Monuments dedicated here on Veterans Day

Veterans Day was observed in a special way in downtown Lowell on Monday. Two new monuments were dedicated at the Veterans' Park near the river on the south side of Main St.

The monuments honor veterans who served in both World War I and World War II. The inscription on the WWI monument reads, "Dedicated to the memory of those men and women from the Lowell area who served their country in the great war for civilization . . . The war to end all war" The WWII monument reads, "Dedicated to all those Lowell area men and women who served their country in the greatest war against tyranny and oppression the world has yet seen. May the like never happen again".

About 30 people turned out for the ceremony. Clarence Shoemaker from the Rockford VFW Post and a past State Commander of the VFW was the guest speaker. Wesley Adriane, a past Commander of the Lowell VFW and Gordon Marshall, Adjutant of the Lowell post, also said a few words. Marshall is co-chairman of the monument project along with Barry Emmons of the Lowell American Legion.

A larger stone and flag pole was dedicated in the park last Memorial Day. Organizers hope to have the remaining three monuments ready for dedication next Memorial Day.

Future monuments will honor veterans of the Korean War and Vietnam War. A fifth stone will honor those who served in various police actions, armed interventions and even in times of peace.

The inscription on the Korean War monument will read,

About thirty people turned out Monday for the dedication of two new monuments in the Veterans Park on Main Street. The stones honor Lowell area men and women who served in WWI and WWII.

"Dedicated to all those Lowell area men and women who served their country with the United Nations in the "Forgotten War" against communist aggression. Though called a "Police Action" it was a war just the same."

The Vietnam monument will bear the inscription, "Dedicated with pride to all those Lowell area men and women who answered the call to duty like their fathers and brothers before them. They served with honor and pride in America's longest foreign war. For some it's "The war that won't go away".

The "Fifth Stone" will read, "Dedicated with respect to all those men and women from the Lowell area who have or will serve their country in all branches of the military, in "Police Actions and Armed Interventions", who froze in a guard shack on the 38th Parallel in Korea or at the Berlin Wall. Who were rescuers at disaster, or had to be rescued themselves. Though they don't receive the recognition those who served in the "Great Wars" receive, they also are as knights. Clothed in the shining armor of "Duty, Honor, Country", with lance and shield, quietly then and now they stand on guard. They also serve who guard and wait".

The collective six monuments, U.S. flag and P.O.W. and M.I.A. flag make a fitting tribute to all veterans of the area.

Clarence Shoemaker (center) a member of the Rockford VFW and a past state commander of the VFW was the guest speaker at the Veterans Day ceremony.

The stones that were dedicated on Monday were crafted at the Lowell Granite Co. They honor WWI and WWII veterans.

Vergennes residents voice concerns about High School site.

A second neighborhood forum meeting on the proposed new site for the high school provided a symposium for potential neighbors of the school to speak on their concerns.

Approximately 30, many of whom were Vergennes Township residents, got a first time look at the schematic design of the high school's layout, prior to it going before the Board of Education on Monday night for approval.

"I was pleased with the improvement the school has made on the amount of berms and buffers," Susan Schafer said.

While most seemed pleased with amount of vegetation and trees that were left untouched many still had concerns with the security.

"I'd like to see fencing around the property," said Gary Knotnerus, 11900 Vergennes SE. "I have horses and I don't want high school students messing around in that area."

Another resident added that it isn't that they think students are inherently bad but they are leary of the opportunities the new site, with its woods and various spots presents.

Lowell Superintendent Fritz Esch said fencing is a topic which will need further discussion.

Because of the money involved in getting utilities to the ballfields originally slated for north of Vergennes, that will not take place at this time. It will cost the school $1.2 million to run dedicated water/sewer lines to where the new school will sit.

The dedicated lines also brought up another issue, as to whether a privately owned utility can be run along a county right-of-way. Vergennes Township representatives Gil Wise and Township Supervisor, Jim Cook, said it could not.

However, where Cook and Wise left off, Kent County

Road Commission Director of Engineering, David Groenler continued, in a phone conversation on Wednesday morning.

First Groenler clarified, that if a line is put in solely for the use of a building, an individual or agency, it is referred to as a private line. "I'm not sure where the phrase dedicated line came from," Groenler said.

