Hildenbrand recipient of Tylenol Scholarship

Dave Hildenbrand was honored as one of 500 high school seniors nationwide with a $1,000 scholarship from Tylenol. (Locally in association with Family Fare). Hildenbrand will use the money toward his tuition at Michigan State University in the fall. The winners were selected on leadership and scholastic achievement. There were over 40,000 applications tendered. Pictured above, left to right, are Larry Coleman, Family Fare Store Manager; Rose Hildenbrand, Dave Hildenbrand, and Chuck Loyd, sales representative for Consumer Products Company out of Grand Rapids (Tylenol).

Burger King's sidewalk offer seen as a positive move by residents & City Council LDC general contractor Larry Christiansen has presented more projects to City Councils than he can count. Some have probably treaded through some rough waters before earning approval status.

Monday night there was a hint of choppy waters. Seeing this, Christiansen did what he could to calm them and walked away with approval of a zoning request to re-zone lots 26, 27 and 28 of Sweet and Smiths Addition from one family residential to general business.

The request came from Burger King to allow use of off-street parking for the proposed restaurant lots of 27 and 28. The adjoining property to the north (126 S. West) was included in the request for continuity, though not part of the Burger King plan.

The disenchantment from West Street residents, however, did not come from the rezoning, instead it concerned the access drive that would allow Burger King traffic to flow out onto West Street instead of all the traffic dispersing out onto M-21. Burger King, cont'd., pg. 8

City & Township receptive to final water proposal

Mayor James Maatman may have spoken for more than just the City Council Monday night when he declared that the City did not want to negotiate anymore on a water agreement with Lowell Township.

"I don't think we want to negotiate on this anymore -- No, I know we don't want to negotiate on this anymore," Maatman smiled.

All the Councilmen agreed that they wanted the negotiations finished so that the Council could move on.

Then, after careful deliberation, a nine-point proposal to sell water to Lowell Township was approved with just one drawback.

Councilman Jim Hodges asked that a line in point three which reads "The City agrees to non annexation in the water district," be taken out.

"That reads like its meant forever. The fact the Township will be servicing its residents with water takes away the City's threat of annexation," Hodges explained.

Since the two sides last meeting concerning the Lowell Township water issue, Mayor James Maatman, City Manager Dave Pasquale and Lowell Township Supervisor John Timpson have met a couple times over the last month in an attempt to put together a water proposal both sides could agree to.

With the exception of the non annexation clause in point three, the Council approved the way it read.

One of the major stumbling blocks throughout the negotiations has been whether the City would gain revenue over costs with anticipated growth in the Township.

The plan also states during a high demand, which causes water use restriction or sprinkling bans, the Township supply be pro-rated equally with City customers.

Township Board looks for clarification in numbers from recent water agreement proposal

At its Monday night meeting, Lowell Township Supervisor John Timpson went over the nine-point proposal with the Township Board.

Timpson said the Township Board was very receptive to it. The Township did not take any action on the proposal.

"The Township Board wants time to clarify the numbers used to formulate the cost," Timpson said. "It was very receptive to the principal."

He added the Township has no objection to the City making $1.20 on every per thousand gallons sold. "A system making money is a healthy system and we all want a healthy water system."

Timpson expected a clarification no later than Wednesday (July 22). If the clarification is satisfactory to the Township Board then its approval could be voted on at a special meeting on Aug. 3. That is if the City's concerns are also ratified.

lower the number of years it has to pay on the debt.

Point four of the proposal states that there will be no allocation in water usage until 80 percent of the plant's capacity is reached over a year's period of time. At that time remaining allocation and expansion plans will be determined.

and booster pump station by October 1993 and no later than December of 1993.

The proposal goes on to establish a water committee strictly for communication purposes.

The City and Township will have complete access to

Firefighter Sales & Service gets bid

The sign pole bid of City Sign Erectors was withdrawn after it was learned that the company bid on only two flags and holders instead of four.

The School Board also awarded the food service bid (category #38) to Stafford-Smith in the amount of $327,149. That price was $16,400 less than the price originally quoted.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

... in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength... (Isaiah 30:15).

For a week or two each year we live quite primitively in our little summer cottage. Behind it stretches the wide expanse of a field of waving, golden grain. Rabbits and ground squirrels scamper across our yard. Here in the country we find relaxation and escape from the usual hub-bub. We enjoy the quietness and the opportunity for rest and meditation.

