Developers review planning commission recommendations; Now prepare for site plan with engineers

With Highland Hills Developer Dick Bryan in attendance, the Lowell Planning Commission reviewed the conditions that must be met before approval by the Planning Commission would be considered.

The list of recommendations came from a Highland Hills Condominium project review on Sept. 9.

After reviewing the list, Bryan told the Commission that both he and his partner in the development, Gary Glownia could go along with the list of requirements.

Bryan's only suggestion was that he believed it would behoove the Commission to formulate a private road ordinance.

The Commission's recommendation for the development calls for the installation of concrete sidewalks with a minimum of 3' parkway (green area between the street and the walk). The sidewalks are to be placed from Grindle on the north, the east and south side of the main road to High Street and on opposite sides of driveways on the cul-de-sac.

Bryan and Glownia originally requested they be able to replace concrete with asphalt. The request was turned down.

Road recommendations from the Commission include that it be asphalted to City specifications. This would require that the road be 24' wide including the rolled curb (valley gutter) with storm drain locations and hydrant placement. The Commission stated that the roads can be constructed with a base coat of asphalt per phase with a time limit.

The Planning Commission went to Lowell Light and Power Superintendent Paul Christman for a recommendation on the lighting.

Christman recommended that developers consider the installation of pole top lights at the entrance to the development, at the road intersections, and along the streets where only one side of the street has condominium houses built.

The Lowell Light and Power Superintendent said there are about 12 locations in the development where, he believes, these lights should be placed. "The additions of this lighting would certainly add the degree of security afforded home owners in the development," Christman said.

The water and sewer for the development site shall be installed throughout the project and on High Street for hook up on the existing system at James Street. High Street will be brought back to existing grade and asphalted

City Council approves water main work

The water main work on Division and Shepard Streets will serve as an extension of the Grindle Drive water main project.

Lowell's City Council approved the installation of a 220' section of eight inch main on Division Street (from the Grindle Drive intersection south) which would assist in looping the water system.

The Council was reminded that as a part of the Grindle project, the Grindle water main would be extended up Shepard Drive to the booster station, allowing for a high pressure district.

Also, the okay was given on a request to install a tee on the Grindle water main at the top of the hill. This will allow for a shut off of a smaller section of the main when the system is eventually taken down the Grindle hill. The cost for this will be $250.

The Division Street water main project will cost a total of $4,510. The work will be completed by Ken Shaler and Son Excavating.

Lowell City Manager Dave Pasquale noted that the project was previously identified in the water system master plan.

Rotary sponsored drive takes 53 pints of blood

The Lowell Rotary and the Grand Valley Blood Program took in 53 pints of blood at their Lowell Community Blood Drive on Wednesday.

Of the 62 donors who signed up, 53 donated a pint of blood.

Anyone who was in good health, at least 17 years old and weighed more than 100 pounds, was allowed to donate blood. A donor can donate blood every 56 days.

The Grand Valley Blood Program is the sole supplier of blood and blood components to patients in Kent County Hospitals. Again this year approximately 35,000 pints of blood will be needed for major surgery, trauma cases and in treatment of diseases.

The blood drive was sponsored by the Lowell Rotary Club and the Grand Valley Blood Program.

Lowell's Annual Blood Drive took in 53 pints of blood on Wednesday, Sept. 30.

Famous Lowell novelist, Swarthout passes away at the age of 74

Glendon Swarthout, a 1935 Lowell High School graduate, and author of The Shootist and Bless the Beast and the Children, died at his home, Wednesday, September 23, 1992, he was 74.

Swarthout suffered from emphysema. The Michigan native wrote more than 20 novels, as well as numerous short stories, plays and film scripts.

He is survived by his son, Miles Swarthout and by his wife and sometime co-author, Kathryn (Blair Vaughn) Swarthout, who he married in 1940.

Other more notable novels written by Swarthout included: The Homesman, They Came to Cordura, Where the Boys Are, The Cadillac Cowboys.

Of the authors who lived in Lowell for a number of years, Swarthout is the best known and most prolific writer. He uses Lowell as the setting for several of his works.

Born in Pinckney, MI, April 18, 1918, he used the years spent there as a background for one of his most appealing stories, The Melodeon, published in 1977.

He used his experiences during the depression years in The Button Boat, written with his wife Kathryn, and published in 1969. In Welcome to Thebes, published in 1962, he strongly painted events and people in an autobiographical catharsis with a touch of revenge. In Loveland, from the Main Street of Lowell, during the depression days, he launches into a high schooler's wild summer in Charlevoix.

Maude Lee may have encouraged his early writing efforts; later she would ask his critical help for her stories. From a chapter in Welcome to Thebes, it is probable that Rem Jefferies provided inspiration from his office at The Lowell Ledger.

He was educated at the University of Michigan from 1935 to 1939 and knew and may have lived with Howard Peckham, another Lowell author, part of the time. He uses the Peckham name and the Cutter factory they operated in Lowell, but transported to a New York setting, in Cadbury's Coffin, written with his wife and published in 1982.

In the early years of World War II he worked at the Willow Run Bomber Factory, which turned out a B-24 each day, and had his first novel, Willow Run, published in 1943. Heavy panning by the critics would delay his next novel for 15 years.

By 1944, he was in the Army, assigned to the U.S. 3rd Division as a casualty replacement fighting at Anzio, before his writing experience secured a transfer to headquarters to write accounts of the actions of soldiers nominated for the Medal of Honor. Men of the 3rd Division were awarded 39 medals in their campaigns from North Africa through Italy to Bavaria.

After discharge, he returned to the University of Michigan as a teaching fellow, securing his Masters in 1946 and became an Associate Professor of English at Michigan State University from 1951-59, earning his doctorate in 1955. His wife was teaching at the Red Cedar Elementary school in East Lansing during this latter period.

Correction

In the Sept. 23 edition of the Lowell Ledger it was incorrectly stated that the Lowell Board of Education approved the admission of eight schools into the OK Conferences. That did not happen the item was tabled. The Ledger apologizes for any inconvenience this may have caused.

Life in early West Michigan celebrated during "Pioneer Days"

The annual "Pioneer Days at Fallasburg Village" will be held in the village of Fallasburg on Saturday, Oct. 10 and Sunday, Oct. 11 this year, according to Priscilla Lussmyer, president of the Fallasburg Historical Society.

The festival, which celebrates life in early West Michigan, is a family event recreating aspects of pioneer life for people first-hand. Visitors are encouraged to interact with the "settlers," many of whom are artisans happy to discuss the lives of early pioneers and demonstrate some of their skills, including "dowsing," the art of locating underground water and buried foundations.

Lussmyer is encouraged by the number of vendors who say they'll be on hand to demonstrate pioneer crafts and sell their wares.

"We encourage vendors to offer goods with a 19th century flavor," said Lussmyer. "And besides this display of early craftsmanship, we'll also demonstrate a 19th century baseball game."

Grand Rapids City Historian Gordon Olson plans to attend with his Kent Base Ball Club of Grand Rapids, a group of players who recreate Grand Rapids' original 1867 team.

Olson and the Club travel West Michigan and Ohio demonstrating how changes in baseball have reflected change in society since Abner Doubleday invented baseball in 1839.

The game will be played by 1867 rules, which, among other things, allow fielders to catch fly balls on the first bounce, and encourage the umpire to fine players for swearing or spitting. The Kent Base Ball Club will take on the Fallasburg Farmers at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday.

"The weekend's events are designed to serve two functions," continued Lussmyer. "We want to show people how our forefathers lived, but even more important is to make people aware of our efforts to save these buildings."

The Fallasburg Historical Society recently re-dedicated itself to preserving the village of Fallasburg for its unique historical value. No area with as many original pre-Civil War structures exists in the state of Michigan. Founded in 1837, Fallasburg became a thriving little village by the 1860's. However, when the railroads by-passed the town for Lowell, development ground to a halt and many residents moved on. This left much of Fallasburg frozen in a sort of antebellum age for more than 100 years.

The Society, a registered not-for-profit group, recently won a portion of Kent County's hotel/motel tax. This grant will allow the Society to receive nearly $300,000 in possible matching funds. The group must raise $1.5 million to insure the village's long-term preservation.

with rolled curb and sidewalks on the south side to James Street. This will be done at the owners' expense. The Commission said the feasibility of directing sanitary and storm sewer directly to M-21 will be reviewed.

The Commission is also requesting the location and sizes of all signs, a schedule of all phases of the project, a list of plantings per unit as suggested by landscaper, a designated area set aside for common use, a letter of credit must be provided to cover public improvements, and a sample copy of the master deed will be required.

The next step will be for the condominium developers to sit down with their engineers and have a site plan drawn up.

You can use!

REDUCING CAVITIES BY 65%

Question: Just how effective is fluoride in preventing dental decay?

Answer: Studies have shown that the addition of a small amount of fluoride to the water supply (about 1 part per million) can reduce cavities by as much as 65%. Fluoride is the single most effective element we have today for preventing tooth decay.

There are other methods of applying fluoride to the teeth, such as: topical application at your dentist's office; at-home application of fluoride gel; fluoride mouth rinses; fluoride tablets; and brushing with accepted fluoride toothpaste. But, as a whole, fluoridated water has been proven to be the most effective and simplest application. It's use is safe and supported by virtually all health organizations in the world.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

... ye shall be witnesses unto me... (Acts 1:8).

The host at the convention we were attending gave a welcoming speech and then discussed the badges we had been given. "We ask you to wear these identification badges so that people will know you're in town for this special occasion," he said.

He urged each of us to write his (or her) name and address on the card, slip it inside the plastic folder, and wear the badge where it could be easily seen. When the residents of the city saw these badges, they would quickly ascertain our affiliation with the convention group.

