask Bieri to do so, but to not remove anymore trees than it has to.

Township approves fee structure

The fee structure for residential inspection by the Cascade Building Department was approved by the Township.

The permit fees are the same as the ones reviewed in March.

The renewal is subject to review of the legal council. "The fee structure is reviewed on an annual basis," Timpson said. "Things have worked out well with the Cascade Building Department. The Township has had very few complaints." Prior to its agreement with the Cascade Building Department the Township was serviced by Michigan Township Services.

Air ducts to be cleaned at Twp. Hall

As far as any of the Lowell Trustees and Lowell Supervisor, John Timpson could tell, the air ducts at the Lowell Township hall have never been cleaned.

That will change though, as the Township Board agreed to pay $310 to have its air ducts cleaned, its furnace cleaned and to have the air filters replaced if necessary.

Treasurer Jean Huver said the Township office has had problems with dust and smells. She added that they were not sure however where the weird smells were emanating from.

The first system of writing was invented by the Sumerians in ancient Mesopotamia about 3500 B.C.

Trustee squeals over purchase of "Mouse"

In reviewing the list of bills Monday night at the Township meeting there was a little squealing about the cost of one of the items on the list.

Trustee Herb VanderBilt questioned paying $109.20 for a mouse. "Our constituents would not be pleased knowing we paid that much money for a rodent."

Timpson explained that the word mouse was referring to the instrument used to move the cursor around on a computer screen.

New fee structure accepted for cemetery work

A proposal to accept the new fee structure for cemetery work was approved by the Township Monday night.

The new fee proposal from Gerald Wittenbach and Sons calls for the grave opening fee to increase by $50. Previously it was $200, it will now cost $250. Lowell Supervisor John Timpson said he did not believe this was out of line.

Ronald McDonald teaches St. Mary's students about importance of recycling Ronald McDonald visited St. Mary's School this week to entertain the students and to bring them a message about the ecology.

He talked to the students about the three R's: Recycling, Reducing and Re-using. A team of students and a team of teachers participated in a spelling contest that re-used letters. Somehow the students were able to win.

A group of students became part of a recycling machine that turned tin foil into aluminum cans and a newspaper into a box. The machine even recycled Mrs. Deugaw, the first grade teacher, into a planet protector.

Ronald McDonald sang, did magic and recited poetic rap for the students. The students also learned how they could reduce the amount of electricity, oil and water that they use. These ideas are not totally new to the students. The first and second graders recently took a walk to the recycling center at Food City with each student taking an item to recycle. The fifth and sixth graders are taking the lead with a project to recycle office and classroom papers.

The students of St. Mary's took a pledge with Ronald McDonald to use at least one of the three R's every day.

Ronald McDonald, with the help of his animated pal Cosmo, helped the students at St. Mary's School understand more about the ecology and the need to recycle and re-use.