Christians, we must find time for prayer and meditation often. We cannot wait for a vacation once a year to do so. It is the enemy's business to make everything else seem of greater importance. Nothing deters us from keeping our dental appointments, our business hours, our social schedules. Yet, we are prone to find excuses for omitting the thing that is most important of all—communion with the Lord.

Secretaries are hired to assist their employers in making and keeping appointments. Each individual is responsible for getting in touch with God. When it comes to prayer and meditation, we must "make our own appointments."

Prayer: Heavenly Father, close my mind to all the distractions of this world. Blot out all confusion. Quiet me before Thee. Let me hear Thy still small voice. In quietness and confidence I shall find the strength I need for this day and those to follow. Amen.

Now, Father, now, in Thy dear presence kneeling. Our spirits yearn to feel Thy kindling love:

Now make us strong, we need Thy deep revealing Of trust and strength and calmness from above.

I wasn't going to write about this particular incident for fear of embarrassing the fifteen-year-old boy involved. But, I heard he was talking about his experience with people at the recent Gus Macker tournament in Belding, so I say, "What the hey?" I won't use the young man's name, kinda' like "Dagnet" ... "Names have been changed to protect the innocent". In the case of Dagnet, I always figured the innocent were being protected from any association with Joe Friday and his sidekick. Dumb program! Dumb program!

So, rather than using his name, my key player this week will be referred to simply as, "the young man who threw up all over my airplane". I figured I might as well let the cat out of the bag early for two reasons. One, there's no way to string this little story together without you guessing the outcome anyway. And two, it gives me the opportunity to tell you folks who are weak of stomach to skip on down to the doctors' column, cause this gets kinda' messy.

The young man who threw up all over my airplane and his father were out for a ride to test the former's driving skills under the auspices of his newly acquired driving permit. I'm sure he wishes he'd simply kept driving, and not listened to his dad when told to stop at my house. "Oops dad, I forgot how to stop this thing" he should have said. I was headed for the airport, and they were offered rides in my old Stearman. The father had been up with me before, so the young man who threw up all over my airplane was elected to go first. Lucky him!

To fully benefit from the tale I'm about to tell, you must first know a little bit about a Stearman. The airplane is a big open cockpit biplane (not biwing! Geez I hate that!) For the purpose of properly appreciating this story, I emphasize the open cockpit aspect of this airplane, plus the tandem (fore and aft) seating with the pilot in the rear seat. They were built during WWII for use as trainers, and most Army and Navy pilots received their primary instruction in one. One of about 9,000 built, mine was delivered to the Army in 1941. It has had a jaded history since, capped off by my purchase two years ago.

As I was strapping the young man who threw up all over my airplane into the front seat, his father said something encouraging like, "Have fun! This is just like those roller coasters you always go on!" I took that as my cue to add a little fun to this flight. The Stearman is fully aerobatic and I relish the chances I get to wing it out a little. Earlier this summer I did three loops with a fella celebrating his seventy-eighth birthday strapped in the front seat. Apparently those old guys have stronger stomachs than the young ones.

This paragraph will give you some insight as to just how stupid I can be. I've known the young man who threw up all over my airplane since he was born. I've been fishing with him in Florida several times, and if I were writing about that, I'd have to refer to him as the young man who threw up over the side of the boat. I knew he had a vertigo problem, forgot it, and was happily thrashing about the sky while he sat quietly in the front seat getting sicker, and sicker and sicker. Dumb me! Dumb Me! Dumb me!

We circled his house, flew over his school, his dad's business and other things I thought might be points of interest for the young man who threw up all over my airplane. Of course, I pointed out the nudist camp as we passed by. All the while I'm doing steep turns, dives and climbs with lots of negative and positive G's. Just what a vertigo sufferer does not need. At one point he said something over my scratchy intercom that I couldn't understand. I asked him to repeat it several times, but it wasn't until we were on the ground that I found out he was trying to tell me he was "woozy". I either have to tone down my flying or buy an intercom that can more clearly transmit words like woozy.

When I suggested we go up to 3,000 feet and do some loops, the young man who threw up all over my airplane said, "Can we just go back? I'm feeling sick". I heard "sick" as plain as day, and couldn't get that airplane headed for the hangar fast enough.