Groenler concurred that a privately owned utility cannot run along side a county right-of-way. "It has to be publically owned in order for the County to allow that," he said. "However, if the school pays for the line and then turns it over to a governmental entity such as the City or a township, the county would allow the line to be run. Provided the governmental entity agreed to take responsibility for repair and maintenance of the line. If that happens, it would not be considered a private line, but a public line."

The Director of Engineering cited two other cases where this has occurred - Grand Rapids Township (Lincoln School) and in Alpine Township.

Groenler continued, "What has happened in some cases, is the City takes responsibility but asks the school to pay for, or share in maintenance costs."

Lowell Superintendent emphasized that with all the talk, the route of city services has yet to be determined.

Annual Great American Smokeout

This year, the American Cancer Society will celebrate the 15th Anniversary of its Great American Smokeout on November 21, by again encouraging smokers to quit for a day...and possibly for good. According to a Gallup survey, 37.8 percent of the nation's smokers, or 18.9 million people, heeded the Smokeout challenge last year, and 7.4 million stayed off cigarettes for the day.

Even though the Smokeout officially began in 1977, the event's roots reach back to 1971. That year, Arthur P. Mullaney challenged the citizens of Randolph, Massachusetts, to give up cigarettes for the day and donate the saved money to a high school scholarship fund. Mullaney coined the term, Smokeout.

Later, Lynn R. Smith, editor of the Monticello Times in Minnesota, spearheaded that state's first D-Day, or Don't Smoke Day. D-Day spread like wildfire throughout Minnesota, and then blazed west to California where it became the Great American Smokeout.

It is estimated there are 38 Million ex-smokers in the United States. Certainly, some of them are breathing more freely today because of the Great American Smokeout.

