Township Recreation Committee prepared for Jan. 17 public hearing

A five-year plan to give direction in developing recreational in federal grant money the Township is required to put together facilities in Lowell Township will be the topic of conversation at a Jan. 17 presentation to the Lowell Township public by Timpson said. the Lowell Township Recreation Committee.

The plan presents an evaluation of Lowell Township's rec- to September, the final draft was finalized two weeks ago. reation opportunities and needs. It considers the existing facilities in and around the township, the anticipated demand for additional or improved facilities, and the means for providing those facilities during the course of the planning period.

The plan would call for the development of two new parks over the next five years. The proposed sites would be the Eastgate sub-division and along the Grand River. The Eastgate facility would be a neighborhood park, encompassing a playground for children and picnic areas. The proposed park site along the Grand River would provide nature trails, boat access and a fishing dock.

Donald Dubbink, Chairman of the Lowell Township Recreation Committee, said once the parks are developed then there could also be additional growth. "The type of growth would be dependent upon what the people wanted," he said. "There has been much talk about a bike path along Grand River Drive. There may also be a need for soccer and softball diamonds."

A major component of this planning process was the distribution of a citizen's survey that encouraged public input and ship. Based upon the information gathered for this document, a plan for future recreational improvements was established, including goals and objectives, priorities for development, and methods for plan implementation. "In order to participate

a recreational plan," Lowell Township Supervisor John

While the draft of the recreational plan was started prior

Dubbink said the Township has experienced substantial growth in recent years and is expected to experience continued growth pressures. "The attraction of Lowell Township's rural living and its direct highway link with the Grand Rapids Metropolitan Area will continue to encourage rapid residential growth and a demand for recreation opportunities," he said.

Timpson added that the recreational land sought, is not land that could be used for agricultural or business. "I don't expect adverse comment. The development of parks in the Lowell Township area will cut down on the travel distances people have to go currently to find a recreational area," he

The recreational plan states that Lowell Township has an unique environmental character created by a combination of water resources, steep and rolling terrain, woodlands, and scenic countryside. The planning process assesses community characteristics; to determine and describe exisitng and future recreational opportunities; and to serve as a recreational resource for Lowell Township and Kent County.

"While the rural setting in itself offers a form of passive gathered public perceptions of recreation needs in the Town-recreation, there are other needs to be met," Dubbink said. "Active, as well as passive, recreation opportunities must be made available within the Township in relative proximity to the people being served."

Abby Vos visits "Another World" No, not the fictitious soap opera

It was a different world than what six-year-old Abby Vos is used to.

It was a world, quite frankly, that her youthfulness did not know existed.

It was a world that created memories she will not soon forget.

Vos traveled with her grandparents, Manuel and Alice Campos, and cousin, Lenna Tompkins to the unsettled world of El Salvador. From there, they flew to the serene world of Costa Rica.

The trip commenced on Nov. 28 and concluded on Dec. 13. In between, Vos experienced the vastness of the Pacific Ocean, the harshness of a coutry's inner conflict, political unrest, and the immense difference in cultures.

"We did not realize or even imagine just how unsettled things were in El Salvador," said Vos' mother, Emily.

Abby saw young children walking around with guns. She heard bombs explode in close proximity to where she was staying (her great Grandmother's).

Her Grandmother Alice Campos explains, "Rebels are trying to overthrow the government. They claim to be fighting for the people, but they don't have the support of the majority of the people." Campos adds that not the government." United States' labor unions send money to the churches in El Salvador to help the people, but the rebels take the money from the churches. "This has been going on for the past 10-12 years. It is the rebels that are killing people

Abby and Lenna spent much of their time playing in their great grandmother's house. Abby's fondest memory of El Salvador was her visit to the Pacific Ocean. "I collected sea shells," Vos explains as she holds up a jar of shells.

Manuel and Alice Campos visit their families in El Salvador and Costa Rica twice a year. "It's nice to be able to visit family, but we would not want to move back,"

Norplant® consists of six match-sized capsules implanted beneath the skin of a woman's upper arm. This is a minor surgical procedure which can be performed with local anesthesia in the physician's office. The capsules release minute amounts of the hormone progestin, which prevents pregnancy primarily by suppressing ovulation.

To date nearly 500,000 women around the world, mostly in third world countries, have tried Norplant®. With a reported five-year success rate of 96.1 percent, it's proven

The most common side effect from this product has been the development of irregular menstrual cycles, especially in the first year of use. Other side effects can be weight gain, acne, mood changes and headaches. In a recent study, while 81 percent of those using Norplant® reported menstrual irregularities, only nine percent found them troublesome enough to request removal of the implant.

If a woman decides at any time she wishes to become fertile again, the implant can be removed, again with an in-office surgical procedure. Fertility is usually restored within days of the device being removed. In spite of some reported bleeding irregularities, this ap-