Too late! Ten seconds later the young man who threw up all over my airplane leaned his head out the right side of the cockpit and hurled his supper into the 100 m.p.h. slipstream. The beef barbecue sandwiches and soda pop painted the side of my white airplane a sort of orange color. The windscreen and I got a similar treatment. I had to wipe the stuff off my goggles to be able to fly. Ten seconds later the left side of the airplane, and the left side of my head got a similar treatment. I was immediately amazed by two things. One, was how much fifteen year old boys eat. And two, the fact I didn't toss up whatever I had in my stomach.

Back on the ground, the young man who threw up all over my airplane felt better almost instantly. I felt better when I'd washed up. The three of us washed the airplane, and soon there was no sign that anything had happened. When they left I got busy on a couple of projects. I entered the experience in my log book. I then took measurements and sketched out a design for a pouch in the front cockpit for the express purpose of storing barf bags. Like I said, my Stearman has a jaded history, and I'm certainly not helping matters any.

Dear Editor: I read with interest Marsha Wilcox's political ad in last week's Lowell Ledger. When she stated whom she has received endorsements from she omitted Michigan Republicans for Choice. Is she afraid to let everyone know she has aligned herself with the Pro Choice Movement? Pro-Choice is such a misleading statement, it is the choice of the woman only, what choice does the baby get? God has stated clearly in His word that He knew us when we were in our mother's womb, read Psalm 139. Whenever one makes the self-ish decision to abort (murder) their child they are clearly going against God, A vote for Marsha Wilcox is a vote against God and His principals. Susan Bomers

Thad's thoughts

Ross Perot said he had given his backers everything he had, following his announcement to drop out of the presidential race.

The decision also removed something they all wanted desperately, a third candidate to choose from come the November election.

Some Perot supporters claim they are not angered by his decision, claiming he's doing what's right for the country and that's what his campaign has always been about.

I haven't put in the money most of his volunteers have or the time, but I'm disappointed. The decision means that in this political year, 1992, it will be politics as usual. How boring.

The grass-roots Perot campaign came about because millions of Americans are disenchanted with "politics as usual. So when the multi-millionaire said on the Larry King Show, "register me on all 50 ballots and I will be your candidate," there was an immediate romance there between Perot and the disenchanted. A campaign which would represent their concerns, something the Democrats and Republicans seem incapable of doing anymore.

The idea, the concept intrigued me. Enough so, that I watched him on Larry King, and I stayed up until 1:45 in the morning to listen to him answer question on ABC's "Town Hall" meeting hosted by Peter Jennings. I watched and listened to him for the better part of two hours, take phone calls on the Today Show with Katie Couric. Oh sure, he didn't always have answers, but he wasn't promising me something he had no intention of following through with. People complained that he did not have an economic platform. One of Johnny's last jokes was George Bush has been in office four years and still doesn't have one, why should Perot have to come up with one in four months. Anyhow, what good is a platform, the Democrats and Republicans never followed them. Perot was attractive because he wasn't, or at least not perceived as, your typical lip-service politician.

This election may be much closer than any election we've had in the last three-four presidential elections, but without Perot running, for me, it loses much of its appeal.

I can't say I would definitely have voted for him, but I can't say that I definitely wouldn't have voted for him.

I was hoping that in this, my fourth presidential election, that I would be able to vote for someone instead of voting against someone. Unless one of the two remaining candidates does some heavy duty persuading, I'm not sure that's going to happen.

The last word is Perot's name will remain on the ballots, I guess that's so people have a throw away vote. I suppose with his name on the ballot, he could still be voted in against his will.

Boy, wouldn't that put a charge into things. Instead, the Perot chapter is over and September brings the Republican convention - more "politics as usual."

IRRITABLE BOWEL SYNDROME

Irritable bowel syndrome is one of the most common digestive tract disorders. It affects over 20 million people world-wide, with women being affected about twice as often as men. The syndrome usually begins in young adults and often lasts for years. Irritable Bowel Syndrome is considered to be a chronic disease with symptoms waxing and waning. The cardinal symptom of irritable bowel syndrome is abdominal pain usually located in the lower abdomen.

