TALENT SEARCH MAY 17 & 18

The Lowell Showboat Talent Search '91 will be held on May 17 and 18.

There will be 15 acts chosen to perform in this year's show, five of which will appear each of the three nights.

FALLSBURG MUSEUM OPENING SOON

Show the kids (or grandkids) a replica of the country school you fidgeted in back in the old days. The hand pump in the front yard works if you need a drink, and the little house out back is a modern version of the long-ago two little houses out back.

Inside, see a realistic model of Fallasburg in the 1860's, go on to sadirons, copper-toed boots, cobbler's bench, bonecrusher, and finish with reasonably priced rummage and souvenirs.

The Fallasburg Schoolhouse Museum is across the Covered Bridge from Fallasburg Park in eastern Kent County. It is open from 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays from Memorial Weekend to mid-October. Admission is free.

CHICKEN BARBECUE MAY 19

What's the next best thing to the colonel's chicken? Boy Scouts' Bar-B-Q'd chicken! You will be in for a real treat by coming to the annual Chicken Bar-B-Q on May 19, sponsored by Lowell Boy Scout Troop #102.

The event will take place in the church dining hall of First United Methodist Church, 621 E. Main. Take-out meals are available from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sit-down meals are available from 12 noon to 6 p.m. The price is $5 per broasted half.

Fallasburg Historical Society commences with Fallas House restoration project

Restoration realized!

Following two years of applying for federal, state and local grants, and coordinating its restoration work within the parameters of these agencies, the Fallasburg Historical Society has finally started the initial stages of the John Wesley Fallas House restoration project.

The Fallasburg Historical Society bought the Fallas house back in 1988 for $30,000 and by the end of fall will have put $8,500-$10,000 worth of architectural and engineering work into the home.

"The monies for this particular project will come through HUD's (Housing and Urban Development) Community Development Block Grant," said historical society spokeswoman, Priscilla Lussmyer. "Coordinating this type of work through federal, state and local agencies makes things difficult. Letters have a way of staying on desks for awhile."

In order to receive promises of money, the historical society had to state how the funds would be used, and how restoration work would be completed.

"There are strict guidelines we must follow," Lussmyer said. "The letting of bids took us six months. It didn't take this long because the Fallasburg Historical Society wasn't trying."

The work currently being completed included squaring and evening the stone foundation, tuck-pointing the old stones, improving the crawl space, replacing bad siding, and replacing all the windows.

The work has been contracted out to TerHorst and Rinzema, contractors, of Ada.

The John Wesley Fallas home will be 150 years old next year.

Other work that will be completed later this year includes making the first floor handicap accessible; and giving the back addition of the home a handicap and bathroom entry.

"When the work is completed, the house will be rented out in order to help protect the premises," Lussmyer said. "The funds received from the rent will be used in the completion of other projects."

Eventually, Lussmyer explained that the Fallasburg Historical Society would like to use the house as a museum. "I'm hoping that will become a reality by the year 2,000," she says.

The historical society will also relocate the old Goble House donated to the Society by Dr. Bob Richmond. The house will be moved across the road from the old schoolhouse.

"We are looking for old, old doors," Lussmyer said. "If anyone can help us out they should contact myself or Judy Baird," Lussmyer concluded.

Mundt's WWT discharge policy okayed

A policy presented by Lowell Waste Water Treatment Plant Superintendent Mark Mundt, and approved by the Lowell City Council, will charge a higher fee to those looking to discharge into the local plant.

A policy to cover the discharge of waste not typically delivered to the plant, whether through the collection system or by truck, was requested by the Council.

The policy allows for a small volume of waste stronger than normally delivered to the plant at a higher price.

The need for the policy came about after a few companies approached the City about discharging into the Waste water treatment plant.

Mundt stated that Foremost Insurance Inc., one of those company's is no longer seeking to discharge here in Lowell. "I believe Foremost has solved its problem since it first inquired about discharging here," Mundt said.

Councilman Bill Thompson was concerned whether the City would make a reasonable amount of money with the fee. Mundt

"Flat River" Jim Burnett remembered by yesterday's youth

"The Hermit of Devil's Peak"

Jim "Flat River" Burnett will be remembered on May 15 at 2 p.m. at the Oakwood Cemetery.

His fame as an outdoorsman grew when his yearly predictions for Showboat weather proved right and favorable.

In view of the last couple years, the Lowell Showboat could surely use a most favorable weather prediction by Jim Burnett, Lowell's only authentic hermit of the 1930's and 40's.

In the mid 40's Burnett, now in his 70's, was found dead in his shack where he lived in the hills along the Flat River not far south of the M-91 dam.

His grave in the southeast corner of the Oakwood Cemetery, on the family lot, is marked by a concrete block inscribed by a friend.

Elmer Layer and the Lowell Area Historical Association and many of those old enough to remember "Flat River Jim" still hold an expression of wonderment when questioned about the son of a family which lived on Grindle Drive near the city limits.

Not unlike the young people of the community who used to volunteer their time to help weatherproof his shanty, LAHA, in conjunction with the Lowell Granite Company have planned a cemetery memorial at Burnett's resting place on Wednesday, May 15 at 2 p.m. at the Oakwood Cemetery. At this time a new cemetery memorial will be placed, with the engraving reading "Flat River" - Jim Burnett - 1871-1946 - "The Hermit of Devil's Peak."

"Burnett was in no way the stereotyped misanthrope one expects a hermit to be. He was always ready to share his wide knowledge of the Bible and the world of nature," Lowell's Betty Coons wrote, back in 1981.