The Christian possesses a greater identification tag than a badge of plastic or celluloid. It is the spirit of Christ radiating from one's life. This is expressed through the spiritual fruit one expresses—love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, humility, and self-control. One's conversation also bears witness to the indwelling presence of the Holy Spirit.

The Christian is God's ambassador, acting in Christ's stead. His representative is expected to minister to those in need, to publish the glad tidings of salvation, and to be an example for others to follow. These possessions make up his "identification tag."

Prayer: Dear Lord, possess me with Thy presence until Thy Holy Spirit radiates clearly from my life. Make me to bear the fruit of Thy Spirit so others may know to whom I belong. Let me be identified with Thee. Amen.

And from your eyes He beckons me,
And from your heart His love is shed,
Till I lose sight of you—and see
The Christ instead.

Letters

Dear Editor,

On the front page of the Aug. 26, 1992 issue of the Ledger, you show a cruiser, very badly damaged.

In the Sept. 2, 1992 issue you had a letter to the editor asking residents to applaud the response of the local authority.

Before anyone should begin to put their hands together I feel that a few more questions should be asked and answered.

How many people can believe that this attack on authority can come unprovoked?

Could the provocation come from incompetence? Should the police have gone to the place of the incident? Could something have been said or done to set this man off by those that displayed authority? Was there a need for the confrontation?

As an employer, of the local authority, I would expect that they would stay within the local operating area, with the exception of emergency aid such as fire and life support, in which they have my blessing, and I'm sure that of many others, if not all that employ them. Another situation that would be acceptable would be "hot pursuit."

We have heard of hind sight and we have heard of vision. What is the difference, amateur/professional? Keeping this in mind, let us look at this again.

When the car was found and considered in violation would it not have been better to have the dog taken care of by the animal control experts of Kent County and have the car impounded? Then the owner would have to deal with the consequences of his actions at a later time.

Were the officers involved authorized to operate outside the City limits? If they were not deputized by the Kent County Sheriff's Department they should not have even thought about going out of the City limits for this.

College News

Ann Marie Townsend received a scholarship to the 1993 summer session of the Knottcrest Music Camp held at Calvin College.

Townsend was one of only nine students awarded this honor which was based on the recommendation of the faculty members at Calvin College. She attended the 1992 camp on a half scholarship from the Lowell Middle School Instrumental Music Department.

Townsend is the daughter of Bob and Peggy Townsend.

Stephen Lenger, of Lowell, received the Dean's Scholarship at Taylor University for the 1992-93 school year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fredric Lenger and is a graduate of Lowell High School. He is a junior at Taylor.

To be eligible for the Dean's Scholarship, a student must meet minimum standards that include a SAT verbal score of 450, a composite SAT score of 1100, and a high school class rank in the top fifteen percent. Taylor renews the scholarship if Lenger maintains a 3.0 grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

Taylor University annually awards over $3,000,000 in financial aid.

Taylor University is a Christian Liberal Arts institution based in Upland, IN.

Cozy Corner by Roger Brown

I left you last week with a promise to wrap up the saga of the ill-fated trek in my antique biplane to the National Stearman Fly-in in Galesburg, Illinois. You'll have to settle for a short list of excuses instead. I feel a little like H. Ross Perot with all the weaving, dodging and ducking he's been doing. At least I don't look like him.

I came in to work early this Tuesday morning. Tuesday is press day for the Ledger, and, as is typical of everything I do, I put off writing this column until the last minute. If I get started at about 6 a.m., I can usually have my weekly offering hammered out before this place gets to jumping. It's tough to concentrate or be creative while fielding cold-calls from low life investment brokers.

I arrived on schedule, but found a new disk in my computer. I was horrified! Look up computer illiterate in your Funk & Wagnalls. You'll see a picture of me alongside the definition.

I left last week's column in the hands of the proofreaders and typesetters and went off to do my salesman thing. Apparently, and mind you, this is only conjecture from Mr. Computer Illiteracy, my old disk was full of data, or text. You know it as the garbage I write each week. Anyway, my guess is, after they made their corrections, they were unable to save it on my old floppy disk. So, they made me a new one. This was great, except for one thing... I couldn't make the new one work. I tried linking, saving, placing, serving, clearing, selecting and copying. I worked my way through all the options except the last one, smashing. That's when you go out back to the print shop, find the biggest hammer they've got, and you-know-what.

After about an hour and a half of frustration, I finally ended up in a workable file where I could bang out these excuses. Only a power greater than me knows how I did it. Of course, when it comes to computers, a cocker spaniel is a power greater than me.

Next week I promise to finish the biplane story. I have a selfish purpose in finishing that story. I want to weave those columns into one article. Massage it to the best of my ability and submit it to various aviation magazines. Oh no, I don't have any hopes of having it published, I just want to frame the rejection letters and give them as Christmas gifts to all the people who've told me I ought to try!

A NEW TREATMENT FOR PROSTATE DISEASE

Recently, the FDA approved the use of a new medication for the treatment of benign prostatic hypertrophy in the United States.

Benign prostatic hypertrophy (BPH) is a common condition afflicting men over the age of 50. As we age our prostate gland gradually enlarges, eventually causing obstruction of the urethra (the urine tube leading out from the bladder). Symptoms of prostate hypertrophy are frequent urination, difficulty starting urination, frequent awakening at night to urinate and a reduced stream during urination. Most men will not experience symptoms until the prostate gland has enlarged enough to cause significant obstruction.

If you are experiencing obstructive voiding symptoms your doctor will usually perform a rectal examination to feel the size of the gland. Frequently, a bladder x-ray (called an IVP) is ordered or a cystoscopy is performed. Cystoscopy is direct visualizations of the outflow tract performed by a urologist by inserting a small scope into the penis.

Once symptoms are bad enough to cause voiding problems the urologist would usually recommend a surgical procedure called a TURP (transurethral resection of the prostate) to remove the enlarged prostate. This operation is one of the most common operations performed on adult men. It is done in the hospital and usually involves a hospital stay of two to three days.

The new medication released recently is called Proscar and it acts to decrease the size of the prostate gland without surgery. The medication has to be taken indefinitely to maintain the reduced size of the prostate but it seems to be effective in delaying and possibly preventing surgery in some cases. The new medication is taken once daily and side effects seem to be minimal. Because the drug can affect the PSA value (a common test for detecting early prostate cancer) this test should be performed at regular intervals to detect any significant changes. Although it is still too early to tell, this promising new drug may change the way we treat prostate hypertrophy.

The forest became unusually quiet as two men walked into the Amazon rain forest. One of the men pointed to a great Kapok tree and left. The other man began to cut down the tree with an ax. Tired after a time of whacking at the tree, the man sat down to rest, but with the heat of the forest and his tiredness, he fell asleep.

It is then that the forest drama begins. The forest animals and insects come whispering to the sleeping man and each pleads his case for not cutting down the rain forest.

"Senor, don't chop it down, all living things depend on one

Thad's thoughts

I share with you a hodge podge of thoughts: Tired of the Presidential race and the political ads on television yet?

It should only get worse over the next four weeks. Afterall, Ross ("I've got more $1,000 bills than you've got pennies") Perot will be cluttering the airwaves with commercials, ranging from 30 seconds to 30 minutes. Somebody needs to tell him that other than his campaign staff there isn't anybody listening to him. He had his chance and quit, that said more about him than any 30 minute commercial can.

The first of three debates will get underway on Oct. 11. Governor Bill Clinton holds a double digit lead over President Bush. It seems to me, thus far, the race is his to win. Unless of course he pulls a Michael Dukakis.

Does Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz and Ross Perot bear some resemblance to each other?

Sinead O'Connor has shocked the public again. She ripped up a picture of Pope John Paul on Saturday Night Live, added a derogatory remark, and then walked off stage. Do you suppose when they clipped her hair they went a little deeper than the scalp.

I got a chance to read some of the lyrics of the very popular

SO WHERE'S THE BEEF?

In a recent article that crossed my desk, a noted Columbia University professor was of the opinion that the popular use of property taxes to finance public education was "...beyond all doubt the worst method of financing education known to civilization." He further noted that because one tract of land was better than the next, that some kids got a better start in life than others and that we must overhaul our educational methods and make more intelligent financial provisions for financing public education. The last line of the article read: "It's 1934. The time has surely come for serious thoughts of school finance reform." It's 58 years later, we are still looking for "a real school finance reform bill" to reduce the burden on property taxes and neither Proposals A or C will do the job!

Since 1972, voters have considered school finance reform proposals on six different statewide ballots and each has failed. True school finance reform will cost money if relief on property taxes is achieved. That means an alternative source of funds has to be made available to maintain current school programs. That's also true for cities, villages and townships.

Proposals A and C on the November ballot have some pros and cons. While the reduction of property taxes and the limitation of future tax increases is a pro for both proposals, fiscal chaos for schools, cities, villages and some townships is definitely a con. Proposal C is definitely more damaging than A, but neither address the 1934 demand for school (or municipal) finance reform. While Michigan ranks 26th in over-all tax burden even with our heavy reliance on property taxes, Michigan residents enjoy the fourth lowest sales tax rate in the U.S.

Both proposals promise to "make school districts whole" for dollars lost through property tax reduction, but those dollars will come from the same pot that underfunded in-formula school districts this year. Even the projections of the Senate Fiscal Agency, which is an independent agency, predicts a $781 million deficit in the Michigan State Treasury by 1994 and that the State cannot afford either proposal. In other words, there is no guaranteed state aid for in-formula school districts like Lowell, nor for revenue sharing dollars for cities, villages and townships.

