Council votes to remove half of downtown trees now and the rest in the fall

The Lowell City Council was urged by the Lowell Chamber of Commerce not to rush into removing the downtown area of trees. Rather, work with the Chamber of Commerce to replace the downtown trees by relocating trees in the ground, sidewalk or parking lot areas without the use of pots.

The Chamber proposed a three-year plan in which to do this. What it got was, having half the present tree plantings removed now and the other half in the fall. In between this period, members of the City and Chamber will get together to study and look into plans for starting another tree program.

Chamber of Commerce member and Lowell City Council member, Jim Hodges said the Helen Look Daley Tree Program has agreed to help finance a new tree program over the next three years. While nothing is official yet, Hodges said the funds would total somewhere between $4-$5,000 over three years.

The Council was warned by Cornerstone Landscape Inc. owner Don Garvin who said if the trees were left in the pots 2-3 more years, he was not sure how the City would get the trees out and transplanted properly. "I wouldn't want to be the one to take them out and try to keep them alive," he said. "They are probably terribly root-bound now. If the trees are left in the pots much longer, the City is going to cause itself some potential problems. They may not be foreseen immediately, but long term, to pay top dollar for a tree like that, I certainly wouldn't buy it."

Ron McCollum of Sure Transplanting, said he believed the trees had more developed roots and would have a better chance of surviving.

"Ron and I have traveled southern Michigan, Indiana and Ohio and have gone through City after City, most of which have trees in the downtown area I haven't seen roots coming up through the sidewalks," said Lowell Chamber of Commerce member Laura McCollum.

All the Council members agreed since the City owned the trees they didn't want to risk leaving the trees in the

Louis King's 1977 Atalla motor home was destroyed in a fire late last week. King pulled into his yard at 691 Lincoln Lake Rd when he noticed smoke coming out of the hood of his motor home. Shortly thereafter the motor home bursts into flames, according to Lowell Fire Chief Frank Martin. Lowell's Fire Chief said the motor home was totally destroyed. Martin estimated the value of the damage to be roughly $4,000.

Archer, past president, visits Rotarians

Former past President of the International Rotary Club, Hugh Archer spoke to Lowell Rotarians on Wednesday.

On his drive into Lowell Wednesday afternoon to speak at the Lowell Rotary Club, the former past president of Rotary International, Hugh Archer was reminded of a saying once shared with him - "Rotary was born in the city, but lives in the country."

As a vignette to that saying, Archer shared a story about his visit to Argentina as President of the International Rotary.

"It's amazing the respect and admiration Rotary members show toward the President of International Rotary," Archer said. "It doesn't matter whose name it is, it's the title that draws Rotary members."

Archer visited a city in Argentina while president. Members drove from over 600 miles and all over the country to meet with the President of Rotary International. The past president said that story defines what is meant when he says "Rotary was born in the city, but lives in the country."

"Small Rotary Clubs in the country, like here in Lowell, have a much larger impact per capita than the large city clubs," Archer said.

Archer has been a member of the Rotary Club for many years, and served as President of Rotary International, 1989-90. Rotary has 23,000 chapters with 1 million members in 62 nations. During Archer's presidency, he developed an anti-drug education campaign aimed at young adults, used the Club's expertise to fight illiteracy, and led a successful by-law change admitting women to the Rotary Club.

With an education history in finance, Archer help stave off the Club from bankruptcy during his tenure. "When I came into office Rotary had a $20 million income, but was overspending by $10 million. The Rotary reserve was dwindling, as it dipped below $7 million.

Archer assigned six Rotarians to investigate Rotary finances. Archer, cont'd., pg. 25

Lowell driver's failure to stop delays traffic on Main St.

Traffic at the intersection of Hudson Street and Main Street was delayed Wednesday evening (5:35 p.m.) following a four-car accident whereby minor injuries were incurred. Keith Phillip Swanson, 17, Lowell, was eastbound on Main Street when he failed to stop his vehicle after the cars in front him spiked their brakes, according to Lowell Police officer Jim Valentine. Swanson was driving on Main Street and had just crossed Hudson Street when the traffic came to a stop. Swanson was cited for failing to stop in an unclear distance. The car Swanson struck was driven by Laura Lee McCormick, 30, Lowell. The impact of Swanson's blow forced her car into a third car driven by Carl Lysle Smith, 77, Lowell who was then pushed into a fourth vehicle driven by James Edward Reagan, 33 Lowell. Lary Topping, Lowell, a passenger in McCormick's vehicle was transported to Metropolitan Hospital by Rockford Ambulance. According to Valentine, she was treated and released. Smith, driver of the third

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

CHURCH PAGE
 Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth... (Ephesians 4:29).
 It is a good practice to visit the dentist every six months. During these visits the doctor examines the teeth for cavities and the gums for infection and disease. "Pink toothbrush" and gossip have something in common. Both are offensive to others, and both need to be eliminated.
 Malicious gossip comes from a heart which is diseased with envy, jealousy, and hatred. It is the product of evil thinking.

 All gossip is not malicious, however. Some is simply thoughtless chatter. But, it too is harmful and offensive to others. We need to guard our words lest a story which is repeated brings sorrow and a ruined reputation to another. "Running folks down is a bad habit, whether you are a motorist or a gossip."
 One advised: "It is well to remember that mansions in the sky cannot be built out of mud thrown at others."
 And "one cannot speak harmfully about his fellow Christians without suffering loss in his own personal experience and christian character."
 Gossip is destructive, like "pink toothbrush."
 Prayer: O Lord, set a watch upon my lips today. Let no "corrupt communication" proceed from my mouth. Grant that all my words may be edifying. Amen.
 Then let us all when we commence
 To slander friend or foe,
 Think of the harm one word can do
 To those we little know.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The Qua-Ke-Zik Sportsman's Club was established in 1938 at Dean Lake in Grand Rapids. Because of encroachment, the club moved to its present site on Foreman Road in Lowell in the mid-60's. And now we are again faced with the strong probability of having to move again because the Lowell School Board feels that this is the only suitable place that they can build their new school complex.

Last summer, the Club received an anonymous offer to buy the club property for $360,000. We have just recently found out that this offer was from the School Board. After this offer was turned down, the School Board (Dr. Esch, Roger Kropf, and Gary Kemp) requested to meet with the Club Board. Meetings were held and each side expressed their respective needs with the Club's position being that the Club was not for sale. The School Board informed the Club of three parcels of property that were possibly for sale. Out of common courtesy, we did look at the properties and found them to be unsuitable because of wetlands involved, railroad tracks going through the area and the locations. After several meetings, property to the School. As per the law, we complied by allowing various firms and persons to do their studies of the property which included appraisals, core borings, examining the site, etc.

The School Board's offers of $360,000 and $450,000 were both made before the voters passed the bond issue to build the new school. Their offer of $450,000 was withdrawn because, in the words of Dr. Fritz Esch, "it was an illegal offer." After appraisals and studies were completed, the School Board (Dr. Esch, Roger Kropf, and Gary Kemp) requested to meet with the Club Board. Meetings were held and each side expressed their respective needs with the Club's position being that the Club was not for sale. The School Board informed the Club of three parcels of property that were possibly for sale. Out of common courtesy, we did look at the properties and found them to be unsuitable because of wetlands involved, railroad tracks going through the area and the locations. After several meetings, the School Board presented the Club with an offer of $442,000 which was their appraised value of our land plus $25,000 moving expenses. This offer was turned down by the club. We then received an offer, through the School's lawyer in Lansing, for $442,000. We hired attorney John Huff of Grand Rapids to represent the Club and he turned down this offer. Now we are faced with condemnation proceedings because the School Board WANTS our property.