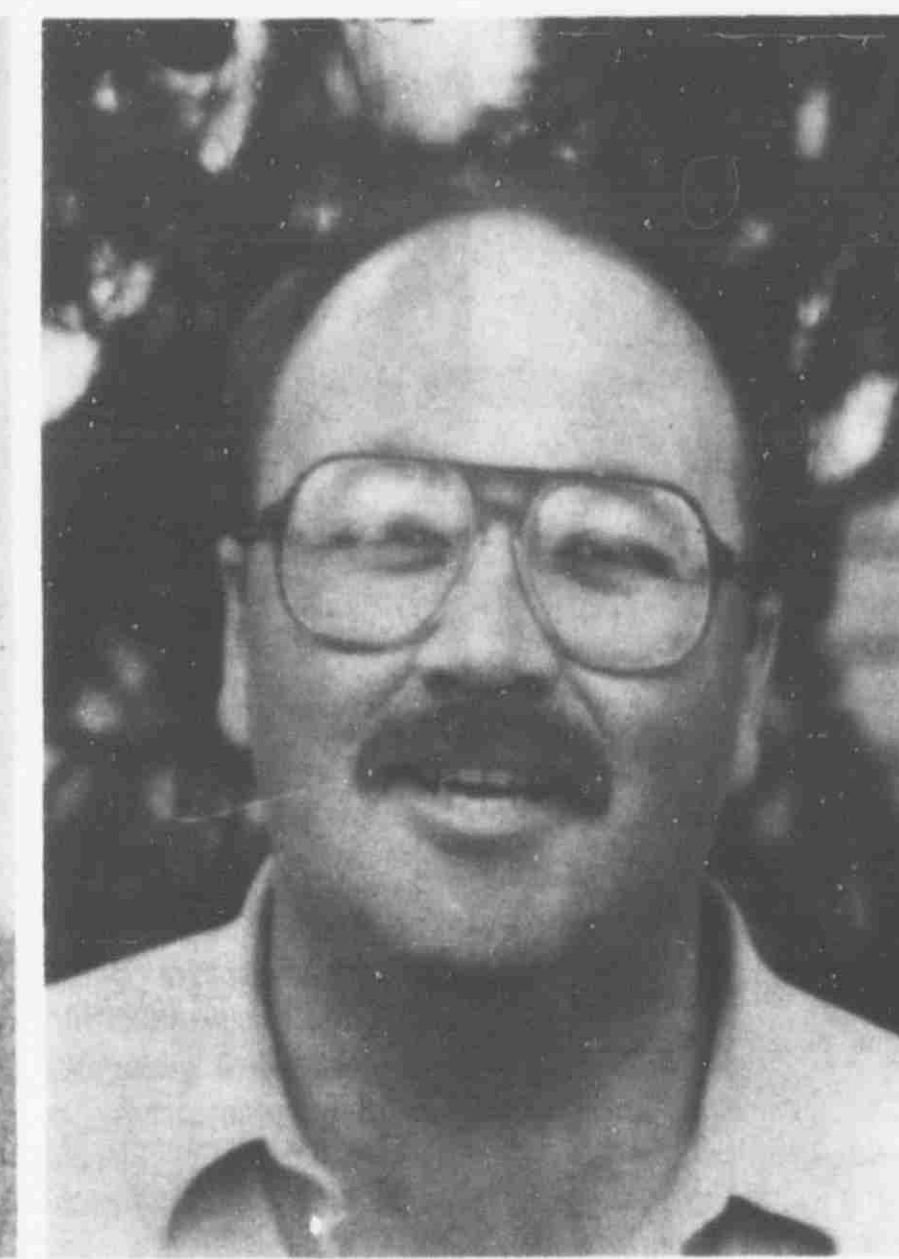

Two incumbents and a newcomer elected to City Council

James Maatman

William Thompson

Donald Green

Two incumbents and a newcomer to the City Council were elected to two and four-year terms on Nov. 5

Gamering the most votes was eight-year City Councilman, Bill Thompson. The incumbent received 197 votes.

Both Green and Thompson were given four-year terms.

Mayor James Maatman, a 12-year veteran of the council, earned 190 votes. He was given a two-year term.

Others running for a council seat were Bennie Vinton, George Blocher and Craig Fonger. Vinton received 98 votes. Fonger garnered 81 votes and Blocher earned 42.

Only 12.8 percent, 296 voters, of the approximately 2,300 registered voters in Lowell, participated in the election.

In Precinct I, 175 people voted at Runciman Elementary School. In that precinct, Thompson received 122 votes, Green received 118 votes, Maatman earned 117 votes, Vinton got 54 votes, Fonger earned 50 votes and Blocher got 23.

In Precinct II, at Bushnell Elementary, there were 110 voters. Green earned 71, Thompson garnered 67, Vinton earned 42, Fonger got 27 and Blocher received 19.

Absentee votes were distributed this way. Thompson gained eight, Green and Maatman collected seven, Fonger received four and Vinton got two votes.

TOWN TALK

Your reaction to Belding High School's expulsion of a student after he handed two friends each an over-the-counter caffeine pill?

Sue Phillips
If it was school policy then no exceptions should be made.

Tom Stahr
My first reaction was the penalty is too severe. But, I understand the problem the school has with giving the over-the-counter drugs to others, especially since he did not know their medical background.

Lori Little
I think the punishment may have been a little too strict. I agree the student should have kept the pills out of the school building. But they were over the counter drugs. I guess I understand both points of view.

Heather Kohtz
I think it may have been extreme. School officials should have had a confrontation with the parents and dealt with it that way. I understand the school not wanting to encourage giving out pills of any kind to other students.

Mike Matlosz
If that is the policy and it's been published and approved, then the school should follow it.

Julie Niemela
It may have been a little harsh, but you have to set precedent. You've got to start somewhere.

Jantina Wasciuk
I agree with the school. School policy should be followed.

Carol Harper
It depends on how the school has explained the policy and how and if it has been shared with the students.

Red Cross offers winter safety tips

With the blustery winter winds approaching comes the possibility of winter storms that bring snow, extreme cold temperatures, and often dangerous driving conditions.

The Kent County Chapter of the American Red Cross reminds you of how to prepare for and what to do during a winter storm watch and warning, plus winter travel tips.

To prepare for a winter storm: 1) Have your car winterized before the winter season. 2) Keep a portable radio, flashlight, extra batteries, first aid kit, canned food and bottled water on hand. 3) Have extra blankets and extra medication on hand. 4) Check your portable radio and television set to make sure they are in good working order. (They may be the only outside contact if a storm hits).

During a watch: (Severe winter weather may affect your area) 1) Keep posted on developing weather conditions. 2) Avoid unnecessary travel before or during the storm. 3) Be extremely careful if you use a portable heater.