So WHERE'S THE BEEF? There isn't enough in the State Treasury to finance either proposal more than one year even at a conservative 5 percent increase in revenue into the State coffers. In addition, neither proposal has anything to do with altering the methods of financing public schools nor making up the difference for loss of municipal revenue sharing programs.

The real beef will come when the local taxpayer finds that he/she is asked to approve additional mills just to maintain basic services of the school district, city, or township. The real beef will also come when the local taxpayer realizes that the school district has automatically raised the debt service millage to make up a deficit caused by the 3 percent limit on SEV increases. The real beef will come when young families with limited income buy a house just like the one next door and then discover that they pay more taxes than their neighbor because the SEV was allowed to be adjusted to reflect the property's cluded to the assumption that we lost nothing. Part of that statement said "...that is why we have insurance." I feel that there was more lost than most can imagine.

Two of the most important things that were lost is confidence and credibility within and of the police department. To bring some substance to this statement maybe we should ask the people on High Street who called because their car was being broken into, then were afraid that their personal well-being was also at risk.

This happened Aug. 25, 1992 approximately 1 a.m. Lowell Police were called and due to lack of response, this neighbor called another to look out for them. 25 minutes later Kent County Sheriffs showed up with Lowell not far behind. It was heard that he was waiting not to far off for Kent County back-up. Now should we applaud or be appalled?

current market value.

There's a lot to think about before one votes for either Proposal A or C. While we want to believe the obvious pluses of each proposal, a close look at the negative impact and the long term effect on our school district, the City of Lowell the Townships of Lowell and Vergennes and others, bears consideration.

So where's the beef? If either of these proposals pass, there will be plenty of it from taxpayers when they realize the State can't afford to maintain its public school system and they will be asked to pay even more if current services are maintained.

I don't know a lot about raising cattle, but it seem logical that they have to be cared for, nurtured and fed if they are to be worth their weight at market time. Isn't there a law of basic economics here: When you try to get more for less, it usually ends up costing more!

ITEM #1. ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

A. McDonald's Restaurant (1300 W. Main) - sign variance - Public Hearing. Councilmember Thompson opened the public hearing to consider a sign variance for McDonald's Restaurant (1300 W. Main St.). Brenda Visser, Manager of McDonald's, was present. City Manager Pasquale explained McDonald's wishes to install a 24 square foot reader board to an existing pole sign which already has 101 square feet. The allowable square footage for this sign is 91 square feet. On June 24, 1984, the City granted a variance to approve an additional 10.3 square feet over the maximum. Two comments were received relative to the variance. Charles Bernard, owner of Bernard's True Value (1601 W. Main), expressed his concern that the City needs to abide by the rules for signage and not continue to grant variances. Kevin Smith (520 Lincoln Lake and member of the Planning Commission), had no problem with the request as long as the reader board is placed 10 feet above the ground. Councilmember Thompson closed the public hearing and turned the comments to the Council.

City Manager Pasquale stated that the City encourages reader boards deterring portable signs. By allowing reader boards, it provides a means in which businesses may advertise their specials. Councilmember Hodges mentioned his favor of granting McDonald's a variance. He felt that given the spirit of fair competition, it will enhance business in the community as well as aiding customers.

IT WAS MOVED BY HODGES and seconded by FONGER to approve the variance for McDonald's Restaurant (1300 W. Main) to install a 24 square foot reader board on its pole sign.

YEA: 4. (Fonger, Green, Hodges and Maatman)
NAY: 1. (Thompson)
ABSENT: 0.
MOTION CARRIED.

Item #2. PAINTING CITY HALL SECOND FLOOR EXTERIOR WINDOWS AND FRAMES. City Manager Pasquale explained the second floor windows and frames of the City Hall have not been painted for a number of years. It was obvious from inspection of the second floor exterior that this work has been long overdue. The following bids were received on September 9 for the scraping, priming and painting of all second floor windows.

Richards Classic Decorating
(219 E. Main, Lowell - Richard Cole, owner) $ 955.00

Hull's Construction and Painting
(201 Donna Dr., Lowell - Allen Hull, owner) $2,936.00

City Manager Pasquale stated Richards Classic Decorating could begin late this week assuming good weather with the provision that the City has a copy of the liability insurance.

IT WAS MOVED BY FONGER and seconded by GREEN to accept the low bid of $955.00 from Richards Classic Decorating for the scraping, priming and painting of all second floor windows in the City Hall.

YEA: 5.
NAY: 0.
ABSENT: 0.
MOTION CARRIED.

Item #3. PURCHASE OF FIRE - RESCUE VEHICLE. On September 15, bids were solicited for a new fire rescue vehicle to replace the 1980 Ford 4 X 4 pickup. City Manager Pasquale explained though the vehicle is provided within the General Fund Reserve, both Lowell and Vergennes townships have promised to pay one-third the cost. The following bids were received:

Kool Chevrolet (Grand Rapids)	$19,769.00
1993 Suburban
less trade in of Ford pickup	-1,850.00
	$17,919.00

Thomet (Lowell)
1993 Suburban
less trade in of Ford pickup

$20,452.50
1,200.00
$19,252.50

Burger Chevrolet Geo (Grand Rapids)
1993 Suburban
no trade in

$19,785.00

After having Mechanic Tom Hartman review the bids, it was recommended that the purchase of the rescue vehicle be awarded to Kool Chevrolet. Councilmember Hodges questioned if the vehicle is adequate to its proposed use. Chief Emmons responded the Suburban is capable of handling the rescue requirements.

IT WAS MOVED BY THOMPSON and seconded by GREEN to accept the low bid for the 1993 Suburban to serve as a fire rescue vehicle in the amount of $19,769.00 from Kool Chevrolet as well as trading in the 1980 Ford 4 X 4 pickup for $1,850 with monies being allocated from the General Fund Reserve and both Lowell and Vergennes townships paying one-third the cost each.

YEA: 5.
NAY: 0.
ABSENT: 0.
MOTION CARRIED.

Item #4. STRIPING OF DOWNTOWN PARKING SPACES. Quotes were received to paint 83 downtown parking spaces and 2675 feet of curb (which includes clearing of weeds). Since this work needs to be maintained on a yearly basis, three year quotes were requested.

Gary L. Dean Contractor(Grand Rapids)
$1,030.25 per year
for three years.

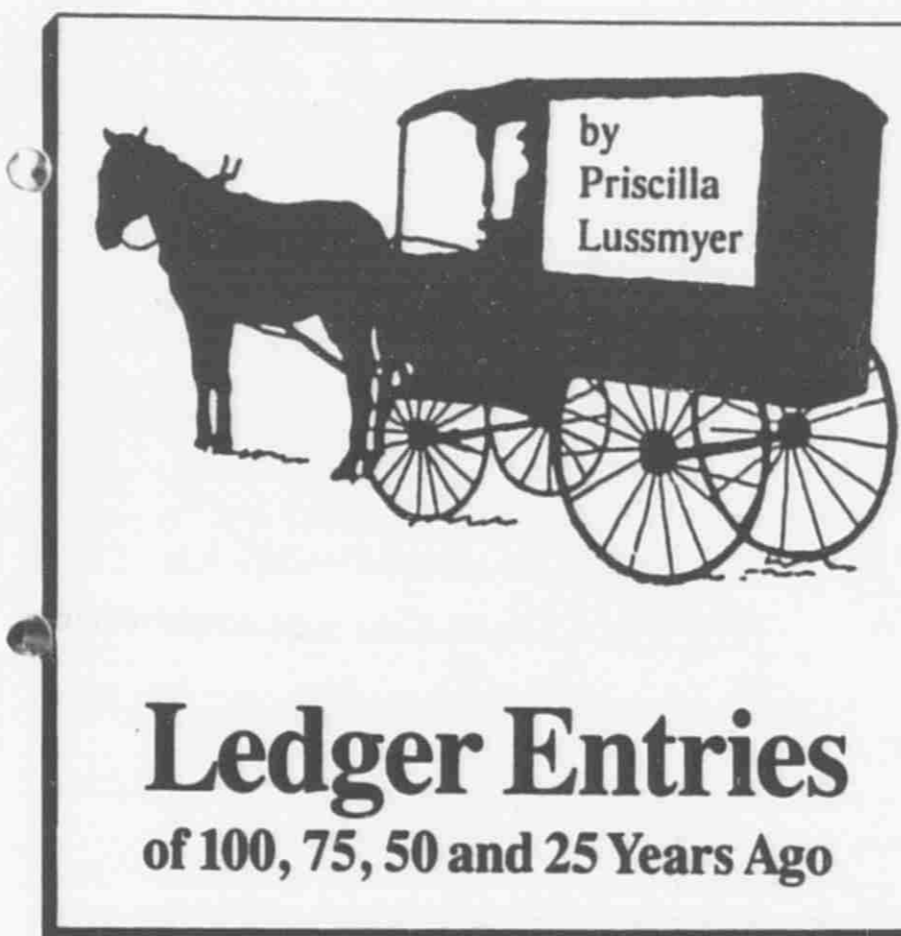

ProLine Painters (Wyoming)
1st yr. $1150.00
2nd yr. $1207.50
3rd yr. $1267.88

Councilmember Thompson questioned the work experience of both contractors. Tony Siciliano, Director of Public Works, responded that Gary L. Dean has worked with the Cities of Kentwood, Wyoming and Grand Rapids. In addition, ProLine has worked for the City in the past.

Councilmember Hodges asked what time of the year will the painting begin. City Manager Pasquale responded this year the work will begin in the fall and thereafter in the spring so that the residents will be able to utilize the finished job throughout the summer months.