The pain is often crampy, tending to come and go. Diarrhea and constipation are also seen in those suffering from Irritable Bowel Syndrome, (IBS). There is no underlying pathology of the colon causing IBS, rather a disorder of normal contractile function. The abdominal pain seems to be due to spasm in the lower bowel. Stress seems to play a major role in aggravating symptoms of IBS. Certain foods can also lead to increased cramping, diarrhea and bloating. Your physician usually makes a diagnosis of irritable bowel syndrome after reviewing your symptom history. Often, upper of lower GI x-rays will be obtained to rule out other causes of abdominal pain such as Ulcer Disease, Inflammatory Bowel Disease and gastroesophageal reflux.

each other's financial record and each will design, bid, construct and operate water facilities. If Lowell Township approves of the proposal then a formal agreement can be initiated. Tim McNamara, project engineer from Fishbeck Thompson and Huber estimated that it costs about 90 cents per thousand gallons to treat and deliver water over and above the first 30 million gallons. The net gain equates to $1.20 per thousand gallons. For each Township customer, the system collects (based on 7500 gallons typical residential use) $9 per month over costs. The actual cost would be $63,000 a year for 30 million gallons of water. These excess dollars would be added surplus into the water fund and would help lessen the cost of system improvements to City residents. The proposal calls for 600 acres in Vergennes Township to be serviced. It does not include the industrial area. Councilman Jack Fonger said servicing Vergennes Diet is probably the mainstay of therapy for irritable bowel syndrome. Patients with IBS must increase their intake of fiber or roughage in the diet. These foods tend to help normalize bowel function, reducing symptoms of IBS, and include bran, whole wheat breads, raw fruits, dried fruits, raw vegetables and fruit juices. Other non-pharmacologic means of improving bowel function are to drink plenty of liquids, partake in regular exercise program, like jogging or walking, and to answer the "call of nature" promptly - don't delay your urge for regular bowel movements. When symptoms of IBS flare your physician may prescribe medication to relax the bowel spasms. Many physicians recommend a bulk forming laxative like Metamucil or Citrucel to be taken on a daily basis to prevent a flare-up of symptoms.

Township was not in the plan since it has never been willing to work with the City. Councilman Bill Thompson said while he understood where Fonger was coming from there was a bigger picture to look at. "We cannot risk having our children drinking water from a non-monitored system. In this case I think we must swallow our pride and put aside that difference and look at our responsibility to the kids," Thompson said. Servicing 600 acres in Vergennes Township will provide the City money saving by partnership. There will be more users to share the costs and more users in the future to hold down future costs. It will also help the City

Item #1. ZONING REQUEST FROM BISON REALTY DOING BUSINESS AS BURGER KING RESTAURANTS TO REZONE LOTS 26, 27 AND 28 OF SWEET AND SMITHS ADDITION (126 AND 128 S. WEST) FROM ONE FAMILY RESIDENTIAL (R-2) TO GENERAL BUSINESS (C-2) CONSIDER ENACTMENT OR SET PUBLIC HEARING (7-20). Larry Christiansen, project general contractor for Burger King, presented the proposed Burger King Restaurant site plan to be located at 1120 W. Main. In the plan, an access drive has been proposed to West Street, which would provide a more direct availability to the Valley Vista traffic light through Bowes Road. Also, off street parking on Lots 27 and 28 of Sweet and Smiths Addition (128 S. West St.) has been furnished.

Through a legal opinion from City Attorney Richard Wendt, it was determined that the access drive across residentially zoned property is permissible without rezoning or a variance. But the off-street parking request requires rezoning from One Family Residential (R-2) to General Business (C-2) because it constitutes a land use change. For continuity, Lot 26 (126 S. West) was included in the request though it is not part of the proposed development. At the June 22 Planning Commission meeting comments were received from the neighboring residents primarily concerned about the anticipated traffic increase on West Street. The Commission unanimously recommended that the rezoning be approved. It was determined that the objections from the residents center on the drive not the parking. The Planning Commission also unanimously approved the site plan for the Burger King development. Councilmembers Hodges and Green noted that a public hearing regarding the rezoning was reported in the Ledger as being scheduled. Further, it was felt that the Council should be attentive to neighborhood concerns. IT WAS MOVED BY HODGES and seconded by GREEN to establish a public hearing on July 20, 1992 to consider the zoning request from Bison Realty doing business as Burger King Restaurants to rezone Lots 26, 27 and 28 of Sweet and Smiths Addition (126 and 128 S. West) from One Family Residential (R-2) to General Business (C2).

