Music disagreement results in shooting of 19 year old Lowell man

An argument over the loudness of music at an open house/graduation party resulted in a Lowell man getting shot in the abdomen Saturday night.

Pete Gerkin, 19-years old of Lowell, was listed in good condition Tuesday at Blodgett Memorial Hospital after being shot by a Grand Rapids man Saturday.

According to Kent County Sheriff's Department Detective Bob Start, shortly after four black Grand Rapids men showed up at a graduation party at 158 Bahala, a private drive off of Bailey Drive, an argument over the loudness of their music ensued. The argument led to a fist fight between James Russell Whitney,

"During the fight, Whitney produced a handgun and fired it into the air," Start said. "As he then tried to get back into his car, Whitney felt it necessary to fire the gun once more, the second shot hitting Gerkin in the abdomen."

Whitney and his three male passengers then attempted to drive off. In doing so he hit two others in attendance at the party and ran into a number of other cars on his way out, Start said. "Whitney and his passengers were invited by two female members at the open house/graduation party.

Whitney was arraigned Monday on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and 25, of Grand Rapids and other carrying a felony firearm, the latter charge carrying an automatic two-year sentence, if convicted.

> The other three passengers were retained, questioned and released. Whitney's bail was set at $5,000.

Start said the case is still being reviewed with the preliminary exam set for July 3.

Gerkin's father, Rev. Joe Gerkin said his son was fortunate in that the bullet missed all major organs.

We ot in to the Municipal Marina mid-afternoon, just as the learing line went through and the sun came out. The marina on the Manistee river right in the heart of the downtown area f the city. It's obvious that a lot of government money has been spent recently to renovate the walkways along the river, and the downtown merchants have responded by sprucing up their buildings. It all makes for a very picturesque setting, and I have to admit I was much more impressed with Manistee than I thought I was going to be.

Once the boat was secured, Terese suggested we take a walk. I knew this meant I'd likely be dragged through a bunch of shops full of tourist type stuff, but I obliged willingly. It had been a pretty rough trip up the Lake Michigan coast, and as much as the sailor in me hates to admit it, I believe I was a little seasick. I was very happy to set foot on solid ground, even if it did mean touring a bunch of T-shirt and fudge shops.

Once up on the main street, which is not Main St., but rather, River St., I was impressed first by the buildings. Most were similar to those here in Lowell. They were two or three stories tall, brick construction and quite old. But, instead of being updated with new awnings, windows and facades, most were restored to their original 1800's look. I found out later that the downtown area is designated as an historical site on the

We never got all the way to the back of the store where I'm sure they must have had a soda fountain. I wanted to order a cherry fountain Coke and blow the paper covering from the straw onto the back counter overhang, like we did as kids when the druggist wasn't looking.

Back out on the street I peeked into the windows of a barber shop. There were several old style barber chairs and an overall look about the place that gave me the feeling it hadn't been redecorated since around 1952. I'm tellin' ya, the place was right out of the Andy Griffith Show. I could picture Floyd, the barber, in there clipping hair, gossiping, selling butchwax, handing out suckers to young customers and slopping liberal doses of talcum and tonic on his adult customers. Again, my mind went swimming back to the fifties. Manistee was doing weird things to my already weird mind!

Many voters have the minds made up - "you can" fight city hall" "what differ ence can I make?" It is thes attitudes that have allowed a forms of local government to soar out of control. So let's not get too upset with th school board without first taking a look at ourselves. We have just as much responsibility as the board.

The school officials should realize the public did just what they were told - expressed their will at the voting booth. The other ninety percent of the voting community should realize we have the freedom to vote, but along with the privilege comes the responsibility. Both sides should wake up!

Young Vezino to take part in Balloon championship

When the expected field of over 120 balloons fill the sky over Battle Creek during the 1991 Int'l Balloon Championship to be held June 29-July 6, Lowell pilot Kevin Vezino will be at the controls of his craft. Vezino will be flying his balloon in the competition class. The competition requires pilots to complete tasks to earn championship points.

Vezino, who is a printer at Amway, has been a balloon pilot for 10 years. During those years "The Vez", as Vezino is known, has participated in many balloon events in Michigan. Among his best event was a first place in the 1983 Jackson Hot Air Kevin, who pilots a red and blue paneled balloon named "Big Mouth", has flown before at the Battle Creek event as a "Fiesta pilot". Kevin's best finish at Battle Creek was third in 1985. Vezino's crew includes his wife and crew chief, Mary, son K.J., brother Bob and Bob's wife Bonnie, and any of his other six brothers as they are needed from time to

In addition to the scheduled balloon flights at 6:30 am and 6:30 pm each day, other crowd pleasing features during the week include the precision U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds flying team, the thrilling Army Golden Knights parachute team, a fireworks show, a Lee Greenwood concert, and comedian

The opening on Saturday evening, June 29 will find the balloons in a "mass balloon launch" at 6:30 p.m..

Paulsen is scheduled as part of a Comedians Plus program set from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. on Sunday, June 30th.

The Thunderbirds are scheduled to fly during midafternoon on both Wednesday, July 3 and Thursday, July 4. weather permitting.

Saturday afternoon's half in play had nothing to do with time running out, instead it vas the wet, inclement weather.

After morning and afternoon showers, play was stopped at 3 p.m. on Saturday and started back up at 8 a.m. Sunday morning.

"The effort and cooperation by tournament officials and players on Sunday was super," said Knights of Columbus spokesman, Larry Mikulski. "With the inclement weather we played eight hours of basketball within a four-hour period."

The Knights of Columbus Showboat Hoops tournament crowned 12 team champions, following double-elimination (boys) and round-robin (girls) tournament play. The last game was comleted at roughly 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

The tournament field was 106 teams strong "Obviously we would have liked better weather on Saturday. The delay back-logged games and made Sunday interesting." Mikulski said.

Brenda Clark with a check for $614 from its cut-a-thon for Tammy Huisman.

Local Huisman Fund totals rise to $36,700

Name the style, and there was a stylist there to fulfill your needs at the Tammy Huisman Cut-a-Thon benefit.

Heidi Christine's cut-athon for Tammy Huisman, who is battling a life-threatening bout with reoccuring breast cancer, raised $614.

The money is being raised so that Huisman can benefit from a $175,000-$250,000 treatment which will include removing and storing her still healthy bone marrow to preserve it from the effects of chemotherapy treatment. The treatment would call for Huisman to be injected with mass doses of chemicals to destroy the tiny tumors that have spread throughout her torso.

Fund-raising efforts organized to date have raised $36,700. Huisman was told before she could start undergoing treatment she would have to produce $120,000.

Along with the three hours of haircutting, other area merchants participating were: School House Ice Cream sold hot dogs; Ada Drug Store sold jewelry; Ada Greenery sold flowers; and Dr. Chris Norman and Ada Drug provided parking space.

Patti Elzinga, of Heidi Christine's, said people wishing to make donations may still do so at her shop.

Brenda Clark, Lowell Area Jaycees, who has spearheaded the effort to raise money for Huisman, said D.C. Talk will be performing in a benefit concert at the Sunshine Christian Complex on the East Beltline July 11. Tickets for the show will be $11. For more information you may call Clark at 897-8282.