IT WAS MOVED BY GREEN and seconded by HODGES to accept the low bid from Gary L. Dean, Contractor for the downtown parking spaces striping project in the amount of $1,030.25 per year for three years.

YEA: 5.
NAY: 0.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Item #5. MERS - TAX SHELTERED EMPLOYEE PENSION CONTRIBUTIONS. City Manager Pasquale explained the Michigan Municipal Employees Retirement System has received legislative authority that provide tax deferred employee pension contributions. This program would provide the employee more expendable income while working and the taxes due during retirement would be at a lower rate. The present employees would have the opportunity to tax defer their pension contributions or keep their present system. All those who are hired after January 1, 1993 must have the contributions tax deferred.

IT WAS MOVED BY HODGES and seconded by FONGER to adopt the resolution for tax sheltered employee pension contributions through the Municipal Employees Retirement System.

YEA: 5.
NAY: 0.
ABSENT: 0.

Item #6. MONTHLY REPORTS. The following monthly reports were presented:

Police	Building	Animal Control
Fire	Ambulance	Public Works
	Budget

City Manager Pasquale noted as of last month the City is approaching $2,000,000.00 in building permit construction value which surpasses the amount received during 1991.

Councilmember Fonger questioned what improvements Attwood has completed to their building. City Manager Pasquale responded that the corporation finished internal improvements to one of their departments.

Item #7. CITIZENS COMMENTS. Dr. James Reagan, Chamber of Commerce President, reported on highlights of the last Downtown Development Authority organizing committee meeting which included comments from Bob Warden, Ionia's DDA executive. The following key comments were presented by Mr. Warden regarding Downtown Development Authority:

- Avoid making the DDA district too small and exclude residential areas.
  - City Councilmembers cannot serve on the DDA.
  - From 8 - 12 persons may serve on the DDA including the Mayor or his representative.
  - Include residential areas that may eventually be turned into Commercial.
  - The businesses in Ionia were opposed to millage increases to fund downtown development projects but preferred to have tax increment financing.
  - It was noted that the boundaries for a DDA are limited to the City Limits of Lowell.
- Dr. Reagan stated that another meeting of the committee will be scheduled and the Council will be informed of progress.

Item #8. COUNCIL COMMENTS. Councilmember Thompson said that he was pleased with James Street improvements being completed leaving little or no damage to the lawns along the street. Thompson further mentioned that he attended two meetings including the Chamber of Commerce meeting on the Downtown Development Authority and the Planning Commission meeting on the Highland Hills Condominiums project. He stated the City of Lowell has many dedicated persons serving the best interests of the City. In addition, he questioned how the contract mowing was proceeding. City Manager Pasquale responded it is working well with the lawn being cut on a scheduled basis. Councilmember Fonger questioned if the City's street department was still active in patching the streets. Siciliano responded the City was presently in the process of repairing the potholes throughout the City. Councilmember Green mentioned he had received a complaint concerning the lack of lighting at the end of Carol Lynne near the entrance to Creekside Park along with the intersection of Faith and Elizabeth Dean. It is very dark at these locations. City Manager Pasquale responded that Lowell Light and Power will check into the situation and provide a recommendation regarding street lights to the City Council.

Councilmember Green further mentioned he has received comments regarding the weed killing operations performed by the DPW on the West end of the City. It was questioned by Green if the City has a policy for hedges and shrubs in their proximity to roads. City Manager Pasquale mentioned the City staff would investigate those areas that present a hazard and approach the individuals to cut this vegetation. Chief Emmons added he will have an officer perform a survey of the situation and take care of the problem.

Item #9. MANAGER'S REPORT. City Manager Pasquale reported on the following:

A. A Mayor's Exchange is scheduled next May with the City of Rockford. Pasquale added that as a neighboring community approximately the same size as Lowell, Rockford officials have previously expressed an interest in exchanging with Lowell.

B. A copy of a thank you note was given by the 4-H for the City's participation in the opening ceremonies at the Youth Fair.

C. The Police Department had requested that the City purchase an Emergency Alert system. Installed at Lowell Cable Television, this system would override cable broadcasts with emergency information. The cost of such a system, as quoted by Cable Television, is $3544. This item has not been budgeted. The Council was asked to provide a decision whether to allow an application to the Look Memorial Fund for the Emergency Alert system.

Chief Emmons stated that the City needs a means of notifying persons in the event of an emergency. Given potential hazards involving gas mains, winds, water and commercial airline flight patterns in this area, it would be a beneficial tool for the City to have. The Emergency Alert system will cut into the television channel one is watching and provide information of the emergency situation.

Councilmember Hodges felt the City should proceed

A full-page ad requests scrap, stating that the nation has less than 30 days' supply and that failure to turn in scrap will cost a soldier's life. Hunters are urged to keep an eye open for scrap.

Yellow paint, containing chromium, is not available, so no passing lines will be double white stripes for the duration.

The Main Street bridge is finally completed. It was rebuilt in three stages the last six years, is 45 feet wide with widening to 54 feet possible when needed.

The Curtis-Dyke garage and showroom is being leased to C. H. Runciman for bean and apple storage. No cars to show.

25 YEARS AGO IN THE LEDGER - OCT. 5, 1967

The new M-91 bridge over Grand River should be open in two weeks. Norm Borgerson has been waging a one-man campaign to save the old bridge.

Builder Douglas Dok walks out of a planning commission meeting. Several months of negotiations over building some more apartment units have reached an impasse.

Eight Lowell students are selected for the popular WZZM-TV High School Quiz Bowl. There will be one four person team and a backup team.

to the Look Committee first for funding. He felt the system would benefit everyone by making the City safer and better informed. This is an appropriate use of these funds. By consensus, the Council told the Police Department to initiate a request to the Look Committee for funding the Emergency Alert System. D. City Manager Pasquale reported that improvements on Fun Street have been completed by the County. In addition, the water main and its services have been installed on James. The street was paved over the weekend. The sidewalk at Stoney Lakeside Park is also nearing completion along with the paving of the parking lot.

Councilmember Thompson mentioned the contractors are parking their equipment on the corner of Grindle and James making vision problems at the intersection. E. A question has arisen as to what date the bathrooms at the parks will close. As recommended from the Parks and Recreation Commission, Stoney Lakeside Park's bathrooms would remain open until the end of September. Creekside Park's bathroom will close after the soccer season. Councilmember Thompson questioned if restrooms will be open for ice skating and fishing at Stoney Lakeside Park. City Manager Pasquale mentioned the City did not intend to open the restrooms during the winter months. Councilmember Green said that toward the end of the summer softball season a couple of panels came off the home run fence at Recreation Park. A question arose during the Parks and Recreation Commission meeting of September 19 as to who is responsible for the repairs. The Commission recommended that the City be responsible for maintenance.

IT WAS MOVED BY GREEN and seconded by HODGES to have the City maintain the homerun fence at Recreation Park.

F. On September 17, a meeting was held at the City Hall to discuss the Downtown Development Authority. The meeting was very productive. However, the greatest concern is the size of the DDA district along with the financial impact on the General Fund. A package of improvements including repairing the sidewalks as well as decorative lighting for the downtown district was discussed at the meeting.

G. Enclosed are the minutes and agenda for the Light and Power (August 18 and September 21) and Cable TV (August 17 and September 21).

Hill & LAHA hope historical room is next home for book collection

Thomas Hill is looking for an archival library that has the ability to store and display his collection of books and publications of authors who have lived in the Lowell area or, in two instances, are grandchildren of long-time Lowell residents.

Norm Borgerson, president of the Lowell Area Historical Association, holds out hope that a new library in Lowell is not too far down the road.

"Ideally, I would like to see a library with a historical room, which Hill's collection of books is ideally suited for."

Both Borgerson and Hill do not want to see the books and publications end up where Norton Avery's photos did.

Because there was not a place to store and keep the historical photos in Lowell, they wound up in the state historical archives in Lansing.

"However, they're better off in Lansing than in someone's basement here in Lowell," Borgerson stated.

All of the talk about finding an institution with the ability to store and display the books and publications may be premature, in that Hill does not seem ready to part with his collection.

"I've collected all the books I know about," he says. "I continue to listen for clues about other books that I may not be aware of."

Included in his collection are authors from Saranac, Alto and the Ada area. "The Ada area in the time before the Forest Hills School District (1960) is included, because most of their high school students attended Lowell for many years and brought the communities as close together then as Alto and Lowell are today," Hill explains.

Hill and his wife, Jo, lived in Lowell from 1951 to 1963 before moving to Lansing.

They have spent the past 10-plus years visiting garage sales, flea markets, AAUW book sales, used book stores, antique dealers, and book and postcard dealers' shows.

They have been provided leads along the way by Thelma Hahn, Stella Bradshaw, Priscilla Lussmyer, Betty Coons and Ruby Christiansen.

Some of Hill's favorite authors include Glendon Swarthout and Howard Peckham. Swarthout is a 1935 graduate of Lowell High School and used a disguised Lowell as a setting for three of his novels.

Peckham graduated from Lowell in 1927. He was the author or editor of about 28 books and many journal articles.

"I've read all the books that I've collected," Hills said. Some of Hill's favorite Swarthout novels include Blessed the Beast and the Children and Homesman (the last one written by Swarthout). Swarthout passed away on Sept. 25 of this year. He had suffered from emphysema for two years.

Hill was also impressed with the work of Michael Talbot, who graduated from Lowell in 1971. Talbot had three science fiction novels published and a number of books on the extension of quantum physics into paranormal phenomena. Talbot died in the spring of this year.

Web Waldron of Vergennes Township was born in 1882. He had nine books published including three novels and two travel adventures.

Those authors who were not known at a national level, but Hill has enjoyed reading, include Mary E. Mason, Martin Langworthy and Gillian Bradshaw.