Item #2. LIBRARY SUMMER HOURS. City Manager Pasquale explained that the Council has received a request from the Kent County Library System to have a 15% reduction in hours per week during the summer months of July and August in an effort to reduce staff demands due to increased book circulation. Jane Aronson, Branch Librarian, has proposed a closure of the facility during Saturdays (currently opened from 12:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.) It was noted that ordinarily those using the library on Saturdays are approximately half the patrons utilizing the facility on each of the other days opened (Monday, Wednesday and Friday) Mayor Maatman stated his approval of the cutback in hours but with some very strong language that the Council is not very pleased with the action.

Councilmember Hodges stated Saturday hours are important with working parents and single parent families especially during the school year. To shorten the hours decreases the availability of the public to retrieve ordered items. But, he reluctantly agreed with the request only for July and August of 1992.

IT WAS MOVED BY HODGES and seconded by GREEN to approve the closing of the Lowell Library on Saturdays during the summer months of July and August 1992 with strong City Council reservations.

Item #3. GEOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION SYSTEM (GIS) AGREEMENT WITH KENT COUNTY DEFERRED FROM APRIL 20 MEETING. As mentioned previously, County and municipal officials have been studying the needs for establishing a Geographical Information System (GIS). This system would provide computerized mapping for a range of activities such as utilities, streets and zoning. The City staff has been currently reviewing proposals to initiate such a system, focusing on cemetery mapping.

In the interest to coordinate G.I.S. mapping on a county wide basis, City Manager Pasquale recommended that the City contribute $558 to perform a needs assessment. From the April City Council meeting, several questions were raised by the Council. Pasquale provided the following:

- a. Does the payment of funds toward the needs assessment obligate the City for further funding? No, from Harvey Hubers, Deputy County Surveyor (GIS coordinator)
 - b. How many Kent County communities have approved funding for the needs assessment? Five cities, nine townships along with Michigan Consolidated Gas, Consumers Power and the Kent Intermediate School District.
- A video tape on G.I.S. was presented at the meeting. Councilmember Hodges questioned what the total program cost would be. Pasquale responded part of the study is to determine how much the total program will cost each municipality. Councilmember Fonger questioned if the City of Lowell is large enough for G.I.S. Pasquale responded the City of Lowell would benefit from this program in terms of sharing information with other Kent County communities on utilities and land use. It is a tool that helps staff and Council on decision making.

IT WAS MOVED BY HODGES and seconded by GREEN that the City contribute to Kent County toward the hiring of a consultant in the amount of $588 to perform a needs assessment for a county-wide Geographic Information System.

Item #4. CONSIDERATION OF ADDED ENGINEERING FEES REGARDING THE 1991 STREET IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM. City Manager Pasquale explained as deferred from the June 15 meeting, OMM Engineering has requested $4803.29 in added engineering costs for the S. Monroe, Kent, Avery and Lafayette streets improvement program. Phillip Vogelsang of OMM was present itemize the costs. He explained the snowfall in November prevented the contractors from completing the contract in the 1991 construction season. The conditions were too cold to do final asphalt work. Councilmember Fonger stated when these projects run over it is very costly for the City. Then, the City is responsible for the extra charges. Vogelsang responded on the design phase of the project $7500 was charged. OMM covered the cost overruns. However, when Construction started, the firm was subject to weather conditions. Councilmember Hodges stated he had difficulty supporting the entire bill. He suggested that a committee of the Council meet with OMM to recommend a settlement of costs. The Councilmembers by consensus concurred. Mayor Maatman and Councilmember Hodges would meet as Council representatives. The Council decided to defer the item until the July 20 meeting.

Item #5. CITIZENS COMMENTS. Clark Jahnke, 905 E. Main, stated the Council was assured the asphalt contract (concerning the Kent-Monroe-Lafayette-Avery project) could be completed before the winter season started. The rate was lower because the contractor wanted that to fill the last few weeks of the season. The contractor took his chances by taking a job that late in the season.

Item #6. COUNCIL COMMENTS. Councilmember Green asked what the City's policy is on notification of zoning public hearings for the Planning Commission and Council meetings. City Manager Pasquale responded that all property owners within 300 feet of the subject property are notified. In addition, the public hearing is advertised in the paper.