Coons went on to explain that "Flat River Jim" lived mostly off the land. To supplement his food supply, he would bring his government pension check to town and load up his knapsack or sled. He also earned money from time to time working on a neighboring farm or by selling a few fish.

At the time of Burnett's death a horde of diggers covered his clearing in the woods, believing he had buried money there. Those who knew him best, however, claimed that whatever small amount of cash he had he kept in a Bull Durham tobacco bag pinned inside his clothing.

"On Sunday one of the Hill girls and myself used to hike up to Devil's Peak and take food to Burnett," Lowell's Janet Bovee said. "He was a very pleasant and historically minded person."

Bovee said the tall and slender man enjoyed the homemade applesauce they used to take to him. "He'd unwrap his silverware and start right in on it while we were there," Bovee remembers.

Burnett will be remembered again on May 15th by those few who got to know him as youths.

Lowell honors its May Students-of-the-Month

The last students-of-the-month for the school year were selected recently at Lowell High School. The students honored for the month of May are Senior Stephen Morse, Junior Amy Alderink, Sophomore Jamie Stickney and Freshman Alison Brinks.

Morse is the son of Jack and Linda Morse of Lowell. He has volunteered his time for several programs at the high school. He has been student trainer for two years for football and winter sports. He gives up Senior Release time at the end of the school day to act as student aid for physical education classes or to help out with tasks in the media center. Each teacher in charge of one of these programs has praise for his friendliness and efficiency. One pointed out that Morse "pitches in without being asked and takes the initiative to get work done that needs doing." Morse sings in his church choir and is student manager for the food service at Aquinas College. He plans to attend GRCC and then MSU, working ultimately for a Masters in Business Administration. He hopes to start his own company some day, and there are many people at LHS who know that it will be a successful business. Alderink is the daughter of Ron and Katie Alderink of Lowell. She has been very involved during her years at LHS. She has been an art club officer for three years. Recently she was selected to take part in an art program at Olivet College run by the Michigan State Board of Education's Summer Institute for Gifted and Talented. Alderink's art teacher describes her talent as "a delightful level of creativity which shows in her final product." She adds that Alderink is an enthusiastic and independent worker. She has been an International Club member for three years, serving as president this year. She served as a class officer in ninth grade and was a member of Close-Up in tenth and eleventh. Her interest in politics will carry over into a career as a class officer in social and political science in college. Alderink played on the girls' golf team for two years and served this year as manager for the soccer team. She is a member of the South Kent 4-H Group and works after school at Helping Hands Child Care, Inc. Despite this busy schedule, Alderink has been on the honor roll since entering LHS.

showed when she earned a spot on the honor roll. As summer approaches, Brinks looks forward to more time for her favorite sports, tennis and soccer.