Hill describes Mason as quite a character. She has written five paperbacks. Of those, Hill's favorite is "Braids and Britches." It's a story of growing up in Keene Township in Ionia.

Langworthy was a poet. "His poetry is delightful," Hill states.

Bradshaw wrote three Arthurian novels and five novels using the near East of the Tom Hill stands with his collection of books whose authors all have Lowell roots.

Bishop's career type game sparks Lowell past Sparta, 56-52

Lowell senior guard Jodi Bishop looked up at the scoreboard at a critical junction in the game and saw that her Red Arrows were trailing Sparta by eight points with seven minutes remaining in the contest.

game could have gone either way. Sparta could have grabbed control and pushed its lead into double digits, or Lowell was still close enough that a few buckets could have taken the game down to the wire.

Bishop decided that not only did she want the game to go down to the wire, but she wanted Lowell to win it.

The Lowell senior point guard tallied back-to-back three pointers, made a few steals and literally took over the game, as she led Lowell from a 48-40 deficit to a 56-52 O-K White victory.

The win marked the second time in two weeks that Lowell rallied to win a game that could have gone either way.

"It's been a good two weeks of basketball for these girls," Lowell coach Ken Akers said. "Our success this year will depend on the games we win that could go either way."

Against the Spartans though, it was Bishop who changed the ebb and flow of the game in Lowell's favor.

"Jodi literally took over the game," Akers said. "She hit key three point shots, had key steals and played great at both ends of the floor."

Back-to-back three point shots by Bishop cut Sparta's lead to 48-46.

The senior netted nine shots from the floor and tallied five points from the line in leading the way for Lowell with 25 points.

Bishop's performance offset a sparkling performance by Sparta's Sara Hull. "She's an outstanding shooter," Akers commented. Hull also finished the contest with 25 points.

ished the contest with 25 points.

The Red Arrows led at half-time by five points, 27-22. Hull rallied her Spartans in the third quarter, out-scoring the Red Arrows 20-9 and taking a 42-38 lead going into the final quarter of play.

Lowell was led on the boards by Melissa Beute with 13. Andrea Richmond grabbed nine. Bishop cleared away eight caroms. Beute and Richmond both tallied eight points apiece.

Amy Stauffer scored nine points at the wing.

Lowell's defense was responsible for 28 steals against Sparta.

"The key to the game can be wrapped up in two words, Jodi Bishop," Akers said. "She showed great senior leadership."

Lowell 62 EGR 32

The Red Arrows struggled through a sluggish first half and managed just 22 points and a slim six point lead (22-16) against the Pioneers.

"We were terrible in the first half," Akers said. "The girls picked it up a notch in the second half."

Lowell outscored East Grand Rapids 40-16 in the second half in earning a 30 point victory.

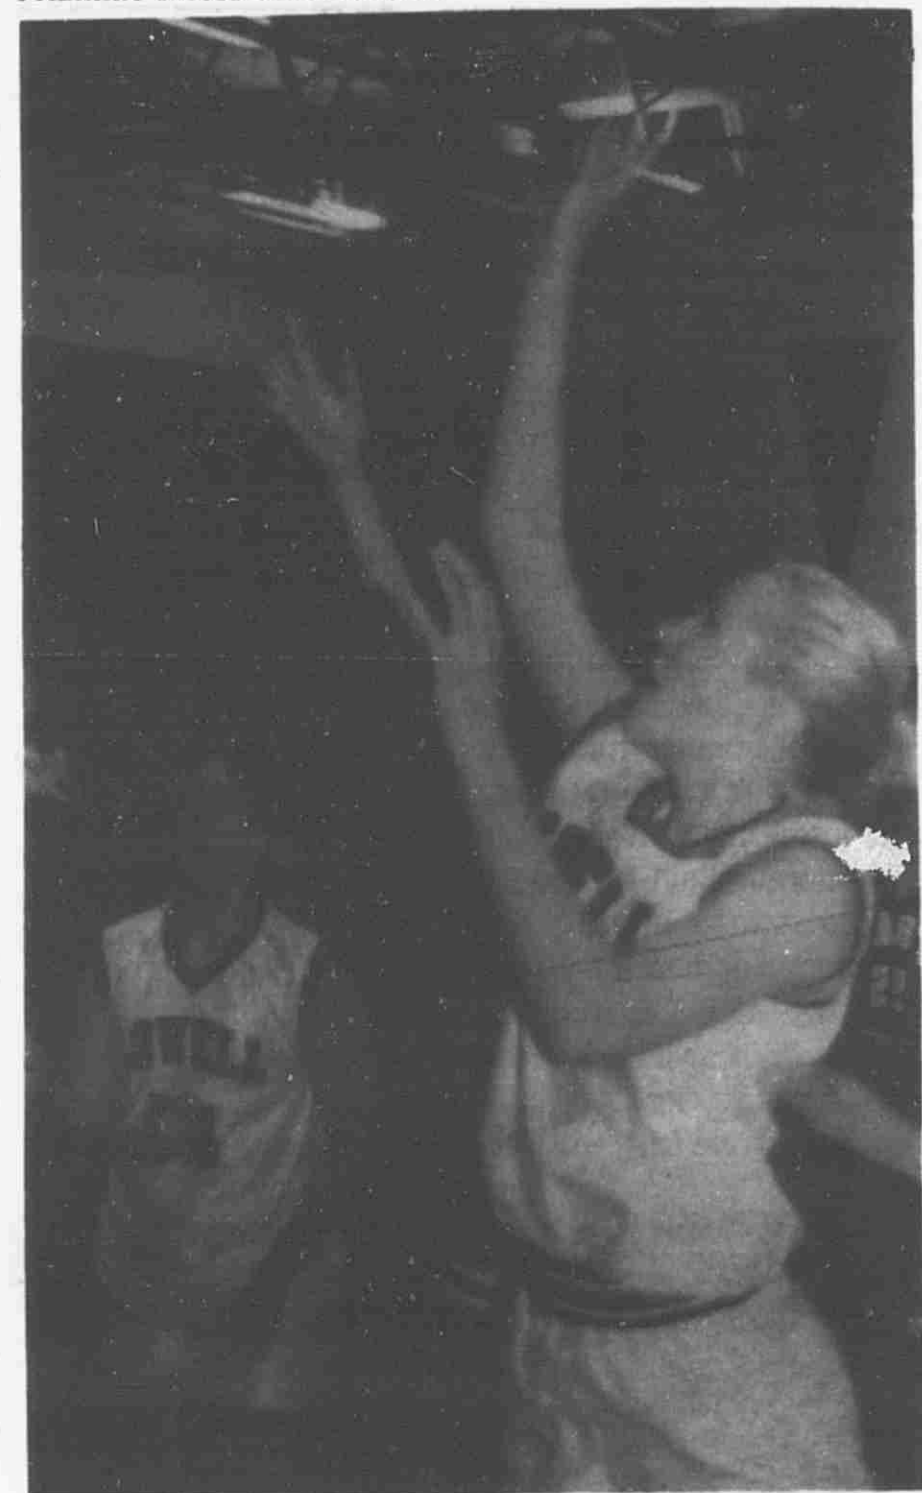

The Red Arrow defense forced 34 Pioneer turnovers.

"The key to the game was EGR could not handle our press," Akers said.

Lowell's duo tandem of Amy Stauffer and Jodi Bishop combined for 39 points. Stauffer led the way with 21 and Bishop netted 18 points.

off the glass from underneath the basket for her first score of the season.

The two victories pushed Lowell's overall record to 4-5. The Red Arrows are now 3-2 in the O-K White.

Jeannine Preiss puts a rebound back up for two points in the fourth quarter against East Grand Rapids.

Jodi Bishop drives the lane against two Sparta defenders.

Red Arrow boys 5th, girls 4th at Lowell Invitational

For the first time this year, Lowell boys' cross country team's top three harriers finished under 19 minutes.

However, it wasn't enough to overcome a strong Spartan club.

Sparta, running without three of its harriers, still managed a 24-32 win over Lowell.

Lowell was led by Tom Mull, third, who finished the Sparta course in 18:15. Mike Wojciakowski was just five seconds off Mull's pace in fifth place at 18:20.

"Mike was just five seconds off away from Tom. He ran real well," Lowell coach Tom Harper said.

Lowell's Matt Inman broke the 19 minute mark for the first time this season, running home in 18:54. "Matt ran under 19 minutes for the first time. He's showing a lot of improvement," Harper said.

Sergio Saldivar was the Red Arrows' fourth harrier home, stopping the clock at 19:07. Rich Langridge was fifth, coming home in 19:41.

Sparta's Gary Austin was the match medalist with a time of 17:37. Chris Schneller was second at 18:11, beating Mull by four seconds. Lee Bowers was fourth in 18:28. Jason Kingsbury was seventh at 19:07 and Joe Davis was ninth in 19:19.

Lowell is now 2-2 in the league which places it in fourth place. Sparta, 3-1, is tied for second with Forest Hills Central. Zealand is first at 4-0.

Lowell's Tom Mull was the only Red Arrow to place in the top 10 as Lowell finished fifth out of a 10-team field.

East Kentwood was first with 64 points, followed by Grandville 77; Union 87; Fruitport, 92; Lowell 127; West Ottawa 136; Ottawa Hills 159, Jenison 163; Creston, 258; and Central 299.

Leading the way for the winning Falcons was Chad Christensen, finishing second at 17:09. Mike Stevens was third at 17:20; Erik Rose, 16th, 18:37; David Jesse, 21st, 18:49; and Rob Brandow, 22nd, 18:52.