During a warning: (Severe winter weather is about to occur) 1) Stay indoors during the storm. 2) If you must go outside, wear several layers of clothes. Gloves (or mittens) and a hat will help you from losing your body heat. 3) Be careful walking on snowy, icy sidewalks. 4) After the storm, if you go outside to shovel snow, be extremely careful not to overexert yourself.

If you must travel in a storm: 1) Keep your car's gas tank full for emergency use and keep the fuel line from freezing. 2) Let someone know where you are going, when you expect to arrive and your predetermined route. 3) Have emergency supplies in the trunk, including a blanket.

If you get stuck: 1) Stay with your car. Do not try to walk to safety. 2) Tie a brightly colored cloth (preferably red) to the antenna. 3) Leave the overhead light on so that you can be seen. 4) As you sit, keep moving your arms and legs to keep blood circulating and to stay warm. 5) Keep one window slightly open to let air in. 6) Use your heater sparingly. Have the window away from the blowing wind open. Keep the exhaust pipe clear so fumes won't back up into the car.

A heavy snow warning means at least 4 inches in 12 hours or 6 inches in 24 hours.

A blizzard warning means a lot of falling and or blowing snow and winds of a least 35 miles per hour are expected.

A long awaited and much talked about event took place in Brown family history over the weekend. No, we didn't marry off our daughter. She did turn eighteen on Saturday though. That was expensive enough. Nobody graduated. Nobody died. No mortgage was burned. Are you ready for this? Terese and I cleaned our closet!

Now, that may not seem like an event most people would think of recording in the family Bible, but around our house it is. I guess you need to know a few things about our closet to fully appreciate the gravity of this event. Number one, it's huge. Entire Hong Kong families live in less space! Terese calls it a walk-in closet. I say it's more like a hike-in closet. Secondly, it is lined with shelves on all four sides that go all the way up to the nine foot ceilings. These shelves provide hundreds of hiding places for innumerable items to become lost in. I was hoping to find my son's missing mountain bike during our quest, but no such luck.

We've lived in this old house for over six years. Plenty of time to get a good accumulation of worthless junk going. My wife would kill me if I told the readership we hadn't cleaned our closet in six years. We sort of clean it with each change of seasons when the winter clothes swap places with the summer clothes on the upper and lower hanging rods. There have also been several sorting sessions where old clothes, worn clothes and clothes that we've outgrown are thrown away, given to relatives or hauled off to the Salvation Army. It always gives me a pain in the pocketbook to see Terese's expensive clothes given the old heave-ho because they're out of fashion, too snug or she's simply tired of them. That's another subject, and it's one that will never be bantered about in this column if I care to keep my happy home!

We began on Sunday by completely emptying the closet. I mean everything...right down to errant coins, unidentifiable car keys and straight pins in the carpet that miraculously never found their way into my bare feet. You could barely move in our bedroom because of the piles of clothing and miscellaneous junk!

We then vacuumed, scrubbed, cleaned and polished every nook and cranny of the closet. This was no small task. You've gotta remember, we're talkin' about a closet of gargantuan proportions here. I was working from the top step of a six foot ladder in order to wipe down the upper shelves. I'm probably fortunate not to be writing about a broken leg this week.

We had begun at about 10:00 a.m. When the Lions were set to get underway at 1:00 p.m. we were just getting ready to begin putting things back. I caught glimpses of the game as I worked at sorting stuff, returning it to the closet or throwing it out. I have to admit, a pretty large percentage of even my stuff ended up in the "throw out" pile. About the same time the gun sounded to put the Lions out of their misery, I declared the closet project done! Despite the Lions loss, I celebrated with a Strohs anyway!

IMPETIGO

Impetigo (not infantigo) is a bacterial skin infection most commonly seen in children. It is caused by either a strep or staph bacteria which invades the upper layers of the skin.

This disorder commonly occurs in the summertime in younger people whose resistance may be low, who bath infrequently, who play in dirt and mud, and who may be prone to scrapes, cuts, and abrasions, that may permit bacterial organisms to invade healthy skin.

While crowded living conditions, day care, and nursery settings may play an important role in the spreading of impetigo, it can also be a secondary complication of other disease states, such as herpes, scabies, contact dermatitis and chicken pox.