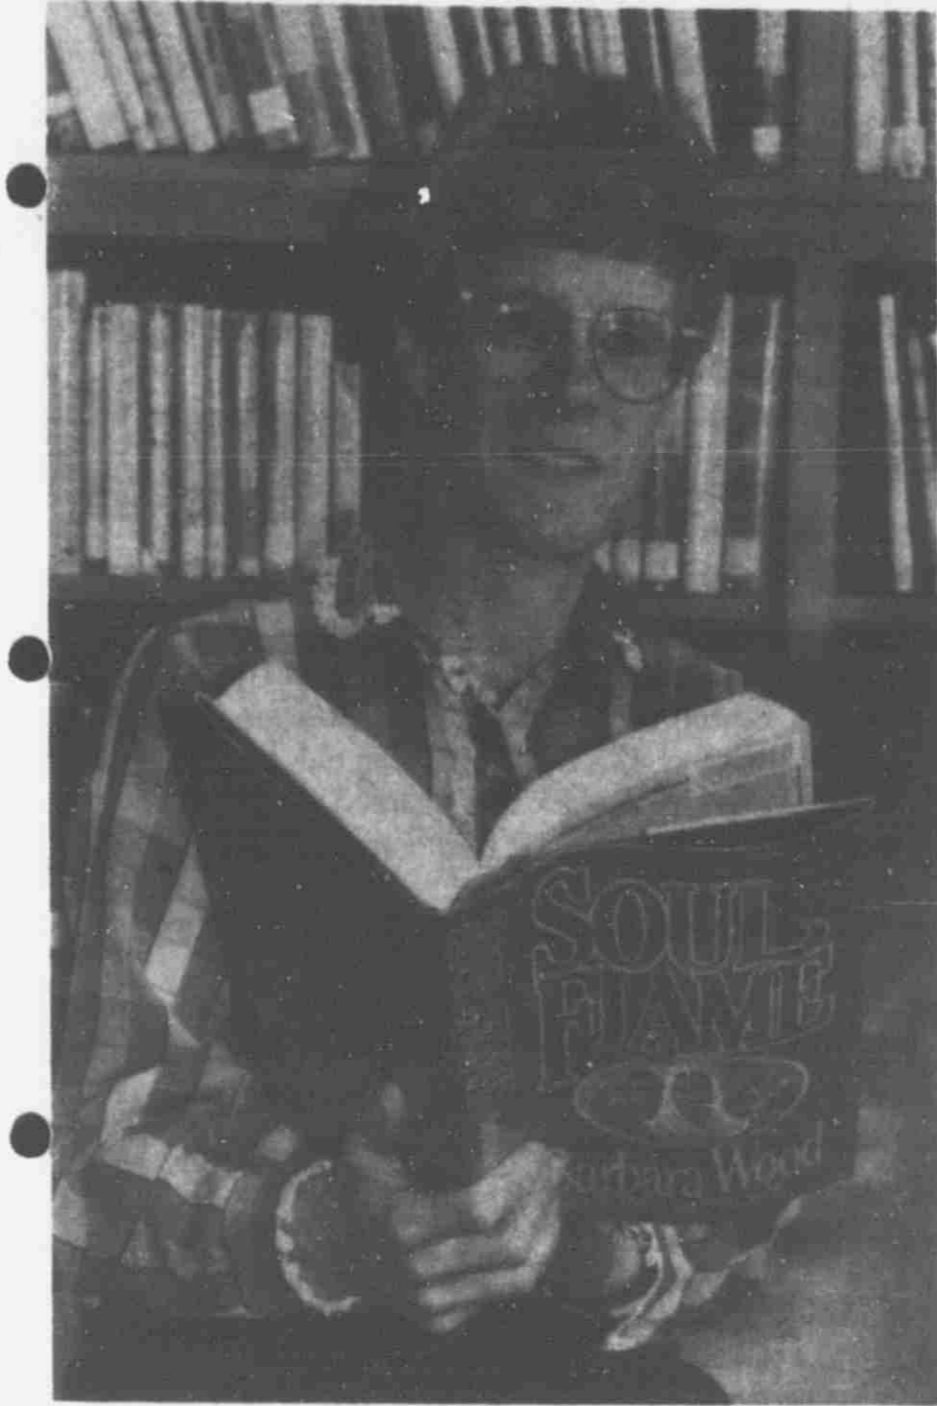

The faculty and staff at Lowell High School commend these young people for their hard work and motivation. The community is asked to join in congratulating the May students-of-the-month.

The cat-gut used to make strings for violins and tennis rackets has nothing to do with cats. The work comes from kit, and old term for small fiddle.

Ferguson steps aside after 15 years with library system

Marge Ferguson's love for the Alto Library (part of the Kent County Library System) has grown over the past 15 years much in the same way her love for books has grown since her days as a youth in Ann Arbor.

Marge Ferguson stepped away from the Kent County Library System after 15 years.

"Black Stallion" and "Nancy Drew," Ferguson explains. Today, Ferguson enjoys historical-fiction novels such as Barbara Wood's "Soul Flame."

Ferguson was honored at the Historical Township Hall at the corner of 84th St. and Alden Nash on Friday for her years of service as Bowne Township's Librarian. She stepped down as the Bowne Township Librarian at the end of April.

She began her 15-year stint, with the Kent County Library, working four hours a week in Caledonia. From there she moved on to Cutlerville where her hours varied from four to 40.

"The library has allowed me to enjoy two of my favorite things - reading and working with people," Ferguson said.

The Caledonia resident says she didn't begin to realize the pleasure that comes with reading until after college. "I was finally through with textbooks."

The cozy, warm, and friendly description Ferguson associates with small libraries such as Bowne Township, are some of the same personal traits she has shared with the library's patrons. "I hope I've been able to give back to the library some of the pleasures it has provided me," Ferguson said. "My work with the library has provided me with great personal satisfaction and friendships that will continue long beyond my work."

Ferguson will use her free time to pursue other hobbies. It will also give her and her husband, Larry, more time for traveling.

"I will definitely miss it and the people, but I won't miss the technology and the computers," she says.

When Ferguson first started working in the system, library work as all clerical. All check-outs were written on paper one-by-one. "Everything was done manually," she explains.

The computer age has brought increased circulation, saved paper work and accuracy. It has made the search for in-depth material more readily available.

"There is still the task of taking in books, finding books and interacting with people," Ferguson said. "Computers have given us a wide utilization of inter-loan capabilities."

Ferguson is pleased that schools have returned to a literary based trend and have dropped the usage of textbooks with stories. "This allows students to become more exposed to a vast, wider array of literature," she says.

Ferguson's library interest and knowledge has rubbed off on her children. Her son, Brent has worked in the Kent County Library System and her daughter, Margo, is a graduate from Indiana University's School of Library and Information Science.

Sandra Graham is Ferguson's replacement as the new Alto librarian.

Ferguson explains that her stepping down as a librarian should not be referred to as a retirement. "I'm uncomfortable with the word 'retire.' I like to look at it as an opportunity to investigate other career opportunities. Who knows, I may resurface in a bookstore somewhere down the road."

The Indian tribes of North and South America do not contain all the blood types that are found in the general population. The tribes of Central and South America, for example, are all blood group O.

Item No. 2. ORDINANCE PROHIBITING GASOLINE POWERED MOTORS ON INLAND LAKES - PUBLIC HEARING TO ADOPT. In response to the request from the Water Treatment Plant Superintendent George Regan, an ordinance has been proposed eliminating use of gasoline powered motors on publicly owned inland lakes. This specifically addressed the concern of gas powered boats on Stoney Lake. The City's water well field is adjacent to this lake and influenced by it. Electrically powered motors may be used. It was brought to the City's attention that the Flat River impounded behind the dam, where the Showboat is located, has been considered an inland lake by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Therefore it was suggested that the wording be changed from publicly owned inland lake to municipally owned inland lake. This would avoid conflict with boat users on the Flat River.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Thompson to adopt the ordinance prohibiting gasoline powered motors on inland lakes as amended changing the working from publicly owned inland lakes to municipally owned inland lakes.

Councilmember Doyle mentioned that he attended the Michigan Municipal Region V meeting with City Manager Pasquale, Deputy City Clerk Morlock, City Treasurer Noonon and DPW Director Siciliano on Thursday, April 11. It was very informative and discussed the issue of privatization of services in cities and schools. Councilmember Hodges requested that a letter of appreciation be sent to Joe Segar in behalf of his Eagle Scout project of constructing a boat launch behind the Boy Scout cabin at the end of North Washington.