I feel that this is not the ONLY property that is available for the School to build on. The Qua-Ke-Zik Sportsman's Club is located on 120 acres of prime land which cannot be replaced. For the past twenty-five years, club members have worked to build the facility that we now have. Land like we now own is just simply not available in this area. If we move out of the area the club members and membership will suffer because of the distance we would have to travel. And a future site could again be threatened because we would not be protected under current Michigan law from noise complaints. Clubs in existence now are protected but clubs built after the law was passed do not have this protection. We would also have to obtain permission from the local township to be allowed to construct shooting facilities as well as find someone who would sell knowing that a shooting facility would be built there. In short, it is quite possible that if the School Board gets the property condemned, it could be the end of the Qua-Ke-Zik Sportsman's Club.

There are other matters that the general public should take into consideration. Where is the water and sewer coming from? Can the current facilities handle the future load? And who is going to pay for these facilities? I would venture to say that it will be the residents along the proposed routes who will pay for water and sewer instead of the School District. For example, it has been proposed that the water come through the Eastgate area with a water tower near Eastgate. Are you ready to pay for this? What about the taxes? We already are facing a large tax increase because of the new school and making Grand Rapids Junior College a Community College. How much more are you willing to pay for?

I am not against the need for a new school. I AM against the supposed (ly) NEED to put it on the property that is now the Sportsman's Club. Does the school district need 120 acres for a school? Or do they want to have an impressive sports arena consisting of football fields, track fields, tennis courts and a future swimming pool? At times, I feel that education is secondary in this matter especially with the plans that the school has. What are we paying for?

I feel that the School Board has not fully explored the possibility of other locations for a new school. The Sportsman's Club has been a member of this community for over twenty-five years and has supported the community during this time by providing a place for recreation shooting, hunter safety programs, and such for the general public. It is a place where a group of individuals with common interests have built over the years. It is a place that is available to the community as well as surrounding areas to use for recreation. It is a place that cannot just pick up and move at the will of the School Board.

We have our rights and now certainly feel that these rights are being taken away from us. I would strongly urge that the School Board look elsewhere to find a new location for the new school. If it is so easy, as you seem to think, for us to move, it should be easy for you to find a new site for the new school complex.

Dear Editor:

I would like to ask the Sportsman's Club to take a different view of the sale of its land to the Lowell School system. Look at this sale as an opportunity to be a major happening in the development of our community.

My family has been a member of this community for 13 years. As such, I regard myself as a "community advocate." The community I'm talking about is far larger than the city limits, and would include the surrounding townships, schools, churches, clubs and organizations in it. The community is really the people living in this area.

The Lowell School system embraces the entire "community" that I'm describing, and that community in turn has some fantastic potential within it.

A sampling of the great things that our community has going for it, and that make it one of the most interesting communities in West Michigan are: Lowell YMCA, Lowell Showboat, 4-H Fairgrounds, Park systems, School systems, Lowell Area Arts Council, Fallasburg Festival, Progressive business leaders, Civic clubs and organizations, Parent/Teacher organizations, Senior Citizens group, Athletic, Academic, Band Boosters, organized youth athletic programs.

This list would be even greater, except that in the 13 years I've lived here, community progress has been restricted by "turf" issues between governmental units, clubs and private interests. Instead of joining forces to fully maximize and expand our combined potential into positive accomplishments, I've seen opportunities lost because people would not abandon self-centered interests and refused to consider the big picture. At this crucial time, on this one issue, the welfare of this community depends on its citizens' ability to share goals harmoniously.

In 1983 I chaired a successful millage campaign to help rescue this school system from shortened school days and loss of accreditation. In the process, I talked to many groups of people, and thereby came to recognize the tremendous potential, energy and sense of commitment and pride in this community. As a result of our commitment to our young people in 1983, I occasionally still have young college graduates who were Juniors and Seniors in 1983 shaking my hand and saying "Thanks, Mr. Millage."

Following that successful millage campaign, we chose Dr. Esch to become the Lowell Area Schools Superintendent, and he has assembled a fine organization of teachers, administrators, staff and community members to develop extensive long range plans for our schools. The construction of this new educational complex is only a portion of those goals. These people are all to be commended for their long range vision and continuing commitment. I'm especially pleased to see the extensive community involvement for ideas and input to these goals, since the school system does reflect on the community as a whole.

Since the 1983 school crisis other citizens have carried on themillage support torch very successfully to the point where ten years later we will be able to truly show our pride with the construction of a very exciting educational complex. This is a once in a lifetime opportunity for the adults in this community to make a difference for coming generations, and to move forward as a growing, healthy community.

We are a unique population combination of rural, urban and suburban commuters and when we are determined to, we really get along well and use our resources harmoniously. I ask the Sportsman's Club to look beyond its "turf" and view this as an opportunity to be a major positive force in the development of the entire community. Don't allow this issue to become a negative occasion and an embarrassment to our community.

Help the school system to make this a positive and proud accomplishment for our community as a whole.

Dear Editor:

It is time to clarify information and understanding regarding the Lowell Area Schools and the Qua-Ke-Zik Sportsman's Club property. Fritz Esch, in stating that Vergennes Township and Attwood Corporation are engaged or have been engaged in litigation, is completely wrong. There also seems to be a concept that the Lowell Area Schools pays an ad valorem property tax. Wherever the school locates, the school is exempt and the only tax base lost is the land the facility displaces. It should not be difficult to understand because many have felt or in July will have a better understanding that schools levy a tax; they don't pay a tax. In particular the Roth property located in Vergennes Township and almost across the street from the Club property needs to be addressed. I have said many times to Club members that to my knowledge the school has never asked Lowell City if water and sewer could be made available for the new school if it were located on the Roth property.

Let's investigate the three or four miles to run sewer and water to the Roth property. As the crow flies it is exactly 2400 feet from the Middle School to the southeast corner of the Roth property. If you follow Foreman Road, the land on the north side of Foreman is in Lowell Township and Vergennes Township does not intersect until the Roth property is reached. Simple arithmetic must be taught by Lowell Area Schools, but I would expect adults or other Township Board members to be somewhat knowledgeable if they choose to profess to be experts. I further stated that Vergennes Township would most certainly be agreeable to such an arrangement. I hear loud noises originating somewhere in Lowell City regarding annexation, but to my knowledge there is no written City policy on this issue. I also believe that this Council would demonstrate compassion and understanding which would permit the school to obtain these utilities.

The Ledger has quoted Fritz Esch as saying the Public Act 116 pays farmers not to raise crops and costs of removing land from this act would be exorbitant. Wrong again, the act requires farmers to continue farming and farming alone. When the individual 116 contract expires, the property owner becomes liable for the last seven years of tax deferral along with compound interest. Deferral can amount to 93 percent of taxes paid if household income is sufficiently low enough to qualify. Who do you think is liable for the deferrals? The contract holder of course. There is an encumbrance on the property that prevents the farmer from giving clear title until liens are satisfied and other aspects of the contract have been met. All of us would like to see the school complete the building program while being prudent in the capital outlay. Excess costs will be borne by every taxpayer in the school district, and I can't name anyone person willing to reach deeper into his or her pocket to finance inefficiency.

We must all recognize that time has expired whereby the School can change its mind. They must act and they must act now by continuing eminent domain which is the right of government to take private property for public use upon the payment of just compensation. In my opinion the school is offering more than just compensation for this property, but the club, in its quest for greed, wants to take advantage of the school to enrich itself. However, this is the American way, but who will walk out of court with surplus value money? The attorneys, of course, and who is going to pay for this indiscretion? You and I, of course, will pay through our ad valorem property taxes.