Item #7. CITY MANAGER'S REPORT. City Manager Pasquale reported on the following:
A. The minutes of the Planning Commission from the May 26 and June 3 meetings were presented.
B. The Council will hold its final hearing on the James Street special assessment district for water and street improvements on July 20. At that time bids will be received for construction. The project should proceed in August.
C. The Look Memorial Committee is continuing to review an application from the Lowell Area Historical Association to renovate the second floor of the Graham Building for storage and office space.
D. Hardee's Restaurant will be re-opening soon.

Item #8. APPOINTMENTS. Mayor Maatman reappointed the following positions for three year terms ending June 30, 1995:

Kevin Smith	Planning Commission
Brian Brown	Planning Commission
Norm Borgerson	Board of Light and Power
Jim Wood	Board of Review

The largest denomination bill now being issued is the $100, but bills worth as much as $10,000 are believed still to be in private hands.

Tami Bailey, 127 S. West St., expressed concern for the children on West Street. "West Street has no sidewalks, kids must walk to Bowes Road to catch the bus, there will be more trucks coming down our road, this puts the safety of the kids in question," Bailey said. "Is Burger King so big it can't understand the concerns of the people in this town."

After hearing Bailey's concerns and hearing a Council that was empathetic with her concerns, Christiansen finished his public hearing presentation by saying Burger King would be willing to pay for the residents share, through the City sidewalk program, to run sidewalk south of the access drive all the way to Bowes Road and north to Main Street (M-21).

A three-year City sidewalk program that was completed approximately a year ago, offered to pay half the resident's costs with the resident paying the other half or having it assessed on the owners taxes over a five-year period.

"That's a real positive move on behalf of Burger King," Lowell Councilman Bill Thompson said.

Bailey was even pleased by the extra step the fast food restaurant was willing to take. "That helps alleviate a lot of my concern about children having to walk on the street with all the extra traffic. My main concern throughout all of this has been the children."

The West Street resident still saw some problems even with the sidewalk. "With the new sidewalk, property value will increase, property taxes will go up, with the access road, traffic will go up but our property value, as far as selling the home, will decrease. The Council made it clear that legally it could not stop Burger King from putting in the access road."

The Council approved the off-street parking, citing by denying it, it would defeat the safety purposes.

Lowell Police Chief Barry Emmons presented a traffic study as to the number of accidents on West Street from January of 1990 through July 13, 1992. The study showed there were five accidents on West Street. The number of accidents on M-21 between Center Street and Valley Vista was 62.

In another study presented by Emmons, it showed that the average speed on West Street was between 25-29 miles per hour. There were 18 vehicles southbound on West Street to eastbound Bowes Road. There were seven vehicles south bound on West Street to westbound Bowes Road. There were

James Street special assessment term established by City Council

Although it wasn't put in concrete, Lowell City Manager Dave Pasquale said it looked as if the asphalt prices for the James Street improvement project could provide a substantial savings to residents from what was originally thought.

Lowell's City Council adopted a resolution which conforms the assessment roll and established the term of the special assessment (10 years), beginning July 1, 1993 accruing seven percent interest. The unpaid special assessment installments will begin accruing Jan. 1, 1993.

Based on the low asphalt bid received, the cost would be $1.89 per lineal foot rather than the $3.20 per lineal foot previously estimated. Pasquale warned that there is a possibility that costs could increase once construction commences.

The Lowell City Manager recommended that the special assessment cost for each property remain as is. "These can be adjusted downward without additional hearings after the project has been completed," he said. "This will be well before the first assessment payments are due for asphalt."

Since the water main costs were higher than estimated, an adjustment had to be made for 433 James St. (Gladys Brandt) from $7.33 per lineal foot to $8.75. Thus, the cost would be $2,100 for the property, a $341 increase. Pasquale said with the 16 vehicles eastbound on Bowes Road to northbound West Street and there were five vehicles westbound on Bowes to Northbound West St.

The traffic study was done July 4 from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. on South West Street.

The Planning Commission recommended that the re-zoning be approved back on June 22. At its July 6 meeting, the Lowell City Council set a public hearing for July 20.

Christiansen said Burger King's open house is scheduled for the fourth week in September.

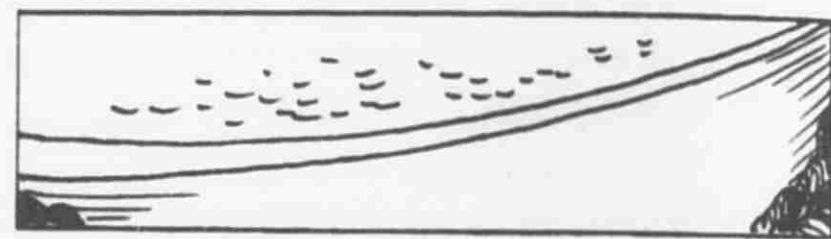

unanticipated savings on the price of the asphalt, the two may just balance out.