Item No. 11. MANAGER'S REPORT. City Manager Pasquale reported on the following:

1. The Boundary Commission adjudicative meeting on the Attwood annexation petition has been scheduled for Tuesday, April 23 at 2:30 p.m. in Lansing.

Wastewater Treatment Plant Superintendent Mark Mundt stated that the plant could make an informed decision on its own regarding this matter but felt the City Council should be involved in the decision. After discussion, the Council felt that City Manager Pasquale and Wastewater Treatment Plant Superintendent Mark Mundt should establish a new fee structure for dumping treated wastewater.

IT WAS MOVED by Hodges and seconded by Thompson to allow companies outside the service area to dump discharge at the Lowell Wastewater Treatment Plant with all costs being covered by the company including the paying of a dumping fee yet to be established. Further, the duration for dumping discharge will be set at a maximum of six months with renewal possibilities, and the City having the ability to terminate the agreement at any time during the six month duration.

There are many types of local organizations in District 5 which have an interest in conservation and the wise use of our natural resources. While they include nature clubs, garden clubs, hiking clubs, women's clubs, watershed associations; snowmobile clubs, birdwatching clubs and many others, the predominant club in District #5 is a sportspersons club. These affiliated organizations belong to the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, a democratic, grassroots organization. While representatives from the clubs affiliated with MUCC decide the position the organization takes on any given issue, each affiliated club is a separate non-profit corporation with its own autonomy. District #5 affiliates participate in numerous target and trap shooting activities as a district.

Qua-Ke-Zik club's shooting and archery ranges include the following: 1) indoor pistol range with six shooting lanes fifty feet long, 2) one standard skeet range field, 3) a twenty-eight target broadhead archery range which includes a fourteen target small game archery range; 4) a six target practice range; 5) a twenty-five, a fifty, one hundred and a two hundred yard large-bore rifle range and 6) a standard trap range. The club has hosted many, many activities on behalf of District #5 throughout the twenty-six years it has been in existence including state shoots, district shoots and general fundraising. Police and other community agencies use the club property. Each of the 35 clubs in District #5 utilize Qua-Ke-Zik's property and it has served as the host club for the District meetings. Each District is required to hold at least two meetings per year. Attached you will find a map showing the boundaries of the districts of MUCC. District #5 incorporates Ottawa,

Kent, Allegan and Barry Counties.

As representatives of the undersigned club, we wholeheartedly encourage the school district to acquire other property for school expansion. We have strong concerns in relocating this special-use facility. The layout for rifle, skeet, trap and shooting areas are extremely difficult and costly to rebuild. When the ranges were initially installed, over twenty-three years ago, the physical design and maintenance required by the state and local bodies of governments for design and constructions of shooting ranges, were not as regulated. Today, this is not the case. New ranges are faced with pollution and safety requirements such as air and ground pollution (lead contamination) and noise factors, (i.e. decibel levels). Aside from the very expensive nature of constructed construction costs for a new design and construction of a new shooting range, numerous criteria must be measured when considering a particular piece of property for range use. We can attest that those considerations do not allow for an easy transition of club activities. For example, the following will be a problem for this club in relocating:

- 1. Are there zoning or special permit problems?
2. Do zoning laws even allow a range to be built?
3. What building codes must be satisfied?
4. Are there restrictions on trailers, campers or boats under the local ordinances?
5. Are environmental restrictions satisfied? Lead contamination could become a legal issue. Michigan has adopted a new polluters' pay bill which puts the responsibility of cleanup on the property seller. However, Superfund legislation, a federal statute, would require the purchaser of the range to make the necessary cleanup. The legal dispute on who is responsible for cleanup would, more than likely, necessitate a court action. Funds spent on lawyers would be better spent on our community's expansion. Even if a suitable piece of land is located, people living in the area will not necessarily support this activity.

Sometimes, a friendly effort at public relations will result in harmony between club and community. However, if strong, well-founded objections do arise, it is best to forget the particular site and go elsewhere. District #5 is asking each and every trustee to reconsider their position on acquiring this club's property. We urge your support in allowing this fine club to continue its worthy community contributions.

Very truly yours,
Norma Hays
Chairman District #5

City Council discusses proposed 1991-92 budget

Lowell City Manager Dave Pasquale highlighted some of the major impact areas of the 1991-92 budget for the Lowell City Council Monday night.

Some highlights made the Council feel good and others had it questioning what lies ahead.

"In the area of the general fund, the 13 mills being proposed is the same as a year ago," Pasquale said. "The staff feels good about the recommendations proposed for the general fund."

The total expenditures are $1.558 million, leaving a projected fund balance of $337,000. This represents 21 percent of the budget which is above the City's policy of 20 percent.

One area of concern raised by Pasquale was the state legislation coming down the road which will have an impact on future budgets. "The City will have to pay closer attention to what the State is doing in terms of assessments," he said.

Pasquale pointed out that in order to keep pace with costs, a five cent per thousand gallons per month water consumption charge is proposed. This would raise the rate to $1.20 per thousand gallons and provide an adequate water fund balance.

"The water fund balance is in better shape than before. It's needed since there are several water main improvements needed which will require the use of fund monies," Pasquale said.

To prevent a significant drop in the cash balance and to provide an adequate fund balance, the debt service charge for sewer will increase from $9.06 to $10.50 per month. Also, the consumption will be raised from $1.28 to $1.66 per thousand gallons per month.

The Lowell City Manager said improvements at James Street, including a lift station along with sanitary sewer and water services. Utilities are also needed in the Grindle area.