Dear Editor,
I have never written to a paper, but had to speak out on the Board of Education's condemnation of the Qua-Ke-Zik property. The taxpayers of Lowell voted millage for a new school (it passed). Millage for a swimming pool was defeated. We have been informed that the "board" has approved a design, not only for the school, but an extensive athletic facility even though they have no money to build or maintain such a facility at this time. Look down the road a few years and imagine the millage votes that could send your school taxes soaring.

They want to condemn property of a club that has paid school taxes for 24 years. I resent my school tax dollars going to a lawyer to commit what I call bureaucratic takeover of land they have no right to. They have built this over a period of 24 years and they do not want to sell. It is immoral for a group of bureaucrats to be able to do this. This is their hobby and their relaxation. I also resent my taxes going to facilities that benefit a minority of students. Sports should support themselves. A man said "This is about a football field to stay in the O-K White League." I agree.

Sincerely,
A.M. Roskamp

Dear Editor:
Where have you been Lowell Councilmen, Bill Thompson and City Manager, David Pasquale? Awaken from your long winter naps and come out to play hardball. An error in Kent County Road Commission records has been corrected months ago, and Vergennes Township has been absolved of all responsibility for Fun Street improvements since 1935.

Bill, you won't need to apologize even though you might find it appropriate to do so. I also get confused by the many yellow lines on Main Street.

RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

Arthritis is a term encompassing many different diseases. Today we are going to discuss rheumatoid arthritis. Of the many different kinds of arthritis, rheumatoid arthritis is often the cause of significant pain, disability and joint destruction.

Rheumatoid arthritis affects six-seven million Americans. This disease is seen more often in females and contrary to popular belief often affects young adults in their 30's and 40's. Some forms of rheumatoid arthritis are also seen in children. This disease is characterized by chronic inflammation of the joints leading to eventual destruction of the involved joints. In the early stages, rheumatoid arthritis is often difficult to diagnose because there is often no clear cut pattern. Some patients will experience an abrupt onset of joint pain and swelling involving several joints, while others experience minimal aching in a few joints with associated fever, fatigue and general malaise. The disease usually involves the joints of the hand, wrist, feet and knees. It is usually symmetrical, involving the same joints on both sides of the body. The joints become tender, swollen and stiff. Stiffness is a cardinal sign of rheumatoid arthritis and usually manifests itself as stiffness lasting an hour or longer in the morning after arising. Many patients with rheumatoid arthritis feel tired or worn out later in the day.

The cause of rheumatoid arthritis is still not known. There is no doubt that the immune system plays a significant role. Somehow the body's immune system produces antibodies which turn against the body itself, leading to destruction of the joint. As the disease progresses, patients may experience a loss of strength, loss of joint mobility, and deformity of the joints. This, in turn, can cause chronic pain and depression. However, this disease is highly variable with some patients experiencing minimal symptoms, while others present with rapidly progressive symptoms and disability. In many patients, rheumatoid arthritis is characterized by periods of temporary improvement only to be followed by another flare up.

As stated previously, the diagnosis is sometimes difficult to establish. Along with clinical symptoms and physical examination, your doctor will rely on blood tests and x-rays to confirm a diagnosis. Sometimes months or years may pass until a definite diagnosis can be made.

Treatment is multi-faceted including physical therapy, exercise, and medication. Patients are encouraged to remain active and to participate in exercises that are not damaging to the joints like swimming. Aspirin or other nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory agents are usually prescribed. Second line drugs called disease modifying agents are often required. Because these agents can cause significant side effects and are potentially toxic, close follow up with your physician is necessary.

We have no known cure for rheumatoid arthritis but with a carefully tailored program of medication, physical therapy and surgery, rheumatoid arthritis can be controlled so that you can maintain an active, productive, enjoyable lifestyle.

The City of Lowell, Michigan recognizes the need to provide equal employment opportunities. To this regard, the City of Lowell affirms a policy that there shall be no discrimination in hiring of applicants or in the treatment of City personnel because of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, marital status, or age.

Pursuant to applicable State and Federal law, the City assures that equal employment opportunity is extended to individuals who have handicaps.

George Regan, Plant Superintendent stated, that Pennington would not provide a warranty for its work because of the type of grout used, and not being able to put enough grout to seal the small sized cracks.

The other bidder, D.C. Byers, used an expandable grout which would be warranted for the same cost of $2,000.

Item No. 4. DISCUSSION OF CONDOMINIUM PROJECT AND RECOMMENDATION TO PERFORM PRELIMINARY ENGINEERING WORK FOR THE EAST SIDE (GRINDLE-JAMES AREA). The Planning Commission held a worksession on March 11, 1991 to once again review the Highland Hills Condominium project. It was determined by the Commission to table this matter until the Council provides a position on contributions toward public improvements.

City Manager Pasquale stated that the issue of water service is particularly important and the needs of the area or neighborhood should be reviewed as part of an overall package. He said that it is extremely critical to know what type of water distribution system is needed to serve this area. The size of mains and storage capacities would be the result. It was requested to spend no more than $2,000 on preliminary engineering from Fishbeck, Thompson, Carr and Huber for this project.

Councilmember Doyle asked why should the City spend this amount of money for something that might not happen when there are areas like Riverside and Center Streets that have water problems. Councilmember Thompson responded that there are already problems with water in the Grindle-James Street area. It was suggested that Riverside and Center Streets be included in the preliminary engineering work with Grindle and James area.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Thompson to approve the expenditure of up to $2,000 on a preliminary engineering study to Fishbeck, Thompson, Carr and Huber for the Grindle-James area as well as Riverside and Center Streets.

Item No. 5. MONTHLY REPORTS. No comments were received from materials presented.

Item No. 6. CITIZENS COMMENTS. Laura McCollum, representing the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce, requested that the issue of the downtown trees be placed on the April 1, 1991 agenda. Several local merchants were also present stating their support for keeping trees on Main Street. It was also suggested that maybe the different service organizations could clean the pots.

John VanderWilp of 1264 Fun Street questioned the City Council when street improvements would begin on Fun Street, noting safety concerns. City Manager Pasquale responded that Fun Street is a County road. He read a letter from the Kent County Road Commission that was signed by the County and City stating that any road improvements implemented on Fun Street shall be cost shared by City of Lowell, 27½ percent Vergennes Township and 45 percent Kent County Road Commission for improvements such as drainage, widening, vision and gravel surface. Vergennes has not yet responded to this proposal.

Councilmembers Doyle and Thompson stressed that the City is concerned about safety and has committed its share toward the project. But it can't take the responsibility of the township in the matter.

Jerry Patton, on behalf of the Lowell Rotary, mentioned that the Lowell Rotary will be donating $9,000 over a three year period to the City toward the planting of trees and shrubs at Stoney Lakeside Park. Rotary International is encouraging all local Rotary Clubs to pursue environmental projects. Lowell Rotary decided that through Stoney Lakeside Park, the club can best assist the local area environmentally.

Item No. 7. COUNCIL COMMENTS. Councilmember Thompson asked if the City has received the new Police cruiser yet. Chief of Police Emmons said that the cruiser has arrived and it is being driven by the Police today. In responding to recent articles in the local newspaper, Councilmember Thompson also mentioned that the City has not made any decisions on providing water, sewer and police services for the new high school.