For Lowell, Mull was eighth, at 18:06; Mike

Wojciakowski, 13th, 18:23; Sergio Saldivar, 17th, 18:37; Matt Inman, 37th, 19:47; and Rich Langridge, 50th, 20:26.

Other top 10 finishes included, Mike Cramer, Fruitport, 17:05; Jack Fox, Union, 4th, 17:33; Tom Chorny, Fruitport, 5th, 17:42; Jerry Hooker, 6th, Fruitport, 17:51; Matt Hollander, Grandville, 7th, 17:58; Jeff Parsons, Northview, 9th, 18:10; and R. Oudbier, Ottawa Hills, 10th, 18:18.

It was the Lowell Invitational, but it was East Kentwood who ran like it was its home course.

Both of the Falcon squads earned top honors Saturday at Fallsburg Park.

With bright skies and changing foliage color as their backdrop the Falcons were the class of the 10 school field.

The girls finished with 26 points, 19 ahead of its closest competitor, Grandville, who had 45.

East Kentwood's Lori Forward and Kim Russell were one, two most of the way. The Falcons placed five runners in the first 11 runners home.

Following Grandville was West Ottawa, 50; Lowell, 119; and Fruitport, 178.

Lowell's top performance was handed in by Sara Lesky. She finished 19th in a time of 23:46.

Following Lesky was Jenny Kerman, 23rd, 24:49; Laura Boyink, 24th, 25:16; Michelle Billingsley, 26th, 25:38 and Tricia Raab was 27th at 25:41.

For East Kentwood, For X-C, cont'd., pg. 22

Sara Lesky stopped the clock at 23:46.

Lowell's Mike Wojciakowski picks up the pace as he comes down hill Saturday at Fallsburg Park. Behind Wojciakowski is teammate, Sergio Saldivar.

Sparta hung onto its first place grip with an easy win over an undermanned Lowell squad.

The win pushed Sparta to 4-0 in the O-K White. The loss dropped Lowell to 1-3 in the league.

Sparta's Kathy Gallop was the medalist with a time of 21:59. Teammate Kristen Polackowski was second at 22:23.

Lowell's Sara Lesky was third, stopping the clock at 22:24.

Sparta grabbed the next three spots. Liz Watson was fourth in 23:11; Jenny Kingsbury was fifth at 23:19 and Mary Johnson was sixth in a time of 23:24.

Rounding out Lowell's times were Jenny Kerman, eighth, 23:44; Melissa Deeb, ninth, 24:13; Laura Boyink, 10th, 24:54; and Tricia Raab, 12th, 25:32.

"Sara ran a real good race. Jenny keeps getting better and I was happy with the improvement shown by freshman, Melissa Deeb," Lowell coach Tom Harper said.

Lowell's JV girls bounce Sparta & EGR

The Junior Varsity basketball team defeated Sparta, Sept. 29, by a final score of 41-35. Freshmen Elena Richmond, with 13 points and Tammy Stauffer, with 11 points, were leading scorers.

Lowell jumped out to a quick 10-0 lead. Sparta, using a good pressure defense, was able to fight their way back into the game and actually took a brief 22-21 lead midway through the third quarter.

Lowell reestablished its offense and got a solid defensive effort in the fourth quarter.

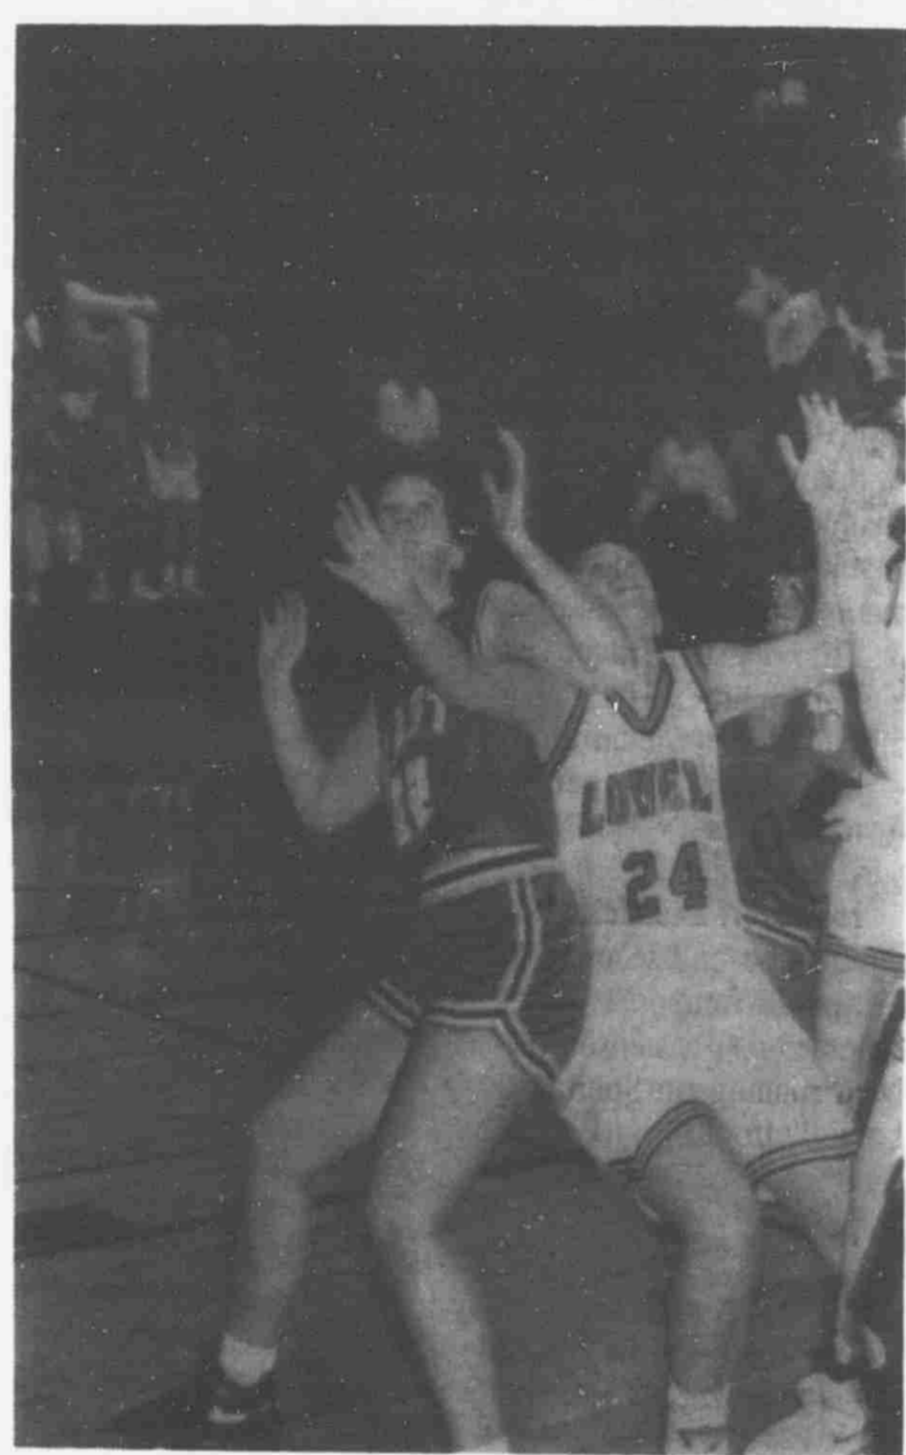

Sophomore guard Katie Haywood, had an excellent defensive performance in the late minutes of the game, coming up with two key rebounds and three turnovers.

On Thursday, Oct. 1 the JV's defeated East Grand Rapids 49-25 for their fourth straight victory. Tammy Stauffer had a season high 19 points to lead all scorers. Elena Richmond had nine points, while Cori Boersma and Kerry Nugent each contributed six points.

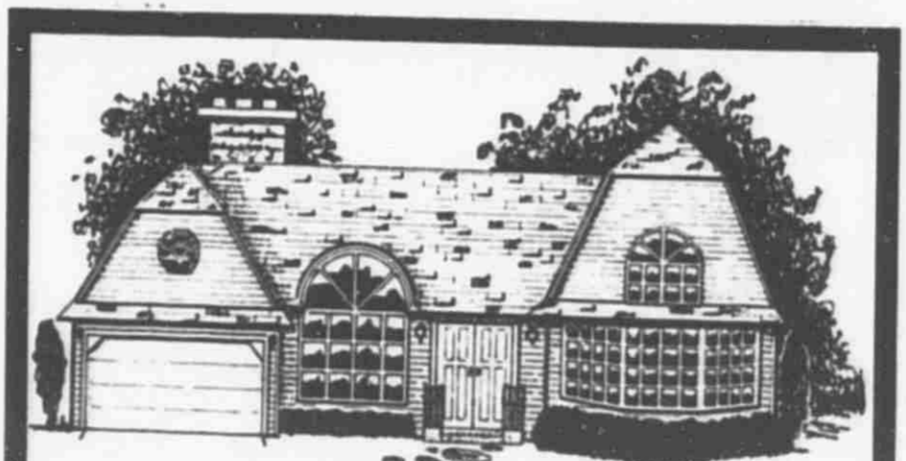

Richmond had a game high in rebounds while Stauffer added eight steals and three assists to her all around game.

Lowell used their press and good shooting to pull away from East Grand Rapids in the second half.

Catlin is the catalyst in Lowell's 14-10 win over Sparta

Lowell's defense held Sparta to 186 total yards.

Lowell posted its first league win at Sparta, 14-10.

Both Sparta and Lowell ran out onto Spartan Field Friday night in search of their first O-K White Conference victory.