The bacteria which causes impetigo are carried to the affected parts of the body by unclean fingers and fingernails, and by unwashed towels, utensils, and clothing. Direct contact with someone who has impetigo can also lead to spreading of the disease.

Impetigo begins as a small pink spot, progresses into a small blister-like sore which ruptures. This is followed by a characteristic thick honey-colored crusting sore which appears to be "stuck" on the skin.

Impetigo needs to be treated in order to prevent any "post-step" syndromes, principally certain kidney ailments. Oral antibiotics for seven to ten days will adequately eradicate the bacterial invasion and prevent any secondary complications.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength... (Isaiah 40:31).

Women's hats have borne the brunt of countless jokes.

They have been called many things — mostly uncomplimentary words. But still it cannot be denied, a new hat gives a lady a lift. Often the renovation of an old one does the trick. New veiling ribbon, or flowers add an entirely different appearance to a faithful bonnet or beret.

Everyone needs a lift at times. The monotony of the everyday tasks tax all alike. A change of scenery, a piece of new furniture, or a new hat often satisfies the need each woman feels occasionally.

Isaiah told us how to get a real lift—through prayer. Life is depleting. The cares, responsibilities, and daily challenges sap the Christian of his spiritual strength and resources. Like the reservoir in Grandma's old-fashioned range that had to be refilled each morning, so one's spiritual reserve must often be replenished. When we experience that "let down feeling," it is time for spiritual renewal. New courage and strength can be received by waiting in God's presence. We can receive "a lift—through prayer."

Prayer: I praise Thee, O God, because Thou hast promised to renew my strength if I wait on Thee. Revive my spirit. Increase my courage. Give me the lift I need. Amen.

My soul crieth out: "Restore me again, And give me the strength to take The narrow path of righteousness, E'en for His own name's sake."

Auditors say LCTV rate increase will ease deficit

Two things Virgil Biggs, Biggs, Hauserman, Thompson and Dickenson, audit report on Lowell Cable and Lowell Light and Power showed, increased rates and expansion are significant reasons for changes in the net incomes.

"The approval of increased cable rates in March is the most significant reason why Lowell Cable is beginning to restore fiscal responsibility," Biggs said.

A year ago, Lowell Cable showed a loss of $3,000. This year, 1991, it is showing a net income of $10,600.

"It is allowing Lowell Cable to chip away at an accumulated deficit of $220,000," Biggs said. "That figure is arrived at by adding all the accumulated losses and profits together."

The debt retirement on the cable system initially started at 50 years. It was dropped down to 20-plus years and within the last year the council approved reducing the debt retirement to 11-1/2 years.

Biggs said Lowell Cable must provide the state with an update on how it plans to do away with the debt.

"The changes made in March of this year have helped to make the system sound financially," Biggs said.

He added that the $10,600 figure could have been $25,000 had it not been for the loss on disposal of equipment.

Lowell Light and Power also saw significant changes in 1991.

This year it saw a net income of $52,000 as compared to a year ago when its net income was $350,000.

Why the change?

"The drop in the net income is the result of system expansion," Biggs said. "The cost of the expansion was well in excess of $1 million. Payment for the expansion was provided by adequate investments held in reserve."

The reserve investments prevented Lowell Light and Power from borrowing money from an outside source.

The expansion of the system also decreased the investment interest income by $74,000.

As a result of expansion, enterprise funds, and depreciating assets, the depreciating reserve had to be increased by $40,000.

The City has also been required to pick up more power from the power pool of which it is a member. It had to incur four months of increase costs before the increased power rates went into effect. "Lowell Light and Power did not begin to recover from this until May when the rates increase

Contest challenges high school automotive students

Safety Services Department, One Auto Club Drive, Dearborn, MI, 48126. Students should mail completed applications to: Chrysler/AAA Michigan Trouble Shooting Contest, Computer Center, P.O. Box 2249, Livonia, MI 48151-9905. There is no entry fee to enter the competition.

High school senior auto mechanic students can put their skills to the test for thousands of dollars in scholarships by applying for the annual Chrysler/AAA Michigan Trouble Shooting Contest by Dec. 18.