Councilmember Hodges also mentioned that the Lowell Rotary is donating $9,000 and/or labor toward the planting of trees and shrubs at Stoney Lakeside Park. He also said that the Parks Commission has been in the process of prioritizing the development of the Parks. Mayor Maatman stated that he would like to thank the Lowell Rotary for their generous contribution toward the landscaping of Stoney Lakeside Park.

Item No. 8. MANAGER'S REPORT. City Manager Pasquale reported on the following:

1. The minutes of the February Light and Power and Cable TV Board were provided in the agenda.
2. The January Investment Report was also included in the packet and will be given on a monthly basis.
3. A memo from School Superintendent Fritz Esch was attached accepting responsibility for minor repair work at the King Memorial Pool Fieldhouse.
4. The County Commission has adopted a Library Support Payment system. This would mean that a reduction in the amount the City of Lowell will pay to the County. Based on 1989 data, the new formula would have meant a $3,280 decrease.
5. The Parks and Recreation Commission reviewed the plans for Stoney Lakeside Park at their March 9 meeting. The Commission noted that showers, concession area and lockers were not necessary (restrooms and changing area are required).
6. An update from the Chamber of Commerce on the downtown trees was furnished.
7. Mayor Exchange dates are tentatively set for Thursday, May 16 in Lowell and Tuesday, May 21 in Grand Ledge.

IT WAS MOVED by Doyle to adjourn at 8:24 p.m.
Approved: April 1, 1991

MYSTERY FARM?

CAN YOU IDENTIFY THIS MYSTERY FARM?

This aerial photograph was taken especially for the Lowell Ledger and is part of a series of Lowell area farms.

No one knows whose farm the aerial photographer snapped, so it's up to you, our readers, to identify the mystery farm each week.

If you can identify this mystery farm...merely fill out the entry blank below with your answer, name and address and mail or drop off at the Lowell Ledger, P.O. Box 128, Lowell, MI 49331.

The name of the person correctly identifying this farm will be put in a drawing to be held on Monday, April 8, at noon for a FREE DINNER FOR TWO (excluding drinks) at Sneakers in downtown Lowell, a free gallon of Devoe flat white latex paint from Lowell Paint & Wallpaper and a free subscription to the Ledger.

Red Arrow girls are favored to clear all O-K White Conference hurdles in their league title pursuit

The Lowell girls' track team has won consecutive regional crowns over the past two years.

However, it has not won a championship during this period. Does that tell you how strong and competitive the O-K White Conference has been?

When you talk to Red Arrow coach, Kathy Talus, about her team's chances, she stresses Lowell will "fight" to win the conference championship, it is not "looking" to win the conference championship.

Lowell's girls' track program has had just one losing

Lowell girls' track coach, Kathy Talus season in the last 12. That says something about the program's consistency and success.

Lowell has a slew of talent returning and is the early favorite to win the league title.

"We've been in contention for the title the last couple of years, but winning it this year would be an honor," Talus smiles. "We were strong last year and I suspect we will be even stronger this year."

The only league blemish on the Red Arrow slate last year was colored Wyoming Park blue.

"While just about every school in the league will have a particular area or event that it is strong in, I don't think we will be weak in any event," Talus said. The Lowell coach says the Red Arrows will be three deep in many areas in '91.

Returning conference champion, Heather Gowen will be a dominant force in the sprints. "I'm sure she will be stronger than last year and has a real good chance to be the best in the O-K White," Talus said.

Besides Gowen, who went to state in four events last year, helping her will be Chris McClure, Heidi Watson, and Carrie Thomet.

Lowell will also have plenty of depth in the distance events. The group will be headed up by Hillari Kirsch with freshman Michelle Oliver not far behind. Talus also expects Kristen Shuster to contribute.

Names penciled in for the middle distance events include Kris Kniola, Vanessa Heukels, Christi Ponchaud and Rhea Bundy.

Heukels, a school record setter from two-years ago, will look to regain her form. "I'm looking for more consistency, but I believe the girls will do a great job."

The hurdles will be anchored by senior, Angie Arnett. Support will be provided by Tammy Allchin and Stephanie Ward. "Allchin will help a lot and Ward will be consistent."

Yvette Ferguson qualified for the state in shot put a year ago, along with taking first in the regionals and first in the conference. She should be in good position to at least repeat last year's performance.

Helping Ferguson will be Laura Krygen and Courtney and Shannon Morse.