Along with the new water main, the improvement will consist of re-paving the street (capping it). The new asphalt will cover 20 feet in width.

The hydrants scheduled to be activated on James Street will be snubbed until the high pressure district is created on Grindle.

French meals a growing experience for Lowell's Bliss

Following her 10-month stay in France Heidi Bliss has two recommendations.

1. If you have an opportunity to be an exchange student in any country - do it.
2. If you want to assure yourself a good first impression of the French people, be able to speak French when you arrive.

"The fun and the growing experience far outweighed any difficulties I may have had," Bliss said.

The Lowell senior left on Aug. 20 of 1991 and returned from Poitiers, France on July 2 of 1992.

She learned knowing the language adheres you to the French people. "If you know the language they are a lot more friendly and open with you," Bliss recalls.

She adds that many Americans go there believing everyone will speak English. "In reality, many don't," Bliss said.

TOWN TALK

Are you disappointed or happy that Ross Perot dropped out of the Presidential race? Who do you think the Perot supporters will turn to now?

Wilbur Keckler

I was disappointed. I thought Perot represented a change of pace of the United States. He was down to earth. He said what he thought was best for the United States no matter whose feelings he hurt. Listening to the convention it sounds like a lot will go to Clinton. I don't know how they will divide up.

Dave Thomas

I'm disappointed. I would have voted for him, not because I thought he would have made a good president, but as a protest vote. I think he stood a good chance of being elected. I'm tired of the status quo. I think his followers will split evenly between President Bush and Clinton.

Melody Dryer

I don't because I haven't followed it closely. I think he was just a rich millionaire trying to get some recognition. I think his followers will go with whoever appears to be the winning ticket.

Mary Mendez

I'm happy he dropped out. I didn't like what he had to say. I hope and think his supporters will go to Clinton.

Dale Fosburg

I'm happy he dropped out. He has everything. He doesn't need the money or anything. His supporters will probably vote for Clinton because people want President Bush out of there.

Bob DeGreen

I'm unhappy Perot dropped out. We needed someone in there to shake the establishment. I think his followers will split 50-50 between President Bush and Clinton.

Marlene Marshall

It didn't matter one way or the other to me. My husband Gordon would be happy. I think they will probably vote for President Bush.

Bobbie Hobbs

I'm kind of glad he did quit. I wasn't for him. I think his money was talking and he wanted to be in the limelight. I think many of his supporters will vote for Clinton. I hope they vote for President Bush.

mid. The Lowell senior used drivers as an example. Many bus drivers don't speak English. Communicating with them depends on your ability to speak French.

The Lowell senior carried two years of French with her across the ocean. She was still barely able to speak the language, it took Bliss a large amount of time to form sentences. It wasn't so much speaking the language as much as it was understanding at the speed in which it was annunciated.

Bliss' trip to France was arranged by the American Swedish Student Exchange.

"My family had an exchange student when I was young and I thought it was a neat thing to do," Bliss states.

After arriving Bliss spent a week in language camp. "It took six months before I was able to speak and understand the speed the French were conversing," she says.

One of the major differences Heidi had to adjust to was the school day. In France students attend school from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

In France though, there is no after-school life. "There are no football games to go to on Friday night. They have sports but all of them are at the club level and they are not competitive."

"Working hard in school and grades are important in France. I think there are more students who work harder than in America," Bliss said. "There are also a lot fewer cliques. Students are more open."

Bliss said school was more difficult in France, in part because of the language barrier, but also because French schools are more demanding. She added that students dress though is far more conservative. "Everyone dresses the same. It's pretty much jeans, T-shirts and/or a V-neck sweater."

Another adjustment was dinners on the weekends or when company visited. Bliss said in the United States it's 30-40 minutes and dinner is over with, in France it is a 2-3 hour happening.

"Meals play a large part in the life of the French. Dinners are more of a course," Bliss explains. "You sit down and drinks are served, then there is fish, followed by the meat, the salad and cheese and finally the dessert. I had to learn to pace myself, otherwise your ready for dinner to end long before it's over. However, the cuisine is wonderful."