Variance, approved

Despite concerns about the severe drop in square feet, Lowell's City Council approved the floor area variance for a new single family home.

Deborah Malloy, 1080 Lincoln Lake (southwest corner of Godfrey and Lincoln Lake) got the approval from the Council for a variance so that an 840 square foot single family home could be constructed on the southwest corner of Godfrey and Lincoln Lake.

Zoned R-1, a minimum floor area of 1,500 square feet is required.

The Planning Commission recommended the approval of the variance on a 4-3 vote.

At the request of the petitioner, the Planning Commission recommended that a new sidewalk be placed only on Lincoln Lake. Lowell City Manager Dave Pasquale said Godfrey is narrow and there would be difficulty in accommodating such a walk.

Red Arrow girls drop three heart-tuggers

If you're weak of heart it was no time to spend an afternoon watching the Lowell girls softball team. Zeeland and Wyoming Park may not have been the best two teams Lowell has faced in any one week this season, but the contests were the toughest emotionally. The Red Arrows opened the week with a disheartening 7-6 defeat to the Chix. The game ended on a bang-bang play at the plate. It involved two catchers, Zeeland's Worley and Lowell's Angie Brown. Brown tripled into the alley in left-center scoring Amy Stauffer in front of her and then was waved home when the left fielder dove to make her. However, the Chix outfielder recovered in time to hit the cut-off man (second baseman) who then threw a strike to Worley who tagged Brown out for the final out of the contest and preventing the tying run from scoring. "I thought Brown's foot got in before the high tag," Lowell coach Bob Rodenhouse said. "It was a bang-bang play and this time the ump raised his hand and called her out."