The contest is in two phases. The first phase consists of a written examination which determines who will participate in the state Hands-On contest to be held May 14, 1992 in Grand Rapids. In the Hands-On competition, students identify and fix "planted" defects in a Chrysler automobile. First place finishers of that event will participate in the national finals to be held at the Chrysler Corporation Technical Center in Auburn Hills, MI.

Application forms for the Chrysler/AAA Michigan Trouble Shooting contest are available from high school automotive instructors. If necessary, forms can be obtained by writing to AAA Michigan's Community the blocks quickly. Again, tonight, it cost us."

After trailing 24-15 at half-time, Zeeland battled back behind the power of Beth Hilbink. The Chix tallied a game-high 18 points.

"I'm not sure if our girls relaxed or if Zeeland cut down on our transition baskets," Akers said.

Zeeland got to within one point of Lowell at 36-35 with 3:25 to play, following a bucket by Valerie Vanlingen.

Lowell answered with two foul shots by Renee Nugent and a steal and a bucket by Jen Wieland.

Zeeland played the contest without starting guard Becky DeBoer. "She's been averaging 10-12 points a game for us," Kalmink said.

Amy Stauffer led all Lowell scorers with 13 points. Nugent tallied 10 and Angie Brown netted nine.

The win improves Lowell's conference record to 6-5 and its overall record to 8-9.

Zeeland falls to 5-6 in the O-K White.

Lowell coach Ken Akers explains, "I believe we match up better against Zeeland. We're quicker. If we play a half court game with Zeeland we're going to get beat."

The Red Arrows jumped out of the gate quickly Tuesday night in spurting to a 20-12 first quarter lead. "Our girls played extremely well in the first quarter," Akers said. "When we score off of transition we're effective."

Kalmink pointed to her club's recent bout with slow starts. "We cannot get out of

Equestrian team finishes second at state finals

The Lowell Equestrians repeated last years second place finish to Dexter at the State M.I.H.A. finals in Mason.

Huron New Boston took an early lead after the fitting and showing classes with 50 points followed by Lowell 36 and Dexter 33. Western showmanship was won by Adam Johnson. Carrie Wingeier was sixth and Clay Pelon tenth. Lowell went scoreless in saddle seat, but all four Lowell entries placed in hunt seat showmanship. Clay Pelon took first, Heather Pelon fourth, Wingeier ninth, and Kelly Dykstra tenth.

In the saddle seat riding classes, Dexter added 75 points and shot into the lead with a total of 108 points. Trailing were Huron New Boston 70, Bangor John Glen 59, and Lowell 37. Heather Pelon took tenth in the saddle seat pattern; Denise Parker received honorable mention.

Lowell was in fifth place after the hunt seat classes. Dexter built up a commanding lead of 155 points followed by Huron New Boston 73, Bangor John Glen 67, Romeo 63, and Lowell 54. In equitation Dykstra was eighth and Clay Pelon ninth. Tiffany Ireland earned ninth in bareback. Equitation over fences had Ireland fifth and Holly Jaworowicz seventh.

The western performance division ended with a close race for second place. Dexter had 190, Huron New Boston 97, Bangor John Glen 94, and Lowell 91. Adam Johnson took first in equitation, and Clay Pelon was fourth. Johnson returned to place second in bareback. Western riding had Johnson fourth and Heather Pelon seventh.

Lowell took over second place in trail with 107 points to Dexter's 193. Close behind was Huron New Boston 101, Bangor John Glen 94, and Romeo 88. Clay and Heather Pelon placed first and fifth respectively.

Dexter scored only six additional points in the speed events, but Lowell was unable to overcome their substantial lead. In the flag race, Holly Jaworowicz was second in 10.937, Michelle Dykstra third in 11.453, and Penny English tenth in 31.909. Wingeier won the cloverleaf in 17.965 with Jaworowicz fifth in 19.736. Wingeier was second in speed and action in 9.376, and Holly Jaworowicz was tenth in 10.136.

The final team scores were Dexter 199, Lowell 151, Huron New Boston 137, Romeo 109, Bangor John Glen 94, Leslie 84, Chippewa Hills 50, Fruitport 34, South Haven 29, Ogemaw Heights 26, and Onsted 22.