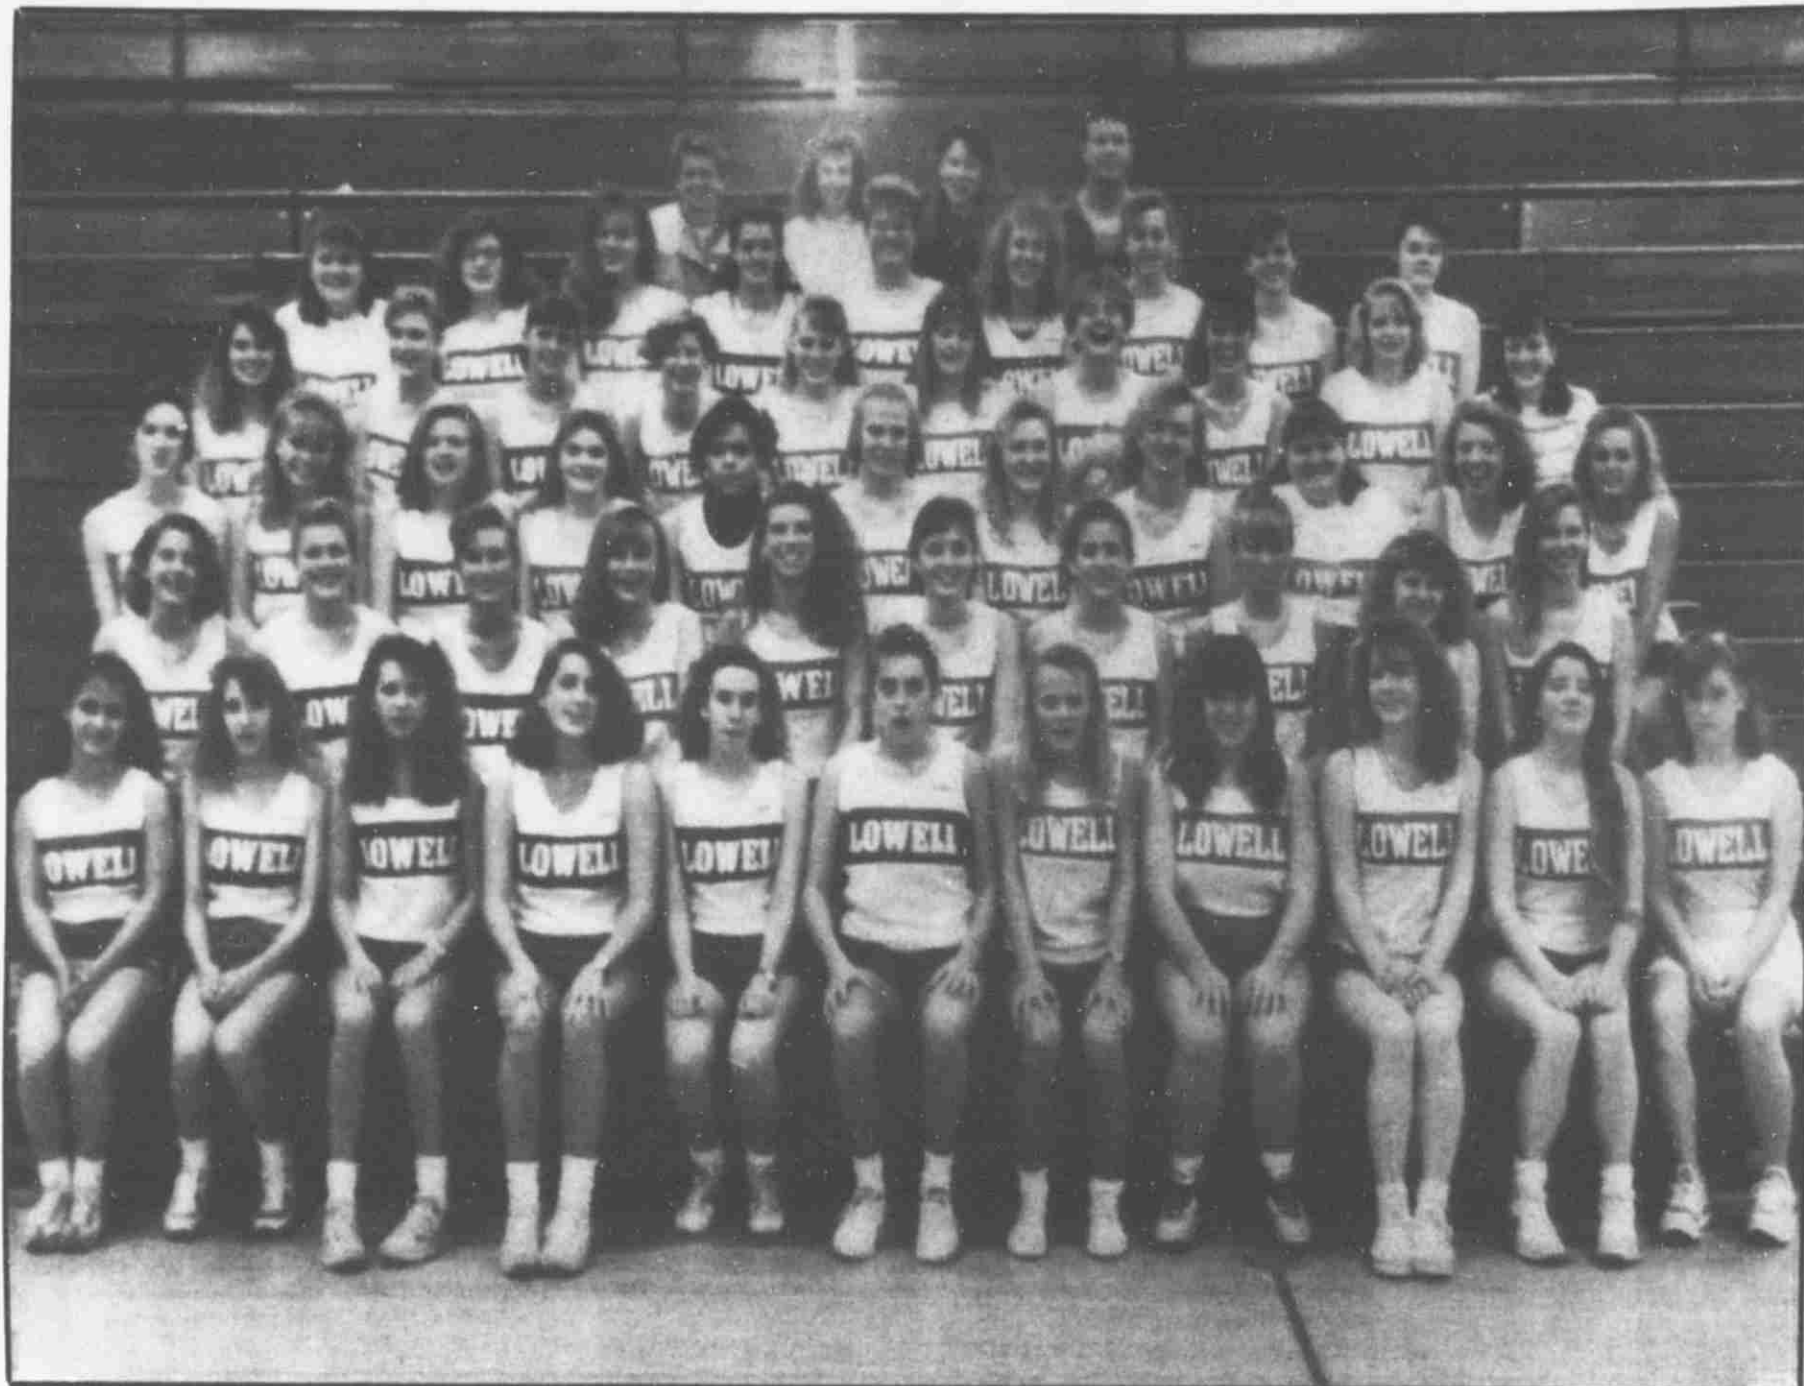

In the high jump, Carrie Thomet, Jessi Stone and Traci Meeuwssen should provide Lowell with a formidable threesome.

Arnett and Gowen should provide the Red Arrows with plenty of points in the long jump.

Ferguson will also anchor the discus. Talus expects solid efforts from Aicia Richmond and Courtney Morse.

Lowell will open its conference schedule against the defending league champion, Wyoming Park.

"That will be a big hurdle in our quest for a conference championship," Talus said.

Lowell's lady linksters will set their tees high as they shoot for a championship in the O-K White

Learning that eight of his club's 12 league matches will be away from home (Deer Run Golf Course), caused Lowell girls' golf coach Rick White to reply "If we play good golf, it won't matter."

White realizes that it may matter when it comes to separating the top three clubs in the O-K White in 1991. Lowell's coach believes his Red Arrows are one of those three teams.

"Lowell should be as strong as anybody in the league," White said. "I would say East Grand Rapids is the odds-on favorite with us and Forest Hills Central right behind."

The Red Arrow linksters finished at 11-9 last year and third in the league. White has high expectations and believes his club should finish in the top two in 1991.

Lowell brings five returning lettermen to the fairways. Leading the group is sophomore Erin Nausieda, who was named to the honorable mention All-Conference team last year.

Nausieda missed qualifying for state by one stroke as a freshman. The Lowell team also missed qualifying for the state by one stroke in '90.

"Erin was one of the top players in the league last year. She should have made All-Conference."

Nausieda will receive a lot of help from junior Tracy Burrows. White believes she will be a strong second linkster. "Tracy plays well with her irons and woods and has a strong long game. The one area she is working on is her short game."

After the top two Red Arrows, White believes the names penciled in at three and four could change from week to week.

"That's because they're so competitive and close in ability," White said.

Competing for those two spots will be sophomore, Megan Leach; juniors, Amy Estes, Connie Colburn; and seniors Nancy Wingeier and Tanya Czarnopis.

"Both seniors are new to the game, but have taken to it quite well. Well enough, that I think they can contribute," White said.

Helping White this year will be DeCator. He may need her. Lowell will open the year with five away matches.

Ester and Colburn both were in the mid 50's consistently last year. White hopes one or both can drop their score down to the lower 50's. Other golfers on the '91 team who did not letter a year ago, but who may very well contribute are juniors, Anne Arnold and April McClure and sophomore, Kim Curtis. White likes the team's depth and experience, but is looking for someone to step forward and fill the leadership void filled last year by the graduating Dina DeCator.

Stacy Mulder and Red Arrow defense will key any and all success in Rodenhouse's 13th season

Stauffer and Tousignaut to fill the holes on the left side of the Red Arrow infield

How unlucky can a coach's 13th season be when he returns an O-K White All-Conference pitcher to the mound in 1991?

"This year's club will go as far as the arm of Stacy Mulder can take us," Lowell coach Bob Rodenhouse said. "The other main key to the season will be our defensive play on the left-side of the mound."