Two long touchdown runs of 41 and 69 yards in the first half was just narrowly enough, as Lowell hung on for a 14-10 win over the homecoming-spirited Spartans.

Lowell's offensive and defensive front lines controlled the first half of play. A costly fumble inside the Sparta 10-yard line with roughly three minutes to play in the first half, prevented Lowell from taking a 14-point halftime lead.

"That was a big play," Lowell coach Phil Christensen would later say. "If we score on that possession, I think the entire second half changes."

The Red Arrows got the ball back with 51 seconds left in the half at the Sparta 33. Lowell got the ball to the Spartan 20 before time ran out.

Sparta coach Jim Galvin made a few "key" defensive changes which helped to shut down the Red Arrow veer attack in the second half. "I didn't make too many adjustments, I just changed our keys," Galvin explained.

The only score in the second half came on a 30 yard field goal by Sparta's Tony Walkons. That field goal came with 5:47 to play in the third quarter.

Lowell's furthest penetration in the second half was its own 46. Sparta's deepest penetration was the Lowell nine yard line.

However, a tenacious Lowell defense held them to just three points and secured the victory.

Sparta's field goal was set up on a gutsy 4-1 call by Lowell coach Phil Christensen on his own 16-yard line. "We had been running on Sparta all night," Christensen explained. Lowell's frontline missed a block and Phil Catlin was stopped for no gain. "We wanted to win and I had confidence in our defense."

Lowell's offense built all the confidence in the first half. On the Red Arrows second play of its third possession, Catlin broke free over the left side of the Spartan defense and rumbled 69 yards for Lowell's first score.

Sparta answered Lowell's call as it took the ensuing kickoff and marched the ball 52 yards in six plays to tie the score at 7-7. Two big pass plays were key to the drive. Nate Sixbury connected with Nars Nyquist on a 13-yard pass play on third down and nine. The scoring play came on a 20 yard pass to Justin Mull.

Not to be overshadowed, Lowell came right back. On second and seven, Inman broke through the left side of the Spartan defense and raced 41 yards for the go ahead and winning score.

"I'm happy for the kids. I hope this prepares us for a great homecoming game against East Grand Rapids," Christensen said. "Give Sparta credit, their boys never quit."

Catlin led all Lowell rushers with 139 yards on 17 carries. Inman rushed for 78 yards in 11 carries. Lowell rushed the ball 44 times for a total of 258 yards. Through the air it was 0-1 with one interception.

"Lowell controlled the first half and I thought things were pretty even in the second half," Galvin said. "Our kids have worked hard all year, it's too bad they had to lose."

Mull led all Sparta rushers with 49 yards rushing. Tim Webber had 41 yards. Sparta rushed the ball 34 times for 84 yards. In the air, it was 5-of-10 for 45 yards.

Sparta is now 0-4 in the O-K White and 1-5 overall. The win moves Lowell to 1-3 in the league and 1-4 overall. Sparta travels to Rogers on Friday and Lowell entertains East Grand Rapids for its 1992 Homecoming.

Netters play improves, but losses continue

Lowell Red Arrow netters started the week being overmatched against perennial tennis power East Grand Rapids.

Lowell's tennis team finished the week in an evenly matched, well played game against non-conference foe, Ionia.

Against the Bulldogs, the two schools played two, three-set matches, and three lengthy two-set matches. Lowell, however, fell to Ionia 5-2.

"It was a very good match between two evenly matched teams. It could have gone either way," Lowell tennis coach Wendy Ackermann said. "The difference is Ionia won both of the three-set matches."

Amy Gerkin defeated Jill Harp in number one singles 7-5, 6-1.

Tara Sterly, playing second singles, enjoyed the same type of success, with a 7-6, 7-5 win over Amber Gonzalez.

"Both girls won with good serves and good groundstrokes," Ackermann said. "Amy and Tara are strong, patient players who let their opponents make the mistakes."

Carrie Colburn was beaten in third singles by Cally Betts 6-2, 6-3.

Mandy Wills, at fourth singles, went three sets before losing to Sally Deupree, 7-6, 0-6, 6-2.

"Mandy had a long, tough match. She hung in there and played well, but just couldn't pull it out," Ackermann said.

In doubles play, Sarah Scoles and Lea Sterly were beaten by Ali Rich and Andrea Resterhouse, 6-1, 6-1.

In number two doubles, Jen Idema and Alison Brinks lost to Amy Blyth and Robin Furton 6-1, 6-0.

Ionia completed the doubles sweep when Melissa Reed and Lacey Gonzalez defeated Tara Weststrate and Cathy Pasquale, 7-6, 4-6, 6-2.

"Tara and Cathy played well together in a long game," Ackermann said.

FAMILY FARE Athletes of the Week

Ryan White
The Lowell junior tallied two goals and an assist in a 5-1 win over the Chix. White is Lowell's field general. "He's our leader," Lowell coach Dave Wydock said. "He never gives up and has excellent ball control. He's been a fantastic player for us this season."

Phil Catlin
Lowell's fullback rushed for 137 yards on 19 carries and scored a touchdown in leading Lowell to its first O-K White Conference victory Friday night against Sparta. Lowell won the game 14-10. Catlin's touchdown run was 69 yards. He used the fine blocking from the right side of his line to spring free down the right sidelines.

Jodi Bishop
The Lowell senior point guard tossed in a game-high 25 points, leading Lowell back from an eight point fourth quarter deficit to beat Sparta 56-52. "It was a career game for her. She did everything," Lowell coach Ken Akers said. Against East Grand Rapids on Thursday Bishop netted 18 points and eight rebounds.

Chad Dunn
The senior linkster was superb at the O-K White Conference meet. He carded a six over par 78 at the L.E. Kaufman Golf Course. The round of 78 earned him match medalist honors by one stroke. "Chad was consistent and he managed the course well. He didn't have any

Soccer team's offense comes alive in 5-1 thumping of Zeeland

It was as good an offensive half of play as the Red Arrow soccer team can play, or have played this season.

Lowell trailed 1-0 at half, but rallied in the second half for five unanswered goals in posting a 5-1 O-K White victory.

"The boys did everything right in the second half," Lowell soccer coach Dave Wydock said. "That is as good as we can play. Our reward for the fine play was five goals."

The onslaught of goals started with Adrian Schuster putting a deflected shot off the Zeeland goalie, past the goalkeeper with 12 minutes gone in the second half. It was Ryan White who's shot was deflected back to Schuster.

Five minutes later, John

Roudabush scored Lowell's second goal on a breakaway. Mark Van Oostveen followed with a score off a direct kick from outside the box.

White tallied Lowell's fourth goal of the game 30 minutes in, as he rebounded a Chris Geisert shot that also deflected off the Zeeland goalie, this time White was there to put it in.

White tallied his second goal of the game a little later as he dribbled the ball through the Zeeland defense and then kicked her home.

"Our front line was more aggressive and made things happen," Wydock said. "Our midfielders and forwards played well. The forwards were aggressive."

Lowell out-shot Zeeland 18-12.

Forest Hills Central 4
Lowell 0

Wydock called it the best defensive game his club has played all year.

"The score may not reflect it, but we played much better this time against Central than in our first meeting, when we lost 3-1," Wydock explained. "To Central's credit, they did too. Had Central played like it did in our first meeting, I think we may have beaten them. Central is an excellent team which also plays outstanding defense."

Lowell, which had a limited number of shots on goal in the first half ended up with 12 for the game. Central more than doubled that number as it had 26 shots on goal.

"We were a lot more offensive oriented in the second half. We just couldn't put the ball in the net," Wydock said. Lowell is now 2-3-2 in the O-K White.

A Ranger fends off the Lowell defender.

Tennis, continued...

East Grand Rapids 7
Lowell 0

The Red Arrows had some strong individual performances against another strong Pioneer club.

Tara Sterly was defeated 6-0, 6-0 at number one singles by Kristin Flink.

Amanda Kubek upended Colburn 6-1, 6-2 at two singles.

Wills was beaten 6-1, 6-3 by EGR's Mary Haight.

In fourth singles, Diane Johnson lost to Abby Nimms 6-3, 7-6.

"Johnson did a great job at fourth singles," Ackermann said. "Her serving and placement of the ball down the sidelines was excellent."

Lowell's coach added that Wills also played well at number three singles.

In doubles action Gerkin and Marcy Anes lost in straight sets to Stacy Dugan and Julie Alt, 6-2, 6-0.

Scoles and Lea Sterly were upended 6-0, 6-1 by Stacy Hillman and Julie Lausch.

Idema and Brinks lost 6-0, 6-1 to the Pioneers' Jennifer Turkal and Jenny Morris.

In an exhibition match Weststrate and Pasquale lost 6-0, 6-0.

Zeeland 7
Lowell 0

Moving from doubles to singles is a big move. Moving from doubles to number one singles is the toughest of tasks.

Amy Gerkin made that adjustment against Zeeland. She nearly came away with a win, let alone playing well.

Gerkin lost in three sets 6-1, 4-6, 3-6 to Kathy DeWitt.

"Amy did a nice job. She's had no previous singles experience. She handled the situation well," Ackermann said.

Tara Sterly was beaten 6-2, 6-0 by Zeeland's Stacie McClintock.

At third singles, Wills was defeated 6-3, 6-4 by Hollie Busscher.

Johnson was a 6-0, 6-1 loser to Zeeland's Becky Geribo.

Scoles and Lea Sterly were defeated at number one doubles 6-0, 6-2 by Courtney Onstoft and Tammy Terlglaar.

Brinks and Idema lost a tightly contested two set match to Holly Arendsen and Kerri VanDyke, 7-5, 6-2.

