Respiratory virus keeps Middle School students out in record high numbers at Lowell, Northview & Forest Hills

Sometimes you get the bug, and sometimes the bug gets

It seems this viral infection bug that has found its way into many area communities has taken direct aim at the middle school age children.

Three area schools noticed a drastic decrease in middle school attendance prior to the Thanksgiving Day break.

"Many of the parents who have called in for their children have reported flu, high fever and sore throat as the reasons for their children's time away from school," said Lowell Middle School attendance secretary, Judy Ellison. "This is the worse I've ever seen it."

Ellison said on an average day 50 students are absent. The three days prior to Thanksgiving Day break, Lowell Middle School was without 20 percent of its 750 students. "Monday there were 160 children missing from school. On Tuesday and Wednesday there were approximately 140 children sick each day."

The high numbers of sick students make time tough, not only on families, but teachers and school offices.

"The office becomes chaotic," said Lowell Middle School Principal Mike Matlosz. "Kids are being excused from class, parents are coming in to get student assignments and teachers, experiencing a big decrease in attendance, must 'monitor and adjust."

Teachers in some cases are missing a third, to a half, of their class. "Teachers either must hold off teaching new material or make adjustments so they can re-teach lessons once students are able to return," Matlosz said.

Mary McLean who has been at Northview's Hills and Dales Middle School for 11 years says she cannot remember a virus having such an impact. "On the Friday before Thanksgiving we were missing 150 children. On the Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday from 120 to 130 students were missing each day," she says.

McLean said, because of the low attendance, weekly homework sheets were not being sent out. "We're hoping that over the four-day Thanksgiving Day many students will get well."

She adds that calls from Middle School parents have suggested that upper respiratory and cold/fever symptoms have been the cause for the absentees.

Sharon Baxter, the school nurse for the entire Forest Hills District, (nine schools) said attendance has been unusually low all over the district and not just at the Middle School level.

"Our attendance numbers are down about 10 percent, which isn't as high as the 20 percent Lowell and Northview have reported at their Middle Schools, but that is still higher than normal for us," Baxter said.

Baxter adds calls from parents have complained of respiratory and abdominal flu.

Why do Middle School students seem to be more adversely affected by the virus?

Lowell Family Medical Center's D.O. Paul Gauthier offered these reasons.

"Immune systems of students that age are not as mature," Gauthier said. "They also tend to have more hand-to-hand contact, body contact and push and shove more. The viral infection and flu bugs are passed quite regularly through hand to hand contact."

Usually a virus of this kind keeps its patients down twothree days. This one, however, has been keeping individuals down for three-five days.

"It's also kept us very busy here at the office," Gauthier said.

The Lowell doctor said viral symptoms with no bacterial involvement, such as strep throat can be treated with fluids, Tylenol and bed rest.

Gauthier blamed the rapid changes in the weather and humidity for the viral flu.

"The flu season does not start until the first part of the year. That's when most people begin to get their flu shots," Gauthier said. "I recommend flu shots for people over the age of 65, children six years of age and under, and for people suffering from diabetes, lung disease and cancer."

I scrubbed and scoured, using strong cleansers. Finally, after applying the most potent solution I could think of, the dishes came beautifully clean. Now ! fondly cherish them and show them off with pride.

Christians, if we begin seeking for earthly treasure rather than heavenly store, our soul-beauty will become clouded and obscured. If our hearts become encrusted with materialistic thoughts and desires, our spiritual joy will vanish. This we must continually avoid. God's cleansing process can eliminate unchristlike ambitions and restore "the luster of the soul."

Prayer: Dear Jesus, Thy blood has availed for me Praise Thy name! Keep me unspotted from the world Keep my eyes set on heavenly treasure. Amen.

He breaks the power of canceled sin.

He sets the prisoner free: His blood can make the foulest clean; His blood availed for me.