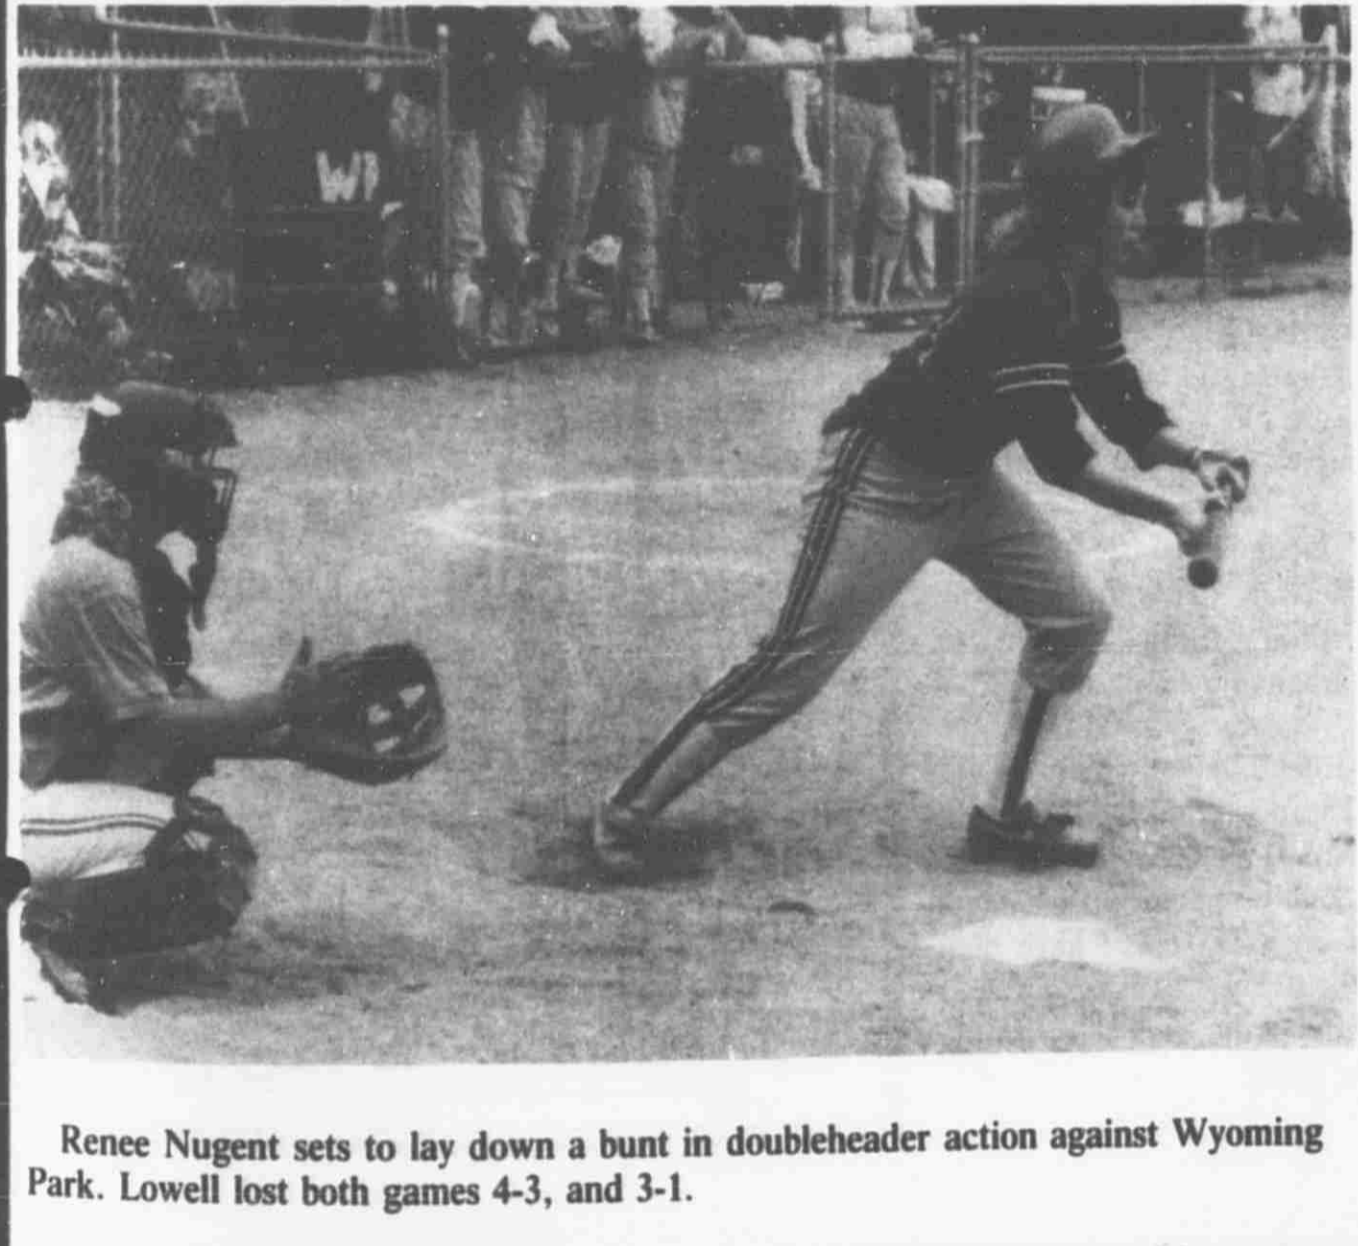

The Red Arrows weren't through with a game-winning two-run double. "I think that loss took the steam out of our girls," Rodenhouse said. "That's a tough way to lose a contest." Lowell took the lead 3-2 in the top of the ninth when Nugent walked, stole second, was bunted to third and scored on a wild pitch. Lowell's only two hits were singles by Videan. Mulder pitched all nine innings, walking three and striking out 11. She raised her yearly strikeout total to 111, 28 shy of Doreen Schneider's school record 139. Mulder has eight regular season games left plus districts to surpass the mark. The nightcap was dominated by Park's Wagner. Lowell only had a couple opportunities to score but couldn't break through as Wagner struck out a Lowell batter to finish both innings. The Red Arrow's only run came in the fourth on a walk, a sacrifice, a second walk and a wild pitch. "Wagner looked pretty good for a sophomore," Rodenhouse said. Missy Martin pitched well in defeat. She allowed four runs on just six hits while walking two and striking out

Stacy Mulder is closing in on Doreen Schneider's season high strikeout mark of 139.

Lowell roughed up by Vikings; but outslugs Zeeland, 10-5

Lowell's baseball play went from good to bad in a matter of three games. Lowell opened the week with a 10-5 win over Zeeland. The Red Arrows were ignited by a five-run third inning. The big hits in the inning were a two-out two run triple by Chad Lyon to left-center field. Following a Chix error, Jason Essex put runners on second and third with a ground-rule double to right-center field. With three runs in Jon Hutfilz rapped a two-run double. The five-run inning gave Lowell a 6-3 lead. The Red Arrows trailed 3-0 after one and 3-1 after two innings of play. Lowell tallied two runs in the fourth and two more in the seventh to secure the victory. Lyon and Hutfilz each had two hits, scored a run and knocked in three runs. Essex also contributed with two hits. Steve Malone struggled as he gave up five runs on 10 hits, but still managed to improve his league record to 3-0. Jeff Compton earned the save. Wom. Lowell 2-0

 The week ended in disaster as Lowell traveled to Wyoming Park for a Friday afternoon doubleheader against a solid Viking club. In game one, Red Arrow Troy Addington allowed six runs on six hits while walking four. Three hits, a walk and two Lowell errors opened the gates to five Wyoming Park runs in the first inning. Lowell answered with two runs of its own in the first on a walk, an error, an infield single and an RBI single by Chad Lyon. "After the first inning both teams played tough the rest of the way," Lowell coach Kris Kropf said. Park tallied the only other run, and that