Weststrate and Pasquale were beaten 6-1, 6-0 by Esther Smith and Trisha Twentymen.

"Brinks and Idema played an aggressive first set, but just couldn't keep up in the second set," Ackermann said.

Freshman and JV post wins

Lowell's freshman football team earned a 21-6 win over Sparta. The Red Arrow junior varsity football team followed with a 34-19 victory. The two teams were tied at 13-13 at halftime.

Business Financial Planning - Ingredients of a buy-sell agreement

By: Gerald J. O'Bea, CLU, LIC

You have been running your business successfully. Someday you will leave your business because of death, disability or retirement. But will you leave it in style? An updated, properly drawn up Buy-Sell Agreement will go a long way toward leaving in style.

There are four ingredients in a Buy-Sell Agreement. The buyer(s), the triggering events, the price and the funding.

With only two co-owners, the potential buyer is obvious. When you sell, the other co-owner buys. With three or more owners, the surviving owners take over. Oftentimes, in the Agreement a right of first refusal prevents the departing owner from selling his or her interest to an unacceptable outsider.

Stepek's arrow hits its mark

Tim Stepek, Lowell, opened bow season with a prized 200 pound buck. The eight pointer with a 19-1/2-inch spread was dropped by Stepek in Alto. Using 90 pound PSE, Stepek hit the buck from about 15 yards out. The buck ran 100-150 yards before falling. Stepek got his first buck of the season on Thursday, Oct. 1 at 7:45 p.m.

Lowell students to profit from DowBrands' program

Wanting to prepare today's students for the complex challenges of tomorrow's world DowBrands Educate America program is putting a high value on math education. Lowell High School's Functions, Stats and Trig classes have enrolled in the DowBrands Educate America program. The program will allow Lowell High School students to earn math equipment by collecting proof-of-purchase symbols from DowBrands' products. Functions, Stats and Trig students are asking that the Lowell Community help in collecting proofs-of-purchase symbols from DowBrands products and drop them off at

If the owner has no obvious successor, potential buyers could be a key employee, a group of employees, or an outsider who is a competitor, a supplier or a customer. In any of these cases, the owner draws up a buy-sell agreement.

Even if your successor will be an heir, e.g., son, daughter or grandchild, a pre-arranged buy-sell saves much grief, in the long run.

The triggering events are death, disability, retirement or wanting to leave the business for whatever reason. The wise business owner comes to grips with his or her mortality and realizes an accident or illness could happen. A buy-sell agreement, properly coordinated with wills and trusts, can result in an orderly transfer of ownership.

The even wiser business owner understands that a disability, which is three times more likely to occur than death, can wreak even greater havoc on the ownership transfer procedure than death does. The following questions need to be asked pertaining to a disability buy-out:

How long after a disability occurs should a transfer of ownership begin? Who determines when the buy-out should begin --the buyer or the seller or both? What is the purchase price? Should it be the value of the business when the disability first begins or when the buy-out begins which be two years later. By that time the absence of a key partner may have hurt the profits and lowered the value of the business? What are the tax implications of a lump sum sale or an installment sale?

The third triggering event could be retirement or just wanting to leave the business. Is the buy-out tied to a deferred compensation plan? How does the objective of avoiding or lessening income tax and Federal Estate Tax fit into the picture?

The price of the business is probably the most difficult part of a buy-sell agreement. Sometimes, the buyer and seller easily agree on a dollar figure and update it periodically. Most of the time, however, some kind of formula is built into the buy-sell agreement, using basic data from the Balance Sheet and Profit and Loss Statement. Multiples of earnings, multiples of sales, capitalization rates, goodwill can all be factored in. The fourth ingredient of a buy-sell is funding: Life insurance and disability buy-out insurance provide income tax free liquidity at exactly the time when most needed. Other sources of funding can be the assets of the business, if a redemption plan. In this case an assessment of surplus vs. capital is necessary. Even a loan may be collateralized only against assets representing surplus and not capital. How will the loan be repaid and at what interest rate?

Sitting down with your advisors (attorney, CPA and insurance agent) to piece together a buy-sell agreement with these four ingredients may be the most valuable business time you'll ever spend in order to leave your business in style.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORY OF JACK STEVENS

One year has passed since God took you home and away from me. In my heart you are and always will be with me in love and spirit. You suffered long and hard, now you are in peace. Our God knew you couldn't suffer any longer, so He laid His hands upon you and gave you rest. October 11, 1991, the day God called you home, ended your suffering, and gave me many happy memories we shared to remember the rest of my life. Sadly and lovingly missed, your wife, Norma Stevens, Roswell, New Mexico.

IN MEMORY OF JACK STEVENS

My dad, who passed away one year ago, Oct. 11, 1991. I can't find the words to say how much you are missed and thought of every day! Sadly missed by your son, Mike Stevens, Albuquerque, NM.

IN MEMORY ROBERT RUESINK

October 8, 1990 and your 55th birthday, October 12. Two years has passed, since you went away, now you're walking in the streets of heaven, talking to Jesus everyday.

So many things you've missed, that we wish you could see. There's two new grandchildren, Nicole and Steven that you never got to hold. Cory and Toria, why you should see how they've grown. They all bless our lives so richly, more precious than silver and gold. When we look into their eyes, we see a special part of you, a love that flows from deep within, will last a lifetime through. We know how proud you'd be of them, because they're part of you. Our sons and daughter continue with their lives, wishing you were here, to give your fatherly advise, that's held so very dear. Your mom and dad are fine, they've been a special help these two years they share the joys and sorrows, as you would if you were here. All those you left await that glorious day, when together we will be in heaven with you to stay. Your Family.

THANK YOU - to all who sent cards, flowers, fruit, balloons and visited me while in the hospital and at home. Many thanks. Ival Paulsen

Lowell Administration plans new High School site walking tour

Now that it is visible from the road that a new building is being constructed at the new high school site, the Lowell School Administration has planned a walking tour for the Lowell Community.

The walking tour of the new high school construction site has been planned for Sunday, Oct. 25 from noon until 4 p.m.

"It will provide us an opportunity to show and share with the community its investment in the district's educational future," said Lowell's Director of School and Community Education, Dick Korb. "It's an opportunity for the community to take a little pride in its investment."

Tours of the new site will be run at noon, one, two, and three p.m. or as groups of 20-25 accumulate for the tour. The tour goes will enter the site at the main entrance off from Vergennes Road. The tour will begin at the main parking lot/reception area. At this point Korb and Lowell Superintendent Fritz Esch will give general welcoming comments and a tour overview.

Following the introduction, groups will begin their tour by walking to Station II with information being provided by Korb, Esch, board members and tour guides (construction and architect engineers).

Once a group has arrived at Station II an overview of the parking lot area, and ball fields will be provided by Larry Mikulski, director of building grounds and operations; Craig Willison, construction site superintendent; and Denny Loveland, construction site assistant superintendent.

Station III will provide information on the upper level of the new high school, provided by Jim DeWeerd and Tom Mattison. Areas covered at this station will include structure, design, layout, gymnasium, cafeteria, auditorium, second floor classrooms, and the administrative area.

Leading the tour at Station IV (lower level of the new high school) will be Jim White, Scott Vashaw and Ralph Moxley (WBDC). Again, structure, design and layout of the academic areas, the media center and classroom labs will be discussed.

Station V (athletic fields and stadium arena) will be shown by Lowell Athletic Director Tom Stahr and Assistant Superintendent, Gary Kemp. During the tour of Station V groups will view the practice and activity fields, concession stand, the stadium, the locker room building and the track and field event area.

The final stop on the tour will be Station VI (main access road from Alden Nash). It will include information on the retention pond, utility access and the stadium parking area. The group will be led by Craig Willison, Larry Mikulski and Denny Loveland.

Those attending the walking tour will be provided with a fact sheet which will cover the cost, acreage, square footage, building capacity, park capacity, student capacity and utilities.

When the tour is completed those who wish may walk back. While others will be provided a return bus to ride back to their cars.

Korb said a similar type tour will be repeated in the spring of 1993.

A hen is only an egg's way of making another egg.

—Samuel Butler

TOWN TALK

Will Ross Perot re-entering the presidential race have any bearing on President Bush or Governor Bill Clinton's chances for the Presidency? Has Ross Perot lost his appeal?

Bud Stahl No, it will not have an effect. Yes, Perot has lost his appeal. He lost it when he pulled out the first time.

Jerry Lyons I don't know. I don't think it will, but if it does, I think it will hurt Clinton more than President Bush. Perot has definitely lost his appeal. He never had any appeal to me.

Donna Perdaris Yes, I think it will hurt President Bush. I don't know if it will hurt Clinton. I think the people who don't want to vote Republican may vote for Perot. Yes, Perot has lost his appeal.

Jim Hodges Yes, it will have an effect. I think it will hurt President Bush. I think Perot will run an anti-Bush campaign. President Bush will be hurt in Texas, and the southern states. Perot has lost a lot of appeal.

Dotti DeForest Yes, I think it will stir up trouble for both. I think it will force us to look at things we need to face. I think Perot has lost his appeal. He doesn't answer questions. He tends to run from problems.

Neil Wallerstrom Yes it will. I think it may draw the moderate Republican vote from Clinton. Yes, I think Perot's appeal has been lost. I originally liked him because he was a businessman, who I thought could balance the budget. Perot lost his appeal when he withdrew the first time.

Larry Winsor Yes, I think it will affect both of them because of the state our economy is in. Perot has lost his appeal because of the way he handled his candidacy originally.

Gary Raybon It won't hurt either a damn bit. I don't think Perot has lost his appeal. He has good ideas, and good intentions, but he's facing an insurmountable task. He doesn't have the political clout to do what's needed.