Why is it the little bumps in life's path throw many of us for

For example, didn't it bother you as a child when your brother or sister sat in your chair at the dinner table. It did me, because the food chain at the table started with my father, and my seat was next in line.

Why is it your oldest sister always got to wash the dishes and the younger brother always had to dry them.

As people, we like to find what's comfortable and stick with it, not swaying far from the beaten path.

Lowell for the past 29 years, was going to close up Man's sitting in that chair thinking what am I going to say to this man.

World and tackle another one of life's challenges.

Yes, there are other barbers/stylists in town, but they are not Fred. He's cut my hair for three-four years. He's cut others hair for 10, 20, or even 30 years.

So what is it about a barber that once you've found one you don't want to lose him or her.

Is it the trust a person has entrusted the barber with. In a society where first impressions can be lasting, how well a person is groomed makes an immediate impact. Let's be honest, no one wants to get out of the barber's chair looking like a doofus.

After that initial trust has been established, it can then be expanded upon. Many people use the barber as a therapist. We tell the barber what's on our mind, what our concerns are, why we're so damn happy, and why we're depressed.

Some of us use the barber to bounce ideas off, to get another opinion. To swap jokes about Michigan State football, George Perles, Pee Wee Herman.....

Fred told me recently, anyone can learn the mechanics of cutting hair, but it is the personality that makes a good barber.

How many times do you go back to a barber that doesn't say For many men and women in this town, the unthinkable a word to you during the haircut. As a young boy, I remember was rumored months ago. Fred Ruehs, a barber/stylist in going to my Dad's barber (was that trust or foolishness?),

That fret soon went away, the barber always had those canned questions. How's school? What have you done over vacation? And before you knew it, you were walking out the door.

I guess in part, this was the barber's personality going to work. Have you ever noticed that no matter how many times the phone rings a good barber always makes it sound like it's a brother who he hasn't seen in five years? I guess this would also fall under personality.

For those who have gone to the same barber/stylist for over a year now, how many actually really look to see how the hair on the back of your head looks when he or she hold up the mirror. Or do you just nod and continue conversing.

THE PNEUMONIA VACCINE

Probably one of the most under utilized vaccines in the United States is the pneumonia vaccine. Pneumonia is a very common infection of the lungs seen more frequently during the winter months. One of the most common causes of the pneumonia is a bacteria called pneumococcus. It is estimated that 400,000 - 500,000 cases of pneumonia caused by this bacteria will occur in the United States this year! Other illness caused by pneumococcus include meningitis, bronchitis, inusitis and otitis.

Population at higher risk of developing infections caused by pneumococcus include any patient with an immune system disorder, patients who have had their spleen removed, any patient with a chronic medical condition like emphysema, liabetes or a heart condition, and any individual over 65 years

The vaccine is a purified mixture of components from the pneumococcus organism. It is given only once. The protective antibodies which develop have been shown to be effective for at least 5 years and probably longer. Currently the public health department recommendation is for one vaccine only, which may be protective for a lifetime. In certain very high risk patients, the vaccine may be repeated after 3-5 years.

Very few side effects from the pneumonia vaccine have been reported. Occasionally soreness, local redness and minimal swelling develop at the site of vaccination. Rarely, a rash or low grade fever may occur which is usually gone within 24 hours after vaccination.

Several recent studies have shown this vaccine to be a valuable tool in preventing serious pneumococcal pneumonia. We recommend this vaccine for any patient with a chronic medical condition and all senior citizens.