Red Arrows win Sparta Invitational; sweep Spartans & Hawks to end regular season

The much improved Lowell tennis team continued its successful ways with two conference victories and top honors at the Sparta Invitational. The Red Arrows' only setback came against traditional O-K White and State power, East Grand Rapids. The Red Arrows finished the conference regular season schedule at 6-4 overall and 3-4 in the O-K White. "After viewing the field and our draw we felt we had a good shot at winning the Sparta Invitational," Lowell coach Terry Abel said. Lowell matched its expectation at defeating Rockford in the final match of the day to secure its first place position. Going into the match the two schools were tied for first. Steve Simkins won three points and the gold medal at first singles. Jason White earned two points and the silver medal at second singles. Jason Graber tallied three points and a gold medal at third singles. Chad Werdon finished out fourth singles with two points and third place. In doubles play, Gregg Gruizenga and Jerud Mierkals earned one point at number one doubles. Jens Puschel and Ryan Brinks netted three points and a gold medal at second doubles. Adrian Schuster and Rob Kennedy won two points and third place at third doubles. In fourth doubles, Joel Humpheries and Wayne Haines won two points and a third place finish in fourth doubles. "I was very pleased with our effort and with the first-place finish," Abel said. After competing with the top echelon of the O-K, playing Rogers and Sparta to conclude conference play must have seemed like a walk in the park. The scores indicate it may have been just that. Lowell dominated the struggling Hawks 7-0 and then ended the season with an impressive 7-0 win over Sparta. "After playing through the top half of the O-K White, it was good to have a few relaxing wins," Abel said. In singles play against Rogers, Simkins defeated Brian Chambers 6-0, 6-1. In second singles it was Jason White all over Rich Hui 6-1, 6-1. Matt Shinabarger persevered against Chad Chambers 6-3, 6-4 in third singles action. Jason Graber completed the singles sweep with a 6-0, 6-1 win over Scott Fuller. Doubles play was much of the same. Lowell's Gruizenga and Mierkals defeated Sean Maranda and Ben Majors 6-0, 6-1. In second doubles action Puschel and Brinks bested Brain Scalabrino 6-0, 6-3. Mike Lindhout and Jesse Davidson defeated Chad Ackerman and Marty Lenger in third doubles play, 6-0, 6-2. "We didn't play well against Sparta but still ended up shutting the Spartans out 7-0," Abel said. "We hope this helps prepare us for the conference meet where we hope to move up from our fifth-place position." Again, Simkins led the way for the Arrows as he defeated his Spartan counterpart, Daryl Schiedel 6-1, 6-0. In second doubles, White upended Brad Bosma 6-2, 6-2. It was Graber defeating Geoff Forbes 6-2, 6-0 in third doubles while Werdon battled to defeat Bob Childs in straight sets 6-3, 7-6. In number on doubles Gruizenga and Mierkals bested Dan Fynweaver and Jason Dufo 7-6, 6-3. Puschel and Brinks coasted against Andy Kemp and Jason Potes, 6-1, 6-0. Third doubles play, saw

All Bushnell, Alto and Runciman/Riverside students received an 8-10" Colorado blue spruce tree for planting through AMIS. Last year the spruce trees were given only to first graders. Because of the success of this program, it was decided to expand the program to cover all the students in grades 1-5. Every middle school in Kent County received 90 maple trees. The only restriction was the trees had to be planted on public land. Lowell seventh graders planted some of the 90 trees parallel to the tracks at the High School. Once the new high school is built, the current middle school will become a middle school. Lowell sixth and eighth graders planted some of the maple trees behind the present Middle School.

MALE INFERTILITY

It is estimated that one in six couples has a fertility problem. Historically, the woman has usually been the one to consult a physician first in the evaluation of inability to conceive. Recent evidence suggests, however, that up to one-half of all infertility may be caused by male problems. Indeed, more and more couples have been seeking the care of Andrologists (specialists dealing exclusively with male disorders), at the same time they are being evaluated for the possibility of female infertility. Generally speaking, male infertility can spring from a disorder in one of several areas: Sperm production, sperm transport, or sperm-egg interaction. There are currently many sophisticated tests and maneuvers which can evaluate these three areas. As with female infertility, the problem may involve more than one area, and the exact cause of inability to conceive may be difficult to identify. One of the more common reasons for male infertility is the varicocele, which is a dilation of some of the veins normally found in the scrotum. With this increased amount of blood flow in the scrotum, sperm production is diminished and infertility may occur. This condition is surgically correctable but still results in only a 40 percent pregnancy rate. While the cause for male infertility may be more readily identified than the cause for female infertility, there are fewer choices available for a couple once the diagnosis is established that the male is infertile. Sometimes the only options that are available are the newer technologies such as in vitro fertilization, gamete tube transfer or zygote transfer, which are all very expensive and only marginally successful. Newer techniques and procedures are on the horizon, but at this stage are only experimental. If you are a couple which is having difficulty in conceiving for greater than one year, consult your physician. The problem may well be with the male partner, and earlier detection may mean earlier correction and conception.

Those participating in the Spring show for Bonnie Blue Bells are, back row, left to right: Shelby Williams, age 9; Brook Bennett, age 10; Tammy Weber, Instructor; Amanda Miller, age 8; Stephanie Anderson, age 10. Middle row, Angie Houtman, age 9; Marlene Klap, Becky Raymor, age 7. Front row, Jessica Garber, age 10; Britney Huismen, age 6.

On the average, a person takes in about 16,000 gallons of water during his or her life.

Class of '46 will remember 45 years at Reunion

The plaque shown here is located on the wall in the Lowell High School building entrance. The plaque was given by the Class of 1946 in memory of those who attended Lowell High and gave their lives in World War II.

This story goes back 45 years and the senior class at that time had accumulated a surplus in their treasury and wanted to do something for a classmate who had been killed in the war. After much dis-ussion, it was the consensus of the class that since members of the 1946 class had relatives, friends and close associates, who had given the supreme sacrifice, their names would be inscribed on the plaque.

This plaque hung on the wall of the old high school until the building was torn down in the late 60's. It came up missing after this and members of the class questioned school administration at the time as to its disappearance. It had been stored in the school warehouse and it was then installed in its present location.

This will be one of the stories that will be remembered this coming June 22. This is the date the LHS Class of 1946 will be celebrating their 45th school reunion. All members have been notified of this dinner dance that will be held at the Charlevoix Club in Grand Rapids.

This plaque hangs in the Lowell High School building entrance. The class of '46 donated the plaque in honor of their fallen classmates.

Pancake supper nets Alto Fire Dept. over $2,000

Added incentive was given to people to show up for the annual April Alto Firemen's Pancake Supper.

Those who did, got a first-hand look at the new Bowne Township Fire Station.

Over $2,000 was raised with the proceeds going toward the fire station and equipment. The crowd of 511 was the largest ever to turn out for the pancake supper.

The new fire station was dedicated to all the volunteer firemen who serve the Bowne Township area. Bowne Township Supervisor Fred Moss accepted a plaque on their behalf.