During her stay, her cuisine repertoire expanded. Bliss is now an avid connoisseur of escargot.

DENTAL INSURANCE COVERAGE
Question: My company is going to provide dental insurance. What dental services are normally covered by such a policy?

Answer: All dental insurance programs are not the same. Still, most cover a wide range of basic services, usually for both the employee and his family. These generally include examinations, X-rays, professional cleaning, fillings, crowns, root canal treatment, extractions, other types of oral surgery, and periodontal treatment (for diseases of the gums and tooth-supporting bone). Some dental plans also cover dentures, fixed and removable bridges and orthodontic care. Dentistry for strictly cosmetic reasons is not normally covered.

Lowell Cheerleaders tops at 4-day event

When all the cheering fell silent, only one of the 13 schools participating in the Universal Cheerleading Association four-day competition at Central Michigan University was lauded for its overall effort.

The Lowell basketball varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders both earned firsts in just their second year of competing.

"The improvement the girls showed from the first to the fourth day was incredible," Lowell coach Christine Beachler said. "While many girls used free time in the evening to have fun, our girls were practicing."

The competition was held

July 14-17.

The 13 schools were judged on spirit, enthusiasm, entrance, formation, synchronization, overall effect and arm and leg positioning.

Cheerleaders, continued...

The team competitions were in cheering and sideline. Individual competitions were held in jumping and dance.

In the jump competition Lowell's Molly Byrne took a first and Jody Hoffman was second. Hoffman also placed second in the dance competition.

Only firsts were announced the team competitions. Lowell placed first in cheering. Lowell's Karla Carpenter and Molly Byrne were named the five-member All-Star squad.

"Molly also made the team this year," Beachler said. Byrne, Carpenter and Heather Todd were the only three girls Lowell returned on last year.

This year's varsity squad had three girls who did not have any previous experience. They were Sara Lesky, Molly Bauman and Tracy Meeuwesen.

"Last year we were intimidated by some of the other schools," Beachler said. "This year school's seemed to be intimidated by us. Our girls' execution was very good."

Beachler also pointed to the leadership of Byrne, Carpenter and Todd as a key to the team's success.

"I wasn't surprised Byrne and Carpenter made the All-Star team. They have both cheered for four years," Beachler explained.

Carpenter and Byrne both will have the opportunity to attend and participate in the West Minster Parade in London Dec. 26 through Jan. 2.

Lowell's varsity team was made up of 11 cheerleaders. They were Todd, Carpenter, Byrne, Kathy Craig, Lesky, Lisa Allchin, Hoffman, Angie Zamarron, Andie Richmond, Bauman and Tracy Meeuwesen.

Jeon, The Golden Dragon, brings strength & success to Lowell

The Golden Dragon represents strength and success in the Chinese culture.

Tae G. Jeon, owner of the new Golden Dragon Restaurant, scheduled to open up the first week in August, hopes that same representation will be affixed to his new restaurant.

The Peking style Chinese restaurant, will be located at 11656 E. Fulton (formerly Bobbi's Restaurant). It will be open six days a week, Monday through Saturday. A lunch buffet will be served from 11:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. Dinner will be served from 3 until 9:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday and until 10:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Customers will also have the option of sit down or carry out.

"I've been looking for a place for 2-3 years," Jeon explains. "Now, I've found the right one."

Tae has been involved in the Chinese restaurant business for 20 years. "I'm not nervous or anxious about this. I've been in the business 20 years. I know what I'm doing. If this was my first time, maybe then I would be."

The restaurant business-man points to quality food, the right price, and the best service as to reasons why the Golden Dragon Restaurant will be successful.

The Golden Dragon Restaurant first came to West Michigan in 1975 when it opened its doors in Grand Rapids. "It started in a building smaller than this one," Jeon said. "I chose Lowell because it was a small, clean, quiet town and the people are nice."

Jeon is looking for area waitresses, waiters and bus-boys. He will also benefit from the assistance of his wife, Sung Jeon. He also believes the chef, Cho Yong Sik's 10 years of experience will bode well for the business.

The Golden Dragon is the oldest Chinese restaurant in Grand Rapids.

Jeon said thought would be given to expanding in a year. "We have room for expansion from a few different directions. A liquor license will also be considered down the road."

Tae G. Jeon will open the Golden Dragon in August.