As luck in a 13th season would have it, the Red Arrows will start a freshman at shortstop and a sophomore at third base.

Rodenhouse is not superstitious. "I don't buy into that stuff," he said.

Rodenhouse is excited about the promise shown by the young new faces. In Amy Stauffer, the new shortstop, the Lowell coach believes he has a player who has all the fundamentals and just needs playing time to learn the game. "Amy has a nice arm and will be our shortstop for the next four years."

Relieving Stauffer, should an injury occur, will be Vicki Videan.

The sophomore at second base will be Tanya Hobbs. She played sparingly at that position a year ago behind Heather Orbison. "I think Hobbs will do fine at second," Rodenhouse said. "I think the fact she played there some last year will help her this year."

Providing support for Hobbs will be backups Amanita Boersma and Sheila Stenquist.

Filling the voids at the corners will be Stacy Tousignaut at third base and Renee Nugent at first.

Tousignaut is a victim of numbers. Rodenhouse would have preferred to see her pitch the entire season at the junior varsity level. But the lack of numbers at the varsity level and a need for a third baseman forced the Lowell coach to keep Tousignaut. "Stacy is a hustler and has a good arm. She will do a good job at third base for us. It would be better for the program if she could spend the year pitching at the junior varsity level. Instead, she will have to learn with me at the varsity level."

If something should happen to Tousignaut, Ohio transfer Erica Hertzler will step in. "She's a good ballplayer and will be able to help us throughout the year," Lowell's coach said.

Nugent is probably the best bet at first for Lowell in 1991. However, Rodenhouse believes he has capable backups in Missy and Jamie Martin.

Before bracing her finger roughly half way through the season, junior Angie Brown was Lowell's number one catcher a year ago. "Angie works hard and will do a good job behind the plate. Unfortunately, last year's injury cost her valuable experience," Rodenhouse said.

When Brown is given a rest, junior Angie Nauta will don the mask. "When Angie (Nauta) isn't filling in behind the plate, she will start in the outfield," Rodenhouse said. Don't etch it in stone, but Nauta will probably show up in center field.

Hertzler is another player who will see action in the outfield if she's not playing at third.

The Red Arrows' best hitter Vicki Videan is heavily favored to fill one of the three spots in the outfield. Rodenhouse said she is the team's best hitter.

"I think our hitting will be suspect again. At least early, we're not hitting the ball well," Rodenhouse explained.

When using the designated hitter, Rodenhouse can insert the heavy stick of Jamie Martin.

Denmark exchange student, Hanna Fons is also expected to contribute. "In all fairness to Hanna, she's never played the game of softball before, but she is a good athlete."

The Lowell coach believes if his Red Arrows are to match or do better than last year's 13-16 record, they will have to execute the fundamentals.

"The girls have a great attitude and are trying and eager to learn. A coach can't ask anymore than that from a team."

Maybe for some defense, pitching and hitting.

Shawn Smith should help Lowell get out of the blocks early, but FHC is the team to beat in '91

Sprinters on the 1990 Lowell High School boys' track team set school records in the 100 meter-run, 200-meter run, 400-meter relay and the 1,600-meter relay.

The Red Arrow long distance runners' list of school records was short, for they didn't set any. They're hoping to change that in 1991.

"They believe the school record in the 3,200-meter relay can be taken," Lowell boys' track coach Keith Boeve said. "I also believe a school record is possible with the boys we have running."

The school record currently stands at 8:20.6.

It is unclear as to what combination of names will team up to pursue that record. Names that could replace those currently holding the record include Clay VanderWarf, Jason VanderWarf, Dave Stouffer, Tom Mull, Tracy Antcliff, Kyle Boston and James Chertos.

The best time posted in the 3200-meter relay a year ago was 8:26.1.

Boeve believes Lowell should be extremely competitive in the distance events. However, the Lowell coach adds that the area with the most combined depth and strength is in middle distances. By year's end at the top of that list may very well be junior, John Saboo. "Saboo along with Tracy Antcliff, will be our main men in the 400-meter run," Boeve said. "Saboo will also help this club in the sprint relays." Chertos and Mark Lyon's names will be called for support in the 400-meter run.

Antcliff may also find his name in the mile relay sometime throughout the year.

"I tend to move people around to where they can best help the team for that meet," Boeve explained.

A mainstay for the mile-relay team will be junior, Stouffer. Joining him and Antcliff will probably be Boston and Doug Beimers. With Boeve's moving switching tendencies, nothing is for sure.

Unless, of course, you're talking about the returning conference and regional champion in the 100-meter dash, Sean Smith. The junior placed seventh in the state meet as a sophomore. Unless an injury befalls him, his name will head the lists of Lowell sprinters in the 100, and 200 dashes.

"Smith should be the best in conference. I expect he will have a better year this year than last year," Boeve said.

Assisting Smith in the sprint events will be Brett Knoop, Saboo, Beimers, Robert Fahmi and Eric Shelby. "I'm looking for another sprinter to step forward so we can grab a first and third in the sprints," Boeve said.

James Manion's name will frequent the 800-meter run, the hurdles and the high jump in '91.

The anchor for the hurdles will no doubt be Beimers. Boeve hopes he can get back-up support for Manion and Beimers from Josh Teunessen, Mike Tuma and Scott Southland.

In the field events, Boeve believes Jon Kohler can challenge the school record of 12-1 in the pole vault. "He will be our main man in the pole vault. If he can reach 12-1, Kohler will be more than competitive in the league.

Helping Kohler will be Mike Tuma, Dude Kanoza and Ryan White.

Earlier in the season, in an indoor meet, Aaron Stencil posted a mark 20-3 in the long jump. That distance was eight inches better than any Red Arrow accomplished last year. "I'm obviously very pleased with the improvement," Boeve said. Other Arrows who will see time in the long jump pit include Beimers, John Cross and Bukala.

High jump duties will start with last year's top returnee, Brett Knoop. The junior posted a height of six feet. Manion, Cross and Newhouse will all be worked in, according to Boeve.

Noah Menery will look to improve on his personal best of 41-7 in the shot put. He will be followed closely by Joe DeJong. Backups include Chad Laux, Mike Fuller, Dave Jones, John Mesler and Andy Antcliff.

Discus will include many of the same faces, but DeJong is expected to be the top Red Arrow. The junior posted a team and personal best last year of 121-6.

"We have a bunch of hard working kids. We should do alright," Boeve said. "Anytime you lose athletes and the leadership qualities of a Kevin Goggins and Bob Adams, that's hard to replace."

Lowell's Abel fields his best tennis team in four years, but in the O-K White that won't be enough

It's the best team Lowell tennis coach Terry Abel has had in his four-year tenure. Being a member of the perennial tennis-tough O-K White, that may only be good enough for fifth place.

"East Grand Rapids, Forest Hills Central and Northview are in another league," Abel said. "Zeeland is real tough. It would be quite an accomplishment to finish fourth in this conference."

Abel said for that to happen Lowell will have to be consistent in singles and much improved in doubles play. "I truly believe we will be stronger in doubles play in '91."

Lowell returns eight of its 10 starters from its 6-6 record last season. "Despite our experience I am not sure if we are strong enough to move up beyond fifth-place in the league. That doesn't sound optimistic, but it's honest," Abel said.

Abel said in order for the Lowell tennis program to reach that of a Forest Hills Central or an East Grand Rapids, families will have to make a commitment to the game of tennis. "Realistically that isn't going to happen in Lowell," Abel said.