Lowell Township trustee Dick Huver accepted a plaque of recognition and thanks from Bowne Township for Lowell Township's donation of $30,000 toward the new fire station project.

The 24 volunteer firemen and their wives helped serve the pancake supper.

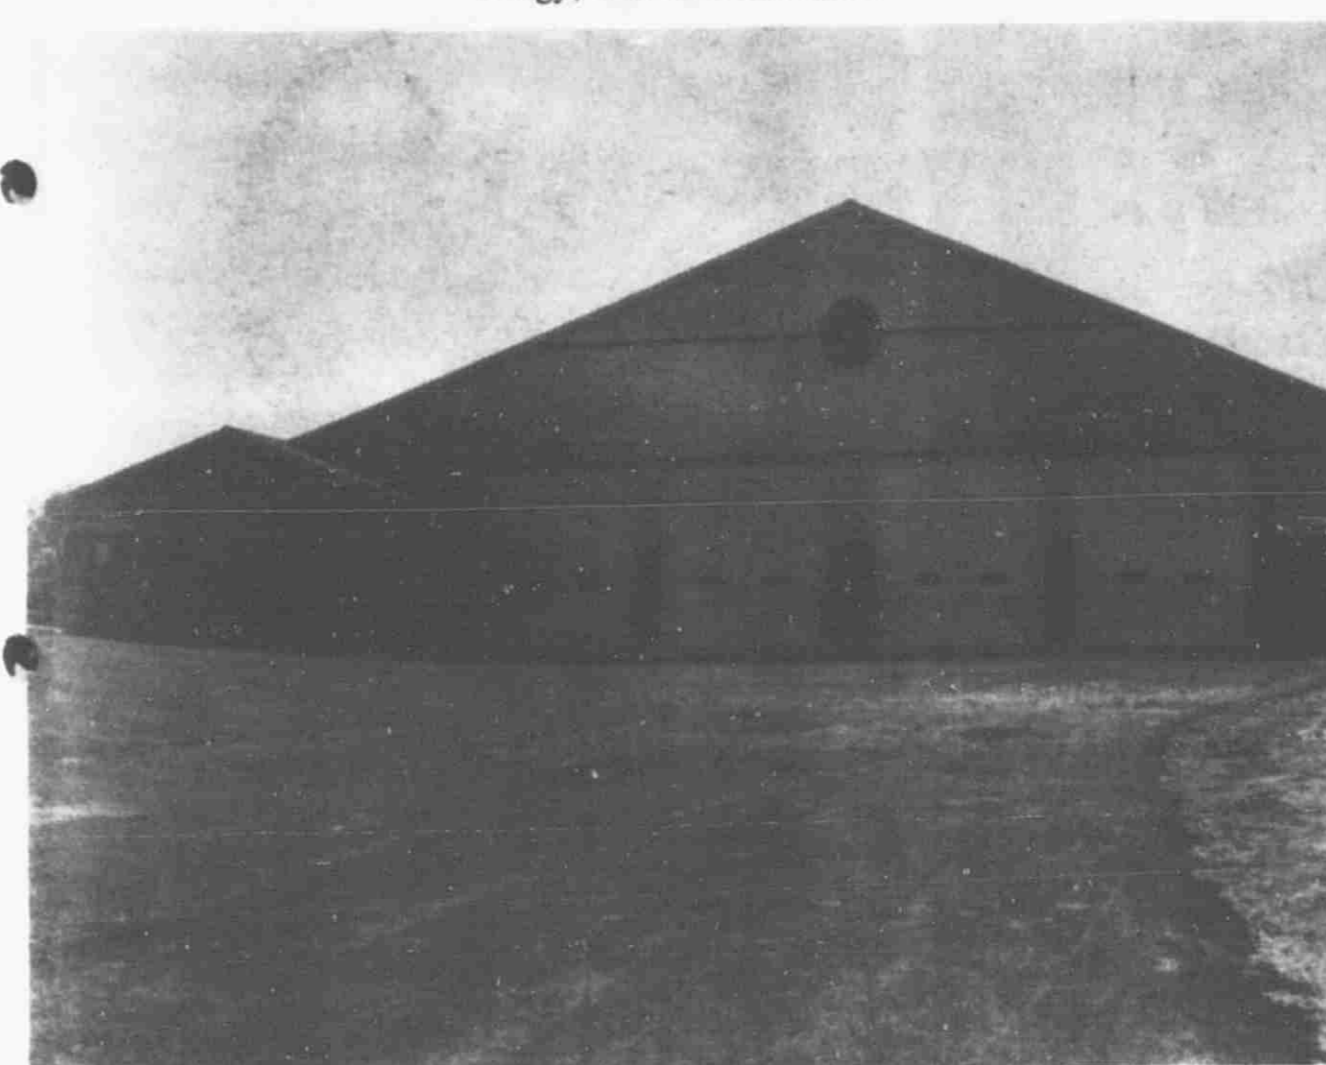

In conjunction with AMIS (Alternative Methods for International Stability), Lowell Elementary and Middle School students planted pine and maple trees in an effort to further assist in the building's esthetic beauty.

The 1991 Alto Firemen Pancake Supper drew 511 area residents. Not only was a fine dinner served, but residents got a first-hand look at the new fire station.

City inks pact with police

The Lowell City Council ratified its labor amendment with the Lowell Police Association.

The City is entering into the last year of a three-year agreement with the Lowell Police officers.

The final year had a wage re-opener clause where only salaries need to be re-negotiated.

After discussions with the officers, an agreement has been reached raising the salaries five percent for the two to four-year levels of the police officers as well as the Sergeant position. The first three levels of the police officers will remain the same.