Everyone is a genius at least once a year. The real geniuses simply have their bright ideas closer together.

by C.C. Clark

December 8 through 14

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21) A disagreement with a loved one could get blown out of proportion. Try to look at the situation objectively and compromise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) You can only take so much from people before you rebel, and this time you're in the right. Just be sure to check your facts before you go off on that tear.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18) The beginning of the week may have you running around like a crazy person, but things will settle down in a few days.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20) You'll stay busy at work or school, but that's just the way you like it. Because" you're not one to sit idle for long, new projects will please you immensely.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19) An elderly person may give you advice and you would do well to take it. Financial matters should be taken seriously at this time.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20) Don't question things you don't really want to know the answer to. Keeping your nose out of other people's business is tough, but necessary.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20) You've got to stop burning the candle at both ends. You are leaving yourself open to every germ that crosses your path. Take care of yourself.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22) You may have to make a major career decision in the near future. Try to laugh at situations over which you have no control.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22) Conversations with loved ones will soothe your frazzled nerves. Be sure to show your appreciation to those who listen to your troubles.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22) You must make a difficult decision concerning a co-worker or close friend. The truth may be nasty, but it must be told. Try to be tactful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22) Keep personal issues out of the workplace or face the consequences. Gossip will tear your personal life to shreds if you're not careful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21) Try to open your mind to new possibilities. Don't assume those around you can read your thoughts; explain what you need. 10 TV Listing Inc.

Item #2. BIDS - REPLACEMENT OF ELECTRIC CON-TROLS AT THE MAIN LIFT STATION. Mark Mundt. Superintendent of the Waste Water Treatment Plant stated that in November 1989, a mechanical study of the Main Lift Station was completed. Among their recommendations was the replacement of the electrical controls within one to three years. In 1991, electrical engineers with WW Engineering and Science did a cost study for the replacement of the control panels. They estimated the engineering and installation cost of approximately $54,000. Due to a miscommunication between City Hall and Wastewater Treatment Plant, only $30,000 was allocated in the Sewer Fund budget. City Manager Pasquale said that there are sufficient

Item #7. CITIZENS COMMENTS. Bob Ford (1376 Sibley) requested, on behalf of Lowell Little League, Council's approval for usage of some fields at Creekside Park for the 1992 baseball season. Last year, the League was granted the use of the east field on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at Creekside Park. Little League has petitioned for the use of the south, north and east fields on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday after 1:00 p.m. To the best of Mr. Ford's knowledge, none of these days were used for the YMCA regularly scheduled games in the past two years. This would allow more use of park facilities.

door so that he could continue to cut hair one day a week for those who have always spelled barber, F-R-E-D.

"I will be cutting hair one day a week (Monday) at Hometown Cuts (2186 W. Main)," Ruehs says.

Ruehs' new challenge will involve the sales of industrial equipment.

The new challenge for Ruehs is just that. He emphasizes it is not a replacement for a job he tired of, or became burned out on. "I liked and enjoyed coming to work (Man's World), and I look forward to cutting hair on Mondays," he explains.

The successful Alto barber/stylist says there is much more to cutting hair then the mechanics. "Anyone can learn and/or be taught the mechanics, but it is the personality which makes a good barber," Ruehs said. "The other key is the willingness to learn and take criticism. Once you've decided that there is nothing left for you to learn, you're done."

Ruehs declares he is constantly upgrading his skills through attending seminars.

One of the major changes which occurred in the barber business was the long hair era. "Long hair cut into the barber business. Barbers had to do something with the hair other than cut it," he says. "We were forced to change our image from old fashion barber to hair stylist. Barbers began to show people the haircut when they were finished. There was no more spinning the chair and out the door the customer went."

The other significant change came in the 70's when the law was changed allowing cosmetologist to cut men's hair.

One thing that has not changed is people's use of barbers/ stylists as sounding boards and/or therapy.

"It definitely allows you to get to know a different aspect of an individual that otherwise you might not have," Ruehs said. "People value your opinion and they trust their barber."

With the same knowledge that he had as a 20-year old, Ruehs says he'd make the decision to cut hair all over again.

"I've cut hair for four generations of one family, and for whole families of kids, he says. He also has some clients who travel from San Francisco and Denver to have their haircut," he concludes.

Parade begins at Bushnell School and heads south on Amity St. east on Main St. to Monroe St. north on Monroe to Riverside School.