Abel, nonetheless, enjoys coaching tennis and enjoys the fact that his number one singles player is back. Steve Simkins, who made all-conference first-team, is back for his fourth consecutive year at number one singles.

"Steve will do well, he always has," Abel said.

Filling the two, three and four singles positions will be seniors Matt Shinabarger, Ryan Brinks and Jason White. Pushing the three seniors for one of those spots will be sophomore, Jason Graber.

"One of those four players will be moved to number one doubles. That's still up in the air," Abel explained. The player chosen by Abel will join Gregg Gruizenga at number one doubles.

While nothing has been inked in with pen, favorites to fill the final four spots in doubles play are seniors Jerud Mierkalns, foreign exchange student, Jens Puschel, Jesse Davidson and Chad Werdon.

Pushing those seniors for a spot among the top 10 will be senior Wayne Haines, and juniors Chad Keech and Joel Humphries.

"The fight for the final four spots in doubles play will be very competitive," Abel said.

Lowell will open O-K White Conference play against Wyoming Park.

NOTE: Because of conflicting spring break schedules the Ledger was unable to get pictures of the varsity and junior varsity tennis teams. Team pictures will be taken and printed in the Ledger next week. Coach Terry Abel and the Ledger apologize for the inconvenience.

Kropf expects new young faces to turn competitive by the second half of the '91 season

Other than starting pitcher, Steve Malone, Lowell's varsity baseball team does not field a single returning starter in 1991.

Holy Cow! Not quite so fast Mr. Caray (Harry). Lowell coach, Kris Kropf prefers pork. So, how about a little pig? As in Patience - Improvement and Growth.

Kropf believes if the Red Arrows can show these qualities in 1991 then - It could be. It may be. It will be a competitive club by year's end.

"I believe by the second half of the season this club will be very competitive," Lowell varsity baseball coach, Kris Kropf said. "To start though, I will need to show some patience."

If a club is going to be green with experience, a coach can only hope their strength is pitching. Lowell's coach believes pitching will be its strength. "With a starting rotation of Malone, Troy Addington and Jon Hutfilz, I think our pitching can be as strong or even stronger than last year," Kropf said.

Malone was 3-1 a year ago with an earn-run-average of 1.89 in the O-K white and a 2.78 era overall. Kropf says he will be looking for consistency from the senior in 1991.

"Addington and Hutfilz will be solid number two and three pitchers for us," Kropf said.

Relief will be left up to the arms of Ryan Peel and Jeff Compton. Kropf likes them both. "They both go in for one or two innings and throw strikes. They don't beat themselves with walks. The other team will have to hit them," Kropf said.

Rob Phillips and Rich Depew will be used in long relief.

Manning first base will be either Jeff Lillie or Jason Essex. Both are excellent contact hitters and Kropf promises whoever isn't at first will be in the lineup somewhere. "We need their bats," he explains.

Filling the enormous void at second base, left by the graduation of Ryan Holtz, will be junior Brad Harrall. "It's a new position for Harrall, but I think he will do alright. Lillie will also see some action at second base," Kropf said.

Ryan Peel will be the new face at shortstop in 1991. He replaces Dave Organek. "Peel will be our leadoff hitter and I think will do a good job at shortstop," Kropf said.

Rob Phillips and Kip Carpenter will share the third-base duties. Phillips is the club's only returning .300 hitter.

We will be competitive by season's end. We will need to show patience early.

Lowell boys' baseball coach, Kris Kropf

Lowell's coach explains that defensively the club is not as strong, but offensively he believes the club will do a better job of making contact. "That doesn't necessarily mean they will hit for high averages," he said. "The boys have practiced well and I think because of that will be alright, especially come the second half of the season."

Lowell opens with Rockford on April 8.

Best of luck to all Lowell spring sport athletes!

Other Red Arrows expected to contribute in 1991 are Keith Dykstra, Kevin Dykstra, Gabe Hernandez, Dustin McCaul, Jim Nauta, George Ponchaud, Tom Antcliffe, Steve Briggs, Robert Harasim, Steve Kline, Robert Rogers, Stan Strauss, and Tim VanTimmeren.

Lowell finished third last year and Boeve believes it will be a challenge to finish ahead of Northwick or conference favorite, Forest Hills Central.

Don Garvin, owner of Cornerstone Landscape, has done plenty of quality work right here in Lowell and surrounding areas.

Cornerstone, Lowell's only landscaping, Inc.

The who's who in landscaping in Lowell has been somewhat confusing over the last couple of years.

Well, no more. Only one landscaping business remains, that being Cornerstone Landscape Inc. of 1989 Cumberland.

Don and Jennifer Garvin opened Cornerstone Landscape three years ago as strictly a landscape construction business. Last year that changed as the couple commenced selling retail.

"Competition is healthy, but being the only landscape business in Lowell is alright too," Jennifer Garvin said.

Not unlike their business, the Garvins see the retail end of it also expanding. It currently offers a large variety of trees, shrubs, top soil, bark mulch, fertilizer and grass seed.

"My vision and/or long-term hope is to someday turn this into a multiple service business. Which would include landscaping, crafts and other related businesses," Garvin said.

Cornerstone Landscape provides services from the actual design to the finished product. "Some people are just looking for a design and want to know what to use and where to use it and then do it themselves," Don Garvin said.

Another vision Garvin holds is to someday be one of the better looking nurseries in the Grand Rapids area as far as property is concerned.

Cornerstone Landscape is in the process of putting in a garden so people can not only come and buy plants but can also be shown what the plant will look like down the road.

Garvin said he gets a lot of return business and customer referrals. "Landscaping is one of the top five values looked at in real estate sales," Garvin said.

Cornerstone Landscape will unveil new summer hours this year. Garvin said they will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday; from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday; and noon until 5 p.m. on Sunday.

"Now that Cornerstone Landscape is into retail I believe there is a desire to have nurseries of this kind open on Sunday," Garvin said. "We service Lowell and the surrounding area."

Townships ask that everybody comply with number ordinance

At a Thursday morning meeting over coffee and a few rolls, Lowell and Vergennes Township officials announced that the house number ordinance passed by the Townships has been in effect since March 15.

Both Lowell Township Supervisor, John Timpson, and Vergennes Township Supervisor, Jim Cook, added that both entities would follow up and check to see who and who hasn't complied with the house number ordinance.

Look Memorial Fire Station paramedic supervisor, Ziggy Winsor said the ordinance will allow emergency vehicles to get to people in a timely fashion.

The ordinance requires the location of identification numbers (three inches in height) upon buildings and mailboxes within the municipality so that the same can be readily identifiable for proper and efficient fire and police protection; for mail delivery services and for the convenience of all members of the public having any need to determine or describe the location of such building or premises. Copies of the ordinance are available at each Township Hall.

"To a degree, we will follow up and make a list as to who has complied," Timpson said. "Flyers will be stuck in mailboxes to remind those who haven't complied. After all efforts to acquire compliance have been exhausted, a substantial fine will be handed out to those who do not cooperate."

Numbers may be purchased at Hahn's Hardware or Bernard's True Value Hardware.

Both Lowell Rescue and Fire cover a 60 square mile area. "This will enhance our effort to reach people within eight minutes," Winsor said. The Look Memorial Fire Station is located in the middle, setting no further than seven miles from its furthest point.

"Most importantly, this ordinance requiring house numbers is going to save lives," Cook said.

Lowell City Manager Dave Pasquale said the City will join the Townships within the next month. "The City will also pass the ordinance," he said.

Winsor recognized what a difference the house numbers put up on the curbs in the City by area Boy Scout, Pete Willis makes. "Pete and the Boy Scouts who helped him really did a good job," she said.