The Lowell Equestrian Team wishes a special thank you to their parents for all their support. Also, recognition goes to Terry Beckhorn, Tonya Fischer, Gail Parker and Carrie Pelon for their hours of instruction and to Larry Pelon and Marcie Wingeier for their organizational skills as assistant coaches. They also wish to thank area residents who gave car wash donations, private donations, and business sponsorships. This club is self supported and runs on all volunteer labor.

The team will miss the contributions of its seniors, three year member Adam Johnson, and four year members Penny English, Tiffany Ireland, and Clay Pelon.

peted in Impromptu Speaking.

Varsity debaters Corrie Listenberger, a sophomore from Niles, and Eric Westra, a junior from Wyoming, debated the topic "Resolved: that United States colleges and universities have inappropriately altered educational practices on issues of race or gender."

They held their own against teams from Towson State of Baltimore, Md., Colorado College of Colorado Springs, the University of Illinois at Urbana, Ball State University of Muncie, Ind., Loyola of Chicago and Hillsdale College.

Linda Hooghart Kaiser of Wyoming, a 1991 Hope graduate who is also an alumna of the Hope College Forensic Association (HCFA), judged debate for the Hope team.

Sandy Alspach, coach and director of forensics, praised overall performance and team spirit. "Speakers supported the debate team by watching the debaters' final round and the debaters supported the speakers by watching the final Persuasive round," she said. "I'm proud of this demonstration of unity for the Association, and I'm proud of the performances of all HCFA members at this tough tournament."

Alli continues to set an excellent model for the team as speech team captain. And, it's exciting to see Barb win an award at her first intercollegiate competition."

Novice members of the speech team will compete on Saturday, Nov. 16, at Oakland University in Rochester. The final tournament of the semester will be the Michigan Intercollegiate Speech League tournament on Saturday, Dec. 14, also at Oakland.

In addition, members of the Hope College Forensic Association speech team will share their speaking talents with the Hope community in a Showcase of Excellence in Speaking from 7-8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 20, in room 30 of Van Zoeren Hall.

Trophy buck!!!

Jason Baer, 19, Lowell, dropped his biggest buck yet with his Pearson Spoiler Bow on Thursday, Nov. 5 in Grattan at approximately 6:30 p.m. Baer's prize was a nine-point buck, approximately 200 pounds. "I hit him behind the shoulder blade and the arrow ran into the spine," Baer said.

Alto first grade students got a close-up view of the fire fighting equipment at the Alto Fire Department.

Alto first graders tour new Alto Fire Department

The students were startled when firemen used the siren on one of the trucks.

The Alto First Graders had fun and learned about fire safety, too. One first grader's father, Royce Slater, came to the classrooms and talked to students about the equipment he uses and the work he does as a fireman. He told us it is very important for each family to have an escape plan and practice it. Later that afternoon, the first graders walked over to visit the Alto Fire Department's new building. The Fire Chief and two firemen showed them the trucks and equipment. Each child sat in the driver's seat of a truck. All were surprised when the siren was turned on. Slater and the Alto and Lowell Fire Department gave out fire hats, badges, pamphlets and stickers which are generously sponsored by the Lowell and Alto businesses and merchants.

Meet Eskimo Joe!

The hippest and trendiest people all over the country are sporting T-shirts with these crazy characters: Smiling Eskimo Joe and his slobbering dog Buffy. The toothy twosome are worn on over a million chests around the world—the Eskimo Joe T-shirt is the second most collectible shirt in the world, just behind that of the Hard Rock Cafe. Yet many may not know just what the Eskimo Joe legend is all about—and that there are a lot more clothes where the Eskimo Joe T-shirt came from.

Eskimo Joe's, the now-legendary restaurant and watering hole in the college town of Stillwater, Oklahoma, started out as a small beer joint with no paid employees and rented furniture in 1975. Today, "Stillwater's Jumpin' Little Juke Joint" has become an Oklahoma tradition and a multi-million dollar business.

Although Joe's T-shirts have been available since 1975, Joe's Clothes weren't available by mail order until 1986. Today, millions literally "Put on a Smile" when they wear Joe's Clothes, including tank tops, sweatshirts and shorts, hats, kid's clothes, even underwear! For a free copy of the catalog, call 1-800-256-JOES, or write: Joe's Clothes, P.O. Box 729, Stillwater, OK 74076.