Lowell Fire Department raises $1,200 at pancake open house

Lowell Area's Fire Department raised roughly $1,200 at its second annual openhouse and pancake breakfast/supper.

Approximately 400 area residents stopped in at the Look Memorial Fire Station for breakfast or supper.

"I was really happy with the turnout," Lowell Fire Chief, Frank Martin said. "Everything went smoothly. More importantly, everybody liked the food."

The Lowell Fire Department served breakfast from 7 until 11 a.m. Dinner was served from 4 until 7 p.m.

The proceeds from the pancake breakfast/supper will go towards equipment for the Lowell Fire Department.

Again this year people used the opportunity to tour through the still relatively new fire station.

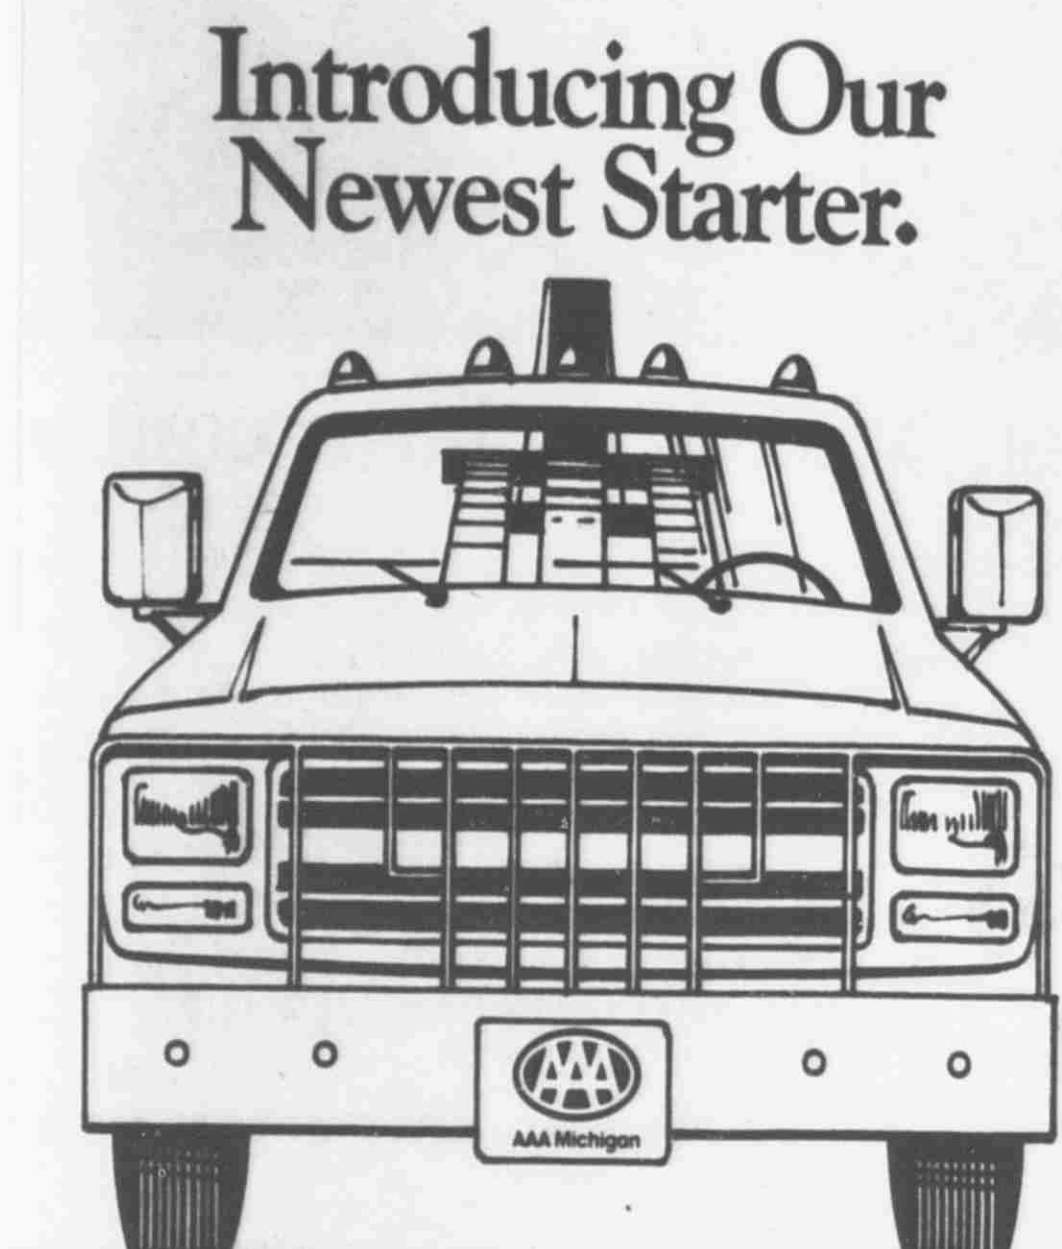

"Everybody likes the fire station," Martin mused. "I believe this pancake breakfast/supper will be done annually."

All 30 members of the unteered their time for the Lowell Fire department event.

Swanson to speak to Garden Club

The Lowell Showboat Garden Club is pleased to have Dr. Alfred Swanson speak at their April 8 meeting at Schneider Manor Community Building at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Swanson is a renowned orthopedic surgeon at Blodgett

Memorial Medical Center. He is also Kent County's most renowned advocate for tree planting to combat the effects of global warming. Swanson expects to plant 1 million new trees in Kent County by the year 2000. And he is well on the way to meeting that goal.

Swanson's extensive travels around the world have stimulated his awareness of the world's crisis relating to the environment. Being a scientist and a man of action he decided to do something about it not only locally, but internationally.

In 1987, he founded an organization, "Alternative Methods for International Stability" (AMIS) which held its first international workshop Aug. 27-29, 1987 in Grand Rapids, MI. A group of more than 80 scientists from 18 countries addressed the issues of world peace and stability as related to: 1. the environment, non-renewable resources, energy and health; 2. nuclear and military concerns and strategies; and 3. economic, political, and cultural considerations. The issue of deforestation was addressed at length.

Administrators participate in Bushnell's "Teacher Exchange Day"

Lowell Superintendent Fritz Esch never faced 19 first-grade students all by himself before. That was until last Wednesday during Bushnell Elementary's teacher exchange day.

"No matter what level you're at, you always think other levels have it easier."

Esch said, "I gained a greater appreciation for lower elementary teachers." Esch spent one hour with Susan Pomper's first-graders. "There was tension on my part only because as the hour progressed, things got more and more out of control. It wasn't regained until their teacher walked back into the classroom." Assistant Superintendent, Gary Kemp was asked to teach Tom Burradell's fourth-grade class for an hour. "You really can't teach anything in an hour. But I learned one thing long ago, if you run out of things to do, before your allotted time is up the students will chew you up. Students at that age treat you the same whether you're a Superintendent or a substitute teacher," Kemp said. Kemp spent much of the hour trying to show the students just how big the school budget is and some of the difficult spending decisions that have to be made. Esch, meanwhile, shared the children's story "Trapper the Seal" with his first-grade class and helped the children make Easter Bunny cups. "It was definitely a challenge," Esch said.

Lowell Superintendent Fritz Esch participated in Bushnell Elementary's teacher exchange program on Wednesday.

Mark Russell drew Music class in Bushnell's teacher exchange day. Russell replaced Rachael Niemi. He taught students how to play "My Yellow Submarine" on Kazoos.
